ACC PLAYERS OF THE YEAR ... ANDREW WENGER, MATT HEDGES

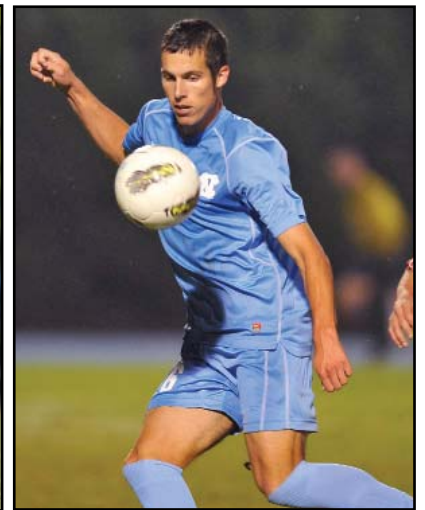

ACC champion North Carolina captured three major individual awards, and Duke's Andrew Wenger earned Offensive Player of the Year honors to highlight the 2011 All-Atlantic Coast Conference Men's Soccer Team.

Wenger, a junior who previously played the back line, earned the conference's top offensive honor one year after being named the 2010 ACC Defensive Player of the Year. The Lititz, Pa., forward became the first player to capture both the ACC Offensive and Defensive Player of the Year Awards. Wenger was also the 2009 ACC Freshman of the Year.

The Tar Heels' Matt Hedges was named the 2011 ACC Defensive Player of the Year, while UNC coach Carlos Somoano received Coach of the Year honors, and Mikey Lopez was voted Freshman of the Year in balloting among the league's nine head coaches.

Hedges, a senior who transferred to UNC from Butler prior to this season, earned the distinction of being named Defensive Player of the Year in two Division I conferences. The Carmel, Ind., defender was voted the 2010 and 2009 Horizon League Defensive Player of the Year.

Somoano, in his first year as a head coach, has led the Tar Heels to a 21-2-3 record and the second NCAA championship in program history.

ACC Champions

The North Carolina men's soccer team claimed a 3-1 win over Boston College in the 2011 ACC Championship title game on Nov. 13 at Cary, N.C.'s WakeMed Soccer Park. The ACC title is the third for the Tar Heels. Ben Speas, who accounted for five points in the championship match with a pair of goals and an assist, was voted the tournament's Most Valuable Player. UNC coach Carlos Somoano is the first person to direct a team to an ACC title in his first year as head coach, and the Tar Heels secured the No. 1 overall seed in the 2011 NCAA Tournament.

Duke's Andrew Wenger (left) was awarded the 2011 MAC Hermann Trophy. Wenger became the sixth Hermann Trophy winner from Duke, which matched Indiana for the most recipients. North Carolina's Ben Speas (right) was named the National Player of the Year by Soccer America after earning Most Valuable Player honors in the ACC Championship and the Offensive MVP of the Men's College Cup after scoring the lone goal in the title game.

Noting ACC Men's Soccer

- Top-seeded North Carolina completed in the NCAA Men's College Cup for the fourth consecutive year ... The Tar Heels are the fourth ACC program to reach the final four at least four consecutive years ... Virginia played in five straight College Cups from 1991 through '95, winning NCAA titles in 1991, '92, '93 and '94 ... Maryland played in four straight from 2002 through 2005, winning the NCAA title in the final year ... Wake Forest also reached four straight College Cups from 2006 through 2009, and captured one NCAA title during that span (2007).

- Overall, North Carolina is the seventh school in NCAA history to reach four straight NCAA College Cups. Six of those seven, including UNC this season, claimed national championships during those streaks.

- North Carolina became the 45th ACC team to reach the semifinals of the NCAA men's soccer tournament in the 53-year history of the event ... ACC teams have reached the finals on 22 occasions and have claimed 15 national titles.

- Duke junior forward Andrew Wenger made a bit of history in being awarded the 2011 Missouri Athletic Club's Hermann Trophy, presented to the top player in NCAA Division I soccer. Wenger, the 2011 ACC Offensive Player of the Year, is the first recipient of the award to be coached by a former winner. Blue Devils coach John Kerr received the award in 1986 after a standout season as the leader of Duke's national championship team. Billy Schuler, a member of North Carolina's 2011 NCAA title team, joined Wenger as finalist for this year's award.

- UNC's Ben Speas, the 2011 Men's College Cup Offensive MVP, has now played on back-to-back NCAA championship teams after transferring from Akron following the end of the 2010 season.

- Virginia leads all ACC programs with six national titles (1989, 1991, 1992, 1993, 1994 and 2009) ... Maryland owns three titles (1968, 2005 and 2008) and North Carolina two (2001 and 2011) ... Clemson has also brought home the NCAA crown twice (1994 and 1987) ... Duke (1986) and Wake Forest (2007) own one national title apiece.

- Since seeding began in 1994, the ACC has been awarded the top seed in the NCAA tournament 11 of the possible 18 years.

- The ACC has placed at least one team in the NCAA College Cup (final four) 11 consecutive years.

- North Carolina head coach Carlos Somoano is only the third coach in NCAA history to win at least 20 games in his first year as a head coach. Somoano joins Chuck Clegg (1982) of San Diego State and Mitch Murray (1991) of Santa Clara as the only three coaches to accomplish the feat. The 21 wins this season matched the 2001 Tar Heel squad that posted 21 en route to the national championship.

- Former Duke coach John Rennie, who led the Blue Devils to 20 NCAA tournament appearances and the national title in 1986, will be inducted into the NSCAA Hall of Fame during the organization's annual awards banquet on Jan. 13.
