FLORIDA STATE SUCCUMBS TO USC, 2-0, IN COLLEGE CUP TITLE GAME

- Florida State wrapped up its most successful campaign in team history, despite a 2-0 loss to No. 2 seed USC in the championship game. It marked only the second time this year the Seminoles were not allowed a goal.

- FSU's appearance in the NCAA title game was the second year in a row and fifth since 2000 by an ACC team.

- The Seminoles exacted revenge against Notre Dame in an NCAA semifinal rematch, 3-2, to advance to the College Cup final game for the first time in program history.

- The Seminoles collected 21 postseason victories in 2007, good for eighth all-time in the NCAA record books.

- Three Seminoles (Amanda DaCosta, Sanna Talonen and Mami Yamaguchi) were named NCAA All-Tournament. The ACC has had student-athletes garner all-tourney honors in the NCAA every year, including the last three, with the exception of 2004.

- This year's trip to the NCAA College Cup marked the third-straight year and fourth time in the last five years the Seminoles played for a spot in the championship title game.

TOURNAMENT TALES

- This year's championship game was a rematch of the 2006 title game between North Carolina and Florida State, with the top-seeded Tar Heels notching a hard-fought 1-0 victory. UNC also won last year's battle against the Seminoles, 2-1.

- The league crown was the third in a row and 18th for the Tar Heels in the last 19 years the ACC has held a tournament. The conference sponsored women's soccer in 1987, but did not conduct a tournament until the following year in 1988.

- Sunday's championship game marked only the third time a final was determined by one goal. Coincidentally, all three games featured North Carolina and Florida State (2003, 2006, 2007).

- For only the third time in the history of the league championship, a semifinal game came down to a shootout. Virginia, seeded fourth, took No. 1 seed Tar Heels to a 1-1 draw after 110 minutes of play, but UNC won on penalty kicks 4-2 to advance to the title game.

- The semifinal contest between the Tar Heels and Cavaliers also marked the fourth time in the league's tournament history that a semifinal contest went into overtime.

- In its first appearance in the ACC Championship, Miami battled to a 0-0 double overtime draw in the quarterfinals but fell to Virginia 4-2 in a shootout.

- The Tar Heels are only one of three teams to have participated in the ACC Championship every year for the last 19 years. Duke and Virginia are the other two.

- Only two other ACC schools have won the league championship besides the Tar Heels. NC State claimed the coveted league crown in 1988 and Virginia did it in 2004.

- The Tar Heels, who claimed the regular season title for the seventh-straight year, earned the No. 1 seed in the ACC Women's Soccer Championship for the seventh year in a row and 18th all-time.

- Seven of the eight teams (North Carolina, Wake Forest, Florida State, Virginia, Boston College, Duke and Clemson) qualified for the league tournament for the third-straight year since the ACC began utilizing a point system to determine the regular-season champion and seeding in 2005.

NOTING THE ACC IN THE NCAA TOURNAMENT

- With Florida State and Duke advancing to the NCAA Quarterfinals, it marked the 17th time in the last 21 years that the ACC has had at least two teams competing in the "Round of 8."
- No. 1 seed North Carolina suffered a tough 3-2 loss to fourth-seeded Notre Dame in the "Round of 16." The loss marked only the seventh overall for the Tar Heels in the NCAA Tournament.
- Four schools (Duke, Florida State North Carolina and Virginia) advanced to the "Round of 16" this year, making it the 14th straight year and 21st overall that the ACC had multiple representatives in the third round.
- The ACC led all conferences in both the number of teams participating (eight) and teams garnering national seeds (four) in this year's national postseason tournament.
- The eight teams competing in the NCAA this year tied the conference record set in 2004. It also marked the sixth time in the last seven years that at least seven ACC teams received a bid to participate in the national postseason event.
- Four ACC schools earned a national seed in this year's NCAA Tournament - No. 1 North Carolina, No. 3 Florida State and No. 4 Virginia and Wake Forest.
- Seven of the eight teams (BC, CU, DU, FS, NC, VA and WF) returned to the NCAA in 2007, while Miami made its second overall appearance and first since joining the ACC in 2004-05.
- North Carolina and Connecticut remain the only two teams that have been invited to the NCAA Tournament every year since its inception in 1982.

ACC OFFENSE

ACC teams combined to outscore their non-conference opponents 260-84 in 2007.

In addition, 53 of the 75 non-conference victories (70.7 percent) were shutouts.

Raycom Sports, Lincoln Financial Sports and Turner Broadcasting System, in partnership with The Atlantic Coast Conference, will again offer online video streaming of ACC conference sports during the 2007-08 school year. The broadband network, called ACC Select, will primarily stream sports that are not available through traditional broadcast and cable television distribution. The entire conference package will be available at www.ACCSelect.com to viewers with a broadband internet connection. Each of the 12 ACC schools will have events available on the service.

Go to www.ACCSelect.com for complete details.

ACC PRESEASON POLL

Reigning national and Atlantic Coast Conference champion North Carolina has been selected as the top pick for the 2007 ACC women's soccer season, as determined by a vote of the league's 11 head coaches. In addition, it marks the second year in a row that UNC, Florida State and Virginia have been predicted to finish as the top three teams in the league, respectively.

The Tar Heels, who captured their second-straight ACC Championship and 17th overall title in 2006, totaled 120 points including 10 first-place votes to receive the top spot in this year's preseason poll.
