BOO CORRIGAN

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS
1ST YEAR
NOTRE DAME, 1990

United States Military Academy Superintendent Lt. Gen. David H. Huntoon Jr., named the person selected to lead West Point's intercollegiate athletic department when he announced the hiring of Boo Corrigan as the Academy's director of athletics on Feb. 1, 2011.

Corrigan, who was the senior associate athletic director for external affairs at Duke University starting in August 2008, brings a wealth of leadership to his new post. He is a proven administrator with 18 years of experience in all areas of revenue generation, external affairs, staff management and leadership.

Corrigan's chief responsibilities at Duke included the oversight of the Blue Devil corporate partnerships and the Marketing, Promotions, Ticket, Internet Operations, Sports Information and Video Services departments. In only two years at Duke, Corrigan was responsible for the negotiation of multi-media rights to ISP, which increased annual rights more than 40 percent.

"First and foremost, I am honored to have the opportunity to work at the United States Military Academy, the West Point leadership and the U.S. Army," Corrigan said upon his hiring. "It is my privilege to serve those proud Americans that serve our country and to be at the greatest leadership institution in the world.

"I want to say specifically to our cadet-athletes that we will provide them the opportunity and the wherewithal to achieve to their highest ability and to provide our coaches with the opportunity to win championships, and build leaders of character. We will strive for our cadets to achieve great success in their academics, military training and athletic endeavors."

Army operates a 25-sport intercollegiate athletic program, highlighted by its nationally recognized football team. Under the direction of head coach Rich Ellerson the Black Knights finished 7-6 this season and closed the season with a win over SMU in the Bell Helicopter Armed Forces Bowl.

A supervisor of the 2009 NCAA Champion women's tennis and 2010 NCAA Champion men's lacrosse programs, Corrigan was a part of three NCAA Championships at Duke in just two seasons. He is currently a member of the NCAA Men's Lacrosse Rules committee and the Atlantic Coast Conference Men's Lacrosse Committee, while serving on the Executive Budget Committee at Duke.

Prior to arriving at Duke in August of 2008, he oversaw Notre Dame's corporate relations and marketing as an associate athletic director for five years. During his stint at Notre Dame, Corrigan spearheaded the redesign of its official athletics website and creation of 15-20 hours of original video content weekly. That resulted in a 35 percent increase in page views and unique users. Corrigan also worked directly with ISP Sports, CSTV, and NBC Sports from a sales and marketing standpoint.

"We are excited about the selection of Boo Corrigan to be Army's athletic director," Huntoon said upon Corrigan's hiring. "He has wide experience in helping to lead a Division I athletic department and has excelled at the highest levels. He brings to the Military Academy a wealth of experience at some of the nation's elite athletic programs."

Before joining the staff at Notre Dame, Corrigan spent nearly three years as the associate athletic director for marketing at the United States Naval Academy. He was responsible for turning the marketing department from a deficit to profit in his first year with full budget responsibility for the department. Corrigan also was intimately involved with the re-branding of the Annual Giving Campaign (The Blue and Gold), which led to an increase of 75 percent year over year donations.

He previously spent a year as a partner in Corrigan Sports Enterprises, an entrepreneurial sports marketing company, in the Baltimore area – and also worked two years as an equity partner in mrgoodbucks.com, an e-commerce program that involved creation of affinity business relationships.

Corrigan also served two years as vice president of EMCEE Sports, a Baltimore-based sports marketing company with a focus on professional golf from 1997 through '99. In that role, he was responsible for a $2.5 million operating budget for the State Farm Senior Classic. He worked for Host Communications for two years, helping create relationships with various college and university athletic departments, and served as assistant director of marketing at Florida State from 1992-95.

The youngest son of former ACC commissioner Gene Corrigan, he is a 1990 University of Notre Dame graduate with a degree in economics. Corrigan is currently obtaining a masters in education in sports leadership with an expected 2011 graduation. He and his wife, the former Kristen Aceto, are the parents of three children, Finley, Tre and Brian.

THE BLACK KNIGHTS ON TELEVISION

CBS Sports Network and the Army Athletic Association announced an exclusive five-year agreement in July 2009, guaranteeing live television coverage of every Army home football game and select neutral-site games in which Army is the home team, on CBS Sports Network, beginning with the 2010 season and continuing through 2014. The deal was announced by Sean McManus, President, CBS News and Sports, and Kevin Anderson, Director of Athletics at West Point, at a press conference at Yankee Stadium.

A major component of the agreement assures that all Army home football games will be played on Saturday afternoons beginning at either noon or 3:30 p.m., ET with all kickoff times to be set by May 1 each year. Additionally, a live web stream of all Army's home broadcasts will be made available free of charge to soldiers and military personnel around the world.

In the last 15 years, 71 Army games have been televised nationally, 18 via network television. The Black Knights have played before a national television audience 49 times the past six seasons alone. A host of other games have been televised regionally. Those numbers will continue to grow this fall with seven national television appearances scheduled as of early summer. Army has had at least eight contests televised each of the past four years.

Army is one of just three schools in the country guaranteed to have all of its home games televised nationally.

In addition to the Black Knights' home affairs, CBS Sports will televise the Army-Navy Classic to a worldwide audience for the 16th consecutive season.

ARMY SPORTS NETWORK

While owning one of the nation's most comprehensive television packages, Army boasts one of the country's most prized radio arrangements as well.

In conjunction with Army Sports Properties, the Army Athletic Association remains partnered with WABC (770-AM), New York, N.Y., to serve as the flagship station of the Army Sports Network.

WABC, whose 50,000-watt clear channel signal can be heard in 38 states and Canada, is widely regarded as the pre-eminent and widest-reaching AM radio station in the country. WABC is recognized as the nation's most-listened-to talk-radio station.

In addition to its agreement with WABC, Army added Hudson Valley affiliates WALL (1340-AM), Middletown, N.Y. and WEOK (1390-AM), Poughkeepsie, N.Y., as vital components of the Army Sports Network in 2011 thanks to a five-year partnership between Cumulus Media and the Army Athletic Association announced in July 2009. Both local affiliates air the weekly "This Week In Army Football" radio show, which originates from West Point's Thayer Hotel, throughout the season, as well as the popular "Army Football Tailgate Show." The fast-paced "Army Football Tailgate Show" originates from Black Knights Alley in front of Michie Stadium on game days, beginning two hours prior to kickoff. The 90-minute show is heard from the press box at Army road venues before each of the Black Knights' away contests as well.

Army's assistant athletic director for marketing, multi-media services and broadcasting, Rich DeMarco, returns for his second season as the Black Knights' play-by-play voice this fall. In his ninth year with the Army Athletic Association, DeMarco has served solely as the Black Knights' director of broadcasting during his first three years, the New Jersey product added the title of director of multi-media services and community outreach during the summer of 2007. Less than one year later, DeMarco was elevated to the title of assistant athletic director for marketing, broadcasting and multi-media services.
