Baylor equestrian returns 16 of 17 letterwinners, including all four team MVPs, for the 2008-09 season. Last season’s Hunter Seat squad finished a program-best sixth at the 2008 Varsity Equestrian Championships while the Western team, which finished a team-best fifth at the 2007 VENC, returns all of its letterwinners.

The Lady Bears, for the first time in program history, have seniors on the squad. The program, in just its fourth season on competition, will look to its seven seniors and 15 juniors for valuable leadership in 2008-09.

This year is the first for the four-year athletes. What does that mean to you?

It’s very distressing for meto even speak about. When I first started in this position I went back and told Ian McCaw (Athletics Director), that there were so many people that wanted to be on the team and I couldn’t take them all. Having to tell people no and that they didn’t make it was part of the job I did not like at all. I hate to disappoint people and tell them no. But part of the problem with that is then if they get on the team they are disappointed and you can’t meet all of their expectations. Sometimes I feel as though we just should have told them no in the beginning.

This is the first time that I’ve had a group that I’m going to lose and that’s the worst part. We’re going to have to work out some alumni thing, because I won’t be able to stand it if it’s just a goodbye, good luck with your future and thanks for the four years. I know I’m going to have to do something to keep them coming back and see them sometime. These are like my children, I mean one of them is my child actually (Shelby), and it’ll be a challenge for me.

You brought in a pretty accomplished signing class. Can you talk a little bit about the freshman class?

We have a great group of freshman that came in. I believe that is going to be what our program is; we’ll get better each year. If you become known as a program that is going to be winning, you’re going to get stronger and stronger recruits to come each time. As coaches we’ve figured out more what we’re looking for to go with the program. It’s not the same as basketball or football. When they send you their videos they are riding their own horses. We really don’t know how they are going to perform with a strange horse and having four minutes to prepare. There is a whole unknown factor and we’ve kind of started to figure out what those unknowns are and what to look for.

What are your goals and expectations for this season?

Well, I wouldn’t mind winning a national championship at all. I think it’s within our ability, I really do. Bottom line is that it has to be up to the girls, they have to want it bad enough to work hard enough and make it happen. I can push and motivate, but it has to come from within them. They certainly have all the tools in place. They have the talent, the horses and it’s (Varsity Equestrian National Championships) right in our backyard. We should be able to make it happen. I know we’ve never gotten above fifth or sixth, but I would say in all of those top teams that it’s so close that anybody could be one of the top at any time. It’s just going to have to be your day, your horse and your ride. We’re always just within striking distance. It’s just going to be if we can put it all together and make it happen.

How did you address recruiting over the last year, knowing you have a core of very talented riders that will be with you here for awhile?

Bottom line is we have to keep a large team. There is a select group we are looking for, not that many, but a select group that we want to recruit and that we think are number one. Then there are girls that really want to come to Baylor that want to be a part of Baylor and the horses is just extra on top for them. When we get to those people, I really interview them and talk to them and make sure where their value is going to fit in on the team. Reality is that we have 20 that can show at any given event, but there are 40 girls saying ‘pick me.’ For the most part, we have got to try and keep a happy balance with those that are not competing. They do get to ride while they’re here and get all the perks of being a student-athlete. We really look for a small core that we think are going to be our replacement people, because we’re really only replacing five people this year. If you get too much depth, it will get too many people disappointed.
What would you like to improve on from a year ago as a team?

I'll never say we have everything perfect. There is always something that I want to push on and work on. Facility-wise, we would really love to have our locker room and offices and be able to develop more of our paddocks and pastures. We've maxed out in the number of girls we need and now we need to max out in facilities and make that match. We're a little behind in what we need for all the girls on the team. I would like to be able to educate people more to what they're looking at and seeing. We need the promotion of our sport, so that people can understand what is going on. Subjective sports are always harder to understand, but can still be fun to watch. As far as the team, we would always like to be a higher number but that's a given. I think that's within our reach. We're improving with horses all the time, but we really have some pretty nice horses. An improvement would be more facilities, more understanding and to actually have the sport sanctioned through the NCAA.

Where do you see the program going in the future?

I think we're pretty much at the future. I would like to have us be a solid national championship team that continues to be able to recruit that caliber person all the time. I really love the girls we've recruited. They're not only strong talent-wise, but they are academically strong. Their commitment to Baylor, supporting Baylor and representing Baylor in a positive way is strong. I really don't want the future to change that much except to have big national championship titles. I like everything we're doing. We've set ourselves up for perfect future.

What team do you think will be the biggest competition this year? And why?

Auburn is unbelievably strong on the English side and on the Western side I think it's going to be Oklahoma State and Texas A&M but never discount Georgia. The first time we faced Kansas State, I thought that we were right up there and that we could beat anybody. They came back at championships and they had worked hard all year and something happened to those girls. That was a totally different group of riders. We beat them, but it was like 'whoa.' There are a lot of teams out there right now that are getting their first taste of the fall circuit. They are either going to come back and say 'we are not very good and we can't beat anybody' or they're going to say 'forget this' and step it up.
How do you tell the horse what to do?

Horses are asked by the rider to perform specific transitions and maneuvers. The rider controls the horse with specific cues. These include the rider's seat, legs, hands and voice. Legs are used to encourage the horse to go forward and aid in directing the horse. Hands are used to also direct the horse and control the horse's speed. The rider's seat and voice are used in conjunction with both hands and legs. The rider is responsible for using the correct cue to maneuver the horse through a specific pattern and to control the different gaits of the horse as asked by the judge. This is what the judge is looking for and will then award points based on the effectiveness of the rider.

What types of competition does the team do?

There are four collegiate equestrian disciplines at the varsity level; equitation on the flat, equitation over fences, horsemanship and reining. Both equitation categories are classified as hunter seat, while horsemanship and reining make up the western division.

Do you have to have a horse to be on the team?

No. A large majority of the horses that are used for practice and shows are owned by the university and/or the athletic department. The Lady Bears have approximately 40 horses used by the team.

Does the team offer scholarships?

Yes. The team currently awards 15 scholarships, the full complement allowed by the NCAA. Those scholarships do not have to be, and almost always are not, full scholarships. The scholarships are divided up and awarded to team members based on a variety of circumstances.

How many judges are there?

At all regular season shows, there is only one judge. At the Varsity Equestrian Championships, there will be a pair of judges for each discipline.

How do you get the horses to the shows that are not at home?

In almost all instances, the horses that are ridden at each show are provided by the host school.

Doesn't the home team have an advantage if everyone is riding their horses?

The home team might have a very small advantage when using their horses. However, since horse selection is done totally at random, no one knows who they will ride until approximately two hours before they actually get on. Also, if the horse chosen by a home rider has been donated for the day to the host school, the home rider would not have any advantage over any of the visiting riders. During practices, the Lady Bears usually rotate who is riding what horse therefore no one horse and no one rider are paired up consistently during the year.

How do you score points for the team?

Under varsity equestrian rules adopted in 2006, a rider from each school rides the same horse and is awarded a score from the judge(s). The rider with the highest score is awarded one point. The team with the most points at the end of the day wins the competition. Ties are broken by adding the cumulative judges' scores and dropping the lowest hunter seat and western scores.

How do the judges come up with their score?

In hunter seat competition, a rider is given a score from 0-100 based on the performance of the rider. Scores above 80 are well above average. It is extremely rare to see a score in the 90’s. Most scores are in the 70’s and 60’s. In western competition, the judge starts every rider out at 70 and raises or lowers their score based on how they execute their maneuvers. Unless awarded a 0 for doing the incorrect pattern, virtually all western scores are in the 60’s and 70’s.
Equitation
Refers to the hunter seat style of riding.

Equitation/Horsemanship
In riding competitions, these indicate that riders are being judged on their ability to control and show the horse while maintaining the correct riding position. Intercollegiate riders have the added challenge of riding an unfamiliar horse, one that is randomly drawn for them two hours prior to competing.

Equitation Over Fences
An individual performance where each rider shows a horse over 8-10 jumps approximately three feet high. Riders are judged on their ability to position the horse correctly at the jumps and avoid interfering with horse's balance, while maintaining the correct riding position and producing a smooth, polished performance.

Horsemanship
The western horsemanship class is designed to evaluate the rider's ability to execute, in concert with their horse, a set of maneuvers prescribed by the judge with precision and smoothness while exhibiting poise and confidence, and maintaining a balanced, functional and fundamentally correct body position.

Hunt Seat
The category equitation riders compete in, whose foundation lies in jumping and riding across country, such as foxhunting.

Natural Aids
Body signals from the seat, legs, hands and voice to communicate commands to the horse, all the while appearing comfortable, relaxed and balanced. These signals should be subtle or imperceptible to the judge and spectators and exaggerated shifting of the rider's weight is not desirable. The resulting performance shown by the horse is not to be considered more important that the methods used by the rider in obtaining them.

Reining
In this form of competition, western riders perform an individual, pre-assigned AQHA reining pattern from memory, demonstrating a variety of stops, turns and circles at various speeds. The emphasis on this class is on precision, technical application of natural aids and the rider's ability to show unfamiliar horses.

Schooling
Horses are schooled, or prepared for competition, using stretching and supplying exercises at various gait, or practice jumps if necessary by riders who will not compete the day of the show.

Tack
The equipment worn by the horse

Walk, Jog, Lope
Western riders show this way; the gaits, and extension of gaits, that the horse travels in.

Walk, Trot, Canter

Warm-Up
Each competitor gets four to five minutes to warm-up a horse immediately before getting the opportunity to compete on that specific horse. Fence riders get the opportunity to jump four fences on their horse prior to competing.
General Rules

1. Riders are judged on their ability to get the best performance from their horse while maintaining proper equitation and horsemanship.
2. Falling off a horse results in elimination.
3. Three refusals by a horse in equitation over fences as well as a rider going off course through their pattern or test results in elimination.
4. Riders must remain on the same mount throughout all phases of an equitation or horsemanship class until the judge requests a change.
5. All western judges are AQHA carded and all hunter seat judges are USEF-approved hunter seat judges.
6. No coaching is allowed once a rider has entered the competition ring.
7. Stewards and/or judges may grant a rider a re-ride if they deem the horse unsafe or unfair to the competitor.

Hunter Seat/English Rules

General - The rider should have a workmanlike appearance, seat and hands light and supple, conveying the impression of complete control should any emergency arise.

Mounting and Dismounting - To mount, a rider is to take up the reins in the left hand and place hand on withers. Grasp stirrup leather with right hand, insert foot in stirrup and mount. To dismount, rider may either step down or slide down.

Hands - Hands should be over and in front of horse's withers, knuckles 30 degrees inside the vertical, hands slightly apart and making a straight line from the horse's mouth to the rider's elbow. The method of holding reins is optional, but all reins must be picked up at the same time.

Position in Motion - At the walk and slow trot, a rider's body should be vertical; posting trot should be inclined forward; canter should be half-way between the posting trot and the walk; galloping and jumping should be at the same inclination as the posting trot.

Western Rules

General - The rider will be judged on seat, hands, and the ability to control and show the horse.

Arms & Hands - The upper arms are in a straight line with the body, both bent at the elbows. Both hands and arms should be held in a relaxed, easy manner, with the upper arm in a straight line with the body. The arm holding the reins should be bent at the elbow forming a line from the elbow to the horse's mouth. The free hand and arm should be carried bent at the elbow in a similar position as the holding of the reins. Some movement of the arms is permissible, but excessive pumping will be penalized. The hand is to be around the reins at all times. Except as noted below, only one hand is used for reining and hands shall not be changed. No more than one finger is permitted between reins when split reins are used, but none with romal. The rider may hold romal in their free hand provided it is at least 16" from the rein hand. The rein hand is to be carried immediately above or slightly ahead of the horn of the saddle. Bracing against the horn will be penalized. Reins should be carried so as to have light contact with the horse's mouth and at no time shall reins be carried more than a slight hand movement from the horse's mouth. Two hands may be used only on horses designated by the show committee. It is recommended that these horses be shown in a snaffle bit or a hackamore. Changing hands on the reins from two to one or one to two during the class shall be considered a disqualification.

Basic Position - The exhibitor should appear natural in the seat and ride with a balanced, functional and correct position regardless of the maneuver or gait being performed. The rider should sit in the center of the saddle and the horse's back with the legs hanging to form a straight line from the ear, through the center of the shoulder and hip, touching the back of the heel or through the ankle. The heels should be lower than the toes, with a slight bend in the knee and the lower leg should be directly under the knee. The rider back should be flat, relaxed and supple. An overly stiff and/or overly arched lower back will be penalized. The rider's shoulders should be back, level and square.

Position in Motion - The rider should sit to jog and not post. At the lope, the rider should be close to the saddle. All movements of the horse should be close to the saddle. All movements of the horse should be governed by the use of imperceptible aids. Exaggerated shifting of the rider's weight is not desirable.
Format

Varsity equestrian competitions are broken down into four specific classes: Equitation on the flat and equitation over fences fall under hunter seat discipline while horsemanship and reining are under the western discipline.

Under normal circumstances, anywhere between four and eight riders from each team will face off in one of the four classes.

One rider from each team rides the same horse for a judges’ score. The rider with the highest score earns one point for their team.

The horse selection is determined by a random draw done by both coaching staffs, usually two hours prior to the start of the competition.

Individual Scoring

In hunter seat competition, the highest possible individual score is 100 points. On the flat, a rider must perform nine maneuvers under which are re-graded on each on a scale from 0-10 (0 being not executed to 10 being perfect). An extra overall impression score is added to the nine maneuvers to give a rider their final total. Over fences, riders are asked to clear a minimum of eight/maximum of 12 jumps. Judges then evaluate riders based on their overall impression using the USEF scoring system.

In western competition, competitors begin with a vase score of 70. Riders are awarded up to 1.5 points or downgraded as many as 1.5 points based on the successfulness of each maneuver.

Team Scoring

The winner of each head-to-head match-up is awarded one point for their team. The team with the greater amount of those points at the end of the competition is declared the winner.

Should the competition end in a tie, the judges’ raw scores are tallied. The lowest score from both the hunter seat and western disciplines are then dropped, resulting in a final overall total which determines the winner of the competition.

National Championships

Prior to the national championships, the VENC selection committee selects the top 12 hunter seat and western teams in the nation and seeds them into a 12-team double-elimination bracket.

Both the hunter seat and western teams compete independently throughout the championships. At the conclusion of each bracket, a point total is awarded to each discipline based on their finish. The school with the highest point total accrued between the two championship brackets is declared the overall national champion while the winners of the hunter seat and western tournaments also earn national championship titles.

In 2008 individual national champions were contested for the first time. Four riders in each event, based on season statistics, were selected to compete for the national championship.
Ellen White begins her fourth season as Baylor's head equestrian coach. White has led the program to three straight Varsity Equestrian National Championship appearances where the English team finished eighth in 2006 and 2007 and a program-best sixth in 2008. White, an internationally recognized dressage trainer, was selected as the first head coach in the history of Baylor's women's equestrian program in 2005.

The school's equestrian team began its first year of competition with the 2005-2006 academic year. Under White's guidance Baylor posted its first head-to-head win in program history against South Dakota State; the program went on to go 3-2 in head-to-head shows. During the fall, White led Baylor to its first-ever top finish in IHSA competition as the English team tied for first with Oklahoma State at Texas A&M's 2005 English IHSA show in November. Year two and three saw the team finish eighth in the Varsity Equestrian National Championships.

White joined the Baylor staff from Waco's Willow Spring Farm, which she has owned and managed for the past 25 years. She is involved in all phases of the farm's operation: breeding, buying and selling horses, and providing training and lessons in both dressage and jumping. White also serves as an instructor for the American Pony Club Association & Junior Young Rider throughout the Lone Star state.

In April 2006, an F-1 tornado destroyed White's home as well as barns, horse stalls, sheds and Baylor's show arena, leaving the equestrian program's facilities inoperable. In a coincidence of events, Baylor's Board of Regents had approved construction just a week earlier of the Willis Family Equestrian Center which would include a covered arena with stalls, a barn, fenced in paddocks and an office building housing staff offices, locker rooms, training rooms and meeting rooms. Phase one of the project shows completion of the covered arena with stalls, barn, fenced in paddocks and an office building housing staff offices. Phase two of the project is slated to being in the near future.

Still training with internationally known clinicians and Olympians, White was awarded U.S. Dressage Federation silver (1992) and gold (1999) medals, captured Selle Francais Horse of the Year honors three times (1992, 1993 and 1994) and won USDF Horse of the Year honors in 1993. White received qualifying scores for the U.S. Olympic Festival and Pan American Games, and she also was invited to qualify for the U.S. Olympic team in dressage.

"I wish Ellen well," said Mary D'Arcy O'Connell, coach of the 2000 and 2004 Irish Olympic 3-day event team. "She is a very positive and encouraging person. I believe she will be a great addition to the Baylor family."

In addition to her outstanding competition record, White's farm has won numerous breeding awards. A 17-year host to Oldenburg/ISR inspections, White's horses have received national awards including Meshach (2nd place Oldenburg/ISR Mature Stallion) and Ominous (2nd place USDF Yearling Filly Awards). Her stallion Caleb earned the 2004 reserve champion award for the ISR 100-day Stallion Test.

A 1981 Baylor graduate (Bachelor of Arts in economics/journalism), White and her husband of 27 years, Greg, reside in Waco and have two children: Cara White Clark, 23, of Atlanta, Ga., and Shelby, 21. The Whites are active members of Waco's Columbus Avenue Baptist Church. White has spent 16 years as a children's supervisor in Bible Study Fellowship and six years as a substitute teaching leader.

Women's equestrian is the Big 12's fastest-growing sport with teams added at Texas A&M, Oklahoma State and Kansas State since 1999. The Big 12 Conference, beginning in 2009, added equestrian as a league sport.

Trista Armstrong enters her fourth season at Baylor as an assistant coach. Armstrong’s primary focus pertains to training the Western riders. As Baylor equestrian’s first assistant coach, Armstrong led her Western team through competitions against top caliber competition. Baylor’s Horsemanship and Reining riders received a coveted invitation to the Varsity Equestrian National Championships in April 2006, the only first-year Western team invited. In 2007, Armstrong led the Lady Bears to a fifth-place VENC finish and an eighth-place finish in 2008.

Prior to arriving in Waco, Armstrong spent two seasons as an assistant coach at Fresno State and the Bulldogs’ Western riders went undefeated against regional competition during Armstrong’s tenure there. Under her direction, the Bulldogs earned Regional and Zone championships and reserve National champion status at the 2004 IHSA National Championships and reserve National champion status at the 2005 Varsity Equestrian National Championships. Armstrong also guided four individual riders to national champion status, including one AQHA trophy reserve title, and three riders to the NRHA Derby Collegiate Reining.

Prior to Fresno State, Armstrong was an assistant coach at Ohio State from 2002-03 and a teaching assistant at her alma mater, Oklahoma State, in 2001. Her coaching experience also extends overseas, where she taught Western Horsemanship and showed Reining and Western Pleasure horses for Teglgard Ranch in Denmark.

As a member of the OSU’s equestrian team, Armstrong placed in the top four in the individual Open Western Horsemanship and Reining helping Zone 7 claim the 2000 National Zone Championship. That same year Oklahoma State attained national champion status. In 2001, Armstrong captured the Alumni Western Horsemanship title at the IHSA National Championships.

As a youth rider, Armstrong was an AQHYA World Show attendee and was the youth world champion in Western Pleasure, Reining and Halter under the American Buckskin Registry Association.

Beverly Manroe became Baylor’s second assistant coach as she signed on in Sept. 2006 to help guide the Bears’ English riders. Manroe resides in Austin, Texas, and travels to Waco to teach lessons.

The Austin-native started riding at the age of nine taking lessons at Houston’s Parish Stables, a hunt/jumper barn. By the time she reached high school, Manroe was teaching as well as taking lessons between shows. In college at the University of Texas, Manroe joined the Longhorns’ Canter Club and rode under the instruction of Jane Burr at the Hobby Horse Stable. By the spring of 1968, Manroe was teaching regularly and has been an instructor ever since.

Presently, in conjunction with the time spent with Baylor riders, Manroe trains riders at Phoebe and Glenn Johnson’s SwitchWallo Stables. Her students have successfully shown at local and state levels, earning year-end awards in hunter, jumper and equitation divisions.

Manroe previously served as the past president and parliamentarian of the CenTex Hunter and Jumper Association and is currently Director Emeritus. She has also produced horse shows since 1984 specifically for the Central Texas Summer Circuit, a three-show circuit in Austin recognized by the Texas Hunter and Jumper Association and the CenTex Hunter and Jumper Association.

Additionally, Manroe judges hunter and jumper shows locally in Austin as well as trains and sells young horses in the hunter/jumper market.

Manroe has been married to Joe Maxwell for 37 years. The couple has a 27-year-old daughter, Amanda Maxwell Sikes.
Ann Marie Lowe begins her first year as Director of Operations for the Baylor Equestrian team.

Lowe received her master’s degree in education from Oklahoma State University this past May. During her time in Stillwater, Lowe served two seasons as the graduate assistant for the OSU Equestrian team.

Prior to her stint at OSU, Lowe graduated from Texas A&M University in 2006 with a bachelor’s degree in Animal Science. During her four years at Texas A&M, Lowe was a member of the equestrian team, competing in both the hunt seat and western disciplines. She served as the hunt seat captain her senior year.

Lowe attended the IHSA Nationals twice as well as the Varsity Nationals twice. Although the Aggies finished fifth in 2005, she finished third in the intermediate flat for the hunt seat team. Also in 2005, Lowe was a member of the fifth place hunt seat team at Varsity Nationals and the fifth place team in 2006 at Varsity Nationals.

2007-08 Highlights

Baylor closed out its third full season of competition with even greater success than the first two, placing in all three possible standings at the 2008 Varsity Equestrian National Championships. Baylor's hunter seat team posted its best-ever finish at the VENC, finishing sixth in the competition at the Heart O' Texas Fair Complex. The Bears' previous best finishes were eighth in 2006 and '07, while the Western squad was ninth in '08.

Baylor's equestrian team completed its third season with a banquet honoring the 2008 squad. The evening included team awards and recognition of the year's 15 letterwinners who participated in the team's outstanding season.

Head coach Ellen White and assistant coach Trista Armstrong honored four riders as the year's MVP riders in the four competitive events. In English, Shelby White earned the Flat award and Brown was given the Fences honor. For Western, Allison Orosz was tabbed the Horsemanship MVP and Madelyn Mooney was the Reining MVP.

Two sportsmanship awards were given, one to English's Whitney McIlvain and one to Western's Anna Bowers, while Kim Marlowe earned the team spirit award, Ashley Smith was recognized for having the hardest work ethic and Amanda Miller earned the philanthropy/most encouraging award.

Four Bears were also honored as the Most Improved Rider for their event: Flat - Beth Banister, Fences - Heather Healy, Horsemanship - Lindsay Douglas and Reining - Marlowe.

Additionally, the Bears also named their 2007-08 season letterwinners:

First Year: Douglas, Katie Buss, Kendra Vicary
Second Year: Banister, Healy, Marlowe, Mooney, Orosz, Valtie Riddle, Mary Smitsom, Lindsey Tomko

ian McCaw was named Director of Athletics of Baylor's 18-sport, Big 12 intercollegiate athletics program Sept. 8, 2003. Under McCaw's leadership, the department has achieved unprecedented academic, athletics and administrative success.

Since 2003, Baylor has enjoyed its most competitively successful period in the history of its intercollegiate athletics program. During that time, Baylor has captured two NCAA national team championships, 20 Big 12 conference championships and recorded its three highest finishes in the NCAA Directors’ Cup standings.

Baylor achieved three Top 40 finishes in the NACDA Director's Cup including its highest finish ever in 2004-05 with a 25th-place ranking. A school-record 13 teams advanced to post-season competition in both 2005-06 and 2006-07.

Baylor has also excelled in conference competition consistently finishing in the top half of the Big 12 all-sports standings.

Student-athletes have thrived in the classroom as Baylor led the Big 12 in graduation success rate at 88 percent and four-class graduation rate at 64 percent in 2006-07.

While Baylor Athletics enjoyed extraordinary academic and athletic success, the department has made dramatic strides administratively as well.

A five-year strategic plan for intercollegiate athletics, Above and Beyond, was developed and implemented inclusive of department goals and objectives. An outgrowth of this plan was the creation of the five-year, $90 million development campaign Victory with Integrity which was initiated in February 2005.

Improved athletic development success has followed leading to the funding and completion of the Grant Teaff and Letterwinners Plazas; the Lt. Jack Whetsel Jr. Basketball Practice Facility; and, the Willis Family Equestrian Center. The $34 million Highers Athletics Complex and Simpson Athletics and Academic Center will be completed in the fall of 2008. Since McCaw's arrival, the athletic endowment has grown from $14 to more than $24 million. In each of the last four years, the Baylor Bear Foundation has posted a new record for annual funds raised highlighted by its best year ever in 2007-08.

Baylor successfully completed the NCAA certification process being cited as one of only two institutions in the certification program's history to have no issues raised in its self-study. An expanded compliance staff, improved financial services area and enhanced Student-Athlete Services/Life Skills unit are among the most significant internal improvements.

Record revenues in ticket sales, corporate sponsorship, television, licensing and expanded media exposure underscore the growth in external support for Baylor Athletics.

McCaw is Baylor's 12th athletic director and arrived from the University of Massachusetts, where he spent the previous year as director of athletics. McCaw was responsible for a 23-sport program and helped develop and implement a five-year strategic plan for UMass athletics.

McCaw oversaw a $2 million renovation of the men's and women's basketball and ice hockey locker room facilities at Massachusetts. In McCaw's one season in Amherst, UMass captured three Atlantic 10. The NCAA graduation rate for UMass student-athletes was 71 percent, 12 points higher than that of the school's general student population.

McCaw previously served as director of intercollegiate athletics and campus recreation at Northeastern University from 1997-2002. During his five years at Northeastern, where he implemented a five-year strategic plan for Northeastern athletics inclusive of department goals and objectives.

Northeastern graduated 65 percent of its student-athletes during McCaw's final year at the Boston institution, 14 points higher than the institutional average. Husky student-athletes also gave back to the community, as each team was required to participate in at least one community service project annually. The success of the Northeastern athletic program on McCaw's watch extended beyond the classroom, as the program captured a school-record six America East conference titles in 2001-2002, and five teams finished among the nation's top 20. In all, nine different programs captured at least one conference title during McCaw's tenure and five earned at least one NCAA bid.

A $4 million renovation of Northeastern's Cabot Center, which included a refurbishment of the main gymnasium, an expanded speed, strength and conditioning center, a new sports medicine center, expanded and renovated locker rooms, was also completed under McCaw's direction.

McCaw went to Northeastern from Tulane University, where he served as senior associate athletic director for development and associate athletic director for external affairs from 1992-1997, being named Tulane's co-interim director of athletics in 1996. Prior to his years at Tulane, McCaw worked in a variety of athletic administrative posts at the University of Maine from 1986 to 1992 including sports information, marketing and external affairs.

Recognized as a national leader in intercollegiate athletics, McCaw serves on the NCAA Recruiting Cabinet. He is the chair of the Big 12 championship and awards committee; a member of the television, game management and officiating committees.

He also serves on the National Association of Collegiate Director's of Athletics Executive Committee.

McCaw earned his master's degree in sport management from Massachusetts in 1987, after receiving a bachelor's degree in sports administration at Laurentian University in Sudbury, Ontario, in 1985. McCaw and his wife, Heather, are members of First Baptist Church of Woodway where he serves as a deacon. They are the parents of four children: Christy, Paul, Callie and Corinne. McCaw is a member of the Board of Directors of Live Oak Classical School in Waco.
Nancy Post was named Baylor’s Senior Woman Administrator (SWA) in July 2002. As Baylor’s highest ranking female intercollegiate athletics administrator, Post is a member of the Big 12 Conference’s Board of Senior Woman Administrators. As a part of this Board, she assists in the operation of the Big 12 Conference by providing advice and advocacy involving any Conference issue and by providing leadership through proposing Conference actions and policies for the enhancement of women’s athletics.

In addition to her responsibilities as SWA, Post, a certified public accountant, holds the position of Associate Athletics Director for Business. She oversees the daily operations of the athletics business office and coordinates the accounting procedures for the athletics department including special events hosted by Baylor athletics. Post also facilitates the athletics department’s internal and external financial and NCAA audits.

Post graduated from Baylor in 1987 with a BBA in accounting and information systems. After spending several years in the corporate sector, Post was hired by Baylor in August 1995 as Director of Athletics Accounting. She served in this position until January 2001 when she accepted a position as Director of Finance at Tejas Logistics System in Waco. During her six-month absence from Baylor, Post continued to assist the athletics department and in July 2001 returned to Baylor when she was named assistant athletics director for business. She was promoted to Associate AD in July 2008. In addition, she is the sport administrator for Baylor’s equestrian program and is the sport’s national administrative liaison to the NCAA.

The former Nancy Morrison is a native of Killeen, Texas, and a graduate of Killeen High School. She and her husband David (BU ’81, ’82), are the parents of four children: Brooke (BU ’07), Whitney, a Baylor senior, Daniel (16) and McKenna (3).
Baylor, a private Christian university and a nationally ranked liberal arts institution, is the kind of place where the future head of a Fortune 500 company sits alongside those who will found a missionary school in Africa or become a governor of Texas, a professional athlete or a cardiac surgeon overseeing one of the most prestigious medical centers.

The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching classifies Baylor as a research university with “high research activity.” This blends with Baylor’s international reputation for educational excellence built upon the faculty’s commitment to teaching, scholarship and interdisciplinary research to produce outstanding graduates.

Within the course of a decade, Baylor intends to enter the top tier of American universities while reaffirming its distinctive Christian mission. Substantial progress has been made on several key initiatives. We have increased scholarship funds, lowered the student-faculty ratio, added a 600-person residential village and begun construction on a 700-person residential village on campus, and built a state-of-the-art $100 million sciences building and a new museum studies complex.

WACO
THE HEART OF TEXAS

With a population of 215,000, the Waco metropolitan area is located in the heart of Central Texas and within driving distance of most major urban centers in the state — approximately 100 miles from Dallas/Fort Worth and Austin and 180 miles from Houston and San Antonio. Airline service to Dallas/Fort Worth and Houston is available through the expanded and renovated Waco Regional Airport.

The climate of Central Texas is mild year-round. High temperatures range from the upper 90s at the peak of the summer to the 30s and 40s in the winter. Housing is affordable, and part-time jobs are easy to find.

Outdoor recreational opportunities in the Waco area include 7,000-acre Lake Waco and the 416-acre Cameron Park, one of the state’s largest municipal parks which offers hiking and mountain biking trails, a championship disc golf course and the natural habitat Cameron Park Zoo. There are a total of 35 parks in the city.

Annual events include Baylor Homecoming, the Heart O’Texas Fair and Rodeo and outdoor concerts held along the banks of the Brazos River.

A city of museums and galleries, Waco’s local offerings include the Texas Ranger Hall of Fame and Museum, the Texas Sports Hall of Fame, the Art Center, the Dr Pepper Museum and a number of sites on the Baylor University campus, including two art galleries, Armstrong Browning Library, the Mayborn Museum Complex and the Governor Bill and Vera Daniel Historic Village.

Waco is home to a variety of fine restaurants, many located in the city’s revitalized warehouse district downtown. The area features an eclectic mix of restaurants, specialty shops and loft and office space.

Waco History

Waco is named after the Waco Indians, the first inhabitants of the area surrounding a natural spring on the Brazos River. The tribe lived in beehive-shaped huts and had hundreds of acres of land planted with corn, beans and other vegetables. The tribe was generally considered a peaceful one, but occasionally, when threatened, the Wacos became protective of their territory. Part of their village was located on the banks of the Brazos where the Suspension Bridge was later built.

In 1837, the Texas Rangers arrived intending to build a fort — Fort Fisher — at the Waco village, but the expedition was short-lived and plans for the outpost were canceled. A trading post was established near Waco Village in 1844, and a year later a rugged Scot named Neil McLennan established the first frontier settlement in the area. In 1848, three years after Texas became a state, the Mexican land grant surrounding the old Waco Village site was sold to a group of businessmen from Galveston. In 1849, surveyor George Erath laid out the first streets of Waco, and lots were sold for $5 each. The City of Waco was incorporated on Aug. 29, 1856, and serves as the county seat of McLennan County.

In 1870, the 475-foot Suspension Bridge opened as the first pedestrian/wagon bridge across the Brazos River, providing easier access for numerous travelers as well as cattle herds being driven along the Chisholm Trail. The Waco and Northwestern Railroad reached Waco in 1871, and the city was soon a hub of commerce for Central Texas.

COMPLIANCE GUIDELINES

Baylor University is committed to absolute compliance with all NCAA and Big 12 Conference rules and regulations. Institutional control of athletics is a fundamental principle of NCAA legislation. It requires each institution to conduct its intercollegiate athletics programs in accordance with the rules and regulations of the NCAA. This responsibility includes ensuring that coaches, staff, and other groups representing the institution’s athletics interests comply with all applicable rules.

As a result, it is important for prospects, fans, and alumni to have some understanding of the principles governing college athletics. Below are a few definitions and rules that apply to all athletic boosters.

NCAA DEFINITIONS

REPRESENTATIVE OF ATHLETICS INTERESTS (BOOSTER)
A “representative of athletics interests” (booster) is any individual or group that has ever:

- Been a member of an organization promoting Baylor athletics.
- Contributed to the Athletic Department or its booster organizations.
- Assisted in evaluating or recruiting prospective student-athletes.
- Provided benefits (e.g., employment) to prospective student-athletes or enrolled student-athletes or their family members.
- Otherwise promoted the Baylor athletics program.

Keep in mind that it is very easy to meet one or more of these criteria and once you become an athletics representative, you retain this status FOREVER!

PROSPECTIVE STUDENT-ATHLETE
A “prospect” is a high school student that has started classes for the ninth grade and also any junior college student. A student that has not started classes for the ninth grade becomes a prospect if the student receives any benefits that the institution does not provide to all prospective students in general. An individual remains a prospect until he or she starts classes at Baylor or reports for practice, whichever occurs first.

STUDENT-ATHLETE
A “student-athlete” is a student whose enrollment was solicited by an athletics staff member with the expectation that the student will participate in intercollegiate athletics. A student not solicited by an athletics staff member becomes a student-athlete when he or she joins an intercollegiate team or reports for practice.

RECRUITING
“Recruiting” is any solicitation of a prospect or the prospect’s family by an authorized institutional staff member for the purpose of securing the prospect’s enrollment at Baylor and participation in athletics. Athletics representatives may not be involved in the recruitment of prospects except as outlined in the following section.

CONTACT
A “contact” is any face-to-face encounter between a prospect or the prospect’s parent or legal guardian and an institutional staff member or athletics representative during which any dialogue occurs.

GUIDELINES AND REMINDERS FOR BOOSTERS

- A booster may not contact a prospect, prospect’s family, friends, coach or school administrator in an attempt to evaluate or recruit the prospect.
- A booster may not expend funds to entertain or provide transportation for a prospect or the prospect’s family or friends.
- A booster may not write, make phone calls, or otherwise communicate with a prospect or the prospect’s family or friends for recruiting purposes.
- A booster may not contribute funds to a prospect’s high school or club team as a form of recruiting inducement or if solicited to do so by a collegiate coach.
- A booster may attend a prospect’s athletic events without contacting the prospect or his/her family.
- A booster may send recommendation letters and newspaper clippings about a prospect in their area to Baylor’s coaches.

- A booster may continue a pre-existing relationship with a prospect and his/her family as long as the relationship pre-dated the prospect’s recruitment or notoriety as an athlete and the nature of the relationship is not enhanced after their notoriety as an athlete. Such a relationship may not be for recruiting purposes.
- A booster may host a current student-athlete or an entire team in their home for a meal, but only on an occasional basis.
- A booster may provide a job for a student-athlete, but the job responsibilities must be legitimate and the pay commensurate for the task.

GUIDELINES FOR EXTRA BENEFITS
An “extra benefit” is any special arrangement by an institutional employee or athletics representative to provide a prospect, a student-athlete or his or her family with a benefit not expressly authorized by the NCAA. Boosters may not provide any special arrangement considered to be an extra benefit. Examples of extra benefits include, but are not limited to:

- Gifts of money, awards or other tangible items.
- Use of vehicles or payment of transportation costs incurred by prospect, prospect’s relatives or friends.
- Free or reduced housing arrangements.
- Promise of employment after graduation or employment of prospect’s relatives or friends.
- Special discounts or payment arrangements.

RECRUITING GUIDELINES FOR PROSPECTS

LETTERS AND NOTES
Coaches may begin to write notes and letters to prospects beginning September 1 of their junior year in high school (conclusion of sophomore year for men’s basketball prospects).

PHONE CALLS

- Prospect Calling: A coach may receive a call initiated by a prospect and paid for by the prospect at any time, including the prospect’s freshman or sophomore years. Prospects may call coaches collect or by dialing 800-BAYLORU only after July 1 after their junior year.
- Football: Coaches may call a prospect once in May of their junior year and then begin making regular phone calls September 1 after their junior year. At some times of the year, calls are limited to once per week while at others calls are unlimited.
- Men’s Basketball: Coaches may call a prospect once after June 21 after their junior year, and three more times in the month of July, and then once per week thereafter.
- Other Sports: Coaches may call a prospect once in March of their junior year, then once per week beginning July 1 after their junior year.

UNOFFICIAL VISITS

There are no limits on the number of unofficial (unpaid) visits to Baylor a prospect may make and no age restriction on who may make unofficial visits. At each unofficial visit, a prospect may receive three (3) complimentary admissions to a home athletic event. No other expenses may be paid by Baylor. At certain times of the year, unofficial visits are prohibited so please coordinate your visit with the coaching staff.

OFFICIAL VISITS

An official visit may only make a total of five official (paid) visits and only one official visit to Baylor. A prospect may not make an official visit until the first day of classes of their senior year (January 1 of junior year for men’s basketball prospects). All official visits will be coordinated by the coaching staffs.

ACADEMICS

Baylor consists of 10 academic units. Baccalaureate programs are offered through the College of Arts and Sciences, Hankamer School of Business, Louise Herrington School of Nursing, the Honors College and the Schools of Education, Engineering and Computer Science, and Music. At the graduate and professional levels, Baylor houses the Graduate School, Law School and George W. Truett Theological Seminary.

The College of Arts and Sciences offers a comprehensive range of programs for Baylor students through its 26 academic departments. Students have the opportunity to pursue a variety of degrees through the College. Most students take courses within the College as part of their core curriculum requirements for degrees from other schools at Baylor.

Students in the College routinely qualify for prestigious academic awards. During the past few years, Baylor students have received Fulbright, Goldwater, Truman and Marshall Scholarships and Howard Hughes Predoctoral and National Science Foundation Fellowships.

The Hankamer School of Business has prepared its graduates to succeed in the highly competitive climate of the world economy. The School’s undergraduate curriculum, which leads to the bachelor of business administration degree, encompasses the liberal arts and sciences, a professional business core and 19 major fields of study. Hankamer also offers a graduate business program with 10 fields of study, including executive education programs and specializations in healthcare administration, international business and customer relationship management.

U.S. News & World Report ranked the School’s undergraduate business programs in the top 16 percent in its 2005 guide to “America’s Best Colleges,” while ranking the graduate entrepreneurship program 28th in the nation. Entrepreneurship magazine ranks Baylor’s entrepreneurship program in the top tier, and The Princeton Review includes Hankamer’s MBA program in its “Top 80 Business Schools in America.” The School’s Executive MBA program is ranked 20th by U.S. News & World Report. The Executive MBA in Dallas was rated as the top program in the Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex, the 14th in the U.S. and 25th in the world by Financial Times.

The programs in the Honors College enrich the University’s academic programs. Established as part of Baylor 2012, the College’s programs are designed for those with both superior academic qualifications and a high degree of intellectual curiosity and motivation. The Honors, University Scholars, Great Texts and Baylor Interdisciplinary Core programs are found in the College.

The School of Education, accredited by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE), offers six degrees with more than 60 specializations. State Board for Educator Certification data indicates Baylor students and graduates earn greater than a 97 percent passing rate on state examinations for teachers, counselors and administrators. The School’s network of professional development schools and Center for Educational Technology places it as a leader in the use of technology for improving teaching and learning. The Baylor University/Waco Independent School District Partnership Council is implementing 10 professional development schools (PDS) in Texas and establishing a mentoring program which will assist local teachers. In 2001, School of Education Dean Robert Yinger was elected to the board of directors of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education (AECTE), a national association of colleges and universities with programs that prepare professional educators.

The School of Engineering and Computer Science combines traditional liberal arts and challenging technical programs to provide its graduates skills including communication, ethics, teamwork and technical competency. The School offers undergraduate degrees in five majors and a master’s degree in computer science. In its 2003 guide to “America’s Best Colleges,” U.S. News & World Report ranked the School’s engineering program 20th in the nation among those focused on the needs of undergraduates. For the seventh consecutive year, 100 percent of Baylor’s engineering students who have taken the Fundamentals of Engineering examination administered by the Texas State Board of Registration for Engineers have passed the exam.

Baylor computer science graduates command top compensation and acclaim from diverse employers. The School’s bioinformatics major — a specialization that combines molecular biology and computer science — is one of the first of its kind in the world.

The development of a Baylor laboratory housing the database from the human genome project is giving bioinformatics students unparalleled laboratory and research experiences. Opportunities for further enrichment include study abroad programs, engineering design projects, summer intern work experience in computer science, and residence in the Engineering and Computer Science Living-Learning Center within the under-construction North Village Complex.

On Jan. 25, 2006, Richard (BU ’81, ’82) and Karen (BU ’85) Willis of Colleyville, Texas, provided the lead gift for the Willis Family Equestrian Center. Though she only started riding 10 years ago, Karen Willis has developed a deep appreciation for the sport and was thrilled to learn Baylor would be adding a team.

"It was something I was always interested in. Even as a child, I loved horses. But growing up, I thought you had to have your own horse to take up riding," Karen said. "When I finally started taking lessons, I just fell in love with it. When I heard that Baylor was starting the equestrian program, I was so excited."

The Willises have a long-standing love and commitment for Baylor, believing deeply in Baylor's mission, and their support stems from a desire to promote the image of Baylor across the nation.

"Athletics is what people think of when they think of a university," Richard said. "It's an important part of our mission to tell people that we can compete at any level and that our Christian heritage really enhances that."

Karen agreed, "We want people to know that you can get a very good education and you can still be a Christian and have an education in that environment without losing anything."

The Baylor Board of Regents at its April 21, 2006, spring meeting authorized the construction of a new facility off of University Parks Drive for the university’s women’s intercollegiate equestrian program.

The Willis Family Equestrian Center, named for Baylor graduates Richard (1981 and 1982) and Karen (1985) Willis of Colleyville who provided the lead gift for the project, is located near the Baylor campus.

"We are grateful to Richard and Karen Willis for their generous financial support and enthusiasm for this project," said Baylor Director of Athletics Ian McCaw. "The Willis Family Equestrian Center will afford Baylor equine student-athletes one of the nation's finest collegiate competitive facilities. The equestrian program has exceeded our expectations in its first year and we look forward to it achieving even greater success in the future."

The 45,000-square-foot facility includes a covered riding arena with spectator seating, more than 20 stalls to house the horses and restroom facilities. The center’s first official show took place on Oct. 6, 2006 against New Mexico State. Head coach Ellen White and the Bears rode to an 8-7 victory against the Aggies.

"We have a top facility, really better than any other place I’ve been to. We really appreciate our donors’ sacrifices to make our dreams come true. Now our girls have a top facility to compete in. It also holds with Baylor tradition of having great facilities and we’re right there with the others," said White.
