

GLENN MOORE
 Head Coach
 Eighth Season
 Northwestern State, 1993

Glenn Moore enters his eighth season as head coach at Baylor and his 11th full season as a collegiate head coach. Moore, who was selected to guide the Lady Bear program in June 2000, enters the 2008 season with a career record of 442-180 (.711). His teams have won at least 30 games each season of his Division I career.

The 2007 season was one for the ages, as Moore led Baylor to its fourth straight NCAA Softball Championship appearance and its first Women's College World Series berth. The Lady Bears finished 51-16, tying the school record for wins, and ended the season ranked fifth nationally, their highest ranking in school history. Moore also helped guide Baylor to the program's first Big 12 Conference regular-season title after collecting 14 league wins, the most in BU history. During the 2007 season, Moore collected his 400th career win on Feb. 17 with a victory over Iowa State, and also won his 300th game at Baylor on May 20 with a victory over Albany. For his efforts, Moore and his staff were recognized as the National Fastpitch Coaches Association Division I Midwest Region Coaching Staff of the Year.

In what has become a theme for Baylor softball, power-hitting and blazing speed were once again on display, as the 2007 Lady Bears led the Big 12 with 142 stolen bases and finished second in the league with 62 home runs. For the second straight season a player broke the school single season home run mark, as Ashley Monceaux blasted 20 home runs. In addition, Monceaux also broke the single-season records in batting average, hits, doubles, RBI, slugging percentage and OBP, while Tiffany Wesley set a new season record for stolen bases with 36.

The Lady Bears raked in numerous postseason awards in 2007 as Monceaux and Brette Reagan were named NFCA All-Americans, making it the second straight season that Baylor landed at least two players on the NFCA All-America squad. It was also the second consecutive year that a Baylor player took home the Big 12 Conference Freshman of the Year award, as Kirsten Shortridge earned the honor for her performance in the circle. In all, a school record six players earned All-Big 12 selections in 2007.

Baylor continued its excellence in the classroom, as five Lady Bears earned Academic All-Big 12 accolades, while two players were named ESPN The Magazine All-District selections.

In 2006, Moore became the first coach to lead Baylor to three consecutive NCAA Softball Championships as the Lady Bears finished 38-22 on the season and advanced to the NCAA Corvallis Regional final. Along the way, Baylor climbed as high as No. 10 in the national rankings and finished the season No. 20 in the polls.

The Lady Bears stepped it up 2006 Big 12 Conference under Moore as Baylor finished the season with a record of 12-6 in conference play, good for a third-place finish.

Hitting the long ball was the theme for Moore's team during the 2006 season as Baylor led the Big 12 Conference and established a new school record with 68 home runs on the season. The Lady Bears had four players hit at least 12 home runs as Chelsi Lake led the team with 18 home runs during the 2006 campaign.

Under Moore, several players received national recognition for their play during the 2006 season. For the first time in school history, Baylor landed at least two players on the NFCA All-America squad. Reagan picked up second-team honors while Lake was a third-team All-America selection. In addition, Reagan became the first player in school history to earn a Big 12 Player of the Year award as the freshman was chosen Big 12 Conference Freshman of the Year in a vote of league coaches.

In all, six players landed on the All-Big 12 Conference squad in 2006 while five players found their way onto the NFCA All-Midwest Region squad.

The 2006 squad excelled in the classroom as well as six players landed on the academic All-Big 12 Conference squad with Lake and Kelly Osburn earning first-team ESPN

The Magazine Academic All-District VI honors. In fact, Osburn became the fourth softball player in program history to be named to the ESPN The Magazine Academic All-America team. As a team, the softball squad finished the year with a 3.409 GPA, the nation's ninth-highest mark according to a list released by the NFCA.

While the 2006 season was an extremely successful one, Moore and the Baylor softball program reached new heights in 2005. In 2005, Baylor established a new school record at the time with 51 wins as the Lady Bears claimed the school's first regional title, capturing the NCAA Auburn Regional crown and advancing to the NCAA Super Regional for the first time.

Despite falling one game short of the Women's College World Series, Moore and the Lady Bears established a number of significant milestones in 2005. During the season, the program reached the highest ranking in school history to that point, climbing to No. 7 during the season.

In addition to the lofty ranking, Baylor established a number of school records during the 2005 campaign. Under Moore's guidance, the 2005 Lady Bears shattered nearly every team record, setting new marks in 15 hitting categories including average (.318), runs (384), home runs (57), slugging percentage (.502) and on-base percentage (.380).

While the team reached new heights in 2005, a number of players earned significant individual accolades. For only the second time in school history, a Baylor player earned NFCA All-America honors as Harmony Schwethelm was selected to the squad following an outstanding season.

In addition to Schwethelm, Lake was named a finalist for ASA Softball National Player of the Year while Tessa Lynam earned USA Softball National Player of the Week honors following her performance at the Crowne Plaza Classic. In all, four Baylor players were named NFCA All-Midwest Region while five earned all-conference nods.

The Lady Bears excelled in the classroom in 2005 as well as Kim Wilmoth became only the fourth student-athlete in Baylor history to be selected CoSIDA Academic All-America for three consecutive seasons. Four Baylor players earned CoSIDA Academic All-District VI honors while seven were selected to the academic all-conference squad as the Lady Bears posted one of the nation's highest team GPAs.

Prior to the historic 2005 campaign, the 2004 Baylor softball season saw Moore guide the Lady Bears to unprecedented success. For the first time in the program's history, Baylor was selected to participate in the NCAA Softball Championships and the Lady Bears' home field, Getterman Stadium, was selected as one of eight NCAA host sites.

Along the way, Moore's 2004 version of the Lady Bears established then-school records for wins (48), conference victories (11) and winning percentage (.814). In addition, Moore helped the Lady Bears climb to their then-highest national-ranking in school history, finishing the season ranked 19th in the country.

At one point during the season, Baylor won 27-of-28 games and established a new school record with a 14-game winning streak. During the year, Baylor defeated seven teams ranked in the top 25, including a series sweep of No. 9 Oklahoma, a team that advanced to the NCAA Women's College World Series.

The 2004 season also saw Baylor advance to the Big 12 Conference Championship semi-finals for the first time ever. After finishing fourth in the conference during the regular season, tying Baylor's highest-ever conference finish, the Lady Bears advanced to the semi-finals of the conference tournament before falling to Nebraska.

During Baylor's historic run at the conference tournament, the Lady Bears helped Moore reach a career milestone. Rallying to defeat rival Texas A&M 2-1 in an elimination game, the Lady Bears gave Moore his 300th career victory, a milestone that was recognized by the NFCA at its annual convention.

The 2004 season also saw numerous players receive recognition for their performances on the field. Baylor had four NFCA all-region selections, three all-conference selections, three all-conference tournament selections and two NCAA all-tournament selections.

In addition, three times throughout the season Baylor pitchers were named Big 12 Conference Pitcher of the Week, the most in school history. Finally, Cristin Vitek, a first-team all-conference selection, was chosen as one of 40 players in the country as a finalist for USA Softball Player of the Year honors.

Baylor players also saw success off-the-field under Moore in 2004. Six Baylor players were selected first-team academic all-conference, the most selections of any league school.

In 2003, Moore led Baylor to its third straight 30-win season. The year ended with a strong showing at the Big 12 Tournament; the 2003 Lady Bears were the first in the program's history to win two games at the tournament. Baylor established a then-school record for home runs in a season with 29 as eight different players had at least one home run for the first time in school history. The Lady Bears also broke the school record for stolen bases with a conference-best 119, which was, at the time, the second-highest total in the Big 12's existence. Baylor finished fifth nationally in total stolen bases and ninth nationally in steals per game during the 2003 season.

Credited with putting Baylor softball on the national map, Moore led the Lady Bears to the best season in the program's history in 2002. Baylor finished 46-18 overall and 10-8 in the Big 12 Conference. Along with setting numerous team and individual school records, the Lady Bears posted then-program-best marks for wins, winning percentage, Big 12 wins and highest Big 12 finish (fourth).

Known for his history of building strong pitching staffs, Moore's pitchers put together the most dominating season in school history in 2002. Baylor finished sixth in team ERA and was the only school in the nation with three pitchers ranked in the top 40 in individual ERA. Cristin Vitek ranked 11th (0.89), Joni Miller was 30th (1.05) and Katie Decker was 35th (1.08).

Miller also tied for 14th nationally with five saves, while Vitek tied for 24th with four. Throw in a pair of saves from Decker and Baylor finished second nationally in saves behind only Mississippi State (16). In just six seasons under Moore, the Lady Bears have completely re-written the pitching section of the program's records book. Prior to Moore's arrival, the lowest team ERA in school history was 2.01. Baylor more than cut that in half in 2002, posting a 0.99 staff ERA. Under Moore, Baylor pitchers have posted the top six ERAs in school history.

Baylor opened its 2002 season 23-2 and reached the 20-win and 30-win plateaus faster than any team in the nation. Baylor had four winning streaks of five or more games in 2002 and lost consecutive games just five times - three two-game skids and one of four games.

Moore led the Lady Bears to a pair of victories over top 10 teams during the 2002 season, both coming on the opponents' home field. The first was a 2-1, eight-inning victory at then-No. 10 Fresno State in early March. Three weeks later, Baylor knocked off fourth-ranked Nebraska 1-0 on Danelle Arnold's second-inning solo homer. The victory over Nebraska propelled the Lady Bears into the NFCA/USA Today Coaches Top 25, where they stayed until falling to the ranks of those receiving votes at season's end.

In their first season under Moore, the Lady Bears improved by 11 wins. Baylor finished sixth in the Big 12 Conference and reached as high as No. 19 in the NFCA Coaches Top 25.

A native of Liberty, Miss., Moore wasted no time in directing the Baylor program to national prominence. Baylor cracked the NFCA Top 25 for just the second time in the program's history during the sixth week of the 2001 season. The Lady Bears have been ranked nationally during each of Moore's seven seasons at Baylor; and, heading into 2008, have been ranked for 55 consecutive weeks, dating back to the fifth week of the 2004 season.

After starting the season 1-3, Baylor won 18 of its next 19 games in 2001. The 19-4 start was the best beginning to a season in the program's history. The stretch, which, at the time, ranked as the best 23-game run in school history, was started by a pair of wins over then-No. 20 Oregon. Baylor went on to claim team titles at the UTA/Isuzu Motors Invitational (quad-champions), the University Centre Invitational and the Troy Cox Classic over the next three weekends.

Although the Lady Bears cooled off in March and April, they still finished the season with a 38-22 record, tying then-school records for wins and highest winning percentage. Along the way, Baylor posted its first-ever win over Texas, split with then-No. 22 Texas A&M and posted a 15-6 record at Gettman Stadium.

As a team, the Lady Bears tightened up their defense, showed more pop at the plate and were stingy in the circle during Moore's first season. Baylor committed just 63 errors and had a team fielding percentage of .963 during the 2001 season, both school records. The Lady Bears also posted then-school marks with 24 home runs, a .329 team on base percentage, 17 shutouts, and seven saves. Baylor dropped its team ERA from 3.17 in 2000 to 2.52 in 2001. The Lady Bears also more than doubled their stolen base production in their first season under Moore, going from 40 in 2000 to 81 in 2001.

Baylor also had several impressive individual performances during Moore's first campaign in Waco. As a result, four Lady Bears earned NFCA All-Midwest Region honors. Baylor also placed four players on the All-Big 12 teams; and, academically, Baylor had three first-team and three second-team Academic All-Big 12 selections and two Verizon/CoSIDA Academic All-America honorees.

During Moore's tenure, six Lady Bears have received CoSIDA Academic All-America honors, and 22 players have received NFCA All-Midwest Region honors. In addition, Baylor players have earned 31 all-conference selections during his tenure while numerous Lady Bears have earned academic all-conference honors.

Prior to coming to Baylor, Moore spent two-plus seasons as head coach at Louisiana State and four years total with the Tigers' program. Moore led LSU to the Southeastern Conference championship in 1999 and 2000. While at LSU, Moore amassed a 117-25 (.820) record.

Moore was named LSU's head coach prior to the 1998 NCAA Regionals, where he led the Tigers to a 2-2 mark. His first full season as head coach, 1999, saw the Tigers go 56-10 and win both the SEC regular season and tournament titles. LSU repeated its regular-season crown in 2000, going 59-13 and setting a school record for wins while advancing to within a game of the Women's College World Series. The Tigers finished eighth nationally in hitting (.310) and ninth in pitching (1.11) in 2000. LSU appeared in three-straight NCAA Regionals under Moore.

Before his stint at LSU, Moore spent one season as the head coach at William Carey College in Hattiesburg, Miss. Moore was 22-17 that season and guided William Carey to a second-place finish in the Gulf South Conference.

In dealing with student-athletes Moore believes that hard work is one of the keys to success. This is evident by the extensive off-season training that the Lady Bears had during the fall. He believes in simply outworking other teams on the field and in the weight room. Moore feels that hard work will be rewarded. On the other hand, he also believes having fun is important. Moore feels that fun is the most overlooked motivation in collegiate sports.

Moore and his team are aware of the level of play that is needed to reach the goals of the 2008 Lady Bear squad, especially in the always strong Big 12.

Moore, 41, has plenty of experience with coaching and playing softball, as well as several other sports. He played for the world famous "The King and His Court" fastpitch softball team. He was a pitcher for the team that traveled the globe showcasing its talents. He also played in the Mississippi Men's Fastpitch and McComb Men's Fall Fastpitch Softball leagues for 12 years.

Moore's own athletic career saw him play both football and baseball at Southwest Mississippi Community College before playing tight end at Northwestern (La.) State, where he graduated from in 1993. He was inducted into Southwest Mississippi Community College's Hall of Fame in the fall of 2000.

While enrolled at Northwestern State, Moore was a volunteer assistant softball coach for two seasons before becoming a full-time assistant in 1992. After coaching football, baseball and basketball at Amite School Center in his hometown of Liberty, Miss., he left to coach at William Carey, where he started the softball program.

Moore is married to the former Janice Miller of Campiti, La., who also made her mark on the Northwestern State campus. She is a former Southland Conference high jump champion and school record holder in the sport. The couple has two children: daughter Jacey Lynn (8) and son Ty Stewart (6).

GLENN MOORE'S COACHING PHILOSOPHY

Coaching a championship team takes more than just a knowledge of the game. It takes a person who realizes the complexity of the life of a student-athlete and how to help make her successful in life. Glenn Moore has a philosophy that he uses to coach the Baylor softball team and mold the young women into athletes in the game of life.

“Sir Winston Churchill said years ago that those who tend to forget history are doomed to repeat it. That is a statement by which I live, coach and teach those I influence. It is a part of my philosophy that is extremely pertinent to gaining success by limiting frustration caused by repeating mistakes. Albert Einstein stated “the definition of insanity is to continue doing the same thing over and over expecting a different result.” I believe that the best coaches are those who are truly students of the game, those who develop self confidence through learning the game of softball as well as the game of life as each constantly change.

“Through books, videos, clinics, etc., today there are very few secrets in coaching ‘The Game.’ I believe the elements that ensure enduring success are the ability to make adjustments to the current situation and the coach’s ability to motivate. Motivation is a key element as many teams are talented, but few reach their potential.

RECRUITING

“We are provided a great deal of talent right here in our state. So, Texas will be our first priority in recruiting, and as long as the commitment to play high level ball in the summer programs is there, we will be able to win with the in-state student-athletes. From there, we focus highly on the more competitive areas such as the West, Oklahoma, Florida and Louisiana. However, we are continually building a network of reliable contacts throughout the country and will recruit from any area of the U.S. and Canada. I believe we have so much to offer at Baylor as an institution, staff and team, that when the recruits visit, they understand the reasons we are successful. A recruit has to be willing to buy into the system, understand the ‘team’ concept and expect to win. If those traits are there, or at least potentially there, we can be successful with the recruit. With all of our recruits having been the star athletes of the respective leagues and schools, it is a tremendous challenge to determine which ones have been taught the qualities needed for true success at this level.”

GAME PHILOSOPHY

“My philosophy on the playing style of the Baylor softball team is the same as my overall philosophy--it’s central focus is ‘adjustments.’ My style of play will be determined according to the abilities of the athletes I coach. I desire a balanced attack which encompasses the short game, power throughout the lineup and great bench speed. A balanced attack allows us to make adjustments according to the type of pitching we are facing. I believe in applying pressure throughout the game with high intense play. We will take good percentage chances forcing the competition to make plays. If the plays aren’t made, we will be very unpredictable in attempting to capitalize on their mistakes.

“Defensively, we will limit extra bases and take away the short game with very aggressive corners. Our pitchers will perform to the top of their games, knowing that they do not have to get strikeouts to win. We will develop a defense that is very confident and that confidence will be transferred to the pitchers allowing her performance level to rise.

“Finally and most importantly, I believe, as I have said, that priorities have to be in order. Every time I see a young girl at one of our games with a glove or ball to get autographed, I think of the powerful influence our athletes have on their lives. Few will be fortunate enough to wear the Baylor uniform or step between the lines to hear the words ‘play ball’ in Getterman Stadium. Nevertheless, they can dream knowing those dreams can become reality.

“With bat, shoe and glove contracts we do have many ‘extras’ to enhance our game. However, the true ‘Lady Bear’ is just as competitive whether playing in her backyard or in front of 2,000 screaming fans. Whether practicing or playing, the same athlete shows up. During the offseason, long before the season begins, she is preparing, taking advantage of every opportunity to gain the needed edge for battle against an equally talented opponent. When the battle is over the true competitor can look in the mirror and not hang her head. Finally, the true winner always acknowledges the one responsible for her opportunity — GOD.”

Mark Lumley
 Associate Head Coach
 Eighth Season
 Arizona, 1985

Mark Lumley is in eighth season as a coach with the Baylor program, serving as the team's hitting instructor and working with outfielders. Following the 2006 season, Lumley was promoted to associate head coach after serving six years as an assistant coach. Lumley came to Baylor in July 2000, following head coach Glenn Moore from Louisiana State. This will be Lumley's 11th season as an assistant to Moore.

In Lumley's seven years at Baylor, the Lady Bears have tallied six of the seven highest single-season home run totals in the program's history as Baylor has continually established new and individual single-season hitting records under his guidance.

In 2005 and 2006, his outstanding work was recognized by USA Softball as he was chosen for coaching consideration for events during the 2005 and 2006 Women's National Team's seasons. As an assistant coach with Team USA in 2006, Lumley helped lead the team to a gold medal at the 2006 World University Games. The team was made up of elite collegiate players from around the country. After the Games, USA took on the Chicago Bandits of the NPF, defeating them three out of four games.

Lumley's influence on the Baylor program was felt immediately. In 2001, several Lady Bears saw drastic improvements in their offensive numbers. First-team All-Big 12 Conference selection Stacey Hundley raised her batting average 80 points, and Holly Fields raised her average by 37 points. Fields also smashed six home runs, matching her total for her first two seasons.

The offensive success continued and increased in 2002 as Baylor established school records for RBI, doubles, triples, slugging percentage, walks, on base percentage, times reached base and stolen bases. Baylor also tied or broke 14 single-game team offensive records in 2002 as several individuals established single-game and single-season school records at the plate.

In 2002, all three Baylor outfielders received postseason accolades: Sarah Caudle was named the Big 12 Conference all-tournament team, Kelly Levesque earned first-team All-Big 12 and second-team NFCA All-Midwest Region honors, and Nan Wilkins was also an all-region selection.

At season's end, Lumley was named a National Assistant Coach of the Year by Scholastic Coach and Athletic Director magazine. Lumley was one of just 14 Division I coaches so honored, and he joined Lori Sippel from Nebraska as the only recipients from the Big 12 Conference.

In 2003, the team records continued to fall under Lumley as Baylor established a school record with 27 home runs. The total was three more than the previous mark set in 2001, Lumley's first season with the program.

Baylor finished third in the Big 12 Conference in team batting average in 2003, tied for the highest the Lady Bears have finished in the league's 10-year history. Kelly Osburn led the conference in on base percentage, Kim Wilmoth tied for the conference lead in triples and Caudle finished third in RBI.

The success continued in 2004 for Lumley and the Baylor hitters as the Lady Bears advanced to the NCAA Softball Championships for the first time in school history.

Once again, Baylor finished the season third in the Big 12 Conference in batting average as two Lady Bears finished in the top five in the conference for average. Carrie Leerberg led the way for Baylor in 2004 with an average of .372 to finish second in the conference as Harmony Schwethelm was not far behind with an average of .355 to finish fifth in the conference in batting.

On the season, Baylor established a new school record with 599 total bases as eight Baylor players established new school records in several hitting categories.

The progress the Baylor hitters made in his first four seasons as an assistant coach was only a sign of things to come for the Lady Bear hitters in 2005. On the way to advancing to its second consecutive NCAA Softball Championships and claiming the first regional title in program history, Baylor shattered nearly every single-season and individual school record.

Among the 15 team hitting records Baylor set in 2005, the Lady Bears established new single-season records in batting average (.318), home runs (57), runs scored (384) and runs batted in (319). The .318 team batting average ranked fifth nationally and third in the Big 12 Conference as Baylor also finished in the top 10 in the nation in runs (5th, 5.91 per game), doubles per game (8th, 1.57), triples per game (5th, 0.4) and slugging percentage (8th, .502).

With a number of school records falling in 2005, several Baylor players established new individual single season records as well. Under Lumley's guidance, Chelsi Lake established new school records with 15 home runs and led the Big 12 Conference with 65 RBI. In addition, Osburn set a new single-season mark with 59 runs scored while Schwethelm established a new school record with 81 hits on the year. In all, Baylor players broke 18 individual single-season hitting records.

The success continued for the Baylor program under Lumley in 2006. The squad shattered the home run mark set by the 2005 team, blasting 68 on the season to lead the Big 12 Conference and rank sixth in the country with 1.13 home runs per game and ninth with a .486 slugging percentage. Once again, Lake led the offensive output, belting a school record 18 home runs to break her school record set the previous season as she ranked second in the conference with a .741 slugging percentage.

For the season, Baylor ranked second in the conference with a .296 batting average and ranked among the top three in every offensive category.

In 2007, Lumley helped guide Ashley Monceaux to one of the greatest offensive seasons in Baylor history. Monceaux set single-season records in batting average (.413), hits (81), doubles (19), home runs (20), RBI (71), slugging percentage (.816) and OBP (.508). As a team, the 2007 squad hit .310 and is ranked second in school history in nearly every offensive category.

Defensively, his outfielders were part of a unit that set a school record with a .969 fielding percentage.

For his efforts, Lumley and the rest of the staff were recognized as the 2007 National Fastpitch Coaches Association Division I Midwest Region Coaching Staff of the Year.

Thanks to Lumley's tutelage, Baylor has enjoyed one of the Big 12's strongest outfielders over the past seven years. In that time, six Baylor outfielders have earned NFCA all-region regional honors, including Schwethelm, who became only the second player in school history to be named NFCA All-America when she was named to the squad following the 2005 season.

In two seasons at LSU, Lumley guided his hitters, known for their power and aggressiveness, to a final ranking of 21st in the NCAA in 1999 and No. 8 in 2000. The 2000 squad finished the season with a batting average of .310 and ranked 13th nationally in slugging percentage (.430) and 20th in scoring with 5.07 runs a game.

Lumley, a native of Tucson, Ariz., joined Moore at LSU after a 12-year stint at Flowing Wells High School in Tucson where he led the team to a No. 5 final national ranking by USA Today.

Lumley has received numerous honors for his coaching accomplishments. He was named the 1998 Arizona Coaches Association Coach of the Year, and the 1998 Arizona All-Star Game was dedicated to Lumley for his outstanding tenure as a high school coach. He was also named the 1993 and 1997 Coach of the Year by the Daily Star-Tucson Citizen.

A 1985 graduate of the University of Arizona, Lumley is a member of the National Fastpitch Coaches Association and the American Baseball Coaches Association.

In 2004, her pitching staff earned numerous honors as Lisa Ferguson was named Big 12 Conference Pitcher of the Week following her no-hitter against Auburn while Cristin Vitek was an all-conference selection as well as a finalist for USA Softball Player of the Year.

One of the greatest pitching performances in NCAA history came under Sneed Newman's guidance as Vitek established new single-game NCAA, NCAA Tournament and Big 12 Conference records with 28 strikeouts against North Carolina to open the 2004 NCAA Softball Championships.

Ferguson finished the year second in the nation with eight saves as Vitek finished ninth in the country with 31 victories and 18th in the nation with a 0.89 ERA.

The success for the Baylor hurlers continued in 2005 as the pitching staff established a new school record for wins and helped Baylor claim its first regional title in school history. Once again, control was the focus of her pitching staff as Baylor led the Big 12 Conference in fewest walks per game with 1.45. In addition, Baylor led the league in saves for the second straight season, recording nine, as Tessa Lynam finished the year ranked 19th in the nation with four saves.

Sneed Newman, who was a member of the Baylor staff that was recognized as the National Fastpitch Coaches Association Division I Midwest Region Coaching Staff of the Year in 2007, orchestrated a pitching staff that helped lead the Lady Bears to one of the greatest seasons in program history in 2007. Baylor finished with a 2.09 ERA as opponents hit just .216 against them.

Ferguson was once again the ace of Sneed Newman's staff, compiling a 26-8 record and a 1.99 ERA while earning All-Big 12 honors. Under Sneed
