BUCKNELL NOTEBOOK

• In improving from 1-10 in 2005 to 6-5 in 2006, the Bison enjoyed one of the best one-year turnarounds in school history. In fact, the five-game improvement tied the school record, set previously by the 1954, 1949 and 1891 teams. Bucknell also tied with Arkansas Pine-Bluff, Liberty and Robert Morris for the best win differential in all of I-AA football.

• For the 10th time in the last 12 years, Bucknell finished with a record of .500 or better. It was the third such season in head coach Tim Landis' four-year tenure here.

• Five Bison were named to the All-Patriot League Team at season's end, including first-team defensive selection LB Dorian Petersen. Named to the second team were RB Josh DeStefano, OL Joel Hoffer, OL Stefan Niemczyk and DB Matt Palermo. It was the first all-league recognition for all five players.

• Two Bison were named to the ESPN the Magazine Academic All-District Team last fall. OL Michael Boccella and DB David Frisbey were repeat selections, and Frisbey went on to make the national Academic All-America Team for the first time. Frisbey was also named a semifinalist for the Draddy Trophy, also known as the "Academic Heisman," which is awarded to college football's top scholar-athlete.

• Starting with a 31-28 overtime win over Duquesne on opening night and finishing with a 31-28 win over arch-rival Colgate, Bucknell alternated wins and losses throughout the 2006 season. Only one other time in school history have the Bison followed that pattern over the course of an entire season, that coming in a seven-game season (4-3) in 1893.

• Bucknell finished the regular season ranked fifth in the nation in rushing offense at 235.2 yards per game. Josh DeStefano won the team rushing title with a career-high 643 yards. The Bison were also ninth in kickoff return coverage, allowing opponents only 16.1 yards per return.

• LB Dorian Petersen finished with a team-high 102 tackles, topping the century mark for the first time in his career. He ranked fifth in the Patriot League and 42nd in the nation in total tackles.

• Bucknell relied heavily on an outstanding freshman class last season. Five different Bison, and six total, earned Patriot League Rookie of the Week accolades. Twelve first-year players were awarded a varsity letter, and eight started at least one game.

• Bucknell will have a new defensive coordinator in 2007, with Andrew Cohen replacing Jared Backus, who is now on the staff at Temple. Cohen was a member of Tom Gadd's staff at Bucknell from 1995-99 and was a member of the 1996 Patriot League championship team. Cohen worked with a Bison defense that set a school record with 47 sacks in 1999 and ranked No. 1 in the league in total defense four out of five years. Most recently, he worked as an assistant at Columbia under head coach Norries Wilson, another former Gadd assistant at Bucknell.

Josh DeStefano was Bucknell's leading rusher last season and earned Second Team All-PL honors.

2007 BUCKNELL SPRING OUTLOOK

If the old coaching adage is true that players make their biggest strides between year one and year two, then this should be an awfully important spring football session for the Bucknell Bison.

Coming off a turnaround 6-5 campaign in which a number of first-year players were handed significant roles, Bucknell's continued ascent in the Patriot League standings will largely be determined by the level of progress those youngsters make in the off-season.

"As freshmen, a lot of guys would be happy just to get playing time," said head coach Tim Landis, who will be in his fifth season at Bucknell in 2007. "It is important that we get the young guys to take the next step in their development and not be satisfied simply with playing time."

Eight different freshmen started at least one game and five earned a Patriot League Rookie of the Week certificate in 2006. The first-year class, along with a solid nucleus of veterans, helped the Bison improve from 1-10 in 2005 to 6-5 last season, tying them for the nation's top one-year victory improvement.

While posting a winning record was an admirable accomplishment last season given the travails of 2005, ultimately the program has much loftier aspirations, most notably a conference championship. Landis knows that in order to join the Patriot League's elite, there is plenty of work to be done.

"We certainly made critical strides going 6-5 with such a young team last season," offered Landis. "But we have to be aggressive in taking the next step, and that next step is competing in the upper echelon of the Patriot League. We have stressed to the players that going from 6-5 to a conference championship is going to be a much tougher step than going from 1-10 to 6-5. We are not going to surprise anyone, which we may have done to some extent last year. We are still going to be very young, but the expectation is there that we will forge ahead."

Following is a position-by-position look at the Bison heading into spring practice.

OFFENSE

Quarterback

Football's glamour position typically draws the most attention from casual spectators, but this spring all eyes truly will be trained on the quarterbacks, as this figures to be the premier position group battle between now and the Sept. 1 opener at Duquesne.

Bucknell comes into spring camp with three quarterbacks who started games last season, and all three had shining moments. Andrew Lair started four games and Terrance Wilson one, but each was felled by a broken collarbone. That left the offense in the hands of freshman Marcello Trigg, who improved significantly throughout the back half of the season and led the team to a 3-3 record in his six starts.

Trigg, who rushed for 299 yards and two touchdowns and passed for 617 and four scores, is listed No. 1 on the spring depth chart, a clear sign of the positive impression he left on the coaches at the end of the fall. His best game came in the season finale, a 31-28 win over rival Colgate, when he completed 9 of 10 passes for 185 yards and a touchdown and also ran for 73 yards and a score.

Lair, who transferred to Bucknell from Navy prior to last spring's practice session, won the opening night starting assignment and showed off a strong, accurate throwing arm and explosive speed. Unfortunately, Lair's first season in Orange & Blue was marred by injuries.

He had a 38-yard touchdown against Duquesne in the season opener, but he was forced out after two quarters due to a hip injury. Lair returned to start the next three games, but against Richmond in week four he was tackled hard and suffered the collarbone injury, effectively ending his season. All told Lair rushed for 145 yards and three touchdowns, and he completed half his pass attempts (13-for-26) for 243 yards.

Wilson was the hero of the Duquesne victory, when he relieved Lair in the second half and scrambled for a 15-yard tying touchdown on the final play of regulation, allowing Bucknell to eventually win in overtime. Wilson also scored a TD in relief against Richmond, and he was leading the Bison to a rout of Marist before breaking his collarbone one week after Lair did the same.

"It is going to be a great battle," Landis predicted. "We have seen all three perform at game speed, and all have done very well. Marcello Trigg goes in at the top of the depth chart based on his performance during the second half of the season, and he certainly deserves to be there. We are going to challenge all three of them, give them a lot of reps and see who emerges."

Fullback

Similar to quarterback, the workhorse fullback position is also stocked with experienced players. Returning Second Team All-Patriot Leaguer Josh DeStefano is the probable starter, with Kevin Mullen and Corin Erby also figuring to get plenty of spring reps. A fourth returning fullback, Paul Forcellini, will not practice this spring while he continues his recovery from an ACL injury that cut short his promising freshman season.

DeStefano rushed for a career-high 643 yards and scored three touchdowns in 2006. Included in that ledger was a 180-yard outburst in a win over Fordham in addition to a 101-yard ledger in a win at Marist.

"Josh DeStefano just had an outstanding year and has earned the right to be the starter," said Landis. "He is going to be pushed hard, though, by Kevin Mullen and Corin Erby this spring and by Paul Forcellini when he is ready to come back in the fall."

Mullen, a hard-nosed performer who has earned the team's ROTC Award for outstanding leadership in each of his first two years in the program, rushed for 294 yards last season, including a career-high 110 in the win over Georgetown, a game that DeStefano missed due to injury.

Erby had a 42-yard touchdown run against Marist and also played quite a bit on special teams. Forcellini rushed for 71 yards and a TD on only 10 carries in the season-opening win over Duquesne, but he suffered the knee injury a week later against Lafayette and missed the rest of the season.

Slotback

Freshman sensation A.J. Kizekai and veteran Roosevelt Davis are listed as the top two slotbacks this spring. Kizekai was one of the Patriot League's top rookies last fall, despite getting a late start due to a preseason injury. He scored on a 36-yard run on his first collegiate carry against No. 7 Richmond in week four, and seeing regular action the rest of the way rushed for 441 yards and a team-high four touchdowns while averaging 7.6 yards per carry. Kizekai also caught six passes for 156 yards and a touchdown.

Davis was a part-time starter last season and ran for 134 yards on 29 carries.

One key cog the Bison will not have this spring is freshman Rashod Bumpers, who made an immediate impact before tearing an ACL in the Richmond game. Bumpers ran for 126 yards and a TD on only nine carries in his collegiate debut against Duquesne.

Another youngster whom the coaches want to take a good look at this spring is promising freshman Josh Lee, who saw brief action in four games in the fall and was also the leading rusher on the jayvee squad. Justin Pulgrano and Cameron O'Reilly will also vie for time in the backfield.

"The slotback position will be a bit thinner than we would like this spring, with Rashod Bumpers out and another good class coming this fall," said Landis. "Still, we are very excited to watch the development of A.J. Kizekai. He has the potential to be one of the very best running backs in the league."

Wide Receiver

Bucknell figures to be as deep at wide receiver as it has been since Landis arrived five years ago. Daniel Zvara has led the team in receiving in each of his first two collegiate seasons, while Alex Odenbach and Cale Cadman both made strong impressions in their first seasons with the Bison. Senior-to-be Andrew Guadagno is another veteran presence, while rookies A.J. Pompliano and Trevor Dombeck are a bit more unproven, but full of potential at the same time.

"We were certainly much improved at wide receiver a year ago, and with a strong group of freshmen receivers coming in, I expect us to be as deep and talented as we've been there," noted Landis.

Offensive Line

Bucknell's biggest graduation hit comes on the offensive line, where senior starters Stefan Niemczyk, Joel Hoffer and Michael Anthony, along with key reserve Michael Boccella, have all moved on. Seniors-to-be Chad Glasser at left tackle and Jonathan Grainger at right guard — both returning starters — figure to be the anchors of the line in 2007.

Rising junior Greg Conti is the top candidate to replace Hoffer at center, with youngsters like James Phelan, Ian Fullmer, Andrew Bottone and Corey Teitz needing strong springs to improve their stock in the remaining position battles.

"We probably have the most work to do on the offensive line," Landis admitted. "We have a very good foundation in Chad Glasser and Jonathan Grainger. Both of those guys could vie for all-league honors next season. There is going to be some great competition at the other spots, and it will be interesting to see who emerges."

DEFENSE

Defensive Line

Bucknell's entire starting defensive line returns for new defensive coordinator Andrew Cohen, including freshman Josh Eden, who led the team in sacks with four and tackles for loss with seven. Eden and classmate David Young come into spring practice No. 1 on the depth chart at defensive end, with rising senior Ryan Walsh competing with Brandon Friday for the starting berth at noseguard.

Todd Rinaldo, a starting end last year, moves back to outside linebacker in Cohen's scheme.

Promising first-year players Anthony Schultz and Will Braaf also look to continue their development this spring, although the Bison will be without freshman Michael Wagner, who is recovering from offseason surgery.

"Although the defensive line is still very young, we feel there is very good talent and depth there," said Landis. "Josh Eden, even though he is still a freshman, has proven to be a real leader. Ryan Walsh is a two-year starter, and some guys who have not played a lot yet, like Will Braaf and Anthony Schultz and David Young, and going to get a lot of reps this spring."

Linebacker

Losing four-year starter Dorian Petersen and his 102 tackles will be a blow, but the Bison still figure to return two of the Patriot League's best linebackers in Ryan Slater and Sam Nana-Sinkam.

"We have very good leadership and production at the linebacker position," said Landis. "Losing a First Team All-Patriot Leaguer in Dorian Petersen will not be easy, so we will be paying close attention this spring to see who will step up and emerge. With the largest linebacker corps we've ever recruited on the way, it will be very important for those guys in camp this spring to make an impact."

Nana-Sinkam, who will have limited contact this spring after undergoing offseason shoulder surgery, and Slater finished 2-3 in tackles last season with 85 and 81, respectively. Nana-Sinkam was the most productive freshman defensive player in the Patriot League. He started every game and made a wonderful first impression with 15 tackles in a week one victory over Duquesne. Slater had over 80 tackles for the second straight season in 2006, with a high of 12 against Lafayette.

Julius Hopson figures to gain additional reps at linebacker this spring, with Rinaldo and Todd Manjuck topping the depth chart at the outside linebacker positions.

Defensive Back

Bucknell will be challenged to replace both of its starting cornerbacks, including Second Team All-Patriot League selection Matt Palermo and Academic All-American David Frisbey. Sophomore Nolan Applegate and freshman Jason Davis have seen brief action at corner early in their careers, and that duo comes into the spring listed as the starters.

Another trio of youngsters — Chris Barr, Jay Harper and Brandon Simmons — are also in the mix, with a heralded group of newcomers en route this fall.

"The biggest competition on the defensive side of the ball is going to be at cornerback," Landis noted. "It is important for all of these guys to establish themselves now, with a large, deep and talented bunch of freshmen coming in to play corner."

The good news is that both starting safeties will be back in 2007. Free safety Stephen Collage will miss spring ball while rehabbing from offseason surgery, but he is expected to be 100 percent by preseason camp. Collage had 51 tackles and a team-high four interceptions last season.

In his absence this spring, freshmen Casey Williams, Josh Gornto and Jon Salem will take the reps.

At strong safety, Brigham Farrand is coming off an outstanding rookie campaign, when he played in 10 games, worked his way into the starting lineup and finished fourth on the team in tackles with 72. He will be pushed by Harrison Baker and Eric Baxter.

"Stephen College will be a leader in the secondary this fall, and we are excited to see what Casey Williams and Josh Gornto can do with a lot of reps in the spring," said Landis. "The coaches also feel that Brigham Farrand can be a very good player in the Patriot League. Harrison Baker has had injury problems in the past, so it is going to be important for him to have a good spring and reestablish himself. When healthy, he is very good."

SPECIAL TEAMS

The Bison are fortunate that their starting punter and placekicker not only have two years still to go, but that they are already two of the Patriot League's best. Punter Phil Azarik has a booming left leg, and he averaged 40.5 yards per punt last season, second in the conference. Kicker Will Carney went 9-for-16 on field goals, including all five inside 30 yards, and 27-for-27 on PATs.

Applegate was a pleasant surprise returning punts. He averaged 12.2 yards per return, second in the league, and was named the team's Special Teams MVP. Jason Davis was the primary kickoff returner, as the Bison look for improvement in that phase of the special teams.

Bucknell's kickoff coverage unit ranked among the nation's best and was one of the team's strengths last season.

Ryan Walsh is a two-year starter on the defensive line.

HEAD COACH TIM LANDIS

After helping the Bison achieve one of the best turnaround seasons in the country in 2006, Tim Landis returns for his fifth year as the Bob Odell Head Coach of Bucknell Football.

Relying heavily on first and second-year players, Landis guided the Bison to a 6-5 record last season (3-3 Patriot League), a five-win improvement over a trying 2005 campaign that was flagged by injuries. Actually, injuries hampered the Bison again last season, particularly at quarterback and running back, but with a much deeper squad, Bucknell was able to overcome the ailments.

With another important spring practice on the horizon, Landis and his staff are looking to continue the upward trend in 2007.

Having already resurrected programs at Davidson and St. Mary's, Landis arrived at Bucknell in December 2002 to take over a football program that was undergoing a trying period.

As Landis' first spring practice approached, the Bison were still coping with the death of legendary head coach Tom Gadd, and they were still tasting the bitterness of a 2-9 record that ended a school-record run of seven straight winning seasons.

But under Landis' leadership, pride was quickly restored in the program, and the Bison turned in two very good seasons, first going 6-6 in 2003 then improving to 7-4 in 2004. Bucknell placed third in the competitive Patriot League standings both seasons.

Landis has coached both an All-American (DL Sean Conover) and an Academic All-American (OL Justin Gibson, DB David Frisbey) during his tenure at Bucknell.

Upon his hiring, Landis, 41, brought to the Bison football program an impressive cache of head coaching experience at the Division I-AA level. He became Bucknell's 25th head football coach since the program's inception in 1883.

"I have worked a very long time in this profession to earn a tremendous opportunity such as this," said Landis at the time of his hiring. "To coach at a quality educational institution like Bucknell that also has a long and proud history of football is the culmination of a lifelong dream of mine."

"I am pleased to have Tim Landis continue to lead the Bison football program," said Hardt in announcing a new multi-year contract for Landis in November. "He has a proven track record of coaching winning teams throughout his career, and during his tenure at Bucknell has recruited true scholar-athletes who are quality young men on and off the field. Coach Landis is determined to bring additional Patriot League championships to Bucknell, and I look forward to working with him in achieving this important goal."

Following a seven-year tenure as head coach at Davidson College, Landis spent the previous three seasons building a winning program at St. Mary's (Calif.) College. In both positions, he garnered national accolades for turning modestly successful programs into winners.

Upon his arrival at St. Mary's in the spring of 2000, the Gaels had been just 4-17 over the previous two seasons. Landis quickly forged a 6-5 season in his first year at the Moraga, Calif., school, marking the program's best one-year turnaround since football was reinstated at St. Mary's in 1967. The Gaels finished 6-5 again in 2001 and 6-6 in 2002, and Landis was honored as the Division I-AA Independent Coach of the Year after both seasons.

Landis helped Davidson to a school-record eight victories in both 1998 and 1999, while laying the groundwork for a perfect 10-0 season the year after his departure to St. Mary's. Prior to Landis' arrival, Davidson had enjoyed just one winning campaign since 1980, but the Wildcats promptly went 6-4 in 1993 under the then first-year coach, and they would go on to enjoy four winning seasons in his seven years at the North Carolina institution.

Landis, who has a career head coaching record of 73-77-1, was very familiar with Bucknell and the Patriot League, having coached against league teams at both Davidson and St. Mary's. The Bison and Gaels met in each of the two prior seasons, with St. Mary's winning 23-22 in overtime in 2002 and Bucknell capturing a 38-6 decision in 2001.

St. Mary's 2000 team gained acclaim for its victories over nationally ranked Colgate and a talented Towson squad. He also posted a win over Patriot League foe Georgetown during his stint at Davidson.

"Having so many roots in the East, I have followed the Patriot League for a long time and it is becoming one of the premier conferences in Division I-AA football," Landis said upon his arrival at Bucknell. "Just look at the success that Patriot League teams have had in the I-AA playoffs. Every school in the league has academic prestige and football prestige. That is a great combination."

Landis' trademark spread option offensive attack put up 2,908 ground yards in 2003, missing the school record by just a single yard while finishing 10th nationally in rushing offense. In 2003 the Bison were eighth nationally, averaging 251.8 rushing yards per game, while last year they were fifth at 235.2 yards per contest.

In his first season at St. Mary's the Gaels ranked fourth nationally in rushing at 309.5 yards per game and 24th nationally in total offense at 434.4. The team broke school records for total yards (4778) and touchdowns (50) in a season. Defensively, the Gaels were equally opportunistic, ranking 12th in Division I-AA in turnovers forced (32). St. Mary's also ranked fourth in the country in rushing offense in 2001 and fifth in 2002.

At St. Mary's, Landis coached an Associated Press First Team All-American in defensive end Travis White, and he mentored a total of seven Verizon Academic All-District honorees in three years.

In his final season at Davidson, the Wildcats defense led the nation with a school-record 28 interceptions, including eight by All-American Ryan Crawford, a current assistant on the Bison staff. Landis' special teams unit blocked a Division I-AA record 13 kicks in 1999, and the defense allowed only 101 rushing yards per game to rank 13th in the nation.

In 1998, Davidson ranked first nationally in pass efficiency defense, second in scoring defense (a stingy 10.4 points per game allowed), fourth in total defense (231.9 yards per game) and 12th in rushing defense.

Landis originally joined the Davidson staff as its defensive line coach in 1991, and two years later, at the age of 29, he became one of the nation's youngest head football coaches.

A native of Yardley, Pa., and a 1982 graduate of The Hun School in Princeton, N.J., Landis went on to earn a bachelor of arts degree in English from Randolph-Macon College in 1986. A First Team All-Old Dominion Athletic Conference honoree both as a quarterback in football and a pitcher in baseball, Landis was inducted into the Randolph-Macon Athletic Hall of Fame in 2000. He was the ODAC Baseball Player of the Year in 1986, and he also earned the school's Compton Award for excellence in academics and athletics. In May 2002, he was inducted into The Hun School's Hall of Fame.

Landis took his initial steps into the coaching profession in 1986, when he remained at Randolph-Macon to coach his alma mater's wide receivers. In 1988, he began a three-year stint as head football and baseball coach at Morrisville (Pa.) High School, where he led the grid squad to an 8-2 record, a state ranking and coach of the year honors by the Bucks County Courier Times, the Bicentennial Athletic League and the Independence Football League. He also guided the baseball team to a conference crown. During his final two years at the school, he served as director of athletics.

Landis returned to the collegiate level in 1991, when he was hired as an assistant at Davidson.

Off the field, Landis is a member of the American Football Coaches Association (AFCA), where he serves as the chairman of that organization's Division I-AA All-America Selection Committee. He also served as a member of the I-AA AFCA Board of Directors Executive Committee.

Landis and his wife Karen have three children — 14-year-old son T.J., 5-year-old daughter Jordan, 4-year-old son Jack, and 1-year old son Charlie.
