Polls

Clemson remained at the #6 spot in both the Baseball America and Collegiate Baseball poll on Monday after going 4-0 in four games last week. Clemson also fell to #7 in the Sports Weekly poll.

The Tigers' #1 ranking by Baseball America and Collegiate Baseball on February 12 was their first since February 27, 2006, when Clemson was ranked #1 by those same two polls. The Tigers have been ranked #1 for 20 weeks by at least one of the major polls in Head Coach Jack Leggett's 14th season at Clemson.

Clemson Has 174 Top-25 Wins Under Leggett

Clemson has a 1-2 record against top-25 ranked teams in 2007. In 14 seasons at Clemson, Head Coach Jack Leggett has 174 wins over teams ranked in the top 25. Only three times in his first 13 seasons has he had a losing record against teams in the top 25.

Tigers Tough to Beat at Home Under Leggett

In his 14 seasons, Head Coach Jack Leggett has a 622-263 overall record at Clemson, including a 257-125 mark against ACC teams. He has been especially tough in home ACC series, where he has a 133-30 (.816) record. The ACC team with the most success has been Florida State, who has won seven games in 21 tries at Doug Kingsmore Stadium. The Tiger skipper only added to his fine record in 2006 by sweeping all five home opponents in league play (15-0 record). Clemson has won 21 consecutive home ACC contests dating back to the 2005 season as well.

Even when an opposing ACC team is victorious at Clemson, it usually means that team only won one of three games. In 55 ACC home series under Leggett, Clemson has lost only four series...losing two of three to N.C. State in 1996, getting swept by Florida State in 2002, losing two of three to the Seminoles in 2004, and losing two of three to Georgia Tech in 2005. The Yellow Jackets also split a pair of games in a rain-shortened series in the 1997 season.

Leggett Leading a Consistent Winner

Head Coach Jack Leggett has a 622-264 (.702) record at Clemson in his 14th season. The legendary Bill Wilhelm has the most wins of any Tiger coach with 1,161 in 36 seasons (1958-93) at Clemson. Leggett's 622 wins are second-most in school history. No other Clemson coach has more than 70 wins while in Tigertown.

Through Leggett's first 13 seasons at Clemson, he had 608 wins. Only three other programs (Florida State, Wichita State, Rice) have more wins over that span from 1994-06. Furthermore, he has led the Tigers to at least 39 wins every year he has been at the helm of the program. Clemson along with Florida State and Wichita State are the only three programs in the nation to win at least 39 games every year since 1994.

2007 Clemson Baseball Notes

Leggett Has 999 Career Victories

Head Coach Jack Leggett, in his 14th season at Clemson and 28th overall, is only one win away from 1,000 in his career. He has a 999-554 overall record, including a 622-264 mark at Clemson. At the age of 53, Leggett can become one of the youngest coaches to reach 1,000 career wins.

Only 28 head coaches in Division I history have reached the 1,000-win mark. Nine active head coaches at the Division I level already have 1,000 career wins, including Wichita State's Gene Stephenson, who has an all-time best 1,570 career wins (through games of March 21). Fellow ACC head coaches Mike Martin (Florida State) and Jim Morris (Miami (FL)) have also won over 1,000 career games.

Tigers Have Won 21 Straight ACC Home Games

Clemson has won 21 consecutive ACC regular-season games at home, the second-longest streak in school history. The Clemson record for the longest ACC home winning streak is 26, set between the 1975 and 1980 seasons.

The current 21-game streak started with a three-game sweep of Miami (FL) in 2005, then Clemson won all 15 of its ACC home games in 2006. So far in 2007, the Tigers are 3-0 at home thanks to a three-game sweep of Duke.

Clemson has also won 16 consecutive ACC regular-season games dating back to 2006. The Tigers were 11-6 at one point last season, then won their last 13 conference games. The school record is 21 in a row, while the ACC record is 25 in a row.

Lefties Lights Out

So far this season, Head Coach Jack Leggett has called upon four different lefthanders, including starter Ryan Hinson along with relievers Daniel Moskos, Matt Zoltak, and Chris Fidrych. Hinson has a 2.00 ERA in five starts, Moskos has a 2.93 ERA and five saves in 12 relief appearances, and Zoltak and Fidrych have yet to allow a run. Therefore in a combined 50.2 innings pitched, they have allowed only 41 hits and 11 earned runs (1.95 ERA) with 49 strikeouts.

Widmann Out Indefinitely Due to Neck Injury

Starting shortstop Stan Widmann (Hurst, TX) is out indefinitely due to a neck injury. The junior was hitting .409 in the Tigers' first six games of the season. He has one home run and six RBIs along with a perfect 1.000 fielding percentage in 25 chances in the field.

The 2007 season has marked his third straight year as Clemson's starting shortstop. He hit .307 in 67 games as a sophomore on Clemson's 2006 ACC Championship and College World Series team. He was also the Tigers' leading hitter for the eight NCAA Tournament games last year with a .387 batting average.

D'Alessio Likes 'Em Loaded

If you had to use one phrase to describe senior Andy D'Alessio (Naples, FL), it might just be "run-producer." The first-baseman has a knack for driving in runs in all kinds of situations. This season, he has 14 RBIs on 19 hits. In 2006, he totaled 85 RBIs on 78 hits. The 2005 season saw him do the same, as he had 60 RBIs on only 58 hits.

But no stat has proved his value in producing runs more than his stats with the bases loaded. He is 0-for-3 with the bases loaded in 2007. But in 2006, he was 8-for-11 (.727) with two doubles, two home runs, and 23 RBIs with the bases full. In 2005, he was 6-for-9 with two home runs and 18 RBIs with the bases loaded. Therefore in his career (2004-07), he is 16-for-29 (.552) with four homers and 48 RBIs with the bases full.

D'Alessio Moving Up Home Run Chart

A year after Kris Harvey totaled 25 home runs in 2005, second-most in the nation, Andy D'Alessio provided the big bat in the Tiger lineup in 2006 with 23 long balls. This season, he has three homers, giving him 45 in his career, seventh-most in Tiger history.

Chalk Riding 46-Game Streak

Brad Chalk (Greer, SC) ended his sophomore season on a 16-game hitting streak and had three hits in the 2007 season-opener, upping his hitting streak to 17 games. Chalk has also reached base safely via a hit or walk in each of the last 46 games, showing his value to the team. He has hit safely in 42 of those 46 games as well and is riding a current 11-game hitting streak.

Overall this season, the junior is hitting .441 with a .547 on-base percentage. He has walked 14 times, been hit-by-pitch three times, and struck out just eight times, a trend that has been evident throughout his career. He has walked 89 times, hit-by-pitch 20 times, and struck out only 48 times in 151 career games. He is also a .364 career hitter with a .475 on-base percentage.

Hogan Starts Season With a Blast

Junior catcher Doug Hogan is in his first year as Clemson's starting catcher in 2007. And he wasted little time making an impact by blasting two solo homers in the Tigers' season-opening 14-0 win over George Mason on February 16. Hogan, who batted #9 in the lineup that game, entered the season with just one career homer, but became the second Tiger in as many years to hit two long balls in the season-opener. Tyler Colvin hit two home runs in the 2006 season-opener against James Madison as well.

Hogan added a long ball against High Point on February 21 and another against Pacific on February 23, giving him four home runs in 2007. He is also hitting .397 with four doubles, two triples, and nine RBIs. Not bad for a player who entered the season just 6-for-46 (.130) with a homer and seven RBIs in 46 career games.

Johnson's Average Up After Moving Down

Freshman Addison Johnson (Pfaftown, NC) has raised his batting average significantly in recent weeks. He started the season as Clemson's lead-off batter, but was hitting just .159 in 44 at-bats at the top of the order. So when Head Coach Jack Leggett decided to move Johnson down in the order to the #8 spot on March 10, his batting average has skyrocketed. In the seven games since starting at either the #7 or #8 spot, he is 10-for-25 (.400) with five RBIs in leading the Tigers to a 6-1 record. He has raised his season average to .243 as well.

Bunnell Goes From Club Team to Starter at 2B

In the fall of 2004, the beginning of his sophomore year at Clemson, David Bunnell (Charlotte, NC) tried out for the team as a walk-on but was cut. In the spring of 2005, he played on Clemson's Club team, then he did not play any organized baseball the following school year as a junior.

During the summer of 2006, Tanner Leggett, former Tiger (2003-06) and son of Head Coach Jack Leggett, recommended Bunnell to his father to work Clemson's summer baseball camps. The elder Leggett obliged and Bunnell got to know Clemson's coach.

Due to the loss of catcher Adrian Casanova and several infielders from the 2006 squad, Leggett invited Bunnell to join the team in 2007. Bunnell was slated to be a bullpen catcher and provide depth in the infield for the Tigers, but in January, freshman infielder Graham Stoneburner suffered a season-ending leg injury. So Leggett told Bunnell to continue taking ground balls on his own because he might need him to play in the infield.

After hitting a pinch-hit double in his first career plate appearance in the season-opener against George Mason on February 16, Bunnell did not play in the Tigers' next 10 games. But with no other Tiger solidifying his name at second after Taylor Harbin moved to shortstop to replace an injured Stan Widmann, Bunnell earned his first career start there on March 9 against Memphis. He had a hit and reached base three times in the game. He also hit an early RBI single in the March 11 game and went 3-for-9 with two walks while not committing an error in 15 chances in the series.

Bunnell is hitting .304 with a .448 on-base percentage in 23 at-bats this season. He has had a hit in seven of the nine games he has played and has reached base in all nine games. He also has a solid .978 fielding percentage, committing just one error.

Although he has planned on 2007 being his one and only season with the program, he is still eligible to play in 2008 as a fifth-year senior. With his boisterous cheering section beyond the outfield fence, "D-Bunny" has made a name for himself in a varsity uniform.

Father Sees Son Go Deep, Part II

In 2006, former Tiger Tanner Leggett, son of Head Coach Jack Leggett, hit his only home run as a Tiger against Virginia Tech on April 28. It was a special moment for the elder Leggett, as he is Clemson's third-base coach and got to give his son an extra-long handshake after rounding third base.

Another thrilling moment for a Tiger coach occurred on February 21, 2007 against High Point. Freshman infielder Ben Paulsen, son of Assistant Head Coach Tom Riginos, hit a two-run homer in Clemson's six-run third inning. It was Paulsen's first hit as a Tiger, and it was key in Clemson's 11-3 win. Paulsen is 12-for-41 (.293) with two doubles, a homer, and five runs scored in 16 games (12 starts) this season.

Moskos Moving Up Save Chart

Junior lefthander Daniel Moskos (Alta Loma, CA) entered the 2007 season as one of the most prolific closers in the country after serving in the same role for Team USA during last summer when the club captured the gold medal at the world championships in Cuba. In 21.0 innings pitched, he had an 0.86 ERA and six saves, as he allowed just eight hits and four walks with 35 strikeouts.

He has kept up his impressive stats for the Tigers in 2007. In 12 relief appearances, he has a 2-2 record, five saves, 2.93 ERA, and .204 opponents' batting average. The hard-thrower has allowed 10 hits and five runs with 19 strikeouts in 15.1 innings pitched.

Moskos had 10 saves in 2006, which alone placed him 10th all-time in Clemson history in that category. With his five saves this season, he has 15 in his career, fifth-most in school history. He has also finished each of the last 37 games he has appeared.

Clyne Had Scoreless-Inning Streak of 31.1

Senior righthander Stephen Clyne (Parkland, FL) pitched 16.0 innings over eight relief appearances this season before finally allowing a run at Western Carolina on March 20. He has allowed just 11 hits (.167 opponents' batting average) and three walks with 17 strikeouts while tallying a 3-0 record.

Clyne went the last 15.1 innings of 2006 without allowing a run, meaning he had a streak of 31.1 consecutive innings pitched over 16 relief appearances without allowing a run dating back to last season. That mark was just behind the school record of 32.2 consecutive scoreless innings pitched by Scott Berney. Berney, a starter, opened the 2000 season, his first and only as a Tiger, by not allowing a run until there were two outs in his 33rd inning on the mound that year.

Clyne's value to the team is as a long reliever, and he has done well in that role in his fifth season in the program. He has a 6-1 record, 2.40 ERA, and two saves in 44 career relief appearances (71.1 innings pitched). He has also allowed just one homer and 19 walks with 73 strikeouts, good for a 3.84 strikeout-to-walk ratio. Clyne is the only fifth-year senior on the 2007 team.

D.J. Playing a Different Tune in 2007

Sophomore utility player D.J. Mitchell started all 13 postseason contests in right field in 2006 after Travis Storrer went down with an injury, and he performed well, hitting .311 in those 13 games. He has platooned in right field with Wilson Boyd so far this season.

But unlike last year, he has added pitcher to his resumé in 2007. He did not appear on the mound in 2006, but had a successful summer with Thomasville in the Coastal Plain League. There, he had a 2.25 ERA and save in 16.0 innings pitched over nine relief appearances. Mitchell also earned the victory in a starting role in the league championship game.

Mitchell made his Tiger debut on the mound against George Mason on February 16. He pitched 2.0 perfect innings with a strikeout in the Tigers' 14-0 victory over the Patriots. Then against High Point on February 21, he earned his first career win. In 4.0 innings pitched in relief, he allowed one run on three hits with six strikeouts in the Tigers' 11-3 win.

Overall in 2007, he is 1-0 with a 3.97 ERA in 11.1 innings pitched over five relief appearances. He also has 11 strikeouts against only three walks and is holding opponents to a .227 batting average. He is playing an important role on the 2007 team with the unexpected preseason loss of righties Sean Clark and Graham Stoneburner.

Zocchi 10-0 on the Mound in His Career

Junior righthander P.J. Zocchi (Bronx, NY) is 3-0 with a 2.00 ERA this season as one of the team's top weekend starters. In 27.0 innings pitched, he has allowed 22 hits (.224 opponents' batting average) and seven walks with 24 strikeouts. Clemson is also 5-0 in the five games he has started in 2007. In his career, Zocchi has an unblemished 10-0 record and 2.85 ERA in 15 starts and 15 relief appearances (107.1 innings pitched).

Vaughn Valuable as Middle Reliever

Sophomore righty Matt Vaughn (Summerville, SC) struggled as a freshman, but in 2007, he has become one of the most valuable pitchers out of the bullpen for the Tigers. He is 1-0 with a 2.19 ERA and .213 opponents' batting average in 12.1 innings pitched over five relief appearances. Vaughn has also struck out 15 against only three walks. Since allowing three runs in the first inning of his first outing of the year, he has pitched 11.1 consecutive innings without allowing an earned run.

Future ACC Tournament Sites

The 2007 and 2008 ACC Tournaments will be played at The Baseball Grounds of Jacksonville (FL), where the tourney was played in 2005 and 2006. In 2009, the ACC Tournament will be held in Boston, MA at historic Fenway Park.

Tigers Take Two of Three From George Mason

Clemson, ranked #1 in the country, won two of three games over George Mason from February 16-18 at Doug Kingsmore Stadium. Tiger batters combined for a .272 batting average, while Clemson held the Patriots to a .194 batting average and outscored them 20-9. Brad Chalk had five hits and walked three times, while Doug Hogan hit two home runs. Clemson's pitching staff had a 2.67 ERA and struck out 27 batters against eight walks. The starting rotation of P.J. Zocchi, David Kopp, and Ryan Hinson combined to allow just one run in 15.0 innings pitched as well.

In game-one on February 16, Clemson totaled 20 hits on its way to a 14-0 victory over the Patriots. It was the most runs by a Tiger team in a season-opener since 1989. Every Tiger starter had at least one hit, while Chalk, Taylor Harbin, and Hogan had three hits apiece. Hogan added two solo home runs and three RBIs. Clemson's eight-run seventh inning put the game out of reach. Zocchi pitched 6.0 innings, allowing one hit, no runs, and no walks with six strikeouts to earn the victory. George Mason managed just two hits and committed four errors.

In game-two on February 17, Jason Bour hit a three-run homer in the sixth inning to give George Mason the lead for good in its 5-1 victory over the Tigers. After Kopp pitched 5.0 scoreless innings, George Mason scored four runs in the sixth inning off two Tiger relievers. Clemson, who saw its 17-game home winning streak come to an end, totaled just two hits, while it committed three errors and threw six wild pitches. Lefthander Mike Modica pitched 6.0 innings, allowing one hit and one run to earn the victory. Andy D'Alessio's sacrifice fly in the fourth inning scored Clemson's only run of the game. Brad Chalk's 17-game hitting streak also came to an end, as he was 0-for-2 with two walks.

In game-three on February 18, Clemson rallied from a 4-2 deficit to defeat George Mason 5-4. The Patriots scored three runs in the fifth inning, but Marquez Smith hit a two-out, two-run homer in the seventh inning to tie the score. After getting out of a jam in the top of the eighth inning, the Tigers plated the go-ahead run in the bottom of the eighth when Harbin's sharp grounder to third was booted by Ryan Uphouse, allowing Hogan to score. The Patriots outhit the Tigers 8-6, but George Mason pitchers allowed nine walks. Daniel Moskos pitched the final 1.2 innings without allowing a hit or run to pick up the win. Clemson also stole four bases, but left 11 runners on base.

Tiger Bats Awaken in 11-3 Win Over High Point

Clemson, ranked #2 in the nation, scored six runs in the third inning en route to an 11-3 victory in six innings over High Point at Doug Kingsmore Stadium on February 21. The Tigers trailed 2-0 after the first inning, but a run-scoring single by Taylor Harbin followed by a double by Andy D'Alessio, a triple by Marquez Smith, and a two-run homer by
