Clemson in Overtime

Kevin Youngblood’s catch gave the Tigers a walkoff overtime win over Virginia in 2003.

Clemson has a perfect 5-0 record in overtime games since the rule was adopted for Division I college football in 1996. Clemson is the only school in Division I with a perfect 5-0 record, and the five victories are tied for fifth most in college football history. Clemson has had outstanding defense in overtimes in the five victories, allowing just nine combined points on three field goals. In fact, the opposition has recorded just one first down (by Miami (FL) in 2004) in the six overtime periods.

Clemson 29, Duke 20
Clemson, SC - November 8, 1997
Rahim Abdullah intercepted a Bobby Campbell pass and raced 63 yards for a touchdown to give Clemson a rare nine-point overtime victory. Abdullah had a career-high 11 tackles, including a sack, in the victory. Clemson had scored a field goal on its possession, then the defensive score caused the unusual margin.

Clemson 47, Georgia Tech 44
Atlanta, GA - September 29, 2001
Woodrow Dantzler scored on an 11-yard run on the last play of overtime to give Clemson a three-point win at Bobby Dodd Stadium. The play finished quite a day for Dantzler, who ran for 164 yards and two scores, and threw for 254 yards and two touchdowns. Ninth-ranked Georgia Tech had scored a field goal on its overtime possession. It was Clemson's highest-ranked road win in 20 seasons.

Clemson 30, Virginia 27
Clemson, SC - October 11, 2003
Charlie Whitehurst completed a four-yard fade-pattern pass to Kevin Youngblood on the final play of overtime to give Clemson a three-point win over #24 Virginia at Death Valley. Virginia had scored a field goal on its possession. The Cavaliers had defeated Clemson on a similar pass play to Billy McMullen in the same endzone two years earlier.

Clemson 37, Wake Forest 30
Clemson, SC - September 4, 2004
Charlie Whitehurst threw an 11-yard touchdown pass in the second overtime, then the defense held Wake Forest without a first down on four consecutive plays to clinch the only double overtime victory in Clemson history. The two teams had traded field goals in the first extra session.

Clemson 24, Miami (FL) 17
Miami, FL - November 6, 2004

The Clemson Ring of Honor is the highest honor a Clemson athlete, coach, or administrator can receive. A recipient must first be a member of the Clemson Athletic Hall of Fame, earn at least an undergraduate degree from a four-year institution, and make a significant contribution to the heritage of Clemson athletics. Honorees have their jersey retired, but not the number. Each Clemson athletic facility has a display for its Ring of Honor members. The facade on the north upper deck of Memorial Stadium is the site of the Ring of Honor for football.

An 11-member committee reviews candidates every two years. The Ring of Honor was established in 1994 when Banks McFadden, Steve Fuller, and Frank Howard were inducted as charter members.

Ring of Honor Members

- Rusty Adkins is the only three-time All-American in Tiger baseball history (1965,66,67). A three-time First-Team All-ACC player, Adkins hit .444 in 1965, an average that remained a Tiger record for 37 years. Adkins had a 41-game hitting streak that remains in the top 10 in NCAA history. He was also named to the ACC’s 50-Year Anniversary team in 2002.

- Jerry Butler was a first-team AP All-American in 1978 in leading the Tigers to a #6 ranking and 11-1 record. He caught at least one pass in a record 36 straight games. In 1979, he was the #5 pick of Buffalo, where he played for eight years. In 2002, he was named to the ACC’s 50-Year Anniversary team. He was inducted into the Ring of Honor in 1999.

- Fred Cone was the first Tiger in history to rush for 2,000 career yards (1948-50). He ranks fourth on the Tiger career list for touchdowns (31). Cone was a starter on two undefeated teams, one of two players in Tiger history to do that. He went on to a lengthy pro career and is a member of the Packers Hall of Fame. He was inducted into the Ring of Honor in 1997.

- Dale Davis was a three-time All-ACC player for the Tigers from 1987-91. He was a first-team selection in 1990 when he joined Elden Campbell in leading Clemson to its first ACC regular-season title. He still ranks among the ACC’s top 10 in career field goal percentage. He was named an honorable mention All-American that year. A first-round draft choice of the Indiana Pacers, Davis is still active in the NBA with the Indiana Pacers.

- Jeff Davis, captain of Clemson’s 1981 National Championship team, was a first-team All-American that year when he led the Tigers in tackles (175), the second-highest total in Tiger history. Davis was also named the MVP of the ACC and was the Defensive MVP of the Orange Bowl win over Nebraska, the game that clinched the national title for the Tigers, the first in Clemson history. He was named a first-team All-American and went on to an NFL career with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. In 2002, he was named to the ACC’s 50-Year Anniversary team. He was inducted into the Ring of Honor in 1995.

- Steve Fuller is one of three football players in Clemson history to be chosen an All-American on the field and in the classroom. He was a first-team Academic All-American in 1977 and 1978, and was a third-team AP All-American in 1978. Fuller, who was ACC MVP twice, was an NCAA Top-Five Award winner in 1979, the only Tiger athlete to win the award. He was the recipient of a National Football Foundation Scholar-Athlete Award. In 2002, he was named to the ACC’s 50-Year Anniversary team. He was a charter member of the Ring of Honor in 1994.

- Frank Howard was Clemson’s head football coach and athletic director from 1940-69. He led the Tigers to eight conference titles, six bowl games, and six top-25 years. He was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1989 and is the second-winningest coach in ACC history. He had 165 wins, most in the ACC at the time of his retirement. He was a charter member of the Ring of Honor in 1994.

- Barbara Kennedy is the greatest female athlete in Clemson athletic history. She was an All-American and led the nation in scoring. She is still the ACC’s all-time leader in both scoring and rebounding. Kennedy scored over 3,000 points in her four seasons. In 2002, she was named to the ACC’s 50-Year Anniversary team and was named one of the top-50 greatest female athletes in ACC history.

- Terry Kinard was a two-time first-team AP All-American (1981-82). He was an unanimous All-American in 1982, the only unanimous All-American in Tiger history. The long-time member of the Giants still holds the Tiger record for career interceptions. In 1990, he was named to USA Today’s All-Decade team for the 1980s. In 2000, he was named to Sports Illustrated’s All-Century team of college football. In 2001, he became the first Tiger in 42 years to be inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame. In 2002, he was named to the ACC’s 50-Year Anniversary team and was ranked among the top-50 male athletes in ACC sports history. He was inducted into the Ring of Honor in 2001.

- Tina Krebs became the first track athlete and the second female to be inducted into the Ring of Honor in 2003. Earlier that year, she was named to the ACC 50-Year Anniversary teams in cross country, indoor track, and outdoor track, and was recognized as one of the top 50 athletes in all women’s sports for the first 50 years of the ACC. She was a three-time NCAA champion, the most individual national titles for any Tiger track athlete. She was inducted into the Clemson Hall of Fame in 1993.

- Banks McFadden was named the nation’s Most Versatile Athlete in 1939. He was an All-American in both football and basketball, the only Tiger in history to accomplish that feat. McFadden led the Tigers to their first bowl bid ever, a 6-3 win over Boston College in the 1940 Cotton Bowl. McFadden was the #4 overall pick of the 1940 NFL draft, the highest draft pick in Tiger football history. He was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1959 and was a charter member of the Clemson Ring of Honor in 1994. He passed away in June, 2005.

• Tommy Bowden coached teams have been shown on live television 59 times in 73 possible games in his six years as head coach. That means 81 percent of the Tigers’ games have been on live television since Bowden became the head coach in 1999. That percentage will continue in 2005, as at least nine of the 11 regular-season games will be shown on some type of television.

• Clemson had nine exposures on television in 2004, as the Tigers were on ABC three times, ESPN family of networks three times, TBS once, and Jefferson Pilot twice.

• Clemson has appeared on ESPN 26 times in the last six years since Bowden became Clemson’s head coach.

• Five of the first six games of 2005 will be shown on live television, with three on ESPN and two on ABC. Clemson’s season opener from Death Valley against Texas A&M will be shown in primetime with an 8:00 PM start on ABC. Clemson will play a primetime Thursday night game at N.C. State on ESPN on October 13.

• Clemson has had 113 televised games in the last 14 years, an average of 8.1 appearances per year.

• The Clemson-Florida State game has become one of the top spectacles in college football. Eleven of the last 14 games in the series have been broadcast by ABC, CBS, or ESPN. The 1999 game was the first-ever Division I meeting between father and son coaches, as Bobby Bowden faced son Tommy Bowden. It was one of the most highly-rated games for ESPN’s Saturday primetime game in history.

• In 2003, the meeting between Clemson and Florida State at Death Valley was the highest-rated, regular-season college football game in the history of espn2.

• Over 700 media members cover the Clemson-Florida State game each year. The 1999 meeting attracted media from Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Houston, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, and Washington, D.C.

• Clemson’s 2004 seniors appeared on television 39 times in 49 possible games. That included 27 appearances on either ABC or ESPN.

• Clemson won each of its last four games of 2003, and three of the four games were shown nationally on ESPN’s family of networks.

• Clemson appeared on ESPN networks eight times during the 2002 season, meaning Clemson football was shown more on ESPN than Notre Dame was shown on NBC.

• Clemson has been shown on national television at least three times each of the last nine seasons.

• Clemson has an all-time record of 129-90-5 in televised games over the years, including a 67-32-3 record in games shown from Death Valley.

• Clemson benefits from the considerable contracts that the ACC negotiates with ABC, ESPN, and espn2. The regular-season package is among the best in the nation, as it insures at least 72 ACC team exposures each season. Clemson has been shown in at least seven games every year since 1993, and that streak will continue in 2005.

• Clemson has its own replay network through Comcast/Charter Sports Southeast. Each game is replayed on cable outlets throughout the Southeast, and the games are also replayed on those channels during the summer.

The Clemson-Florida State game, featuring a father-son head coaching matchup, is annually one of the most highly-rated games.

ESPN’s Jill Arrington is one of many commentators who have covered Clemson football games in recent seasons.
• With five of its 11 teams listed in the final top 25 and nine in the top 50, the ACC was the highest-rated conference in college football according to the Sagarin computer ratings in 2004. It marked the second consecutive year that the ACC was the highest-rated conference according to Sagarin.

• Seven (including Clemson) of the 11 ACC teams were ranked at least one week in 2004, and four earned top-10 rankings at one time during the season. Three schools were ranked in every poll.

• The 12 institutions that will take to the field this fall under the ACC banner have produced 497 first or second-team football All-Americans and 70 first-team Academic All-Americans. Atlantic Coast Conference Schools have had 2,125 players chosen in the NFL draft, including 191 first-round selections.

• The 12 teams currently in the ACC have a combined record of 132-115-5 in bowl games over the years. That 53.3-percent winning percentage is the best in the nation among all Division I conferences.

• Since 2001, the ACC has a 16-9 record in bowl games, and the 64.0-percent winning percentage is the best in the nation among all BCS conferences. Since 2001, the ACC is the only conference in the nation to post a 50 percent or better record in postseason play each season.

• In each of the last four years, the ACC has had at least six teams take part in a bowl game.

• The ACC had a 27-13 record in non-conference play in 2004. Over the last three years, the ACC is 37-29 (.561) against the other BCS conferences, including a 12-9 mark against the SEC. Eight ACC teams had victories over other BCS conference schools in 2004, including Clemson, who defeated South Carolina of the SEC.

• In 2002, the ACC set an NCAA record when seven of its nine schools earned bowl bids.

• Nine ACC players (including Clemson’s Leroy Hill) earned first-team All-America honors in 2004, and six more were second-team selections.

• The ACC has had at least one first-round draft choice in 17 straight years and 26 of the last 28 years.

• The ACC has long been considered one of the top defensive leagues in the nation, but that reputation reached an all-time high in 2004 when eight of the 11 teams ranked in the top 28 in the nation in total defense, including three who finished in the top 10.

• Popularity of ACC football is at an all-time high. In 2004, the ACC surpassed 3.5 million in total attendance, and for the fifth-straight year, the league set a new single-season record for attendance. The 66 home games during 2004 drew 3,693,032 fans, breaking the previous mark of 3,006,841 set in 2003.

Clemson has been to a bowl game 16 of the last 20 years, including the 2004 Peach Bowl win over #6 Tennessee. The Tigers have also contributed to the ACC’s best bowl winning percentage in the nation.
