

CLEVELAND STATE UNIVERSITY

BASKETBALL TRAINING CAMP

June 15-16, 2007 @ Wolstein Center

Presented by Cleveland State Men's Basketball

Head Coach
Gary Waters

The inaugural Gary Waters Training Camp will be held on June 15-16, 2007 on the Cleveland State campus. The first 12 teams to register with full payment will be guaranteed a spot to participate in our training camp. Coach Waters and the Cleveland State men's basketball coaching staff will provide camp participants with an insight into the game of basketball that has been gained through their decades of coaching experience.

Each team will be provided with invaluable information from Coach Waters and the rest of the Cleveland State coaching staff, as well as insight from a sports psychologist to help build your teams identity. There will also be an ACT/SAT presentation informing teams of necessary academic standards needed to participate in NCAA athletics.

Waters amassed 181 wins during his 11 seasons as head coach at Kent State and Rutgers, and Cleveland State leading his teams to post-season appearances six times. He was responsible for building the Golden Flash program to national prominence, completing a highly successful five-year stint (1996-2001) that featured a 92-60 (.605) record. In 2004, Waters directed Rutgers to the NIT Championship game and reached the 20-win plateau, a first for Rutgers since the 1982 season. In Waters' first season at Cleveland State, he guided the Vikings to impressive victories over ACC member Miami (Fla.) as well as Kent State.

At the Gary Waters Training Camp, your team will be competing against the top teams from Ohio, as well as adjoining states. Each team will play at least four games during the two-day shootout, with all of the games being played in either the Wolstein Center — the site of NCAA First and Second round tournament games twice in the last decade — or historic Woodling Gym. Also, each team will be provided with a scouting report and a video assessment tape to take home.
