UCONN

2009 National Champions

Six-Time National Champion Head Coach Geno Auriemma

Welcomes Fans to Another Exciting Season

Welcome Husky Basketball Fans!

Dear Husky Basketball Fans,

Welcome to another exciting season of University of Connecticut basketball at Gampel Pavilion in Storrs and the XL Center in Hartford. We thank you for your continued support and hope that you share our anticipation for the upcoming season.

We hope that this fan guide will make your visit to our home arenas even more enjoyable.

Our women's basketball program comes off an undefeated season and its sixth national championship in 2008-09. Our Huskies will again be among the teams contending for the NCAA crown. With many key returnees to the squad, fans should be excited about the year ahead as we face some of the nation's best in defense of our NCAA championship.

We encourage you to enjoy the 2009-10 season and ask all Husky fans to demonstrate pride, respect and responsibility while attending games at Gampel Pavilion and the XL Center. We hope that you will cheer loudly, support our student-athletes and be respectful of our guests from other institutions and our game officials.

Current contributors to the 2009-10 University of Connecticut Athletic Development Fund (UCADF) annual campaign who placed their order by the priority deadline of Friday, September 25, had first priority on all available season tickets. Non-donors were allocated season tickets after all current UCADF contributors.

In instances where special seating requests were made, the Athletic Ticket Office made every effort to accommodate your request. If you have questions, please contact the Ticket Office at 1-877-AT-UCONN.

The entire UConn family thanks you for attending games at Gampel Pavilion and the XL Center. We appreciate your support of UConn Athletics and our student-athletes. Enjoy the 2009-10 season!

Go Huskies!
