#10 GEORGIA (1-2, 1-0) AT #15 MISSOURI (2-1, 0-1)

Jan. 22, 2016 | 8:00 p.m. | Mizzou Arena (15,061) | Columbia, Mo.

Live Video: SEC Network +

Gymdogs Return To SEC Competition At Mizzou

The Georgia gymnastics team will hit the road once again as it heads to Columbia, Mo. for a Friday night tilt against the 15th-ranked Missouri Tigers (2-1) at Mizzou Arena.

Friday's meet will get under way at 8 p.m. and can be seen on SEC Network +.

The Gymdogs are 1-2 overall and 1-0 in the SEC, while Missouri is 2-1 and 1-1.

Georgia is coming off a 195.875-195.750 setback against Stanford on Monday at Stegeman Coliseum. The Gymdogs performed well on vault (nation's best 49.5), bars (49.35, fourth highest) and floor (49.3, sixth highest). Their undoing came on beam as they had four falls and had to count three of them. Even with that, there was encouraging data as the scores without the automatic half-point deduction would have been 9.775, 9.85 and 9.875.

"I know they're going to respond with great determination to carry the momentum that we built in certain parts of our performance," Georgia head coach Danna Durante said. "We'll take the challenge that the other part of the performance (on beam) gave us and really learn from it and take the next step forward."

Senior Brandie Jay enters Friday's meet with the nation's top effort on vault at 9.975 and she has the second-highest average at 9.908. Fellow senior Brittany Rogers is averaging 9.9 on bars (third best in the country) with a high of 9.925.

Georgia's Series With Missouri

This is the 13th meeting -- and just the fourth dual meet -- between Georgia and Missouri. The Gymdogs won the dual meet in Athens last year and then Georgia was fifth and Missouri was seventh at the 2015 SECs. Said Durante, "I think a lot of that staff. I know they're about doing things the right way and building from the ground up, and I think they're making the necessary changes. It takes time. I think they're willing to do the work, they're phenomenal coaches, and I know they care about their athletes. I think it's exciting to see the jumps that they're making and the progress that they're making, and I don't think there's a limit to what they can do. ... From my time at Nebraska, and even when Georgia was there two years ago, I've always loved competing in Missouri. I think it's an awesome environment. I just love it. I love the way it's set up, and it's a great place to compete."

A Look At The 2016 Schedule

Georgia will again face one of the nation's toughest schedules in 2016 with all 12 regular-season meets against teams ranked in the preseason Top 25, including nine meets against teams ranked in the Top 10. The Gymdogs will take on all six of the NCAA Super Six teams from last season and will face nine of the other 11 teams that competed in the NCAA Championships last year.

Rankings

Georgia came in at No. 9 in the preseason coaches' poll. That's where the Gymdogs finished the 2015 season. The Gymdogs will take on every other team ranked in the preseason top-10.

Following the season opener, the Gymdogs slipped to No. 15 in the Road To Nationals poll. Georgia jumped to No. 9 following its meet at Arkansas, then slipped to No. 10 after its meet with Stanford. This week's opponent, Missouri, is ranked 15th.

Rogers Returns After World Championships

Rogers returned to Athens in late December after spending the previous months in Canada training for the World Championships. Rogers helped her team to a sixth-place finish, which means Canada earned a spot in the 2016 Olympic Games. Rogers is a six-time All-American and two-time SEC champion (bars and beam in 2013). She was the NCAA runner-up on bars as a junior in 2015 and has competed all four events during her Georgia career. She also represented Canada in the 2012 Olympics in London.

Up Next

Following Friday's competition, Georgia will return to action Jan. 29 at Kentucky. That will mark the Gymdogs' fourth road meet in its first five competitions. After visiting Kentucky, Georgia will have three straight meets at Stegeman Coliseum – Florida on Feb. 5, LSU on Feb. 12 and Oklahoma on Feb. 20.
