

Volleyball 101 & 201

Learn The Game from the Illini Coaches

Calling all Illini volleyball fans! Do you really know what a "libero" is? Do the words rotation, block or kill leave you confused? Have you wondered how the setter decides who to set during the match? If you wonder about any of these questions, Illini Networker's Volleyball 101 & 201 is for you!

Come learn more about the game of volleyball. The Illini Networkers and the UI volleyball coaches are hosting Volleyball 101 and 201 on Monday, August 15th from 6:00 - 8:00 PM in Huff Hall 112 & 114. An optional Q&A session, and meet the coaches time, will run from 8:00 - 8:30 PM

Coach Kevin Hambly and assistants, Jen Oldenburg and David Kniffin, will be our "volleyball professors" for a evening of teaching, strategy, questions and answers, fun and NO TESTS! Volleyball 101 and 201 will be separate sessions running concurrently so take your pick. Both sessions start at 6:00 PM. Volleyball 101 is designed for anyone from upper elementary through adult volleyball fans. Come to Volleyball 101 and be one of the fans in the know this fall. Do you already have the basics down and want to know more about tactics, strategy, and team preparation? Then Volleyball 201 will "ace" it for you! Please indicate 101 or 201 on your registration to help us plan. Changes accepted on site however.

Cost for the event is $10 per person. All proceeds will support Illinois volleyball team through the programs of the Illini Networkers, the fan support group of University of Illinois volleyball.
