Wildcats Looking for First SEC Win in Home Conference Opener

Kentucky looks to get back on the winning track this weekend, hosting its first two Southeastern Conference matches against Alabama and Auburn in Memorial Coliseum. The Wildcats are on a two-match losing streak which started with a 3-0 loss to South Carolina in their league opener last weekend. UK then dropped a neutral-site match to Oral Roberts, 3-0.

The Wildcats came out flat against the Gamecocks, losing 3-0, giving USC the last five wins in the series. Against Oral Roberts, UK placed some new faces in the starting lineup as Danielle Wallace, Liz McCaslin and Leigh Marcum got the nod. The group played better against the Golden Eagles, but didn't have enough gas to get past ORU.

UK must now regroup in order to get back on the winning track against Alabama. The Cats haven't beaten UA since 1999, but could move to 2-1 in SEC play with a perfect weekend. Kentucky is currently second in the SEC East as only two teams have begun league action.

Scouting the Crimson Tide

Kentucky holds a 15-4 all-time advantage in the series with Alabama, dating back to an Oct. 31, 1980 win over the Tide at the SEC Tournament in Lexington. However, UA has won the last two contests, including a 3-0 sweep in Lexington in 2001.

The Cats are 6-1 against Alabama in home matches, earning their last win on Oct. 1, 1999 by a narrow 3-2 advantage.

The Crimson Tide enters their first conference match sporting a 9-5 record and opened the season with a 6-0 start. Last weekend UA went 2-1 at the Georgia Tech Invitational with wins over Cornell and Florida International and a loss to the host Yellowjackets.

Erin Heffner leads Bama's offensive attack, averaging 4.1 kills per game while hitting .245. Kory Tull is the team's most accurate hitter entering the weekend, connecting on 25.8% of her attacks. Jennifer Bibber provides solid play as well, averaging 3.8 kills per game while hitting .418.

Judy Green is in her seventh year at the helm of the Alabama program, holding a 98-109 record in her time there. While at Alabama, she holds a 4-3 record against UK.

Scouting the Tigers

Kentucky holds a 17-5 advantage in a series with Auburn dating back to the 1977 season. While UK owned bragging rights for the first 17 years in the series, the teams have played tug-o-war since 1995, with the Tigers holding a 4-3 edge during that time. The Cats won the match last season, 3-0, in Lexington.

Auburn has struggled to a 1-11 start in 2002, with its only win coming over Marist, 3-1, on Sept. 7. The Tigers haven't taken a game-win since Sept. 14, a 3-1 loss to UNC Greensboro. The teams have one common opponent, Wake Forest, which UK defeated 3-1, while AU fell to the Demon Deacons 3-0 in the season opener. The Tigers are hitting just .140 as a team this season to their opponents' .270.

Grace Boyd leads the team in accuracy, hitting .245 on the year, while Brittney Diaz averages 2.7 kills per game.

The Tigers are under the direction of Coach Laura Farina, in her first year at Auburn. She holds a 47-59 career record entering this weekend.

Kentucky Connections

This weekend's opponents have several connections to the Bluegrass State. Three members of Alabama's roster hail from Kentucky, including Julie Farley and Kelley Potter, both hailing from Edgewood. Kenna Milner calls Crittenden home but played prep ball with Farley at Notre Dame Academy. Potter attended Dixie Heights High School.

Auburn assistant Matt Darling graduated from UK in 1994 and played club volleyball with Kentucky assistant Jaime Gordon. He also was the head coach at Tates Creek High School in Lexington from 1993-94. The Wildcats' other assistant, Katie Eiserman, held the same position for the 2001 season.

Speelman Leaves Team

Sophomore defensive specialist Lauren Speelman has left the volleyball team for personal reasons. The Findlay, Ohio, native has played in nine matches this season, averaging 1.1 digs per game. She appeared in 15 matches as a freshman, after spraining her ankle, which forced her to miss nearly a month of action. Her departure leaves the Cats with just two defensive specialists, senior Aleisha Craven and junior Toni Lee. However, sophomore setter Leigh Marcum has been seeing quite a bit of action in the back row this year when Kristi Kelley performs the setting duties.

Block Party

Kentucky is posting a successful defensive wall this season, outblocking its opponents 2.2 per game to 1.8. UK has 88.5 total blocks to 72.0 for the opponents this year.

Anne Koester leads the "Big Blue Blockers," averaging 1.1 stops per game. Sissy Canfield averages 0.9 per game, while freshman Amy Kaplan has gotten off to a quick start, recording 0.9 blocks per game as well. Koester also has six solo blocks in 2002, while Sarah Spinner and Kaplan have four each.

Tournament Honors

At the Kentucky Conference Challenge, Sept. 13-14, two Wildcats were named to the All-Tournament team. Sissy Canfield earned her second such honor of the season, while Anne Koester was recognized for the first time. Canfield was named to the Hofstra Asics Invitational team in UK's opening weekend as well.

UK was highly successful at the Outback Steakhouse Wolfpack Classic in Raleigh, N.C., Sept. 6-7, as the team not only swept the tournament, but landed two players on the all-tournament team. Setter Kristi Kelley and hitter Kristen Batt were honored after three strong matches.

Batt in the Books

After recording 136 kills this season, Kristen Batt sits at ninth on UK's all-time career kill list with 1,167. She needs just 30 kills to catch Gina Heustis (1993-96) in seventh.

Batt also has 881 career digs, placing her sixth on the career digs list. Molly Dreisbach (1992-95) is fifth with 967.

The Venice, Fla., native is fifth in What's New in '02?

After many rule changes in 2001, the collegiate volleyball scene went through additional modifications this season with the addition of the libero (pronounced LEE-ber-oh) position.

The libero is a designated back-row player intended to be used as a ball-control specialist. The person must be designated at the beginning of each game and does not have to be the same person from game-to-game. The libero does not count against the team's substitutions, but the limit of 18 substitutions has been lowered to 12 this year.

Point Taken

With the switch to rally scoring in 2001, teams are now able to attach match points to a particular player. By determining a player's kills, blocks and service aces, a coach can attribute a point-total to each person. The coach can also use errors to determine how many points the player scored for the opposing team as well.

For example, in UK's win over Wichita State last weekend, Sarah Spinner accounted for 25 of UK's points in the match, nearly an entire game-win for the Cats.

Dear Diary

Fans can get all the inside information on the UK volleyball season by logging in to the Wildcats' web home at ukathletics.com. A new feature this season are periodic diary entries by Coach Jona Braden and junior Sissy Canfield.

The diaries will allow fans to get inside the volleyball family by tracking the team's progress from both the coaching and student-athlete standpoint.

Coaching Milestone

Coach Jona Braden recorded her 200th career win last season. Braden now holds a career record of 217-185 in her 13th year as a head coach.

The Cats' leader holds a 57-70 record in her fifth season at Kentucky after compiling a 160-115 record in eight years at Butler.

Kentucky in Openers

The Cats fell to 19-7 all-time in season openers after losing to Hofstra on Aug. 30. UK is 3-2 in Jona Braden's tenure as head coach.

openers after beating Wake Forest, 3-1, in the Kentucky Conference Challenge on Sept. 13. UK is 3-2 under Braden in home openers.

Start Your Engines

Freshman Amy Kaplan wasted no time making an impact at UK, putting down four kills in her first collegiate match against Texas Tech on Aug. 31. The newcomer welcomed the chance to step-up her role last weekend when she was called upon to start in place of the injured Katie Bright.

Kaplan earned the start against Wichita State after Bright suffered an ankle injury in the final moments of UK's win over Charlotte. While the match wasn't Kaplan's best hitting performance, she was a defensive stopper, recording six blocks, including her first block solo at UK.

Fellow frosh Danielle Wallace earned starting honors for the first time in her career against Oral Roberts. She recorded eight kills and five digs in the match.

Florida Picked to Win Conference

The Florida Gators have once again been selected to win the Southeastern Conference title in a preseason vote by the league's 11 head coaches.

The Gators have won 11 consecutive SEC crowns and have taken nine of the last 10 tournament titles.

Arkansas was chosen first in the Western division with 59 points, while Florida was tops in the East with 50 points. Kentucky was predicted to finish fourth in the East with 21 points.

Follow the Leader

Redshirt junior Liz McCaslin has spent her three years at Kentucky growing, not only as a player, but as a leader. In April, that growth was recognized by the NCAA when McCaslin was selected to represent Kentucky at the NCAA Foundation Leadership Conference in Lake Buena Vista, Fla., in late May.

The Libertyville, Ill., native was one of 300 student-athletes selected out of 1,183 nominees from 296 institutions. In conjunction with the CHAMPS/Life Skills program, the NCAA Foundation created the NCAA Foundation Leadership Conference in 1996. The mission of the conference is to offer a diverse group of the nation's top student-athletes an opportunity to participate actively in challenging and thought-provoking activities that will enable them to become better leaders on their campuses and in their communities.

McCaslin was also named one of the Southeastern Conference's student-athlete representative to the NCAA this summer. After sitting out last sea-

Staff Changes

The UK volleyball staff went through some off-season changes as assistant coach Reita Clanton left coaching in December to pursue other interests, creating a vacancy on Braden's staff.

Braden chose to fill the hole with a former player, Katie Eiserman, who completed her eligibility in '99. Eiserman is UK's all-time dig leader and finished her career fourth on the school's career kill list. The Lake Bluff, Ill., native began her duties in April, but has some familiarity with Braden after playing under the coach for the final two years of her career.

Eiserman served as a student assistant on UK's staff in 2000 while completing her degree before coaching Lexington's Tates Creek High School in 2001.

Double Trouble

The Wildcats have recorded 11 double-doubles on the season, with Kristen Batt grabbing seven, Sarah Spinner recording three and Kristi Kelley earning one. Kelley, in fact, was two digs away from a triple-double against Charlotte with 11 kills, 45 assists and eight digs.

Last season, the two led UK in double-doubles as Batt had 11 and Spinner recorded 10. Kentucky players totaled 37 double-doubles in 2001.

Fresh Faces

Two new faces grace the Kentucky lineup this season as the Cats welcome freshmen Amy Kaplan and Danielle Wallace.

Kaplan saw her first action as a Wildcat on Aug. 31 against Texas Tech.

The frosh made a quick impression, putting down four kills and earning one assist and one block assist in the match. She returned later in the day to make perfect on her only attack attempt against Fairfield. Kaplan has played in five matches so far this year.

Wallace, a Port Charlotte, Fla. native, saw her first action at UK against Western Michigan, knocking down two kills, while recording four digs and three blocks in four games.

2002 Game Recaps

Game One

at Hofstra • 8-30-02 • Hempstead, N.Y.
Hofstra Asics Invitational

Kentucky opened the 2002 season with a heartbreaking 3-1 loss to host Hofstra.

Senior Kristen Batt led Kentucky with 21 kills and 14 digs for her first double-double of the season. Sophomore Katie Bright had a career night, knocking down nine kills for a career high. Fellow sophomore Sarah Spinner also played well, recording 14 kills and 15 digs for her 11th career double-double.

"We played well enough to stay in the match, but we didn't play well enough to win tonight," Braden said. "Hofstra took advantage of the places where we weren't taking care of the ball. It's disappointing. We didn't bring our 'A' game."

Bright and Batt led UK's attack in game one with five kills apiece. After losing the first point to the Dutchwomen, the Cats made up for lost time, taking its first lead at 4-3 on a Sarah Spinner kill. After a two-hits call on UK, the score was tied for the final time before the Wildcats took the lead for good, winning the game 30-23.

Game two saw the teams fight through eight early ties before Hofstra took control of the match, going on a 17-8 run with the help of very solid blocking. The Cats managed to pull within eight at 28-20 on a Sissy Canfield put down, but after a service error by Canfield, the match was HU's for the taking, 30-20.

Hofstra returned from the break continuing to build on their momentum as the Pride took an early 4-0 lead. The Cats managed to chip the lead away to one at 6-5 on a Spinner kill, but HU made another four-point pad. UK was able to take its first lead in more than a game at 15-14, but would never lead again as Hofstra went on a 15-6 run to close the game and take the 2-1 advantage.

Kentucky looked revived to start the fourth game, taking an early 16-3 lead before the Pride battled back to tie the score at 10. Hofstra went on to take a three-point lead several times in the game before Kentucky pulled even at 29. From there, the teams fought through two more ties before HU took the match with the 33-31 game win.

Game Two

vs. Texas Tech • 8-31-02 • Hempstead, N.Y.
Hofstra Asics Invitational

UK dropped its second consecutive match of the season to Texas Tech, 3-0, at the Hofstra Asics Invitational in Hempstead, N.Y., on Saturday, Aug. 31.

Kentucky shot just .112 for the match to Tech's .409, and was led by junior Sissy Canfield with a .700 hitting percentage and eight kills. Freshman Amy Kaplan made her debut as a Wildcat, knocking down four kills while hitting .375. Redshirt freshman Leigh Marcum also saw some time at setter, her first match at Kentucky.

Texas Tech got off to a fast start, taking a commanding 12-5 lead to force a UK timeout. The Cats managed to take the first point out of the timeout, but the Raiders went on a 12-3 run to go up 24-9. Kentucky linked together several points, but could never catch up. TTU took the game, 30-17.

UK took the Raiders to four early ties to start game two, but let a 10-3 Tech run put them at a disadvantage. After fighting to within four, Texas Tech got hot again, closing out the game with a 7-3 string for the 30-20 win.

The Cats appeared to regroup after the break, taking several early leads before a 6-1 run by TTU put UK down by six and forced a Wildcat timeout. Kentucky went down by as many as nine down the stretch before Tech took the game and the match with a 30-19 decision.

The Red Raiders scored nine service aces in the match to Kentucky's three, while UK also had nine service reception errors on the day.

Game Three

vs. Fairfield • 8-31-02 • Hempstead, N.Y.
Hofstra Asics Invitational

UK won its first match of the season with a 3-0 sweep of Fairfield in its final match at the Hofstra Asics Invitational. The Wildcats move to 1-2 on the season after weekend losses to Hofstra and Texas Tech.

Leading the UK attack was junior Sissy Canfield with 15 kills and two block assists. Also performing well were senior Kristen Batt, who earned 11 kills on .421 hitting and 11 digs, and sophomore Sarah Spinner with 10 kills and a .444 hitting percentage. The Cats by no doubt had their best performance of the weekend offensively, hitting .435 as a team while limiting the Stags to a .132 percentage.

"We executed our game," Coach Jona Braden said. "We took advantage of opportunities that Fairfield gave us, but it was an overall team effort. We played so much better than they had during the past two matches. The players are very proud of themselves, and they have learned a lot.

After Fairfield tied the first game early at 1-1, Kentucky went on a 13-0 run to set themselves in position for a win. After the Stags grabbed several points, the Cats used scrappy defense and impressive attacking power to seal the game-one win, 30-14.

Canfield set the tone for the second game, collecting five kills while having her hands in four of the final five plays en route to the 30-23 wins. Fairfield was able to force four ties in the early going, but a 6-2 UK run forced a Stag timeout with the Cats leading 24-18. The Wildcats were able to dominated down the stretch with Canfield putting down three kills and assisting on the game-winning block.

The Wildcats took a 1-0 lead to start the third game and never looked back, stretching their lead to as many as 14, the final margin of victory. UK took the match with the 30-16 game win.

Game Four

at N.C. State • 9-6-02 • Raleigh, N.C.
Outback Steakhouse Wolfpack Classic

Kentucky used a commanding performance against North Carolina State to take a 3-1 win on the opening night of the Outback Steakhouse Wolfpack Classic in Raleigh, N.C.

Senior Kristen Batt led the Wildcats (2-2) with 25 kills and a .467 hitting percentage, a career best. Freshman Amy Kaplan was a sparkplug in two games, recording four kills while hitting .800. Also hitting well for UK was setter Kristi Kelley (.714) with five kills and no errors in seven attempts. The Wildcats hit .381 on the night to N.C. State's .180.

"We let N.C. State back in to game one and we wanted to dictate after that," Coach Jona Braden said. "We put together some solid strings of points throughout the rest of the match. We got great defensive play from Aleisha Craven, our backcourt libero, but I still want more offensive execution."

The Wolfpack opened up an early 4-1 lead in the first game before UK came back to tie the score at six with a Kristen Batt kill. The teams battled through six more ties before the Cats took a 20-15 lead, forcing an NCSU timeout. The Pack sparked a run out of the timeout, taking three quick points and causing Braden and the Wildcats to talk it over. A Katie Bright kill put the Cats up 29-26, poised for a win. N.C. State, however, had another plan and took the next five points to shock Kentucky and take the game win, 31-29.

After starting the second game with a 7-4 lead, Kentucky again let the Wolfpack back in as the team saw five ties before UK took a five-point lead at 17-15. The Wildcats continued to dominate the game, stretching their lead to 11 with the 30-19 win on a Sissy Canfield kill.

After returning from the break, UK kept possession of a small lead early before N.C. State came alive, putting together a 4-0 run to take the 13-9 advantage. After the teams traded service errors for several points, the Cats put together a small run to tie the game at 16, forcing an NCSU timeout. A 5-0 Kentucky run forced another timeout for the Pack. NCSU could only pull out three more points before an Amy Kaplan ace gave UK the game win, 30-19, and a 2-1 advantage in the match.

Kaplan continued to set the tone in game four, leading the Cats to an early 10-2 lead with three kills, an ace and a share of a block assist. The Wolfpack wouldn't go away, though, cutting the lead to four at 17-13. UK found its fire again, taking four consecutive points to force an N.C. State timeout with the 21-13 edge. The Wildcats hit some rough spots on the way, but earned the match victory over the Wolfpack with a 30-23 game four win.

Game Five

vs. Charlotte • 9-7-02 • Raleigh, N.C.

Outback Steakhouse Wolfpack Classic

UK fought back from a 2-1 match deficit and a 21-16 disadvantage in game four to defeat the Charlotte 49ers, 3-2.

Junior setter Kristi Kelley shined in the match, collecting a career-high 11 kills, while hitting .786, grabbing 45 assists and eight digs. Aleisha Craven was a force for UK defensively, recording 14 digs and eight assists. Kentucky (3-2) suffered from poor hitting overall, posting a mere .188 team percentage to Charlotte's .224. The Cats dominated the blocking game, 13-9, over the 49ers (2-3).

"This was a complete team effort that came from inner fight," Coach Jona Braden said. "The things we were struggling with in games two, three and part of four, we cleaned up. Kristi (Kelley) kept a real clear head and worked with everyone to fix problems, including stepping up her offensive game. And again, Aleisha Craven was so solid for us defensively."

After tying the match at one early, miscues would keep Kentucky at a disadvantage for much of the first game with Charlotte advancing as much as four points at 19-15 to force a UK timeout. The Cats had a spark out of the break, taking their first lead at 20-19 after a Kristen Batt kill, a block assist by Katie Bright and Anne Koester, an ace by Kelley and two miscues by the 49ers.

Kentucky capitalized on service errors by Charlotte and made smart offensive choices to take a 27-23 advantage, causing a 49er timeout. After a Sissy Canfield kill, the Cats dropped three quick points to retain a small 28-26 lead. After a timeout for adjustment, UK closed up with a kill by Batt and a strong block by Bright and Batt for the 30-27 win.

Game two provided several early lead changes before two unreturned Charlotte serves put UK at an 11-8 disadvantage. The teams continued to seesaw before the 49ers juttled out to a five-point lead at 21-16 pushing the Cats to talk it over. Charlotte extended the edge to as many as eight before closing out the game with a 30-23 win.

UK couldn't put plays together to start the third game, falling behind 5-0 early. The Wildcats continued to struggle, with each small run dampened by a larger streak on the 49er side. The Kentucky side seemed flustered, losing the game and the match advantage by a score of 30-17.

The Wildcats seemed to find their step early in the fourth game, leading by two at several points. Charlotte, however, kept things close, forcing five ties before pulling out to a 21-16 advantage. After a timeout, Kentucky took three quick points to close the lead to two at 21-19, forcing the 49ers to take a break. A Koester kill tied it at 21, before a solo block by Bright gave UK the lead again at 23-22. Canfield played a role in two huge blocks down the stretch before Sarah Spinner sealed the game at 30-26, forcing a fifth game.

Both teams played scrappy defense to start game five, seeing five early ties before the Wildcats gained a two-point lead on a Spinner kill to retain an 8-6 edge at the switchover. A Koester ace gave the Cats another point to force a Charlotte timeout. After a 49er point on a Canfield error, Kentucky took two quick with put-downs by Spinner and Kelley. Charlotte was able to take the next three points to cut the UK lead to one before the Cats closed out the comeback with a block assist by Kelley and Amy Kaplan for the 15-11 decision.

Game Six

vs. Wichita State • 9-7-02 • Raleigh, N.C.

Outback Steakhouse Wolfpack Classic

Kentucky claimed tournament honors at the Outback Steakhouse Wolfpack Classic with a 3-1 win over Wichita State.

Sarah Spinner was the spark the Cats needed in game four to earn the win as the sophomore finished the day with 21 kills on .310 hitting. Senior Kristen Batt led the attack from the start, however, completing the match with 15 kills and 15 digs, assuring her a spot on the all-tournament team.

"We played gritty and fought for every point in this tournament," Coach Jona Braden said. "We figured out a way to score and that's what we've been working on in practice. Wichita State was a great opponent for us to face this weekend. I have to give a lot of credit to our bench today for great emotional support."

Kentucky took the first point of the afternoon on a Shocker net violation and didn't look back in game one, cruising to the 30-23 decision to take a 1-0 advantage in the match. Batt led the way with seven kills on 10 attempts in the game for a .700 hitting percentage with three digs.

The Wildcats faced a more uphill battle in game two, playing to seven early ties before WSU went on 9-2 run to take the 17-10 lead and force a Kentucky timeout. With WSU holding another seven-point lead at 22-16, the Cats pulled together a 9-3 run to tie things at 25.

After Wichita State put up two quick points out of a timeout, the teams battled close as a Batt kill tied the game at 29. After a WSU kill, Batt again saved UK from game point with a kill, tying the match at 20. The Shockers held strong, taking the decision at 32-30 after a Spinner hit was ruled out of bounds off the net.

The start of game three saw several swings of momentum with six early ties before UK took the lead for good at 12-11 on a Shocker service error. Kentucky stretched the lead to as many as six at 27-21 with a Spinner solo block, but three quick points put WSU back in the game later at 28-25 to force a UK timeout. A Canfield put-down placed her at the service line for the game point, which she aced for the 30-25 win and a 2-1 advantage heading into game four.

The fourth game proved to be a tug 'o war with the two teams battling to a 13th tie at 15, the midpoint of the game. UK was able to keep a minimal lead for a short time before a two-hits call on UK and a block assist by the Shockers gave WSU a 25-24 lead and forced a Kentucky timeout.

Miscues by the Cats put them behind the eight ball at 28-25, but the fire wasn't gone for UK as a kill by Spinner and a solo block by Kaplan tied the game at 28. After tying again at 29 and 30, Kentucky took the match on back-to-back kills by Canfield and Spinner, giving them the tournament title.

Game Seven

vs. Wake Forest • 9-13-02 • Lexington, Ky.
Kentucky Conference Challenge

Kentucky opened its home schedule with a strong win over Wake Forest on the opening night of the Kentucky Conference Challenge.

Kentucky didn't have an easy time with the Demon Deacons, as both teams hit under .200 on the night. UK had a trio of heavy hitters on the night, as Kristen Batt, Sissy Canfield and Sarah Spinner each put down 16 kills. Spinner, who drove in the match-winner, also had 16 digs for her third double-double of the season, while Batt was close behind with 15 digs for her fifth double-double this year.

"Wake Forest started solid and found its rhythm," Coach Jona Braden said. "Our execution struggled, but our fight stayed with us tonight. We found a way to be productive with an aggressive, gritty fight."

Wake Forest came out strong in game one, hitting .297 to UK's .025. The Demon Deacons looked tough to beat as they cruised to the 30-19 win. But the Cats found their mark in game two, capitalizing on WFU errors to jump out to a five-point lead at 14-9. Wake was able to chip away at the UK lead, cutting it to one at 25-24 and forcing a Kentucky timeout. Kentucky came back strong, closing out with five straight points for a 30-24 win.

Kentucky trailed 4-2 early in game three, but tied things up at four with a Spinner kill and held the lead until the Demon Deacons took over at 25-24, forcing a UK timeout. Wake was on game point at 29-28 but Kentucky got another breath of life, by tying it 29 before taking the advantage at 30-29 on a block by Spinner and Canfield. Canfield then gave UK the 2-1 match-advantage with a kill to win the game, 31-29.

Game four was tight as the teams battled through several ties before the Cats closed out strong down the stretch. The team hit just .159 on the game, but it was enough to slip by Wake Forest, 30-24.

Game Eight

vs. Dayton • 9-14-02 • Lexington, Ky.
Kentucky Conference Challenge

UK saw a five-match win streak come to an end after the Wildcats were swept by Dayton, 3-0.

Kentucky played flat in the match, hitting just .091 on the day while totaling only four team blocks to Dayton's .333 hitting and eight team blocks. Three Wildcats hit in the negative column, including setter Kristi Kelley and Sarah Spinner, who have both been reliable offensive weapons to this point in the season.

UK jumped out to an early 5-1 lead in game one before the Flyers tied it at seven. After another tie at 10, UD took control, busting out an 8-2 run to take a 17-12 lead and force a timeout. It was all Dayton from there as they dominated the rest of the game and capitalized on Kentucky errors to take the 30-22 win.

The Cats seemed to regroup for game two, building another early lead at 10-5. They maintained their distance for most of the game until Dayton began chipping away and used an 11-3 run to gain the match advantage with the 30-25 game-two win.

UK had one last chance to make its move in game three, and looked poised to do so after an early 8-3 lead. Leigh Marcum was inserted in the lineup replacing Kelley at setter and tallied a huge block assist to give the Cats a 10-4 edge. But UD seemed unstoppable, tying the game at 11 before taking the lead for good at 19-18. UK was able to get within two at 27-25 with a Kristen Batt kill, but couldn't score again as the Flyers earned their sixth win of the year with the 30-25 decision.

Highlights for UK included a 10-kill, 10-dig performance by Batt and a .368 hitting percentage by Sissy Canfield.

Game Nine

vs. Western Michigan • 9-14-02 • Lexington, Ky.
Kentucky Conference Challenge

UK got back on the winning track with a 3-1 win over Western Michigan. Senior Anne Koester was unstoppable for UK, hammering in 19 kills and hitting .452 on the night.

Kentucky bounced back from a loss to Dayton early in the day with the help of Koester and Sissy Canfield, whose .417 hitting helped the Cats to a team .262 hitting percentage. The duo each had six blocks for the match, helping UK to a team total of 15 blocks.

"Our matches today were as different as day and night," Coach Jona Braden said. "Our players knew they had a job to do. We explained to them that they had a choice. We brought our "A" game. I have to compliment Anne Koester for a fine performance and Aleisha Craven. She ran the backcourt with confidence and really served as a floor general for us all weekend."

Kentucky found itself behind early after surrendering game one to Western Michigan, 30-27. WMU advanced to a 7-3 lead early, before UK tied things at 14. The squads battled closely throughout the match before the Broncos put together several five-point swings. UK held the opponent at game point four three rallies before allowing the Broncos to walk away with it after a service error.

UK allowed a quick start by WMU in game two before taking control and building a seven-point lead at 17-10. The Cats continued to build and after going up 24-16, Western Michigan was forced to take a timeout. UK finished up the match-tying win with a 6-2 run for the 30-18 win.

After WMU opened up an 11-7 lead in game three, Braden and the Cats took a timeout. Returning strong, UK tied the match at 12 before taking the lead for good at 15-14. UK closed out at the game with a 5-1 run to gain the advantage with a 30-22 win.

Kentucky was in familiar territory to start the fourth game, finding itself at a deficit several times before gaining a 9-8 lead on an Amy Kaplan kill. A block assist by Kaplan and Kristi Kelley forced WMU to talk it over. UK continued to build on its lead and closed out the match with a Kelley kill for the 30-20 victory.

Kaplan had a solid game for UK with a career-high six kills and five digs, while adding five blocks. Canfield's blocking was a season high, while senior Kristen Batt had yet another double-double with 13 kills and 10 digs. Freshman Danielle Wallace saw her first action at UK in the match, grabbing two kills, four digs and three blocks in the four games.

The Cats shut down Western Michigan's main weapon, Carman Malone, forcing the junior to hit -.414 on the match, while earning only one kill. The Broncos hit just .089 on the evening and fell to 2-7 with the loss.

Game Ten at South Carolina • 9-20-02 Columbia, S.C.

Kentucky dropped its Southeastern Conference opener to South Carolina, 3-0. The Wildcats hit just .125 on the night to USC's season-high .394.

Sissy Canfield was one of just a few bright spots for Kentucky (6-4, 0-1 SEC) on the night, recording 13 kills on .400 hitting. South Carolina (7-3, 1-0 SEC) saw great play from senior Sam Alban, who also had 13 kills on a career-high .765 hitting. Kentucky recorded two team blocks to USC's eight.

After the Cats took a 1-0 lead in game one and busting through two early ties, South Carolina used a 5-0 run to take a 7-3 lead and force a Kentucky timeout. The Gamecocks extended their lead to as many as nine at 15-4, before UK came alive, chipping the advantage to four at 16-12. Another USC run, however, forced a UK timeout with the home team leading 22-13. UK used a 4-2 run to cut the lead to seven, but would come no closer as South Carolina closed out the game with five straight points, including a final service ace for the 30-18 win.

The Gamecocks continued their strong effort in game two, opening with a 6-0 run, forcing Braden to take a timeout. The Cats began to slowly get back in the game, cutting the USC lead to four at 22-18. UK lacked the power to overcome the deficit and trailed 0-2 in the match after taking the second game, 30-22.

Game three started out with a familiar tone, as USC took the first three points. Kentucky battled back, keeping within three points through much of the match. A 4-0 Gamecock run midway through, put UK down by six, 20-14, and forced a Kentucky timeout.

With the win, South Carolina evens the series with UK at 13. The Gamecocks have taken the last five matches with UK's last win coming on Nov. 19, 1999, a 3-0 win in the SEC Tournament quarterfinals.

Game Eleven vs. Oral Roberts • 9-21-02 Columbia, S.C.

UK fell to Oral Roberts, 3-0, in Columbia, S.C. It was the second consecutive loss for the Wildcats.

Liz McCaslin led all Wildcats with 12 kills on .237 hitting, while senior Anne Koester also had 12 kills on the day. Setter Leigh Marcum recorded four kills on the match. Freshman Danielle Wallace earned her first career start.

Oral Roberts took the first three points to start the match before UK got into the swing of things. UK managed to cut the Eagles' lead to three several times but would get no closer, dropping the first game, 30-25. Neither team hit with great accuracy in the opening segment, with ORU edging out UK, .194 to .158. Kentucky's Anne Koester led the Cats with three kills on .600 hitting.

The teams battled closely in game two, cutting an ORU lead to one at 14-13 before the Eagles used a 6-3 run to force a UK timeout. The Eagles used UK miscues to extend their lead to six at 24-18, forcing another UK timeout down the stretch. The Wildcats were unable to overcome the deficit, dropping the game, 30-22, and handing Oral Roberts the 2-0 advantage in the match.

The third game was back-and-forth as the teams played through an injury timeout before ORU took the 13-7 lead to force Kentucky to talk it over. Kentucky cut it to three at 16-13, but couldn't overcome a potent ORU offense, losing the game, 30-22.
