Welcome To Loyola

2008 Loyola College Men's Lacrosse Media Guide

Since its founding, Loyola College has challenged itself to remain grounded in a centuries-old tradition of Jesuit, liberal arts education, while continually seeking to adapt to changing circumstances. In this balance between values and the desire to serve the greater community, the College has managed to create itself anew, time and again.

Loyola College in Maryland rose from humble beginnings in 1852. The first college in the United States to bear the name of Saint Ignatius Loyola, the College was initially headquartered in a house on Holliday Street in downtown Baltimore - a site marked by a commemorative plaque in what is now Baltimore's War Memorial Plaza.

Due to its increasing enrollment, the College moved in 1855 to a new facility at Calvert and Madison Streets - now the home of Center Stage, Baltimore's intimate theatre for professional drama groups and the St. Ignatius Loyola Academy, a Catholic high school. The College moved to its present home on the Baltimore Campus in 1921.

Today, Loyola College is a Catholic comprehensive university with approximately 6,000 undergraduate and graduate students representing two-thirds of the United States and numerous foreign countries. The College adheres to its Jesuit, liberal arts tradition through its modern studies programs. Designed to give the student greater expertise in his or her own field, the program blends traditional with innovative.

A loyal alumni population, strong corporate and civic support, a diverse body of undergraduate and graduate programs, and the dedication and expertise of the faculty have all helped make Loyola

College in Maryland the institution it is today and assure that the education received at the College will remain relevant in an ever-changing world. Loyola is committed to the educational and spiritual traditions of the Society of Jesus and to the ideals of liberal education and the development of the whole person.

Accordingly, the College will inspire to learn, and serve in a diverse and constantly changing environment.

Academic Support

2008 Loyola College Men's Lacrosse Media Guide

It is the educational mission of Loyola College to challenge students to learn, lead and serve in a diverse and changing world. The College has always been devoted, not only to the transmission of knowledge, but also to the development of mind and character.

Due to the demanding expectations on Loyola's student-athletes, the Office of Academic Affairs for Varsity Athletics provides academic support programs for every student-athlete to balance the demands of being both a student and an athlete. Although student-athletes have an athletic commitment, it is the College's belief that academics come first.

Mission Statement

The mission of the Office of Academic Affairs for Student-Athletes is to provide quality academic support programs, as well as need-based services that will enhance the academic progress, facilitate the career development and encourage the psychosocial growth of every student-athlete.

Programs and Services

introduce the prospective student-athlete to the academic community and provide information regarding rights and responsibilities as a Loyola student-athlete. In addition, this program affords student-athletes an opportunity to ask questions concerning the form of academic support and type of resources available to student-athletes.

Academic Advising

Academic counseling consists of regularly scheduled appointments with the Office of Academic Affairs for Varsity Athletics. Such meetings provide the opportunity for student-athletes to discuss their academic goals and for developing a strategy for achieving such goals, as well as to share concerns and successes regarding academic performance.

Academic Monitoring

During each semester, the office surveys the professors who teach every course in which each of our student-athletes have enrolled. This progress report is designed to assess each student-athlete's academic performance, professors are asked to give feedback on such things as class attendance, assignment completion, participation test and quiz scores and essay grades. In order to address issues of concern, the office utilizes these progress reports to develop a plan for reported academic performance deficiencies with the student-athlete.

Academic Support

Structured Study Hall

The Office of Academic Affairs for Varsity Athletics recognizes the importance of assisting student-athletes in making the transition from high school to college. Therefore, all freshmen and transfer student-athletes are required to participate in a study hall program designed to teach students how to structure their study time and how to take advantage of available resources. In addition, upperclass student-athletes who do not achieve the specified grade-point average established by the Office of Academic Affairs for Varsity Athletics are required to participate in the study hall program to ensure they utilize available support.

Tutorial Support

Tutorial support is designed to introduce, teach and reinforce appropriate study habits and/or strategies. Its focus is on addressing the individual needs of student-athletes who are referred to or request such support. To secure quality instruction, the majority of the tutorial support staff consists of upper-level undergraduates and graduate students and is free of financial charges for student-athletes. A tutor session report is created by the tutor after each tutorial appointment to be utilized by the Office of Academic Affairs for Varsity Athletics in providing encouragement and constructive feedback in regards to the specific student-athlete.

Student-Athlete Computer Lab

Adjacent to the individual offices of the Director and Assistant Director is a newly renovated computer lab for student-athletes for use throughout the day. This lab consists of six 34 IBM NetVista personal computers running the latest Windows operating systems. Also, a 2007 state-of-the-art Mac laptop computer for those students taking graphics classes, a network printer, and a 47-inch LCD flat screen television with computer/network access for student-athletes to use for practicing presentations.

The Study

Completed just prior to the 2001-02 academic year, The Study is the centerpiece of Loyola's on-campus academic facilities. The spacious facility is located centrally on the main Evergreen Campus on the top floor of Jenkins Hall.

The room includes 34 IBM NetVista personal computers running the latest Windows operating systems. There are also seven extra workstations and desks and two advanced flatbed scanners. A JVC flat screen television and VCR, a Panasonic television with telesensory capability and a powerful photocopier machine are also among the technology available.

From a comfort standpoint, the room has 18 lounge chairs and four couches. The numerous computer workstations are also equipped with the latest in ergonomic technology to make the experience as comfortable as possible.

For larger groups of students, "The Study" includes two separate meeting rooms, each with an impressive conference table and a large dry-erase board equipped with BoardFax technology. There is also a more private study room, as well as larger tables in the main study area that can accommodate larger groups.

Athletic Training

2008 Loyola College Men's Lacrosse Media Guide

The athletic training department coordinates the management and reconditioning of all athletic injuries suffered by any student-athlete participating in a varsity sport at Loyola College.

The athletic training staff combines experience in Joe Artuso, Assistant Director of Athletics/Director of Sports Medicine and head athletic trainer since his arrival on campus in 1986, with the skills and enthusiasm of assistant trainers Steve Austin, Garrett Dean, Pam Sommerhauser, Kristen Bouglione and Jamaal Collier.

In September of 2004, Loyola College inked a deal with MedStar Sports Health as its official medical provider for its 17 intercollegiate programs. Dr. John O'Donnell, Dr. Bill Howard and Dr. Andy Tucker all work with Loyola and Artuso, providing comprehensive medical coverage to Greyhound student-athletes at games and clinics on campus with immediate access to Union Memorial's facilities.

With seven local hospitals, nearly 40 outpatient care facilities, 22,000 employees and over 4,000 physicians, MedStar Health is Baltimore-Washington region's top healthcare provider.

The athletic training room, located on the main level of the DeChiaro College Student Center, was recently refurbished to better serve Loyola's student-athletes. It includes a hydrotherapy area as well as state-of-the-art rehabilitation equipment.

2008 Loyola College Men's Lacrosse Media Guide

The Greyhound way is INTENSITY. It is maximum gains in the minimum amount of time. The student-athletes invest their time in the weight room; they do not spend their time doing nonproductive things. Everything we do is for a reason and a purpose. Consequently, our strength workouts are very intense, relatively brief, and never more than three times per week. LC's student-athletes reach their potential for size and strength by the time they graduate.

Strength training for athletes is only valuable in the context of the sport. We are not a weight lifting team, nor are we marathon runners. Too much emphasis in one area of training will leave the athlete deficient in other areas. Overall fitness, specific to the needs of the game is our priority. Several elements make up the Greyhound level of fitness. They are muscular strength, cardiovascular fitness, flexibility, sports nutrition, skill acquisition, speed development, agility training, and rest and recovery.

Intensity of effort is the key to proper training. It is the reason for strength and conditioning gains, not magical formulas, super hero routines, miracle supplements, or 400 clubs. Intensity includes:

- Perfect repetitions performed with maximum effort.
- Complete concentration throughout a workout session.
- Continuous effort, even when the body is in severe oxygen debt.
- Hard work, as there is no greater reward than success through hard work.

Rob Taylor
Strength Coach

Rob Taylor is in his fourth full season as head strength and conditioning coach at Loyola College. A 1999 graduate of Lock Haven University, Taylor has worked with professional teams such as the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, Tampa Bay Mutiny and California Angels, and is involved with a number of pro camps and strength programs.

In 2000, Taylor was named head strength and conditioning coach at UNC Greensboro. He left to pursue a graduate degree in exercise physiology from the University of Delaware, where he worked as a graduate assistant in strength and conditioning. Prior to his arrival at Evergreen, Taylor worked as a strength coach at both Princeton and Villanova.

Our conditioning program is approached in the same fashion as our strength program, with our goal to be in peak shape by the start of practice. As with strength training, we will ask more effort of the athlete each day. The cardiovascular system adapts to the stresses placed on it, similar to skeletal muscle. Therefore, the stresses placed on the cardiovascular system will be monitored and recorded similar to the strength program.

The student athlete is able to complete their strength and conditioning requirements on a one on one basis with Head Strength Coach Rob Taylor. The individualized workouts allows for a prudent and productive approach for all of the student athletes. The student athletes can schedule appointments for individualized workouts in addition to the various scheduled sessions for the varsity teams.

The weight room floor space is devoted entirely to workout equipment. Free weight work stations, power rack stations, hammer strength equipment, dumbbells, and treadmills, allow for a wide range of physical development.

External motivation in the weight room comes from many sources. The Varsity Weight Room is equipped with computer tracked workouts, Sony televisions, and JBL stereo. Our coaches, student-assistant strength coaches, and your hard working teammates are as excited about each workout as the first one. All of these things help make each workout as fun and productive as it can be.

The Varsity Weight Room is located on the ground floor of the DeChiaro Student Center which is convenient for athletes training in Reitz Arena and on Diane Geppi Aikens Field.

Diane Geppi-Aikens Field

2008 Loyola College Men's Lacrosse Media Guide

Dedicated at the start of the 2004 season, Diane Geppi-Aikens Field is home to Loyola lacrosse. Named after beloved coach and friend, Geppi-Aikens guided the Loyola women's lacrosse program for 14 seasons.

Four years ago, Diane Geppi-Aikens coached her last. Dying of brain cancer, the courageous Geppi-Aikens led her team to a No. 1 national ranking and a Final Four appearance. Named coach of the year, Loyola's inspirational leader passed away in June of 2003.

Geppi-Aikens Field, formerly known as John M. Curley, Jr. Field, is now in its 26th season as the official home of the Greyhounds and is situated in the heart of the Evergreen Campus. Adjacent to the DeChiaro College Center, which houses the College's bookstore, the Boulder Garden Cafe, as well as locker rooms and offices for Loyola's Department of Athletics, Geppi-Aikens Field is an ideal spot to catch a collegiate lacrosse game in the spring.

This past summer's renovations included replacing the existing field with NexTurf, a synthetic playing surface used at M&T Bank Stadium (home of the Baltimore Ravens and the 2007 NCAA Lacrosse Championships). Diane Geppi-Aikens Field now seats 3,000 spectators, with the ability to expand to as many as 5,000 with the addition of portable bleachers.

Geppi-Aikens Field has been quite kind to the men's lacrosse program over the years. Since 1983, the Loyola men are 134-40 (.770) within the friendly confines. The Greyhounds have posted four undefeated seasons at Diane Geppi-Aikens Field (1986, 1988, 1990, 1999), to go along with eight one-loss campaigns, including last season's.

Loyola has hosted six NCAA Division I Lacrosse Tournament games, including four first-round games, and a pair of quarterfinal matchups.

The 2002 NCAA Women's Lacrosse Final Four was played at Geppi-Aikens Field, and seven of the first eight Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference (MAAC) soccer championships were also contested there.

Over the years, the field has also hosted four NCAA men's soccer playoff contests. This past season, Loyola's men's soccer team went 10-0 at home with a first round win in the College Cup.

Completed in October of 1979, Geppi-Aikens Field has one of the world's largest artificial playing surfaces. Action is never hard to find on the artificial surface, as the facility is used by a number of college organizations, including the club sports and intramural programs. Because of its close proximity to classroom buildings, Diane Geppi-Aikens Field has become a popular meeting place for students in the springtime.
