Game Data: Loyola culminates its 2007-2008 regular-season with a home contest against Fairfield on Saturday, March 1, 2008, at 2 p.m. in Reitz Arena. The game is part of triple-header action on Loyola's campus. The women's lacrosse team hosts Towson at 11 a.m., and the men's lacrosse squad takes on Penn State, at 2 p.m.

Free For All: The women's basketball game on Saturday will be free for all in attendance as part of the NCAA's "Take A Kid To A Game" program.

Senior Day: Loyola will honor its three seniors prior to Saturday's game. Tynisha Davis, Vika Sholokhova and Meghan Wood will be honored prior to the game with a presentation that will start at 1:45 p.m.

Series Notes: Loyola and Fairfield will meet for the 43rd time in series history on Saturday afternoon. The Stags hold a 26-16 after defeating the Greyhounds, 48-41, on January 20, in Connecticut. Loyola, however, has defeated Fairfield in 11 of 20 previous meetings at Reitz Arena. The Stags have won 15 of the last 18 meetings between the schools.

Rookie Honors: Greyhounds freshman Meredith Tolley won the first Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference Rookie of the Week Award last Monday after averaging 15 points and five rebounds at Niagara and Canisius. She scored a career-high 20 points against the Purple Eagles. Loyola has won five Rookie of the Week awards (Candice Walker has won four), more than any other school this season. No other MAAC school has more than one player who has earned the Rookie of the Week award this season.

Starting Success: Since entering the starting lineup 10 games ago, Tolley is second on the team with a 9.6 points per game average. She is shooting .485 from the field in those games and averaging 5.6 rebounds. Prior to those 10 contests, Tolley was averaging just 2.9 points and 2.1 rebounds per game while shooting .317 from the field.

One Away: With her next assist, Candice Walker will tie the Loyola freshman record in that category. Coleen Colsher recorded 77 in 2001-2002.

Timely Three: Siobhan Prior made just one 3-pointer at Canisius, but it came at a good time. She made a 30-foot three as the buzzer sounded in regulation to send the game to overtime.

Starting Again: Meghan Wood returned to the starting lineup for the first time since missing nine games with a knee injury. Wood came off the bench in three games before starting at Canisius.

On The Boards: Loyola outrebounded Canisius, 46-38, on Sunday afternoon and had three players with seven or more boards. Vika Sholokhova led all players with nine rebounds, while Meghan Wood and Tynisha Davis each grabbed seven.

More Boards: Tynisha Davis and Siobhan Prior each tied their respective career-highs with seven and five rebounds, respectively, against the Golden Griffins.

Buffalo Blues: Loyola lost to both Niagara and Canisius on last weekend's road trip, marking the first time since 2003-2004 it has been swept in the Buffalo area.

Shooting Slump: In the two games at Niagara and Canisius, Loyola shot just .330 (38-of-115) from the field and .270 (10-of-37) from 3-point range.

Before Buffalo: Prior to those games, the Greyhounds shot .429 (88-of-205) in its four previous games, all wins. Loyola made 36.6-percent (15-of-41) from 3-point range. During that stretch, three players – Siobhan Prior, Tynisha Davis and Meghan

Career Nights: Three of Loyola's freshmen recorded career-high scoring outputs at Niagara. Meredith Tolley (20), Melissa Bangay (7) and Alex Berlin (6) each scored the most in a single game of their young careers.

Slow Road Starts: Loyola is now 0-9 when trailing at halftime in road games. The Greyhounds are being outscored 31.9 to 25.5 in the first half of road games. They are shooting just .348 from the field, while their opponents are knocking down almost 43-percent of their first-half shots.

Running Ways: In many of Loyola's wins, the Greyhounds engineered second-half runs that have paced them to the victories. Here's a look at the details:

Post Passing: One of the biggest things missing from Loyola's arsenal during Meghan Wood's nine-game absence due to injury was her ability to kick out passes to perimeter players. Despite missing nine contests, Wood is second on the team with 38 assists, and she's distributed six in the last three games, all of them coming on 3-point baskets by the Greyhounds. Fellow post player Vika Sholokhova has gotten into the assist game, too. She has eight in the last three games, as well, but her forte is finding teammates cutting to the hoop for lay-ups.

Keep Them Under 20: Niagara's Sarah Wilson was the ninth opponent to score 20 or more points in a game against the Greyhounds this year. With the loss, Loyola dropped to 3-6 in those games.

The Big 5-Oh: Monday's victory at Siena was the 50th of Loyola Head Coach Joe Logan's career. Entering Friday's game, he is 50-35 in two-plus seasons at Loyola.

Quick To 50: Logan reached the 50-win plateau in just 85 games. Only Loyola's all-time wins leader, Pat Coyle (now the head coach of the WNBA's New York Liberty), has reached 50 victories quicker in Loyola's Division I era. Coyle accomplished the feat in 84 games with her 50th win coming in the MAAC Quarterfinals against Siena on March 3, 1994. Prior to the Greyhounds' competition in NCAA Division I, Anne McCloskey (coach from 1976-1981) won her 50 games in her first 80.

Strong Conference: The Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference has its highest conference RPI ranking in recent history. The MAAC has cemented its mid-major status this season with places of 13th on realltime.com and 14th on Jeff Sagarin's

Few Field Goals: Loyola won on February 15 at home against Rider despite making just 14 field goals, the fewest the team has made in Joe Logan's three year tenure at the College. The 14 buckets are also the fewest the team has produced since making just 11 (11-of-55) in a 54-25 loss to Delaware on December 14, 2003.

Sixties Preservation Society: Loyola is now 7-3 this season when scoring 60 or more points. Their loss at Iona on January 25 snapped a streak of 20-straight wins by the Greyhounds when they scored 60 or more points, dating back to a 75-73 overtime loss at Towson on November 25, 2006. Including this year, Loyola is 39-10 when they score 60 or more during Joe Logan's two-plus years at the College.

Frosh Floor General: Candice Walker has started all nine games at point guard and played the bulk of the minutes at the position. She is the first freshman to start regularly at point guard since the 1991-1992 season when Coleen Colsher took over the position. Colsher started 21 of 27 games that year and led the Greyhounds with 2.9 assists per game. She started 107 games in her career and finished her career as Loyola's all-time leader in assists with 416, although that record has since been broken (467 by Corey Hewitt, 1995-1999). This season, Walker has been named the MAAC Rookie of the Week four times.

Loyola Head Coach Joe Logan... Is in his third year at Loyola as a head coach... Including four years at Loyola as an undergraduate student (1992-1996) and four years as an assistant coach for the women's basketball team (1997-2001), Logan has been a fixture on the Evergreen campus for 11 years... He has a 50-37 (.574) career record after guiding the Greyhounds to 20-10 and 18-12 records in his first two seasons... He was named the Anaconda Sports Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference Coach of the Year in 2006-2007... His teams have made the MAAC Championships Semifinals both years, advancing to the Championship Game in 2006 and the Semifinals in 2007... During his short tenure as head coach, four of Logan's student-athletes have earned All-MAAC honors, and two have been named MAAC Sixth Player of the Year... Logan's teams are 25-11 (.694) in Reitz Arena... Logan is assisted by Marti Whitmore, Alisha Mosley and Erin Brady.

Go HOUNDS!

Game One • November 9, 2007
Loyola 72, Drexel 62
Baltimore, Md. • Reitz Arena

Loyola overcame a 10-point halftime deficit to defeat Drexel in both teams' season-opener. Drexel went up 33-23 at the first half buzzer on a Jasmina Rossell layup, then took a 12-point lead on two Delise Johnson free throws less than 30 seconds into the second half. That would be the largest lead of the night, however, for the Dragons, as Loyola would slowly chip away at the deficit. Vika Sholokhova's layup with 4:05 remaining gave Loyola a 54-53 advantage, one they would not relinquish. Sholokhova, who led all players with 14 points and 12 rebounds, scored eight points in the final 4:05, and the Greyhounds made their last 14 free throw attempts to close the game. In addition to Sholokhova's 14 points, Loyola's other four starters all scored in double figures, the first time since January 10, 2006 that the Greyhounds accomplished that feat. Candice Walker scored 11 and had five assists without a turnover in her collegiate point guard debut. Meghan Wood scored 13 and had nine rebounds. Six of her rebounds came in the final 4:34, as Loyola finished with a 16-rebound advantage over the Dragons. Drexel's leading scorer from 2006-2007 Gabriela Marginean, also the 2006-2007 Colonial Athletic Association Rookie of the Year, was held mostly in check. she scored 10 on 5-of-16 shooting.

Game Two • November 11, 2007
Loyola 49, Villanova 47
Baltimore, Md. • Reitz Arena

Senior guard Tynisha Davis' driving lay-up as the shot clock expired with 53 seconds remaining snapped a 44-44 tie and freshman guard Candice Walker connected on a pair of free throws with 34 seconds left to ice the win as the Greyhounds won for the second time to open the season, capturing a 49-47 home non-conference victory over Villanova Sunday afternoon at Reitz Arena. Senior forward Meghan Wood tied the game for Loyola with a lay-up with 1:45 remaining in regulation and after a Villanova attempt went out of bounds to the Greyhounds, a time out was called for third-year head coach Joe Logan to set up the final play. As the shot clock wound down, Davis drove the right side of the lane and banked the ball in for the Loyola lead at 46-44. Walker scooped up a loss ball and was fouled, making both of her free throws to stretch the margin to 48-44 with 34 ticks remaining. Sophomore guard Erica DiClemente made one of two free throws with 15 seconds left and the Wildcats (1-1) sank a three-pointer with one second remaining for the final margin. Trailing by six at the intermission, Loyola feel behind by seven and then used an 11-3 run over a five-minute stretch to take a one-point lead at 34-44 on the second of two free-throws attempts by junior guard Ashley Alexander. Three ties and five lead changes followed before the Greyhounds grabbed the lead for good. The two victories marks the first time since the start of the 1998-99 season that the Greyhounds have jumped out to a 2-0 beginning.

Game Three • November 14, 2007
La Salle 51, Loyola 50
Philadelphia, Pa. • Tom Gola Arena

Jamie Walsh made a 17-foot jumper with 14.9 seconds remaining to lift La Salle to a 51-50 win over visiting Loyola. The Greyhounds (2-1) took a one-point lead, 50-49, with 26 seconds left, as Ashley Alexander hit one of her career-high tying four 3-pointers from the right side. On La Salle's ensuing possession, Walsh pumped-faked at the top of the perimeter and drove to the left, pulling up and hitting a jumper from just inside the 3-point line. After a timeout, the Greyhounds play was disrupted, and Vika Sholokhova's acrobatic shot fell short at the buzzer. A first half shooting and turnover slump put the Greyhounds in a hole. Loyola led by seven, 15-8, as Meghan Wood made a jumper with 12:11 to play. The Explorers (1-1), however, went on a 17-2 run, capped by a Danielle Mickiewicz with 2:57 to play before the half to cut the halftime deficit to five, 25-20. Erica DiClemente her second 3-pointer on to put the Greyhounds ahead, 31-29, with 13:45 to play. An up-and-under Sholokhova layup gave Loyola a four-point lead moments later, but La Salle responded by scoring 11 of the next 13 points to take a 40-35 advantage on a Tara Lapetina 3-pointer with 7:52 remaining. Sholokhova went on a 5-0 run of her own, making a layup and a 3-pointer to knot the game at 40-40 with just under seven minutes to play. The score was tied twice more, and the lead changed hands three times until Sholokhova gave the Greyhounds a 47-46 lead with 1:58 left. Hightower made 1-of-2 free throws to tie the score, and she then stepped through two Loyola defenders in the lane and made a lay-up to put La Salle ahead two, 49-47, with 43 ticks remaining before the final sequence.

Game Five • November 25, 2007
Pennsylvania 70, Loyola 57
Philadelphia, Pa. • The Palestra

Loyola saw an early lead slip away at The Palestra, and the Greyhounds lost their third-straight game. Loyola took a five-point lead in under four minutes, but Pennsylvania went on a 7-1 run and took a lead of its own with more than 15 minutes to play in the first half. The advantage went back-and-forth until Katarina Lackner made a turn-around hook shot in the pain with 8:51 to play in the first half, giving the Quakers the lead for good. Pennsylvania extended its advantage to as many as 15, and although the Greyhounds cut the deficit to nine in the final two minutes, they were unable to pull closer.

Game Six • December 1, 2007
Loyola 56, Mount St. Mary's 48
Emmitsburg, Md. • Knott Arena

Kaitlin Grant scored a career-high 14 points, and Loyola's defense held the Mountaineers without a field goal for 10:09 of the second half as the Greyhounds collected a 56-48 non-conference victory at Mount St. Mary's Saturday night at Knott Arena. Grant, who made her third start of the season, scored six straight points to start a 12-2 run that gave Loyola the lead for good. The six-foot sophomore connected on a pair of jumpers around a steal and a layup to extend the Greyhounds to a 43-36 lead with 12:13 remaining. She also finished with her first career double-double, tying her career-high with 11 rebounds. The Loyola advantage grew to 49-37 when freshman guard Candice Walker swished a foul-line jumper with 6:45 left. Mount St. Mary's (1-5) cut into that lead with a 9-2 stretch that included seven straight points to close to 51-46 with two minutes remaining, but junior guard Ashley Alexander made a baseline three-pointer with 93 seconds left to extend the lead to eight and the Greyhounds were able to run out the clock and close out the victory. Loyola grabbed the first-half lead with a 14-2 run after the Mountaineers opened the game with four straight points. Grant scored six of Loyola's points, the last two coming to give the Greyhounds a 14-6 advantage with 11:22 remaining in the half. The Mount battled back to pull within two on several occasions, the last when Brianna Gauthier beat the final buzzer with a jumper to cut the Loyola lead to 27-25 at the intermission.

Game Seven • December 3, 2007
Loyola 58, UMBC 56
Baltimore, Md. • Reitz Arena

Freshman forward Meredith Tolley swished a 12-foot jumper from the high post with two seconds remaining on the shot clock and 15 seconds remaining in the game to snap a 55-55 tie and give Loyola a 58-56 non-conference home win over UMBC Monday night at Reitz Arena. The Retrievers (2-6) had a shot to win or tie the game and send it to overtime. After senior guard Tynisha Davis made only the second of a two-shot foul to put Loyola ahead by two (58-56), UMBC was able to make a length-of-the-floor pass to Carlee Cassidy and her 17-foot shot fell harmlessly to the floor as the final horn sounded. Loyola had to climb all the way back from a 10-point second-half deficit with 7:51 remaining after the Retrievers received seven points from Cassidy to ignite a 14-0 run to take a 50-40 lead. Sophomore forward Kaitlin Grant's pair of free throws with 5:23 remaining capped a 12-1 Loyola stretch in just over two-and-a-half minutes to give the Greyhounds a 52-51 advantage. Four straight UMBC free throws provided the Retrievers with a 55-52 lead with just under three minutes remaining, but three free throws from senior forward Meghan Wood on consecutive trips to the line knotted the game at 55 with 1:40 left, setting up the final sequence. The Greyhounds emerged from a first half that featured four leads and four lead changes with a slim one-point advantage, 30-29. UMBC erased a seven-point deficit with a 10-0 run to take a 29-26 lead on Cassidy's layup with 2:15 remaining. But Loyola scored the final four points of the half as Wood sandwiched a pair of free throws around a jumper from Tolley.

Game Eight • December 7, 2007
Loyola 63, Niagara 50
Baltimore, Md. • Reitz Arena

Loyola shot 52-percent from the field in the second half and made 5-of-8 field goals in the final 7-minutes, 15-seconds, to seal a 63-50 victory over Niagara in the teams' Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference opener on Friday night at Reitz Arena. Meghan Wood and Candice Walker each scored 15 for the Greyhounds (5-3 overall, 1-0 MAAC) to lead, while Walker and Erica DiClemente both pulled down seven rebounds. Walker scored 13 of her points in the second half, and Wood had 11 in the first. Loyola led 42-38 when Siobhan Prior took a handoff from Wood on the right side, stepped right and hit a 3-pointer from the wing. Prior went on to make two more jumpers, as Loyola stretched its lead to 13 over the first seven minutes. On the ensuing Purple Eagles (2-6, 0-1) possession, Walker intercepted a Sarah Wilson and went coast-to-coast for a layup to put the Greyhounds ahead by nine. Jennifer McNamee made two free throws, after Wood picked up her four foul, to cut Niagara's deficit to 47-40, but Prior took a pass on the right side where she earlier hit a three, drove to the free-throw line and hit a pull-up jumper. Niagara turned the ball over again on its next possession, and Tynisha Davis made two free throws on the Loyola end, extending the Greyhounds' lead to 11. Erika Harris converted a layup for the Purple Eagles, scoring two of her team-high 14, with 5:32 left, but Prior again hit a big shot for Loyola. This time, she made a 17-foot jumper from the top of the circle to give the Greyhounds a 53-42 lead. Davis added 12 points, 10 in the second half, for Loyola. Kaitlin Grant and DiClemente each had six points. In addition to Harris' 14, Wilson scored 11 for the Purple Eagles, who shot just 30.9-percent from the field.

Loyola 53, Canisius 51
Baltimore, Md. • Reitz Arena

Siobhan Prior connected on a three-pointer from the top of the key with four minutes remaining as part of a 6-0 run to give Loyola a lead it would not relinquish as the Greyhounds posted a 55-53 Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference home victory over the Canisius Golden Griffins Sunday afternoon at Reitz Arena. Candice Walker connected on a pair of free throws with 15 ticks remaining to seal the win. The win was the fourth-straight for the Greyhounds and fifth-straight at home to open the season. Loyola's second-half defense keyed the win as it held the Golden Griffins to just eight field goals and the Greyhounds held a 22-16 rebounding advantage over the final 20 minutes. Canisius (4-4, 1-1 MAAC) almost tied game with a four-point trip following Walker's free throws when Amanda Cavo was fouled attempting a three-point shot with 3.2 seconds remaining. She made the first two tries and Golden Griffins head coach Terry Zeh called time out to set up the final play. Cavo missed the shot to the right and JJ Williams grabbed the offensive rebound and got off a last-second shot from inside the lane that missed the mark. Trailing 49-47 after Micayla Drysdale converted a conventional three-point play, Prior made her three-pointer to give Loyola the lead. Senior forward Meghan Wood converted the first of a two-shot foul and Walker made a steal and a layup for a 53-49 lead with 2:51 remaining. Ellie Radke's driving layup thirty seconds later would be the game's last field goal as Walker followed with her free throws.

Game Ten • December 22, 2007
Loyola 66, Columbia 49
Baltimore, Md. • Reitz Arena

Meghan Wood made 11-of-14 field goal attempts and scored a career-high 22 points, leading Loyola to a 66-49 non-conference win over Columbia on Saturday afternoon in Reitz Arena. Wood led all players with 12 rebounds, five coming on the offensive glass. Wood's 22 points were the most by any Loyola player in a single game this season and the most for a Greyhounds' player since Jill Glessner scored 23 last season at Saint Peter's on February 25. The win was Loyola's fifth straight and sixth at home this year without a loss. Columbia (2-9) led in the first four minutes of the game, but the Greyhounds went on a 15-2 run over a nine-minute stretch in the first half to take the lead for good. Loyola took 12-point leads at the 5:07 and 4:35 marks in the first half, both on Erica DiClemente jumpers, but the Lions cut the deficit to five, 28-23, with just 59 seconds left before the break on a fast-break score by Danielle Browne. A Brittney Cafora 3-pointer seven seconds into the second half pulled Columbia to within two, 28-26, but Wood hit a turnaround jumper off an assist from Kaitlin Grant over a minute later to put Loyola back up by four. Lauren Dwyer made a layup with 15:53 remaining to pull Columbia within five, 35-30, but Loyola would score the next six points, four by Tynisha Davis, to stretch its lead back to double-figures. Columbia trimmed the Greyhounds' lead back to seven, 51-44, with just over eight minutes left, but a 13-3 run by Loyola, capped by a Candice Walker 3-pointer with 3:12 left in the game, gave the Greyhounds a 17-point advantage, 64-47. The Lions managed just two free throws after that and made just one field goal in the final eight minutes.

Towson 72, Loyola 48

Towson, Md. • Towson Center

Towson used a 35-8 run to outscore Loyola 39-13 in the first half, then held the Greyhounds off for a 72-48 non-conference victory Friday night at the Towson Center. The Tigers (7-3) shot 53.6-percent from the field in the first half and held Loyola to 5-of-28 from the field before the break. Loyola also committed 22 total turnovers, 13 in the first half. The loss snapped Loyola's five-game winning streak, and the 48 points were the fewest Loyola has scored in Logan's three years as head coach. Meghan Wood tied the score, 4-4, for Loyola with an offensive rebound and putback with 16:19 to play. Kandace Davis then scored six points during a 18-2 run, as the Tigers took a 22-6 lead on an Omara Parker 3-pointer with 10:15 to play before halftime. Towson continued its scoring binge, putting in 17 of the next 24 points before the break. Ashley Alexander and Candice Walker each made baskets for Loyola (7-4) to start the second half, cutting Towson's lead to 39-17. The Tigers, however, took away any thought of a Loyola comeback by scoring the next 11 points to extend their lead to 33. Siobhan Prior led Loyola in scoring for the first time in her career, scoring a career-best 12 points. Prior also had a career-high four steals.

Bucknell 59, Loyola 56

Lewisburg, Pa. • Sojka Pavilion

Kristina Collymore made an 18-foot jumper with just under 30 seconds remaining to break a tie and lift Bucknell to a 59-56 non-conference win on Monday afternoon at Sojka Pavilion. Tynisha Davis drove down the right side of the lane and made a right-handed layup with 59.4 seconds left. She was fouled and made the subsequent free throw for Loyola (7-5) to tie the game at 56-56. Bucknell (5-9) could not get an open look on the ensuing possession, but Collymore drained the jumper with two seconds left on the shot clock and a hand in her face to put the Bison ahead, 58-56. Davis had a look from the free-throw line extended on the right side with just under 10 seconds left, but the shot went long, and Kesha Champion corralled the rebound for Bucknell. Champion was fouled and made 1-of-2 from the line with 7.1 seconds left. Vika Sholokhova got the rebound for the Greyhounds, and Candice Walker missed a 3-pointer as time expired. Davis finished with a career-high and team-leading 16 points on 6-of-9 from the field. Loyola trailed 50-43 with 7:24 to play, but they Greyhounds went on a 6-0 run to pull within one as Davis made a layup with 4:27 left. Amanda Brown hit an 18-foot jumper on Bucknell's possession, but Davis hit a shot of her own to keep Loyola within one, 52-51. Hope Foster's jumper with 2:47 remaining gave the Bison a three-point advantage, but Kaitlin Grant rebounded a Davis miss and keep Loyola within one. Foster made another layup with 1:32 left, setting up the possession where Davis would make the tying shot and free throw.

Game Thirteen • January 5, 2008
Manhattan 68, Loyola 59
Baltimore, Md. • Reitz Arena

Caitlin Flood led four Manhattan players in double-figures with a game-high 18 points and five different Jaspers scored during a decisive 13-2 run in the middle of the second half as Manhattan remained undefeated in the conference through three games with a 68-59 MAAC road victory over Loyola Saturday afternoon at Reitz Arena. The win ended the Greyhounds' six-game home winning streak to open the season and a run of six straight victories over the Jaspers. With the game tied at 40 with just under 13 minutes remaining, Manhattan (8-6, 3-0 MAAC) scored 13 of the game's next 15 points to build a 53-42 advantage with 7:26 left in the contest. The Jaspers made 15-of-25 shots (60-percent) in the second half, and the closest Loyola (7-6, 2-1 MAAC) would get would be 65-59 when freshman guard Candice Walker connected on a three-pointer as time expired on the shot clock with 93 ticks remaining. Loyola grabbed its first lead of the game in the first half by scoring 11 of the game's 12 points during a five-minute stretch to take a 25-21 advantage with 4:49 left before intermission. Junior guard Siobhan Prior was the catalyst, scoring all five of her points and assisting on the basket by Meghan Wood to cap the run. The Loyola lead remained at four at the intermission, 29-25, as seven different Greyhounds scored points and Loyola shot 46.7 percent (14-30) for the half. Two three-pointers from Manhattan's Gabrielle Cottrell in the first 90 seconds of the second half tied the game at 31 and the contest would be tied three more times before the Jaspers would record their game-deciding run. Flood scored her points in 7-of-9 shooting and added seven rebounds. Manhattan shot 60 percent in the second half and made seven of its nine free-throw attempts.

VISITORS: Manhattan 8-6, 3-0 MAAC

Marist 61, Loyola 59
Baltimore, Md. • Reitz Arena

Rachele Fitz made two free throws with 3.7 seconds left to give Marist a 61-59 Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference victory over host Loyola. Fitz was fouled by Loyola's Vika Sholokhova in a scramble for a rebound, sending the Red Foxes' leading scorer to the line. Loyola (7-7 overall, 2-2 MAAC) took a 3-point lead, 59-56, with 40.5 ticks left as Candice Walker threaded a pass through the lane to Sholokhova for a lay-up. On the ensuing possession, Fitz kicked the ball out to the left wing where Julianne Viani knocked down a 3-pointer with 27.5 remaining to tie the score at 59-59. The Greyhounds played for one shot, and Sholokhova found space on the left block. She drew contact from two Marist players, but no foul was called on the missed shot. As Sholokhova went after her own rebound, she knocked Fitz out of position and was whistled for the violation. Fitz, who was 7-of-8 from the free throw line in the game, made both attempts. Meghan Wood attempted a three-quarter court pass, but it was intercepted by Fitz, and Marist (14-2, 4-0) ran out the final seconds. The teams traded leads through the first eight minutes of the second half, but Walker took a high-low pass from Wood and made a 3-pointer on the right side to give Loyola a 43-40 lead with 11:29 to play. Lynzee Johnson had the answer for Marist, making a three of her own on the next possession. Erica Allenspach made one-of-two free throws following the under-four minute media timeout. The teams traded missed shots and defensive rebounds before Walker pulled-up for a 10-foot jumper with the shot clock at six to give Loyola a 57-56 advantage.

Siena 67, Loyola 57
Baltimore, Md. • Reitz Arena

Vika Sholokhova led three Loyola players in double-figures with 17 points and matched her career-high with 13 rebounds, but it was not enough for the Greyhounds in a 67-57 Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference game Friday night at Reitz Arena. The Greyhounds (8-8 overall, 3-3 MAAC) stretched an early lead into a 10-point advantage on two occasions in the first half, as Siobhan Prior, Erica DiClemente and Sholokhova made lay-ups on consecutive possessions for Loyola. Sholokhova's grabbed an offensive rebound of her own miss and put it back with 3:57 to play before halftime to give the Greyhounds a 31-21 lead. Siena (6-10, 2-4), however, would go on a 10-0 run over the next 3:53, tying the score at 31-31 on a Melissa Manzer 3-pointer from the left side with 26 ticks on the first-half clock. Meredith Tolley scored the last two of her nine points with just over four seconds left in the first half to give Loyola a 33-31 halftime lead. The Saints went ahead three before the second half's first media time out, but Siobhan Prior broke a 4:52 scoreless streak for the Greyhounds to tie the game at 39-39 on a 3-pointer with 12:32 to play. DiClemente then gave Loyola a 41-39 lead with a 17-foot jumper 40 seconds later. Laura Menty scored two of her game-high 28 points to give Siena a 43-41 advantage with 10:07 remaining. Melissa Bangay tied the game for Loyola with two free throws at 9:23, and Prior converted a layup at the 8:07 mark to stake Loyola to a 45-43 advantage. Heather Stec, however, made a 15-foot jumper to tie the game, then put the Saints on top for good with a layup at the 6:57 mark.

Game Seventeen • January 20, 2008
Fairfield 48, Loyola 41
Fairfield, Conn. • Alumni Hall

Loyola held Fairfield scoreless for over nine minutes in the second half and cut a 17-point deficit to three, but the Greyhounds could not overcome a poor-shooting first half in a 48-41 loss in a Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference game at Alumni Hall. Fairfield (13-5 overall, 3-4 MAAC) took a 43-29 lead with 10:02 to play on a Stephanie Cziria lay-up, but Loyola held the Stags scoreless until Sabra Wrice made 1-of-2 free throws with 2:51 remaining. Wrice's free throw gave Fairfield a 44-36 advantage, but Siobhan Prior made a jumper on the right side 29 seconds later to pull Loyola within six, 44-38. Loyola (8-9, 3-4) executed its press well on the inbound pass, and Meredith Tolley poked the ball out of Shireyll Moore's hands at halfcourt. Kaitlin Grant picked up the loose ball, dribbled 35 feet to the basket and made a right-handed lay-up. She was fouled by Megan Caskin and hit the free throw to trim Fairfield's lead to three, 44-41. On the Stags next possession, Fairfield missed two field goal attempts, and Loyola got the ball when it went out of bounds in front of the Stags bench. With the shot clock winding down, Caskin tied up Prior and forced a jump ball. The alternating possession went to the Stags with 1:02 left. Fairfield missed three shots, but they rebounded all of the attempts, and Baendu Lowenthal finally made a lay-up with 21 ticks left to put Fairfield ahead by five. Lauren Groom made two free throws with 11 seconds left to provide the final possession. Loyola made just 5-of-23 shots in the first half (21.7-percent) and trailed the Stags by 11, 29-18, at the break. The Greyhounds did not shoot much better in the second half (27.8-percent), but they held Fairfield to just 29.6-percent from the field after halftime. Loyola also forced 17 Stags turnovers, 11 in the second half.

Game Eighteen • January 25, 2008
Iona 73, Loyola 68
New Rochelle, N.Y. • Hynes Athletic Center

Siobhan Prior, Kaitlin Grant and Meredith Tolley each recorded career-highs in points, but a second-half Iona run was too much for the Loyola to overcome in a 73-68 Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference loss at the Hynes Athletic Center. The Gales led 32-28 at the half, but they went on a 21-7 run to take a 53-35 lead with 11:42 remaining. While Iona made 10-of-16 shots during that stretch, the Greyhounds were just 3-of-11 in the second half's first 10 minutes. Loyola went on a run of its own - 23-6 - to pull within two, 65-63, with 1:22 left on two Candice Walker free throws. Loyola trailed Fairfield by as many as 17 in the second half on Sunday, January 20, but the Greyhounds pulled within three of that game before eventually losing. Grant scored eight-straight points, going 6-of-6 from the free throw line in the process to pull the Greyhounds within nine, 59-50. During that 1-minute, 32-second stretch, Loyola forced three Iona turnovers and held the Gales without a field goal attempt. An offensive rebound and putback by Iona's Anna McLean gave the Gaels a 61-50 advantage, but Tolley scored on Loyola next possession to reduce Iona's lead to nine. Lauren Defalco made 1-of-2 free throws with 4:25 left to give Iona its final 10-point lead of the game. Prior made a driving lay-up off the glass, and Alex Berlin was 1-of-2 from the free throw line, cutting Iona's advantage to seven, 62-55. Walker made two more free throws with 1:22 remaining to cut the deficit to two. Iona, however, would make 6-of-6 free throws, and Naeemah Ricketts hit a jumper, from that point to seal the win.

Marist 85, Loyola 59
Poughkeepsie, N.Y. • McCann Center

Marist shot 51.6-percent from the field and made 10-of-17 3-pointers to beat Loyola, 85-59, Sunday afternoon at the McCann Center in front of 2,128 fans. Rachele Fitz made all eight of her shots in the first half, and finished 11-of-16 from the field. She also was 4-of-4 from the free-throw line to finish with a game-high 27 points. Julianne Viani was 7-of-11 and made 4-of-6 3-pointers to scored 19. Marist converted on eight of its first 13 shots to take a 20-4 lead after the second media timeout when Viani made a lay-up and free throw at the 11:45 mark. After a Candice Walker lay-up for Loyola, Lynzee Johnson came off the bench to hit a 3-pointer, giving the Red Foxes another 17-point advantage with 11:16 to go. Loyola cut Marist's lead to nine on a Meredith Tolley lay-up with just over eight minutes to go before halftime, but the Red Foxes went ahead by 15, 40-25, on a Nikki Flores jumper with 4:27 remaining. The Greyhounds battled back, finishing the half on a 10-2 run behind five Vika Sholokhova points to cut Marist's advantage to 42-35 at the break. Marist struck right away to start the second half, as Erica Allenspach drained a 3-pointer from the right side. Tolley responded with a 3-pointer of her own, and the teams traded 2-point baskets on alternating possessions after that. Beginning with two Fitz free throws at the 18:10 mark, Marist scored 17 of the game's next 19 points to build its lead to 64-42 on a Flores three with 11:23 left. Loyola would draw as close as 20 on a Tynisha Davis jumper, but the Red Foxes scored the next eight points after that basket to lead by 28.

Game Twenty • January 31, 2008
Iona 90, Loyola 68
Baltimore, Md. • Reitz Arena

Anda Ivkovic scored 17 points off the bench in 12 minutes and Anna McLean matched her by making all eight of her shots from the floor and added nine rebounds to lead Iona to a 90-68 MAAC road win over Loyola Thursday night at Reitz Arena. The Gaels broke a 4-4 tie by scoring 21 of the game's next 28 points to take a 25-11 lead with 11 minutes remaining on a Shezaray Ricketts layup and Iona would not be headed. Loyola would get the lead below double figures just one time before halftime and Iona led 48-34 at the intermission as nine of the 10 Gaels seeing time scored led by Ivkovic's nine points. Iona forced 14 Greyhounds turnovers leading to 16 Gaels points. Loyola got within 12 points at 53-41 with 17:20 left in the game, but Iona used a 17-9 run to push the lead back to 20 at 70-50 with 9:51 remaining behind Ivkovic's three-point play. The Gaels held their largest lead at 90-65 when Jen Ritz came off the bench to sink a three-pointer with 75 ticks remaining. In addition to the 34 points split between Ivkovic and McLean, Thazina Cook scored 12 with eight rebounds and Lauren Defalco added 10. The Gaels shot 56 percent in the second half (14-25) and scored 22 second-chance points.

Game Twenty-One • February 3, 2008
Saint Peter's 62, Loyola 57
Jersey City, N.J. • Yanitelli Center

Loyola cut Saint Peter's lead to as few as two, but the Greyhounds could not draw closer than that in the final three minutes, as the Peahens held them off for a 62-57 Metro Atlantic Athletics Conference victory on Sunday afternoon at the Yanitelli Center. Saint Peter's led by nine, 51-42, with 9:12 to play on a 3-pointer from the right side by Tania Kennedy. Loyola, however, held the Peahens two just four points, all by Lauma Reke, over the next six minutes. Erica DiClemente stole a Natasha Morris pass and went coast-to-coast, finishing with a layup to pull Loyola within two, 55-53, with 2:59 remaining. Reke, however, made a layup on Saint Peter's ensuing possession to put the Peahens back up four. The Greyhounds committed turnovers on their next two possessions, and Johnell Burts made two free throws with 27 ticks left to put the Peahens back up six, 59-53. Reke finished with a game-high 17 points, 11 in the second half. Morris added 12, and Kennedy had 10 for the Peahens. Loyola made just two of its first 10 shots, and Saint Peter's led by 11, 17-6, after eight minutes. Tynisha Davis scored five, and Kaitlin Grant had four, as Loyola trimmed its deficit to four in just two minutes. Saint Peter's went back up by eight on a Reke 3-pointer with 1:48 left in the first half, but Grant sank two free throws, and DiClemente pulled down an offensive rebound and made a lay-up to cut the Peahens' halftime lead to 31-27. Grant led the Greyhounds with 12 points, while Siobhan Prior had 11. DiClemente and Davis each scored eight.

Game Twenty-Two • February 8, 2008
Loyola 62, Manhattan 61
Riverdale, N.Y. • Draddy Gymnasium

Tynisha Davis took a pass from Vika Sholokhova and laid the ball off the backboard with 3.4 seconds left to give the Greyhounds a 62-61 victory over host Manhattan on Friday afternoon in Draddy Gymnasium. The win snapped a six-game losing streak for the Greyhounds. It was a head's up play by Davis that gave Loyola a chance for the go-ahead basket. Sholokhova missed a baseline jumper with just over 10 seconds left, and Manhattan's Gabrielle Cottrell came down with the rebound. Davis, however, tied the ball up to cause a jump ball, and the possession arrow was in Loyola's favor with 9.7 seconds left. Sholokhova took a pass from Meredith Tolley on the right block and backed down her defender. While turning to the basket, she found Davis cutting from the left side. Her pass hit Davis in stride, and the senior laid the shot off the glass. The Jaspers (13-10, 8-4) had a final opportunity to win, as Joann Nwafili caught Cottrell's inbound pass at midcourt. She turned and dribbled past the free throw line, but her lay-up attempt went off the rim. There were 14 lead changes in the game, and neither team led by more than six points. The Greyhounds took a 58-52 lead with 4:08 remaining on a Sholokhova 3-pointer from the left side. Manhattan, however, scored the next seven points and went ahead 59-58 with 1:07 left on a turnaround jumper by Caitlin Flood. On the offensive end for Loyola, Candice Walker created space with a jump-stop off the dribble and banked a shot off the glass to give the Greyhounds a 60-59 advantage with 45 ticks left. The Jaspers went back to Flood on the offensive end, and their leading scorer made another move in the post and had a lay-up to give them a 62-61 lead with just over 32 seconds left, setting up the final sequence.

Game Twenty-Three • February 10, 2008
Loyola 75, Saint Peter's 72
Baltimore, Md. • Reitz Arena

Loyola built a 20-point second-half lead and held off a Saint Peter's rally to win its second Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference game in a row, 75-72, on Sunday afternoon in front of 1,314 fans at Reitz Arena. Vika Sholokhova scored 17 points and had 10 rebounds off the bench in just 20 minutes, and Siobhan Prior and Candice Walker each scored 15 for the Greyhounds. Loyola scored the first five points, and 25 of the first 33, of the second half to take a 58-38 lead on two Candice Walker free throws with 9:47 to play. Johnell Burts, who finished with a game-high 20 points, scored seven of the Peahens' next 11 points, cutting Loyola's advantage to 60-49 with 6:25 remaining. Meredith Tolley made a short-corner jumper on Loyola's next possession, pushing the lead back to 13, but Burts made a free throw, Tania Kennedy scored on a lay-up, and Lauma Reke hit two free throws to pull Saint Peter's back within single digits, 62-54, with 4:45 remaining. Prior made two free throws with 44 ticks left, but Burts hit a 22-foot 3-pointer from the right side on the Peahens' next possession to close the deficit to six, 73-67. Sholokhova missed two free throws on Loyola's next possession, and Kennedy made a three from the top of the perimeter to cut the Greyhounds' lead to 73-70 with 33 seconds remaining. Prior converted two more free throws with 29 seconds on the clock, but Burts pulled Saint Peter's back within three, 75-72, on a lay-up with nine-second left. On the ensuing possession, Prior missed two free throws, but Kennedy's 3-pointer with two seconds left rattled out to secure Loyola's victory. Loyola shot over 45-percent (45.1-percent, 23-of-51) for the second game in a row and just the third time this season. The 75 points put up by the Greyhounds were the most they've scored this year.

Game Twenty-Four • February 15, 2008
Loyola 55, Rider 49
Baltimore, Md. • Reitz Arena

Erica DiClemente came off the bench to score 15 points on 5-of-7 from the field, and Loyola won its third game in a row, defeating Rider, 55-49. Loyola overcame a poor shooting performance, making just 14-of-41 shots (34.1-percent) by hitting 25-of-35 free throws. Led by DiClemente's game-high tally, the Greyhounds had 29 points off their bench. Loyola held its opponent scoreless for the first 6:30 of the game for the second contest in a row, but the Greyhounds did not fare well from the field early in the game either. Candice Walker scored the game's first points at the 16:18 mark on two free throws. Loyola was a perfect 8-of-8 from the free throw line in the first eight minutes, but neither team made a field goal until Rider's Amanda Sepulveda drilled a 3-pointer with 12:13 to play in the first half. Loyola grabbed a 13-point advantage, 19-6, with 6:19 left on a Siobhan Prior jumper, but Rider trimmed the advantage back to six, 21-15, with just under three minutes left before halftime on another Sepulveda three. Loyola, however, scored the next seven points, capped by an off-balance DiClemente 3-pointer with the shot clock expiring. Janelle Henderson's 3-pointer pulled the Broncs within 109, 28-18, at halftime. Henderson made two more threes in the first four minutes of the second half, cutting Loyola's lead to two, 30-28, with 16:35 left. Two free throws by Wood, a Meredith Tolley layup and a DiClemente three, however, extended the Greyhounds advantage back to nine, 39-30, with 12:10 remaining. Rider pulled as close as four on two occasions, as Meyers made a three with just under nine minutes left and on a Sepulveda three with 32 ticks remaining, but two Sholokhova free throws with 29 seconds left sealed the win.

VISITORS: Rider 7-18, 2-12 MAAC

Game Twenty-Five • February 18, 2008
Loyola 63, Siena 56 (OT)
Loudonville, N.Y. • Alumni Recreation Center

Loyola held Siena to just four points in overtime, and seniors Tynisha Davis, Vika Sholokhova and Meghan Wood led the Greyhounds to a 63-56 Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference victory at the Saints' Athletics Recreation Center. Davis scored four of her team-high 15 points in the extra period, and Sholokhova and Wood played solid post defense against the Saints in the final five minutes. Siena (9-16 overall, 5-10 MAAC) made just 2-of-8 shots and committed three turnovers in overtime. Loyola (12-13, 7-8), meanwhile, did not turn the ball over and was 3-of-7 from the field and 4-of-5 from the free throw line. Loyola also forced two Siena turnovers on the Saints' last two possessions of regulation. After Siena's Shondaya Burrell gave the Saints a 54-52 lead less than 15 seconds into overtime, Wood kicked a pass out to Siobhan Prior, who made her third 3-pointer of the game from the top of the perimeter. Melissa Manzer and Laura Menty missed layups on the Saints' next possession, and Heather Stec traveled after an offensive rebound. Davis took a handoff at the free-throw line, and drove to the basket for a lay-up that put Loyola ahead, 57-54, with 2:40 to play. Following a turnover by Manzer, Sholokhova threaded a bounce pass through Siena's interior defense to a cutting Davis, who laid the ball off the glass, extending Loyola's advantage to five. Manzer made a pull-up jumper on Siena's ensuing possession to close the gap to 59-56 with 1:42 remaining. The teams traded four possessions back-and-forth without scoring before Prior was fouled in the open court with 19 seconds left. She hit both free throws to put Loyola ahead five, 61-56. Manzwer missed two 3-pointers on Siena's next possession, and Sholokhova was fouled on the rebound. She made both free throws, for her only points of the game, to provide the final difference.

Game Twenty-Six • February 22, 2008
Niagara 73, Loyola 63
Niagara Univ., N.Y. • Gallagher Center

Niagara's Sarah Wilson scored 28 points and had 14 rebounds, as the Purple Eagles led by as many as 22 and defeated Loyola, 73-63, Friday night at the Gallagher Center in a Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference game. The loss snapped the Greyhounds four-game winning streak. Meredith Tolley scored a career-high 20 points in the loss for Loyola. Loyola's Candice Walker tied the score at 16-16 on a lay-up with 6:08 to play in the first half, but Cathy Rutter and Jennifer McNamee made back-to-back threes, giving the Purple Eagles a six-point advantage. Wilson made consecutive jumpers to stake Niagara to its first double-digit lead of the game. Walker stole the ball from Michelle Manfredi and converted it to a fast-break layup, trimming the deficit to eight with 1:04 remaining, but that was the closest the Greyhounds would get for the remainder of the game. Niagara scored 13 of the second half's first 17 points to take a 26-25 lead with 16:45 remaining. The Purple Eagles stretched their lead to on a McNamee 3-pointer, one of their 10 in the game, with just over 11 minutes left. Loyola, however, trimmed its deficit to 10, with a 10-0 run of its own. Freshmen did all of the scoring for the Greyhounds during that stretch, as Tolley had four, Alex Berlin had three, as did Melissa Bangay. In addition to Tolley's career-high, Bangay and Berlin also recorded career-highs with seven and six points, respectively. Tolley had six rebounds to lead the team, and Bangay pulled down a career-high four.

Game Twenty-Seven • February 24, 2008
Canisius 56, Loyola 53 (OT)
Buffalo, N.Y. • Koessler Athletic Center

Siobhan Prior made a 30-foot 3-pointer at the buzzer in regulation, sending the game to overtime, but host Canisius made 9-of-14 free throws for a 59-56 win over Loyola on Sunday afternoon in a Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference game at the Koessler Athletic Center. Micayla Drysdale made two free throws with just over five seconds to play in regulation, giving the Golden Griffins a 48-45 lead. Vika Sholokhova inbounded the ball to Meghan Wood in the corner, and Wood handed the ball off to Prior. She dribbled through traffic down the right sideline and pulled up in front of Loyola's bench, swishing a three as the buzzer sounded to tie the score. In the overtime period, Sholokhova made a 3-pointer to put Loyola ahead, 51-50 with 4:18 to play, but Brittnae Russell made two free throws to give Canisius the advantage on its next possession. Laura Buetow made 1-of-2 from the line after Candice Walker missed a three, but Prior then hit a pull-up jumper with 2:01 remaining, tying the game at 53-53. Canisius, which was just 1-of-4 from the field in the extra period, made 4-of-6 free throws on its next three possessions to take a 57-53 advantage with 33 seconds left. Devon Carey made 1-of-2 from the line of the Greyhounds next possession to narrow the Golden Griffins' advantage to three. Loyola fouled Russell on the inbounds play following Carey's made free throw, and the Canisius sophomore guard missed both attempts. Prior missed a three from the right side, but Meredith Tolley rebounded the miss and laid it off the glass to pull Loyola within one, 57-56 with just over second second left. Drysdale, who was 6-of-6 from the line in the game and led all scorers with 19 points, made both free throws with six seconds remaining to provide the final difference. A Sholokhova three at the buzzer in overtime fell short.

VISITORS: Loyola (Md.) 12-15, 7-10 MAAC
