

recently graduated Denise Griffith by 54 rebounds.

Atzinger, a junior guard, averaged 3.5 points last year in 23 games.

Incumbent Burks will start at guard. Incumbents Owens, Baines, and Atzinger are not so secure.

"In the past, we have always had a drop-off in talent after our five starters," Hall said. "Now, we have some people who are going to push our starters—real hard!"

Some of the pushing is being done by sharpshooting forward Robin Board, who wound up sharing playing time with Owens toward the end of the year. Look for valuable reserve center Becky Pope to figure in there someplace. Pope averaged 4.2 points and 3.8 rebounds last year, and enters the new season fifth on the career rebounding list and third in career field goal percentage.

Talented sophomores Liz Egger (3.6 points and 2.2 rebounds) and Dierdre Stunson (3.2 points and 3.2 rebounds) saw considerable action last year.

There is also the matter of four outstanding freshmen recruits—Regina Carroll, Shelia Foree, Janet McNew, and Rosalind "Porky" Smith—who will do some pushing.

"This is probably the best recruiting year we've ever had," says Hall.

The schedule is not an easy one. Prior to the opening of the KW/C tournament in March, Louisville will tackle the likes of Memphis State (ranked 15th in the nation last year), South Carolina (ranked 18th), Clemson (20th), Southern Illinois (Top 20, honorable mention) and Dayton (ranked second in the nation among Division II colleges). "My goal, as always, is to win 20 games and win the state tournament," said Hall.

The returning experience, valuable reserves, and a talented freshmen crop shapes into a squad of 13. It should be enough to get Terry Hall her wins at the right time.
