On The Rise...

After advancing to the Conference USA semi-finals in 2006, head coach Brooks Monaghan and the Lady Tigers are ready to make a deep impact in the upcoming 2007 fall season. Memphis had another double digit win season in 2006 and hopes to go deeper in the C-USA Tournament this year. With 14 newcomers, Monaghan hopes that they will have another winning season.

The Lady Tigers keep 16 of 28 letterwinners from the 2006 campaign. Memphis will see a lot of youth on the field as they return six sophomores and welcome 14 freshmen, as they all look to gain experience and playing time this upcoming fall.

"Our goal this season is to win Conference USA and advance to the NCAA Tournament. We are looking to win the conference this year," said Monaghan. "We will be going to the bench a lot this season with the addition of a very talented freshman group. We do not have a lot of weaknesses in our group with our returning lineup. Our biggest strength is the depth that we have."

F O R W A R D S

"The 4-3-3 is the system that we play. It is what we recruited for," said Monaghan. "We want our opponents to adapt to us. At the same time, we still want to be able to be versatile in the system

AN ELITE SCHEDULE

The Lady Tigers will compete against three NCAA Tournament teams in the 2007 season. A look at the NCAA teams with their 2006 record.

SMU.....	17-5-1/Second Round
UAB.....	8-12-1/First Round

Junior Kylie Hayes will be the only returning forward that played in all 20 games last season, starting 15. She leads the returning players in goals with 12 and assists with five. If her first two years at Memphis are a sign of what she can do, the Lady Tigers will be in good shape come conference tournament time. She will be a key player in the Lady Tiger offense.

"We will be looking for Kylie Hayes to lead our offense. She's had two tremendous seasons and has scored a lot of goals. Now that Shoko is gone she will emerge as the go to player," said Monaghan. "Kylie is very excited to put the team on her shoulders. She will not have an experienced counterpart like the previous years, but she is ready."

Senior Harumi Someya played well in her first year with the team and will be an important part of the offense, while sophomore Victoria Dalton will look to contribute also.

"Harumi is a very talented player who had a good spring, and Dalton, who moved from midfield to up top, also had an incredible spring," said Monaghan.

Memphis brings in six newcomers in Ashley Berra, Aly Hancock, Anna Laskarzewska, Melissa Smith, Vendula Strnadova and Krista Turner, with all looking to make an immediate impact.

"We had several players who will come in and compete up top for us," said Monaghan.

The Lady Tigers will be deep up front and they hope that will help in a run for the C-USA title.

M I D F I E L D E R S

The midfield will see leadership from 2006 Conference USA Newcomer of the Year, Maiko Higashiyama. Higashiyama started 15 of the 18 games in which she played last season, scoring six goals and one assist.

"Maiko had an average first half of the season and really came on during conference play. She struggled a little bit this spring but we hope she gets back on track," said Monaghan. "The players around her are very talented also, and as a whole we will be very deep in that area of the field. The midfielders will play a huge role in the amount of success that we have this season."

Junior Emiko Schwab played in every match in the 2006 season, offering an impressive appearance in the midfield. Look for her to be more of an offensive threat this upcoming season. Sophomores Laura Laufenberg and Brittany Baldwin round out the returnees that will dominate the middle.

"I have a lot of confidence in our midfield players. Emiko Schwab, Laura Laufenberg and Brittany Baldwin are all very talented and are the type of players you want in the midfield. We have some very good incoming players to support the group," said Monaghan.

Newcomers Brittany Hance, Amanda Olszewski and Katie Sabet will join the midfield squad. Look for one of these freshmen to have a breakthrough season for the Lady Tigers.

Junior Kate Murphy will take on a huge leadership role as she leads the defense in 2007. Last season, Murphy played a critical role on defense as she played in 19 matches starting 17.

"Kate was our most consistent player in the back last season. She is a natural leader, a rock back there, and leads by example. She's every coach's dream. She comes out, works hard every single day and gives you a consistent performance when she steps on the field."

Murphy will be joined by seniors Elaine Sedgewick, Caroline Barrett and Halley Jo Sullivan, junior Maggie Leone and sophomores Roma Rozanska, Lia Fannin, and Eliza Wellford, all of whom will all be competing for playing time this upcoming season.

"We're excited about moving Eliza to the back. She gave us some quality minutes up top last year and did very well. We moved her back to defense, and with the amount of speed that she brings to the position, we feel that she's going to compete as an outside back from the get-go," said Monaghan. "We're excited with her move from up front to the back and feel that position best suits her and our team."

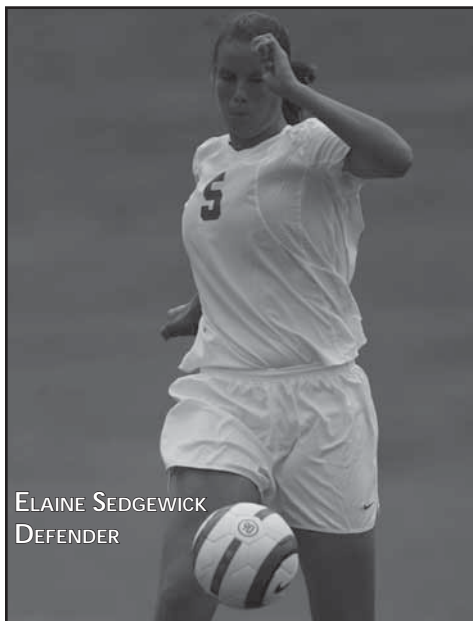

The Lady Tigers will add four newcomers to the backfield with freshmen Kelsey Bakker, Tarah Kerr, Stacey Radcliffe and Laurel Shute all looking to play integral parts on defense.

"Caroline Barrett and Halley Jo Sullivan are veterans that have played tons of minutes for us. Roma Rozanska is quickly recovering from a torn ACL injury so we will have to wait and see on how she recovers. Depending on her recovery time, you may see a freshman starting in the back for us. I'm 100 percent comfortable with the players coming in and we know they can do the job," said Monaghan.

GOALKEEPERS

Senior goalkeeper Isabel Briones returns in her final year to defend the net. Briones started in all 20 games in the 2006 season, posting a remarkable eight shutouts. With newcomer Elise Kuhar-Pitters joining the squad, the net should be in good hands.

"Isabel has been very good for us, and we have very high expectations for her to continue the success that she has had over the years. Elise is an excellent goalkeeper who will push Isabel for playing time. There are no guaranteed spots; the best players will play."

SCHEDULE

In 2007, the Lady Tigers will face some fierce foes on the slate competing with three NCAA Tournament teams and five home matches against Conference USA. Memphis starts the preseason with matches against Auburn and Western Kentucky. They travel to Alabama for the Samford Bulldog Classic to go up against LSU and Samford. After that, the Lady Tigers return to Alabama to play against the Crimson Tide, before returning home for four-straight games against non-conference opponents UT-Martin, Ole Miss, Mississippi State, Missouri State.

Memphis will open up Conference USA play with a home opener at Mike Rose Stadium on Oct. 5 against arch-rival UAB. Brooks Monaghan has been a part of the University of Memphis women's soccer program since its inception in 1995 and has played a major role in its rise over the last seven seasons. Now, entering his eighth year as a head coach, Monaghan has not only maintained the Lady Tiger program, but has substantially raised the bar of success.

Monaghan took the reins of the program in 2000 after serving for five years as an assistant coach for his predecessor, Les Szabo. Despite taking over a difficult situation, Monaghan has been able to turn the Lady Tiger soccer program into a success.

Over the past three seasons, Monaghan has produced the most successful campaigns in program history, winning 11 matches in 2004 and 2006 and 12 contests in 2005. Those years represent the first time Memphis women's soccer has ever posted consecutive winning records.

Last season, the Lady Tigers ended the year with their highest-ever Conference USA finish and won their first C-USA Tournament match in nine years. Memphis reached the semifinals of the conference tournament for the first time in program history.

In 2005, Monaghan became the longest tenured women's soccer coach in school history. Just the program's second coach, Monaghan surpassed Szabo in 2004 as Memphis' all-time winningest coach with his 35th career win.

Another indicator of Monaghan's success as a coach has been the numerous accolades awarded to his players. In seven seasons, he has had 18 players receive All-Conference USA honors, including seven first team recipients. In 2005, Shoko Mikami was named the C-USA Offensive Player of the Year, making her the first Lady Tiger to receive a conference MVP award.

The Lady Tiger program has also flourished off the field during Monaghan's tenure. Since 2000, the team has never posted a composite grade-point average below 3.0. In the spring of 2007, 15 players finished the semester with a GPA above 3.0. Three Lady Tigers also made the Tiger Academic 30 for having three of the top 30 GPAs of all student-athletes, and two of those players posted a perfect 4.0.

"The most important thing we can do as coaches is try to prepare young people for success later in life," Monaghan said. "Soccer is important to me, and I want to win. However, the foundation of our program is the student-athlete."

When Monaghan took over the program, he was already familiar with the demands of running a successful college soccer program, having enjoyed tremendous success during his playing career at Memphis. The former goalkeeper still holds school records for single-season shutouts (11) and career shutouts (24). He is second to Lady Tiger assistant coach Sebastian Vecchio in career goals-against average (1.40) and single-season goals-against average (0.80). His 298 career saves rank second all-time. He was named first team All-Great Midwest Conference in 1992 after helping lead the Tigers to a share of a conference title. In 1993, he was the Defensive MVP of the league's championship game, helping the Tigers to their first ever NCAA Tournament appearance. His 38 wins at goalkeeper still stand as the school record.

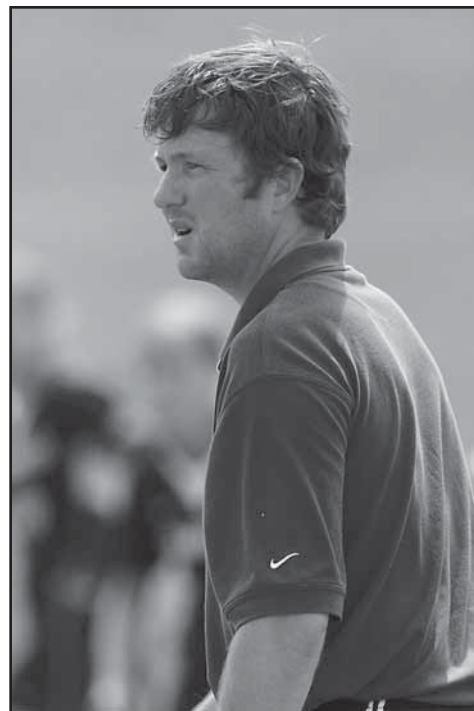

"Making the NCAA Tournament was such a great time for me as a player," Monaghan said. "That is the standard that I want to reach as a coach and that I want my players to strive for."

"To be a part of Memphis from so many different angles - first as a player, then as an assistant and now as a head coach - has been wonderful. I grew up here, and I've always loved the city and the school. Now I get to be a part of building a winning program at my alma mater and that's a dream come true."

A former prep standout at Christian Brothers High School in Memphis, Monaghan's collegiate play helped earn him a spot on the U.S. U-20 National Squad. Monaghan also played professionally, spending two seasons with the New Orleans Gamblers from 1995-96 and tone with the Memphis Express in 2002.

A Memphis native, Monaghan received a bachelor's degree in business management from Memphis in 1994. He is single and resides in Memphis.

COACHES

JODI GRANT
assistant coach—7th season
university of memphis—1999

Keeping an assistant coach with the talent of Jodi Grant is almost impossible, but Memphis has been fortunate enough to have Grant as a part of the women's soccer program since its inception.

"This program would not be where it is without Jodi," Monaghan said. "I look at her as a co-head coach. Jodi is irreplaceable, and she deserves as much credit as I do for our success."

A native of Sherwood Park, Alberta, Canada, Grant is entering her seventh season as a full-time assistant coach with the Lady Tigers. Prior to that, she served as a graduate assistant coach for one season and as a volunteer assistant coach for a year.

Grant first came to the University of Memphis as a player on the inaugural Lady Tiger squad in 1995.

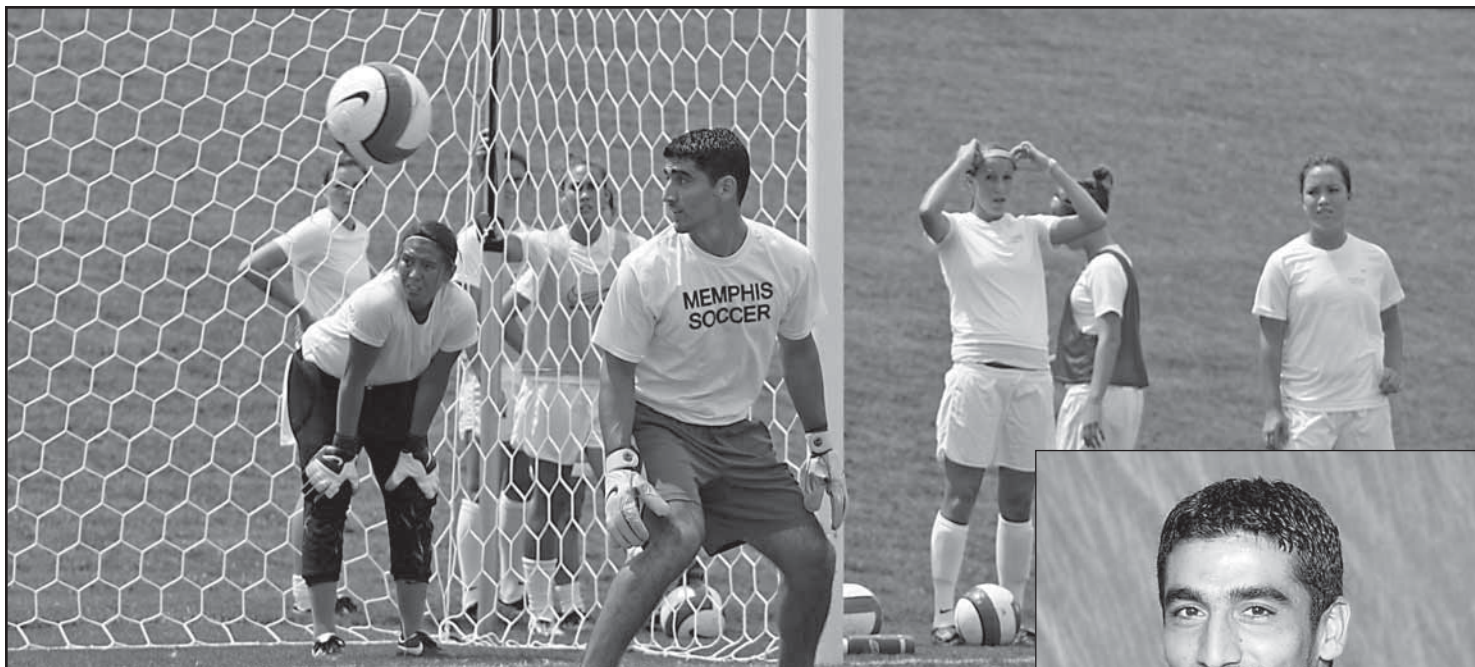

She played four seasons, and in 79 career games, compiled school records still standing today. Grant holds the Memphis record for career goals (33), points (92) and shots (178). She also is the co-holder of the record for most assists in a game (4) and is second all-time in school history in assists in a season (11) and career (26). A third team All-Conference USA selection as a junior in 1997, Grant was also named to the C-USA All-Freshman Team in 1995.

At the conclusion of her playing days, Grant spent one year as a volunteer assistant coach in 1999 and another as a graduate assistant coach in 2000, helping the program in the transition from former head coach Les Szabo to Monaghan. She was named a full-time assistant coach prior to the 2001 season.

In addition to helping Monaghan with on-field coaching duties and recruiting, Grant has also played an instrumental part in the Lady Tigers' success in the classroom. The last three seasons, Memphis was the recipient of the women's soccer team academic award from the National Soccer Coaches Association of America, and this spring had 15 players finish with a grade-point average above 3.0. The Lady Tigers also had three players garner individual academic awards in 2006.

"Jodi is a great tactician on the field, but she's just as good in teaching the kids off the field," Monaghan said. "She is great role model for all of the players and really understands where they are coming from."

Grant earned her undergraduate degree in exercise and sport science from Memphis in 1999 and also earned a master's degree in student personnel services from the university in 2002. Formerly Jodi Fisher, she married Memphis men's soccer head coach Richie Grant in May 2006.

SEBASTIAN VECCHIO

assistant coach—3rd season
university of memphis—2005

After completing his playing career with the Memphis men's soccer team in 2004, Sebastian Vecchio stepped over into the coaching ranks with the women's program, joining the Lady Tigers as an assistant coach in charge of goalkeepers.

In 2005, his first season with the women's team, Vecchio helped mold sophomore goalkeeper Isabel Briones into one of Conference USA's best netminders. Under Vecchio's tutelage, Briones has been named the Conference USA Defensive Player of the Week three times.

Vecchio experienced the same success in 2006, as Briones set a school record for shutouts in a single season.

"Sebastian was a great addition to our staff," said head coach Brooks Monaghan. "He has helped Isabel Briones take her game to the next level. He's a great coach in terms of teaching and fundamentals."

As a player, Vecchio was a two-year starter for the Tigers after transferring to Memphis from NAIA Mid-Continent College in Kentucky. He allowed just 12 goals in over 1,500 minutes of play during the 2004 season for a 0.69 goals-against average en route to being named the Conference USA Defensive Player of the Year and an All-C-USA first teamer. The native of Buenos Aires, Argentina, ended his Tiger career with a 1.02 career goals-against average and 21 wins in two seasons. Prior to his collegiate playing days, Vecchio played with the Argentina U-16 National Team.

Vecchio earned his bachelor's degree in marketing from Memphis in 2005. He is single and resides in Memphis.

2007 SPRING REVIEW

The Memphis women's soccer team has hopes of a promising year after the conclusion of the 2007 spring schedule.

The Lady Tigers went 5-2-3 in the spring season, with their only losses coming 3-1 against Indiana and 3-1 against Oklahoma State, which ranked in the top 10 in the nation in 2007 and was an NCAA Tournament participant. Memphis tied NCAA Tournament participant Vanderbilt 0-0. The Lady Tigers topped the Irish Prep school, Colaiste Ide, in an exhibition, winning by a decisive 7-1 margin, and rolled to a 7-2 victory over West Florida.

"Overall, I thought that we had a good spring season. There was a little bit of inconsistency due to the youth of our team and lack of leadership. We graduated a few of our leaders, so it took time for the underclassmen to step up. We had good competition this spring season and the players worked hard," said coach Brooks Monaghan.

Despite the loss of senior forward Shoko Mikami, Memphis showed great hope for the upcoming fall season. The Lady Tigers were resourceful in their offensive attacks as nine different players scored goals in the spring season. Senior Harumi Someya and junior Kylie Hayes led the attack as Memphis scored 30 goals, while holding their competitors to less than half of that total.

Last season, Memphis won its first Conference USA Tournament game in nine years, defeating East Carolina 2-1 in double overtime to take home the win. The Lady Tigers fell short in the second round 4-2 to UAB in a penalty-kick shootout. Memphis' record on the year was 11-6-3, the second-most wins in program history and tying the team's total from 2004.

With a new season approaching, the Lady Tigers look to go deeper into the conference tournament and increase their win total

"Last fall was a good season," said Monaghan. "Losing a game in a shootout is never good; it was a little disappointing. At the end of the day it was the best finish for the women's soccer program in history, finishing third. We are making great progress. Another year with the group of players we have returning will put us right on the path we need to be."

Climbing the Ladder

The 2006 Memphis women's soccer season will likely go down as a stamp of validation on the growth of the program. Led again by senior forward Shoko Mikami, the Lady Tigers posted an 11-6-3 record and went 6-2-1 in Conference USA, finishing with double-digit wins for a third-straight season and earning their highest-ever finish in conference play. Memphis picked up its first C-USA Tournament win in nine years with a thrilling 2-1 double overtime victory against East Carolina.

"This was a season that will probably raise expectations for our program from here on," said Memphis head coach Brooks Monaghan. "We were able to go to the conference tournament and pick up a big win. Now our goals for next year will be even higher."

The Lady Tigers were stellar on both ends of the field. Memphis registered 48 goals on the season, with Mikami and sophomore Kylie Hayes each scoring 12. Defensively, the Lady Tigers posted team records with eight shutouts and a 1.07 goals-against average. Sophomore Kate Murphy was named second team All-Conference USA as a defender.

Memphis opened the season with expectations at an all-time high, and Soccer Buzz Magazine ranked the Lady Tigers 13th in the Central Region in its preseason poll. Monaghan's squad looked as good as advertised in its opening weekend with an offensive explosion during a two-game road trip at Tennessee Tech and UT Martin. The Lady Tigers cruised to easy 8-0 and 7-0 wins, respectively. Mikami scored hat tricks in both matches, finishing the weekend with 13 points while Hayes scored five goals and ended the weekend with 11 points.

Despite the opening weekend fireworks, the Memphis offense sputtered through much of the non-conference schedule. Despite out-shooting almost every opponent and creating multiple chances in most of their matches, the Lady Tigers were unlucky and unable to find the back of the net in several contests. Memphis dropped a pair of heartbreaking matches in the 2006 Nike Lady Tiger Fall Invitational, falling 2-0 to an Alabama team that it out shot 21-7 and losing 1-0 to a talented Samford squad.

The Lady Tigers battled back to split an SEC road trip the next weekend, beating Mississippi State 2-0 before falling 3-0 to Ole Miss.

Memphis picked up its first home win of the season, blanking a 2006 NCAA Tournament South East Missouri State team 2-0 at the Mike Rose Soccer Complex. After another tough loss to Arkansas, the Lady Tigers fought Missouri State to a 0-0 tie to take a 4-4-2 record into conference play.

"We played a tough non-conference schedule, and we struggled to find the goal in some of those matches," Monaghan said. "I think we took some knocks that really prepared us for the conference season. We never questioned what we were capable of, and I was proud of the team for the way they responded once we got to conference play."

It was during the conference schedule that the Lady Tigers came together. Following a 1-1 tie with East Carolina, Memphis exploded on Marshall to the tune of eight goals. That set the stage for the Lady Tigers to go on a three-match winning streak that included an impressive road win against UCF and a 4-0 drubbing of Southern Miss.

After dropping consecutive road matches against two of the league's top teams in Colorado College and UTEP, Memphis fought back once again to win its final three matches and take the No. 3 seed heading into the C-USA Tournament.

In the first round of the conference tournament, the Lady Tigers faced the same East Carolina squad they tied to open the C-USA season. The rematch showed just how even the two squads were. After an early goal by ECU, Memphis forward Geneil Newbern scored to tie the match at 1-1. The teams stayed even until double overtime, when Halley Jo Sullivan found Hayes in the box to give Memphis its first conference tournament win under Monaghan. The Lady Tigers came precariously close to making their first-ever conference championship match, but fell to eventual tournament champion UAB 4-3 on penalty kicks in the semifinals.

"I'm very pleased overall with the way the season went," Monaghan said. "It's a little disappointing because we were so close to the NCAA Tournament. As a whole, I think it was step in the right direction and gives us something to build for next year."

SAYING GOODBYE

Memphis said goodbye to four seniors in 2006. Nicky McLeod and midfielder Melissa Savage ended their careers among the most active players in school history, playing in 74 and 76 matches, respectively during their careers. Geneil Newbern was only with the Lady Tigers for one season, but dazzled fans with her athleticism and ball handling skills. The Georgia transfer finished the season third on the team in goals (7) and points (16).

"Each one of our seniors were here for a different amount of time, but all of them have contributed tremendously to the program," Monaghan said. "Melissa and Nicky both provided phenomenal leadership, and Geneil, even though she was only here for one season, was able to do a lot of things to help us be successful this year."

LEAVING HER MARK

After earning the Conference USA Offensive Player of the Year award in her first full year with the Lady Tigers in 2005, Shoko Mikami proved that she was among not only the best in C-USA, but also the nation in 2006. After a stunning opening weekend that saw her score six goals and total 13 points, Mikami was named the Conference USA Offensive Player of the Week for the second time in her career. More impressively, the senior was named the National Soccer Coaches Association of America/Fox Soccer Channel Female Player of the Week. The Chiba, Japan, native was also named to the Soccer Buzz and Soccer America National Teams of the Week.

Mikami ended the season with 12 goals, eight assists and 32 points. She led C-USA in points during the regular season for a second-straight year, was second in goals and third in assists. She was named first team All-Conference USA and finished her career with 28 goals, 21 assists and 77 points, placing her second in goals and points and third in assists on the Memphis career lists.

"It's tough to even explain what Shoko has done for our program both on and off the field," Monaghan said. "She's absolutely irreplaceable, and her talent and unselfishness are hard to find."

ON HER WAY

With two years remaining in her Lady Tiger career, forward Kylie Hayes is on pace to smash several of Memphis' offensive records. Hayes scored five goals and notched an assist in the first two matches of 2006 and ended the season with 12 goals, six assists and 30 points. The Piqua, Ohio, native now ranks third on the career goals (26) list and fourth on the points list (63). She needs just seven goals and 36 points to pass assistant coach Jodi Grant for the all-time lead in both categories.

LITTLE MAIKO MAKES A BIG SPLASH

At just five-feet tall, Maiko Higashiyama was certainly not the Lady Tigers most intimidating player, but the sophomore transfer showed blinding quickness and became one of the team's top offensive threats in conference play. Higashiyama scored all six of her goals in C-USA matches - including game-winning goals against Marshall, Rice and Houston - en route to the league's Newcomer of the Year award. The Japan native became the first Lady Tiger to ever receive the award.

BRIONES MOVES UP LISTS

With a 3-0 win over Houston, Lady Tiger goalkeeper Isabel Briones moved to No. 1 on Memphis

Briones picked up the 22nd win of career in the Lady Tigers' regular season-ending win against UAB. The win made Briones the all-time winningest keeper in program history. She was also named as a Conference Defensive Player of the Week following a pair of shutouts in Memphis' first two matches.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

Throughout Monaghan's tenure the Lady Tigers have been one of the leading programs on campus academically. In 2006, Memphis players received numerous honors for their scholastic achievements.

Shoko Mikami added to her plethora of awards by becoming the first Lady Tiger to ever be named to a national academic team. The senior was named to the ESPN/CoSIDA Academic All-American second team and District IV first team. In addition, she was voted to the All-Conference USA Academic Team.

Sophomore Kate Murphy also picked up a pair of academic honors. The defender was named C-USA Academic honorable mention as well as to the ESPN/CoSIDA District IV All-Academic second team. Senior Melissa Savage also received conference academic honorable mention honors.
