

MICHIGAN MEN'S SWIMMING AND DIVING
2012 NCAA CHAMPIONSHIPS NOTE PACKET

NCAA CHAMPIONSHIP NOTES

U-M at the NCAA Championships -- The Wolverines have racked up 160 NCAA titles while winning 11 team championships. U-M last won a team championship in 1995, making Michigan the only school to win NCAA Championships under three different coaches -- Matt Mann (6), Gus Stager (4) and Jon Urbanchek (1). Michigan has had a swimmer or diver win a national title at 11 of the last 13 NCAA Championships.

Last Time at the NCAA Championships -- Michigan earned its 11th consecutive top-10 finish when it placed ninth at the 2011 NCAA Championships. Michigan's highest finish under head coach Mike Bottom was at the seventh place at the 2008 and 2009 championships.

Michigan returns six All-American's in Ryan Feeley, Sean Fletcher, Sean Ryan, Dan Madwed, Miguel Ortiz, and Kyle Whitaker. Whitaker earned a runner-up finish in the 400-yard individual medley, while Madwed took third in the 100-yard butterfly to highlight U-M's individual finishers at the championships. In addition, U-M's 400-yard freestyle relay earned All-America status for the second time under Bottom with a seventh-place finish after taking fifth at the 2010 championships. Three of the four members of the relay return in Madwed, Fletcher and Miguel Ortiz.

400 Individual Michigan -- A Wolverine has won four of the last five 400-yard individual medley national championships. Tyler Clary won in 2008, 2009, and 2010, successfully defending a pair of titles won by Alex Vanderkaay (2005-08). Sophomore Kyle Whitaker (Chesterton, Ind./Chesterton) enters the championship as No. 2 seed at the NCAA Championships after winning the Big Ten crown in the event for the second-straight year, and will look to start the streak up once again. Of U-M's eight All-American's last season, six return, as Hassaan Abdel Khalik (800-yard freestyle relay) is taking an Olympic redshirt, while Neal Kennedy (400-yard freestyle relay) graduated.

Gunning for that No. 1 Spot--U-M enters NCAA's seeking its highest finish under Bottom, who has led the squad to a pair of seventh-place finishes in his first two years at U-M, along with a ninth place finish last year. The 14 swimmers heading to the championship is the highest amount of participants during the Mike Bottom era.

ALL-TIME BIG TEN CONFERENCE CHAMPIONS

>> Michigan has won 36 Big Ten swimming and diving team championships — more than any other conference school member — as well as 463 total conference titles. Included in that was a streak of 10 consecutive team titles from 1986-95. After having the streak snapped in 1996, the Wolverines reclaimed the title in 1997, giving them 11 titles in 12 years.

>> Michigan has provided the Big Ten with 16 Swimmers of the Year in the last

19 years: Marcel Wouda (1993); Tom Dolan (1994, '95); Derya Buyukuncu (1996); John Piersma (1997); Tom Malchow (1998); Chris Thompson (1999, 2001); Dan Ketchum (2002); Peter Vanderkaay (2004, '05 and '06); Alex Vanderkaay (co-2008); Tyler Clary (2009, 2010), and Dan Madwed (2012)

>> Michigan has produced 11 Big Ten Freshmen of the Year since 1992: Gustavo Borges (1992); Royce Sharp (1993); Tom Dolan (1994); Jason Lancaster (1995); Chris

Thompson (1998); Tim Siciliano and Jeff Hopwood (1999), Dan Ketchum (2001), Brendan Neligan (2002), Peter Vanderkaay (2003), and Kyle Whitaker (2012)

>> The Wolverines have been guided by superb coaching during their run of Big Ten dominance. In 2008, Bob Bowman was honored as Big Ten Coach of the Year. Former head coach Jon Urbanchek (1982-2004) was honored as the Big Ten Coach of the Year 10 times since the award's inception in 1987.

ALL-TIME NCAA CHAMPIONS

NCAA Team Champions

Michigan boasts the most storied of swimming and diving traditions. In its 88-year history, the Wolverines have captured 11 NCAA national team titles, tying them with Big Ten Conference rival Ohio State for the all-time record. Prior to 1937 when NCAA Championships had not yet become official, Michigan won seven additional NCAA titles for a grand total of 18 — more than any other varsity-level sport at Michigan. Wolverine swimmers and divers have won 160 NCAA titles.

One string not soon to be broken is Michigan's five consecutive NCAA titles in the 800-yard freestyle relay. From 1993-97, no other school claimed such a dominant group of middle-distance swimmers. Michigan recaptured the distance relay title in 2004 with the quartet of Peter Vanderkaay, Davis Tarwater, Andrew Hurd and Dan Ketchum who clocked in with an NCAA and U.S. Open record of 7:01.42 (meters). Wolverines also currently hold three NCAA, American and U.S. Open records: the 500-yard freestyle (Peter Vanderkaay), and the 1,000- and 1,650-yard freestyle (Chris Thompson).

All-America honors are given to the top eight finishers at the NCAA Championships.

MIKE BOTTOM

HEAD COACH • 4TH SEASON

Ten Swimming Coach of the Year as he led Michigan to a record 35th conference title. During his first Big Ten Championships, Bottom's Wolverines built a staggering 308 point lead over the second-place finisher.

In three years under Bottom, 21 different Wolverines have combined to win 34 Big Ten individual and relay titles. Tyler Clary was twice named Big Ten Swimmer of the Year and Swimmer of the Championships and Kyle Whitaker was selected as Rookie of the Championships in 2011.

Perhaps the world's best sprint coach, Bottom coached the top two finishers in the 50-meter freestyle at the 2000 and 2004 Olympic Games, with Hall (USA) and Duje Draganja (Croatia) placing 1-2 in 2004 (Athens) and Anthony Ervin (USA) and Hall tying for the gold medal in 2000 (Sydney). From the 1996-2004

Olympiads, nine of the 18 medals awarded in the 50- and 100-meter freestyle events have been won by Bottom's swimmers. Bottom was also selected as an assistant coach at the 2009 FINA World Championship in Rome during the summer of 2009.

Bottom spent 10 seasons (1997-2007) at California, serving as co-head coach of the men's team alongside Thornton. Prior to moving to Cal, he spent four years as the Southern California men's and women's assistant coach (1994-97), helping the women's team to its first NCAA championship in 1997. Bottom began his collegiate coaching career as an assistant with the Auburn men's and women's squads, coaching with David Marsh for four seasons (1991-94).

Following the 1980 Olympic boycott, Bottom spent 10 years in the business world, including positions with Pacific Bell in San Ramon, Calif., as a systems analyst (1984-90), and with Utah International, Inc., in San Francisco as an internal controls analyst (1982-84).

Bottom received his bachelor's degree in psychology from the University of Southern California (1978) where he graduated with the highest grade-point average among student-athletes and was a health advocate and peer counselor. In 1993, he graduated summa cum laude with a master's degree in counseling psychology from Auburn University. From 1995-98, he completed all course work for a Ph.D. in sport psychology.

Bottom and his wife, Lauralyn, have three daughters: Dublyn, Maicaiah and Breana.

Mike Bottom is in his third year at the helm of Michigan swimming and diving in 2010-11. Bottom, recognized as one of the finest swimming coaches in the world, returned to the collegiate coaching ranks when he accepted the reigns of the University of Michigan men's swimming and diving program on June 10, 2008.

Bottom has maintained the tradition of excellence in the pool at Michigan, guiding the Maize and Blue to a pair of Big Ten championships in his first three seasons at the helm. He was named the 2011 Big ference-best 35th Big Ten Championships crown.

Li has spent his entire 20-year career as a head coach. Prior to coming to Michigan, he was co-head coach of the U.S. Elite Diving Academy in Columbus, Ohio, for the last two years. Before that, Li led the National Training Centre of Diving in Melbourne, Australia, from 2006-08. In Melbourne, Li's divers won 14 gold medals at the 2007 and 2008 Australian Elite Junior National Championships and two bronze medals at the 2008 Junior World Championships. His divers also won one gold and two silvers at the 2008 Australian Open (Senior) National Championships, with one diver finishing as high as fifth at the 2008 FINA World Championships.

He brought Big Ten experience with him to Ann Arbor. He was the head diving coach at the University of Minnesota for seven years (1996-2003), where he produced eight NCAA All-Americans, six Big Ten champions and 45 Big Ten Championships finalists. In addition, three of his divers won Big Ten Diver of the Year and four were selected as Big Ten Diver of the Championships. Li is a two-time Big Ten Diving Coach of the Year, winning the honor in 2001 (men) and 1998 (women).

Li's coaching career began in 1991, as the head coach of Texas Aquatics (Austin, Texas) before heading up Team Orlando (Fla.) Diving in 1993. While in Orlando, his team won the 1996 USA Diving Junior National Championships and placed second at the same event in both 1994 and 1995. He coached four USA Senior National champions and 10 USA Junior National champions during his four-year tenure.

Li has served as a head coach or coach for the USA Diving National Team on more than 20 occasions, including his instruction of divers at the 1996 Olympic Games in Atlanta. In addition, he has twice coached at the World Championships (1998, 2001), three times at the World Diving Cup (1993, 1995, 1997) and once at the 1995 Pan-American Games.

A distinguished diver, Li was a three-time member of the Chinese Olympic Team, and won a bronze medal on the platform at the 1984 Olympic Games in Los Angeles. From 1975-88, Li participated in more than 50 international competitions, winning 25 gold medals, 14 silver medals and 10 bronze medals. Li graduated from the Beijing Institute of Physical Education.

Kongzheng "KZ" Li is in his second season as the head diving coach for the University of Michigan men's swimming and diving program. He will hold the same position with the U-M women's program.

Li's rebuilding of Michigan's storied diving tradition began in earnest. The Wolverines scored off the springboard for the first time since 2007 at the 2011 Big Ten Championships. Jack Lee's 16th-place finish in the one-meter and Chris Morrison's 13th-place finish off the three-meter helped the Maize and Blue to a con-

MICHIGAN SWIMMING EMBRACES CUTTING-EDGE TECHNOLOGY

BY SCOTT KEMPS FOR 'M' MAGAZINE

Technology in athletics is forever evolving, and in today's "microwave" culture, instant feedback is a necessity. In many cases, training options have already fully evolved, but in other cases, such as swimming at the University of Michigan, the Wolverines set trends and let others follow. One of the most cutting-edge training mechanisms in the world of swimming is produced by Michigan-based Avidasports, located in Harper Woods. The program is based on motion-capturing sensors that each swimmer wears, with a sensor on each wrist, ankle, and one under the swim cap. The sensors measure eight metrics: speed, stroke count, distance per stroke, stroke tempo, kick count, kick tempo, breakout time and length time. All athletes can be simultaneously tracked and the real-time metrics are displayed for the coaches on big screen televisions placed pool-side, as well as wireless computers. The metrics are relayed to each swimmer through an earpiece after each lap. Coaches also have the option of speaking to each swimmer directly in the middle of a training session via the earpiece, providing other feedback, as well as encouragement throughout each training session.

"Michigan was the first college team that we worked with," said Bill Burnett, Vice President of Sales for Avidasports. "We approached head coach Mike Bottom and he told us that the Wolverine program simply had to have the technology." The University of Michigan brought this technology to the forefront of the swimming community on Nov. 8 as the Wolverines squared off against the Harvard Crimson in the first-ever virtual swim. The practice featured seven men specializing in distance freestyle from each program. Each team swam in their respective pools, at Canham Natatorium in Ann Arbor and Blodgett Natatorium in Cambridge. The two squads completed their portion of the swim within minutes of each other, and the results were shared instantaneously.

Each program swam the 1,000-meter long course with the goal of descending time splits for each 100 within the 1,000 meters, training their bodies to get stronger, as well as faster as the swim went on. Athletes were ranked by the most consecutive number of descending 100s, and key performance metrics such as kick count, stroke count, stroke tempo, breakout time, and distance per stroke were instantly captured using the wireless technology provided by Avidasports. The metrics can be used to determine trends at any point of a workout, as coaches and swimmers key on consistency as well as improvement in each metric from workout to workout. In addition, past results can be compared to one another in order to monitor improvement as well as training trends.

"Getting the metrics back right away during every length is definitely helpful," said Wolverine sophomore Sean Ryan, one of seven Michigan swimmers who participated in the swim. "This is like everything that we use here at Michigan, as we have so many quality training options available to us. I like to use the system and it is something that we can use to change things up during practice sessions."

"We treated the swim as a training opportunity, just like a part of our normal practice," Ryan continued. "We had our normal warm-up, and then the swim. Following the virtual swim, we continued on with additional training." Bottom is a technophile who believes in moving the team forward on the cutting edge.

"The Avidasports and Michigan relationship is moving swimming into a higher plane as far as technology," said Bottom. "What we get out of Avidasports is what we are looking for in every aspect of our program: we want to be at the forefront of the sport whether it be weight training, physiology or biomechanics. "With Avidasports, we can look at the number of strokes per lap, the stroke rate, the time, and more for every athlete at the same time without even using a stop-watch. There are just a lot of different metrics that we can look at that allow the athlete to get better."

Michigan's use of Avidasports led to its adoption by several other top-flight NCAA national contenders and Big Ten schools. "The response from the industry, from college to age group programs, has been overwhelming," Burnett concluded. "Coaches are looking to gain a competitive advantage, and athletes are trying to find ways to swim faster on race day. This technology solves the need for coaches, as well as athletes."

"At Michigan, we relentlessly strive to be the Leaders and Best in every possible way. Using technology such as Avidasports is a real competitive advantage for our team," says Bottom.

MICHIGAN MEN CRUISE TO BIG TEN TITLE

BY TALOR WHITAKER, COLLEGESWIMMING.COM

In the final day of competition at the 2012 Men's Big Ten Swimming Championships it was the University of Michigan bringing home the team title. Day after day the Wolverines continued to best their peers by qualifying the most swimmers for top eight swims, each time capitalizing on that point potential to get them to the top.

Beginning with the final heat of the 1650 race, top three finishes in the heat belonged to Michigan. Defending champion Ryan Feeley took the lead early looking to cement his legacy as the top competitor in the event over the last four years. However, not letting the title go so easy was teammate Connor Jaeger. Jaeger went into the event with the pool record and came out with a new pool record and Big Ten gold with a time of 14:43.64. Sean Ryan touched out Feeley at the end of the race to grab silver with a 14:45.08 and Feeley touched third with a 14:45.23. All great time drops from each athlete.

"It is very easy in a final like this to take it out too fast," Michigan champion Connor Jaeger said. "It is important to stay focused and hit your pace in the beginning. Over the course of the race it was nice having the guys I train with [Feeley and Ryan] there so we could feed off each other and keep pace."

Without skipping a beat the 200-yard backstroke race commenced. Out of the C-final was Connor McDonald, a freshman out of OSU, with a 1:43.83. McDonald's time was a two second drop from his preliminary time. Lane three continued to be the hot lane as the B-final went to junior, MSU swimmer, Jacob Jarzen in a 1:44.10 just out-touching freshman, Guillermo Blanco of Purdue (1:44.16) and Grant Betulius, another freshman, from Iowa (1:44.22). But the championship final was all about lane four and OSU's Andrew Elliott. The senior swims only half his race on the water and the other half under the water as part of his off the wall kicking skills. Elliott defends his title from the 2010-2011 season in a 1:41.71.

"I've been having some trouble with my 100 [backstroke], and with this event [200-yard backstroke]. I am glad to be very relaxed with it as I compete," OSU champion Andrew Elliott said. "I have been able to gain a huge advantage with my underwater(s) by working on them everyday, it is something we take a lot of pride in and work hard at."

The 100-yard freestyle was up next and Daniel Tucker put Purdue in the spotlight out of the B-final. Tucker won from lane two in a time of 43:44, bettering his preliminary qualification as well. The final heat was all about Jason Schnur from OSU. Schnur posted a time of 43.11 while it was slower than his prelim seed he still took home the gold.

Heading back to the 200-yard events, swimmers took on the 200-yard breaststroke. The event was really all about the sophomore from Indiana, Cody Miller. Miller won the event out of lane four by over a body length, earning him a time of 1:54.07. Coming in over two seconds behind Miller was Richard Funk of Michigan with a 1:56.57 and third Josh Hall of Minnesota with a 1:56.65.

Continuing the tradition of freshman speed that had developed over the course of the meet, Indiana freshman Stephen Schmuhl won the C-final of the 200-yard fly out of lane three with a 1:46.86. Nearing the other end of the spectrum junior, from Northwestern, Charles Rimkus, takes the B-final of the 200-yard fly in a 1:46.29. Rimkus swam the event out of lane eight.

The A-final was somewhat of déjà-vu from last year's meet. The gold went to Dan Madwed of Michigan in a 1:42.67. The defending champ stood next to two of his teammates on the podium. Sophomore Kyle Whitaker, who clocked in at eighth place after the 150-yard mark, brought it home in a 26.48 on the last 50-yards, to get second in 1:43.50 and John Wojciechowski rounded out the top three with a 1:43.93. That was the second event of the night where Michigan took home top three honors and also Madwed's 14th Big Ten championship title.

Following the first four rounds of the platform diving competition it was unclear who would be standing on the highest podium. Round one did have an impressive dive (forward three and a half pike) by Zachary Nees of Indiana, scoring 81 points right out of the gate. Jamie Bissett of Purdue later topped Nees's dive in round five. Bissett scored an 81.60 after his inward, three and a half somersault tuck.

Sure enough, however, one person was able to separate himself from the pack as the sixth round began, Kristoffer Jorgensen of Minnesota. Jorgensen left round four with a score of 281.1, already 10 points ahead of Conor Murphy of Indiana (271.35). Jorgensen sealed the deal with his final dive. He scored 73.60 for his performance, earning him a total score of 430.65 and the gold medal.

The final event of the evening, and the meet, was the 400-yard freestyle relay. Teams spared no expense for this event. The Hawkeye relay, no doubt revved from the 200-yard freestyle relay, took the title (2:52.53). Michigan, giving it all they had, fought for every second and finished second behind Iowa with a 2:52.96. Finally, Minnesota owned the bronze medal with a 2:53.31.

Next up for swimmers will be the NCAA Championships held in Federal Way, WA, March 22-24, 2012.

MEN'S SWIMMING ACHIEVING BOTH IN AND OUT OF THE POOL

BY BEN SEIDMAN DAILY SPORTS WRITER ON JANUARY 18TH, 2012

Role model first and swim coach second, Michigan men's swimming coach Mike Bottom and his dedicated staff have motivated their swimmers to succeed in the classroom by preaching the importance of academics and the belief that swimming will propel them to the next step in their lives.

When Bottom stepped out of his hotel room around 10 p.m. the night before the Big Ten Championships last year, he didn't see an empty hotel hallway. Nor did he see loud or obnoxious college students breaking rules. He witnessed his guys sitting out in the hallways with their books cracked open because they needed to study and didn't want to disturb their roommates who were sleeping.

This year, the team has set a firm goal to earn a cumulative 3.2 GPA, and the swimmers closing in on the mark fast after they preformed impressively in the classroom last semester. They achieve these goals by holding each other accountable and helping one other out — the true essence of what a team is all about.

"(Assistant Coach) Josh (White) will ask them, 'How are you doing in that class?' and I'll ask them, 'Hey, how did that test go?' We try to keep track of what they're doing," Bottom said.

White joined the coaching staff in 2008 when Bottom was hired. The two met earlier at Kenyon College where Bottom watched White lecture and grew interested in White's vast knowledge of swimming and human performance in general. White obtained his Ph.D. in human performance from Indiana University and has been instrumental in the team's success, both athletically and academically.

"Once the guys on the team decided that this is an important priority to them, it has kind of escalated every year since in terms of how hard they work and if somebody wasn't doing well, they felt the team was counting on them to do better," White said. "There is also a lot of admiration for people doing well."

Making academic excellence part of the culture for Michigan's swimming and diving team is something that has trickled down from Athletic Director Dave Brandon, through the coaching staff and ultimately to the student-athletes.

"How the athletes are doing academically is really important," White said. "It's part of how the team is viewed in terms of being successful by the administration as well."

"We wouldn't be here if Michigan wasn't Michigan and if it didn't hold the kind of ideals that it holds," Bottom said. "The athletic department puts a lot of money into these guys' success academically. They're doing it because the mission of Michigan athletics is to produce men and women of character who will make a difference. They put their money where their mouth is."

Brandon has been the true source of all this academic motivation, according to Bottom and White. Brandon met with each and every coaching staff at the University for three hours to establish the importance of academics in the sphere of athletics.

"That's a commitment to excellence that you would be hard-pressed to find around the country," Bottom said. "We're more motivated in doing what we're doing because of the way he is and what he talks about in coach's meetings. We believe that it's important and we pass our belief down to the guys and they pass it around to each other. I think that's the crux of success."

Bottom's team has a unique way of looking at things. You can either help the team out by swimming fast and scoring points at meets, or you can go to class and earn a high GPA.

"There are some guys who might never score at Big Tens, yet we want them on our team because they are helping the guys with academics," Bottom said. "The guys really understand that. If there is a guy who is not doing much in the water in terms of scoring points but he is there everyday and is getting a good GPA, the respect is equal to a guy who earns a lot of points."

Senior Casey Sreenan, a sprint freestyle swimmer, was one of those who struggled academically as a freshman. Now he is earning Academic All-Big Ten and U-M Athletic Academic Achievement Award honors.

"Those are the guys that really stand out," Bottom said. "Casey has never scored a point, but if he focuses on being a total person and not just being swimmers, everything is elevated. Casey has figured it out in the classroom and the pool and most likely he will score this year."

White said one of the best feelings as a coach is when a swimmer comes in to practice and they're excited about their grades.

"They'll tell you because it's important to them and it's exciting. It's a pretty exciting thing to be a part of as coach when they are both proud and successful," White said.

Bottom added that being a swimming coach is not simply critiquing strokes and running practices, it's also about teaching the things that build a person and leading by example.

"Everyday we talk about character and the things that develop them as men and we talk about academics," Bottom said. "I think that it's just the Michigan way."

Team academic counselor Eric Gerbens has also been pivotal in helping these student-athletes to achieve their goals. Every week he sends the coaches the test schedules of each student-athlete, so the the coaching staff can work around their academics. Whether it is moving a workout session or giving a swimmer a day off, Gerbens' work is essential to the academic improvement the coaches have seen.

"They really like and respect Eric," White said. "And you have to be really good at a job like that to have them like and respect you."

"There are sacrifices that are being made on all levels," Bottom added. "I hope it doesn't sacrifice performance. And if it does, sometimes we have to accept that because the priority is academics and swimming is the venue that will get them to be successful."

When prospective swimmers approach the Michigan coaching staff and ask what they can do to either help their chances of acceptance or ready themselves for swimming at Michigan, they always reply saying only one thing: Academics.

MEN'S SWIMMING AND DIVING SENIORS TRIUMPH OVER SPARTANS FOR LAST TIME

BY MICHELLE MCMAHON, FOR THE DAILY PUBLISHED FEBRUARY 5, 2012

A tight-knit group of seniors was honored at its last meet at Canham Natatorium, as the No. 4 Michigan men's swimming and diving team celebrated a 186-102 victory and the continuance of a 35-year win streak over the Spartans in dual meets.

The crowd was electrified as seniors Dan Madwed, Dane Vanderkaay, Jan Konarzewski, Casey Sreenan and Chris Morrison took the floor, accompanied by friends and family, before the meet on Saturday.

"These guys have led this team," said Michigan coach Mike Bottom. "The personalities and the impact they've made on this team is just incredible. We've bonded and talked about what we wanted to create — and they created it. They want to be Michigan men, and they believe they can be."

At conclusion of the ceremonies, the poised and confident Wolverines dominated the Spartans with a 16-event sweep, contributing to an all-time 83-5 record against the in-state rival.

Konarzewski recorded the first senior victory in the 200-yard freestyle with a time of 49.69. Shortly after, the Miami native Sreenan followed suit, taking second in the 100-yard breaststroke with a 58.17 finish. Morrison contributed to the victory by placing third in the three-meter and one-meter diving events.

Maintaining his prestige as the current record holder in the 200-yard butterfly, senior, All-American and Big Ten champion Dan Madwed closed out the event with a 1:50.44 time.

"Michigan State is always our last meet, and they're a good tune up to practice the little things before we head off to Big Tens, and I think we're definitely ready for it," Madwed said.

Closing out the senior domination, the co-captain Vanderkaay clinched the victory in the 500-yard freestyle.

"That was my first dual-meet win, so it was pretty exciting — saving the best for last, I guess," Vanderkaay said. "I'm going to miss this place a lot, and I was glad I was able to get a win on the last meet."

Appreciating their last moments in Canham, the seniors had nothing but positive things to say about each other and their overall Michigan experience.

"This team has become my family," Madwed said.

Added Sreenan: "There's no place I'd rather be."

Emotions from saying goodbye to this group of senior leaders aside, Bottom is confident going into Big Tens.

"It's going to be tough, we're going to have to battle with teams like Ohio, but these guys are ready," he said.

The Wolverines will venture to Columbus for the Ohio State Invitational, hoping to ride out this momentum on their way to the Big Ten Championship in Iowa City on Feb. 22.

SWIMMING STAYS UNDEFEATED, SWEEPS MSU IN FINAL DUAL-MEET OF THE SEASON

BY PETER BROWN, FOR THE DAILY PUBLISHED FEBRUARY 5, 2012

Entering Saturday afternoon's dual meet, the Michigan men's swimming team hadn't lost to Michigan State since 1977. That streak was kept alive, as the Wolverines defeated the Spartans 186-102 on senior night at Canham Natatorium.

No. 4 Michigan (9-0, 4-0 Big Ten) dominated in its final dual meet of the season, sweeping Michigan State in all 16 events. Starting with a 100-yard backstroke win by senior Jan Konarzewski with a time of 49.69 seconds and finishing with a 200-yard freestyle relay win by Michigan's A relay team — consisting of Konarzewski, junior Miguel Ortiz, freshman Bruno Ortiz, and senior Dan Madwed (1:22.40) — the Wolverines treated the meet as an opportunity to warm up for the Big Ten Championships.

"Michigan State's not too good," Madwed said. "But they're always our last meet and they're a good tune-up to practice the little things before we head off to Big Tens."

Michigan coach Mike Bottom echoed Madwed's sentiment, saying "we're just getting ourselves ready for the Big Ten Championships. That's going to be a tough battle with Ohio, and we'll see what comes of that. But these guys are ready, and they'll swim well."

Along with the freestyle-relay victory, Madwed won the individual 200-yard freestyle with a time of 1:38.23 and the 200-yard butterfly in a time of 1:50.44.

Konarzewski, Madwed, Chris Morrison, Casey Sreenan and Dane Vanderkaay were all honored throughout the meet — their last at Canham. Bottom had only glowing things to say about his senior class.

"If you look at the points, and what we're graduating, you think we're not losing something huge, but the personalities and leadership that they bring are just incredible," Bottom said. "Those guys have led this team, and are my first group here at Michigan. We have bonded and talked about what they want to create, and you saw this group stick together."

"Their academics and community service are all strong, and they all want to be Michigan men."

Bottom gave the upperclassmen opportunities to shine on Saturday, going with a more senior-heavy lineup than he normally would.

"It was fun," Bottom said. "Guys got to swim some different events. I tried to put some seniors into the events that they would do well in, and they did."

Vanderkaay — the youngest of four Vanderkaay brothers, who have all left legacies at Michigan — placed first in the 500-yard freestyle, outlasting sophomore Ryutaro Kamiya and Michigan State's Pat Falconer with a time of 4:36.93.

"It's something that my brothers and I can share as we get older," Vanderkaay said. "It's something that I always like to take pride in."

"That was my first dual-meet win, so it was pretty exciting bringing the best for last. I'm going to miss this place a lot, and I'm glad I was able to win in my last meet."

Other notable performers included sophomore Connor Jaeger, who won the 400-yard individual medley with a time of 3:59.16; junior Roman Willets, who won the 100-yard freestyle with a time of 45.04; junior Connor McCarroll, who won the 200 backstroke with a time of 1:50.60; and sophomore Kyle Duckitt, who won the 200 breaststroke with a time of 2:04.00. The Ortiz brothers also found individual success on Saturday: Bruno won the 200 individual medley and Miguel won the 100 butterfly.

Michigan is looking to continue its success at the Ohio State Invitational next week. Bottom is confident in his team's chemistry moving forward to the Big Ten Championships in Iowa City, which begins on Feb. 22.

"(Saturday's meet) got them together as a team, and they had a lot of fun, and that's half the battle, right?" Bottom said.

MICHIGAN SINKS BIG TEN RIVALS, CONTINUE WIN STREAK

BY RAJAT KHARE, DAILY SPORTS WRITER PUBLISHED JANUARY 29, 2012

The No. 4 Michigan men's swimming and diving team topped conference rivals No. 8 Ohio State and No. 24 Penn State in a three-squad showdown this weekend.

"Any time we see Ohio State, we want to beat them," said Michigan coach Mike Bottom. "It's a very good rivalry that brings out the best ... at this point in the season, for both teams."

In addition to bragging rights and pride, the Wolverines (3-0 Big Ten, 8-0 overall) also put their unblemished Big Ten record on the line. From the get-go, Michigan looked poised to walk away with a win. With first-place finishes in seven of eight events on the first day, Michigan was swimming with a purpose.

"The race was not just for first or second or even third, fourth, or fifth or sixth," Bottom said. "Anytime they got their hand on the wall, I asked them to do it for the seniors, and for Michigan."

The Wolverines' 400-yard medley relay team got the tide rolling with a first-place finish, registering a time of 3:13.20. Sophomore Connor Jaeger followed it up with a first-place finish in the 1,000-yard freestyle, setting a pool record of 9:03.44. Junior Miguel Ortiz also contributed with first-place finishes in the 50-yard freestyle and 100-yard backstroke.

With those efforts, Michigan built a commanding 108-point lead over the Nittany Lions. The Buckeyes, however, kept within striking distance thanks in part to multiple second- and third-place finishes.

"(Ohio State has) 50-plus guys, and they are good in every event," Bottom said. "So we had to go there and be good in order to beat them."

On the second day of the competition, there was added excitement, as senior Dan Madwed swam the 200-yard backstroke — an event he has swam only once in his four years — rather than his normal event.

"He asked to swim it against Ohio State because he wanted to see if he can beat (Andrew Elliot)," Bottom said. "He came up on him and almost beat him."

There would be no heartbreak for the Wolverines, as they came out even more dominant the second day, sweeping spots one and two in various events.

Michigan placed one and two in the 200-yard medley team event, and Jaeger followed with a first place finish in the 500-yard freestyle — an event in which he is ranked second in the nation.

The trend continued in the 200-yard freestyle and 100-yard butterfly, with sophomores Kyle Whitetaker and John Wojciechowski placing first, followed up by Madwed and junior Sean Fletcher. Ortiz rounded out his successful weekend by adding another first-place finish in the 100-yard freestyle, bringing his weekend tally to three.

"Miguel had to face the two best swimmers on their team," Bottom said. "Every time he stood up he had to beat one of the best guys, and he did, so that was pretty special."

The Wolverines will not revel in their victory for very long, as another Big Ten rival lies ahead of them in Michigan State. It will be the last home meet of the season, and Michigan will look to close out at Canham Natatorium and send off its seniors to the echoing sounds of a victory.

FEELEY, RYAN REACH FINALS AT US GRAND PRIX

BY ISABELLA ACHENBACH, FOR THE DAILY PUBLISHED NOVEMBER 14, 2011

The Michigan men's swimming and diving team spent this past weekend getting pruned in a pool alongside Michael Phelps, Ryan Lochte and some of the top swimmers in the world at the 2011 US Grand Prix in Minneapolis.

"(The US Grand Prix) gives these guys exposure," said Michigan coach Mike Bottom. "They understand what it's like to swim against the best in the world."

The Wolverines also swam in the meet last year. This time, two Michigan swimmers — junior Ryan Feeley and sophomore Sean Ryan — worked their way into the finals.

"If one of our guys makes it to the finals, it's awesome," Bottom said.

If two guys make it, it's cause for celebration.

Feeley earned fourth place overall with a time of 15:36.65 in the 1,500-meter freestyle. Ryan came in two spots behind with a time of 15:45.51 to earn a sixth-place finish.

"I didn't even know I got fourth until I got back in Ann Arbor around 1 a.m.," Feeley said. "It's pretty nice getting those times this early in the season. My teammates are pushing me everyday in practice."

After finding out his score, Feeley celebrated by getting some much-needed sleep.

The Wolverine swimmers entered this event after topping Texas and Indiana, their first Big Ten competitor, last Saturday. Michigan (1-0 Big Ten, 5-0 overall) entered this week ranked No. 1 in the nation, according to the College Swimming Coaches Association of America (CSCAA) — Texas now trails at No. 2.

"The swimming that we did last week elevated our expectations of who we are," Bottom said.

Michigan kept up its reputation as the best collegiate swimmers in the country at the US Grand Prix. The meet was not scored, but many swimmers got their career-best times, Bottom said.

"We knew we could swim with the best after fighting with Texas," Feeley said.

Six Grand Prix's are held every year across the nation, each drawing hundreds of swimmers. Michigan and Minnesota were among the participating colleges, but the majority of the swimmers were either alums or professionals.

The races were "long course," meaning an Olympic configuration 50-meter pool length as opposed to the typical 25 meters. Michigan usually swims a 25-meter pool, which gives the swimmers an extra turn. But Bottom's swimmers practice long course as well.

"Part of what Michigan does is, we are training people to make Olympic teams," Feeley said. "That's something we promote within the team and the club. Swim against the best in the world."

The Wolverines will soon take on some of the other highest-ranked Big Ten schools: Iowa, Ohio State, and Indiana. The next Michigan swim meet, the Hawkeye Invitational, will be Dec. 2-4 in Iowa City.

MICHIGAN MAKES BIG SPLASH AT HAWKEYE INVITATIONAL

BY RAJAT KHARE, FOR THE DAILY PUBLISHED DECEMBER 4, 2011

One point separated the victors from the defeated in a true David and Goliath showdown.

This weekend, the No. 7 Michigan men's swimming and diving team went up against No. 4 Texas and No. 12 Indiana in a double-dual meet at Canham Natatorium. The Wolverines defeated the Longhorns 150.5-149.5 and clobbered the Hoosiers 216-84.

"With a one-point margin, every single race matters," said Michigan coach Mike Bottom Saturday. "Every person is important, especially the divers. This is a team sport and today proves that."

The win didn't come easily for the underdogs. Texas not only has world-class swimmers, but it is also led by Texas coach Eddie Reese — a three-time United States Men's Olympic Team head coach. Reese has led the team to 10 NCAA team titles.

"We are challenging guys with full scholarships," Bottom said. "Our team is running a system with little money and we are still beating or racing these guys to the wall in every race."

Senior Dan Madwed put forth a remarkable weekend performance, winning the 200-yard butterfly, 200-yard individual medley, and 100-yard butterfly. The 2011 NCAA All American in four events put all of his effort into the meet.

"I won my events for the guys on this team," Madwed said. "I knew that we would need every point that we could get because it was going to be a close meet."

Sophomore Connor Jaeger finished first in his 200-yard and 500-yard freestyle races.

"Connor beat some of the best 200-yard freestylers in the world today," Bottom said. "He stood up against the best athletes in this country."

Added Madwed: "Those guys he was competing against are known all over the country and he didn't care."

Juniors Ryan Feeley and Miguel Ortiz won the 1,650-yard freestyle and the 100-yard backstroke, respectively.

"We had to dig deep and gut it out," Madwed said. "We talked about our plan all week and we knew what we had to do."

The weekend bodes well for future performance this season, though it has little relevance with what the team plans to accomplish.

"We have to forget that we won this weekend," Madwed said. "We need to forget that we beat Texas because we have bigger goals than that. We want to win Big Tens."

It's obvious that Michigan is a formidable contender in the Big Ten, but the team has yet to compete against the likes of No. 10 Ohio State and No. 22 Penn State.

As for this weekend, the Wolverines have a reason to celebrate.

"I couldn't be more proud of this team," Bottom said. "Our guys beat them with heart, commitment and understanding on how to fight like hell for Michigan."
