Michigan Women's Track and Field Hall of Fame

In 1994, the University of Michigan Track and Field program began a tradition to honor its finest competitors and coaches. The Michigan Women's Track and Field Hall of Fame opened with the inaugural induction on Jan. 22, 1994, with the induction of former U-M head coach Kenneth "Red" Simmons.

In 2004, six former Wolverines were inducted into the Michigan Women's Track and Field Hall of Fame, including All-Americans Sue Schroeder, Lisa Larsen and Joanna Bullard, national relay champion Courtney Babcock and former director of Michigan women's athletics from 1977 to 1990, Phyllis Ocker.

In 2009, the entire 1978 team was inducted into the Hall of Fame. The first varsity women's track team at the University of Michigan was honored, along with a 100th birthday celebration for Simmons.
