Match Notes

So Far This Season

The Southern Scuffle will be the second premier in-season tournament for the Gophers in the past 30 days after Minnesota placed fourth at the Cliff Keen Invitational in Las Vegas during the opening weekend in December. Two Gophers – Jake Short at 157 and Brett Pfarr at 197 – won individual titles with 5-0 showings in Sin City, while Michael Kroells, Mitch McKee and Nick Wanzek also turned in podium performances. Prior to Vegas, the Gophers had wrestled in two other tournaments, opening the season at the Daktronics Open in South Dakota where, among Minnesota's four finalists, Ethan Lizak won the 125-pound title and McKee, Short and Kroells all finished as runners-up. In a less-conventional tournament format, Minnesota competed at the Journeymen/Asics Collegiate Classic in Troy, N.Y. the following week. In that pool-based, round-robin event, four Gophers won titles: McKee, Kroells, Chris Pfarr and Sam Brancale. Between the Cliff Keen Invitational and the upcoming Scuffle, the Gophers muscled through a Michigan road trip to open their Big Ten season 2-0. After a 20-17 victory in East Lansing on a Friday, Minnesota rolled into Ann Arbor and upset No. 10 Michigan, 22-18, on Sunday afternoon. Including a home split with No. 20 South Dakota State and No. 1 Oklahoma State, the Gophers are 3-1 in dual action this season.

Last Time Around

The Gophers hope to avenge the program's lowest-ever finish in the Scuffle (sixth) from last January with an improved showing this year. Last year, four Gophers placed, led by Brett Pfarr's runner-up finish at 197 pounds. Heavyweight Michael Kroells finished third, first-year starter Tommy Thorn, competing at 141, took fifth and Sam Brancale, wrestling at 133, placed eighth. Those performances, along with those of their teammates, gave the Gophers 79.5 team points, putting them behind Penn State, Oklahoma State, Lehigh, North Carolina and Cornell. All of those teams, save for the Nittany Lions, will be in the tournament this weekend as well.

The Scuffle Shuffle

Minnesota will send 16 wrestlers to McKenzie Arena this weekend, and that lineup will feature a collection of wrestlers making their varsity debuts and others shifting weights from where they've been so far this season. Varsity debuts for 2016-17 include: Ethan Lizak (125), Tommy Thorn (141) and Brandon Krone (at 174 after wrestling 165 last year). Those changing weight classes are: Carson Broisma (149, down from 157 and back at the weight he wrestled last year while redshirting), Brandon Kingsley (157, down from 165 and back at the weight he wrestled last year), Nick Wanzek (165, down from 174 and back to the weight he wrestled as a redshirt and a redshirt freshman), and Chris Pfarr (174, down from 184). Also reappearing or returning to Minnesota's lineup are Steve Polakowski, who made his varsity debut in the Michigan dual three weeks ago, and Rylee Streifel, who returns to varsity action for the first time since the Collegiate Classic.
