GETTING A SHOT AT THE BIG TIME ...

Along with having six players taken in the National Football League draft since 2004, a number of recent Miami players have made it into NFL Minicamps by signing as undrafted free agents. In all, 14 RedHawks have signed as undrafted free agents since the 2004 NFL Draft. A grand total of 16 players off Miami's 2003 team that finished the season ranked No. 10 nationally went on to sign NFL contracts.

Miami sent a record seven players from its 2005 senior class into the NFL, led by fifth-round draft choice Terna Nande. The seven total players surpassed the previous record of six established following the 2003 season. Three members of the 2005 senior class were invited to the prestigious NFL combine.
