History

After winning just 12 matches in its first two seasons, Miami's women's soccer program, sparked by a special freshman class, turned it all around in 1999. The RedHawks opened the season with seven consecutive wins, including a 2-1 upset of arch-rival Cincinnati. Miami went on to finish third in the Mid-American Conference and advanced to its first MAC Tournament, where it fell to Eastern Michigan by penalty kicks after battling through four scoreless overtimes in an epic championship match. The 1999 RedHawks boasted the most improved record in the nation and things were just getting started.

Mid-American Conference Tournament
%NCAA Tournament

Though it was a roller coaster season throughout, Miami's 2000 squad put it all together at the right time. A pair of uncharacteristic home losses to Eastern and Central Michigan late in the season dropped the Red and White to a No. 4 seed for the MAC Tournament, but Miami peaked at just the right time, sweeping through the tournament without allowing a goal and capturing the program's first MAC Tournament title. Playing in their first NCAA Tournament, the RedHawks battled back numerous times before falling in double-overtime to Michigan, but the stage had been set for a return to the big dance.

In just its fifth year as a varsity program, Miami University's women's soccer team raised the bar once again, claiming a second consecutive Mid-American Conference Tournament championship and earning the league's first NCAA Tournament victory with a stunning upset of No. 19 West Virginia.

After opening the season with two losses, the RedHawks reeled off wins in six of their next seven contests before a rough stretch of league play stalled their hopes of a first MAC regular-season title. A regular-season ending loss at Eastern Michigan left the Red and White with the No. 3 seed for the MAC Tournament. Miami's string of MAC Tournament dominance was barely challenged, as it cruised 7-0 over Buffalo in the quarterfinals, defeated Eastern Michigan for the first time in program history, 4-1, in the semifinals, and ousted Central Michigan, 3-1, for its second consecutive MAC Tournament title. The RedHawks 14 goals in three tournament games were a league record.

A tough draw in the NCAA Tournament first round placed Miami versus nationally ranked West Virginia on the Mountaineers' home turf in Morgantown, W.Va. Miss November herself, Danielle Berkemeier, scored a first-half penalty kick and it was all the offense the RedHawks would need in a 1-0 victory that arguably was the biggest upset of the tournament.

In the second round, a sapped Miami team could not overcome an early deficit and tumbled to Dayton, 2-0. Despite the loss, the RedHawks had achieved what no MAC team before them could. The talent, confidence and experience were in place for a promising 2002 campaign.

History

Despite all it had accomplished in the previous three seasons, there was still one notable absence from the Miami Soccer trophy case—a MAC regular-season title. With a seasoned group of six seniors in their starting lineup, the RedHawks set out to change that in what would be a defining season for a senior class that already had accomplished so much. After splitting two matches during a season-opening road trip, the RedHawks took flight on an impressive eight-game unbeaten streak that included a Miami-Adidas Invitational title and a program-best 6-0 league start. Also included in the RedHawks' impressive run was a program-record string of five straight shutouts.

A narrow 3-2 loss to Central Michigan brought the RedHawks back to Earth momentarily, but nothing could deter them from their mission. Miami won seven consecutive games leading up to its season finale and clinched the MAC championship with a league-record 11 conference wins.

In the regular-season finale, Miami hosted No. 13 Purdue in a non-conference tilt. The unheralded RedHawks gave the Big Ten power all it could handle in battling to a 1-1 tie before darkness set in and resulted in the game being called.

In near-typical fashion, Miami breezed through the MAC Tournament field for the third consecutive season, outscoring the opposition by a combined margin of 13-2 and pushing past Ohio, 5-1, in the championship game to advance to the NCAA Tournament.

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING

MIAMI SOCCER ALUMNAE

KATIE CLEVERDON

CLASS OF 2000

I truly feel that playing soccer at Miami gave me an opportunity to hold a highly honored position: to be a leader in a program which was in its grassroots and to affect Miami's history. My college experience would not have been nearly as great if I had not played soccer at Miami with such exceptional teammates.

EMILY FEIT

CLASS OF 1999

Playing soccer at Miami was about so many things: the love of the game; the chance to rise to a challenge and surpass it; the opportunity to sacrifice everything - my time, my body, my mental clarity; the bonds between teammates; and all of the emotions: heartbreaking and euphoric alike. I learned so much about the amazing individuals I called my teammates, my friends and myself.

NANCY MARAZZI

CLASS OF 1998

My years with Miami Soccer were what everyone told me would be my 'good old days' and 'glory years'. I loved getting to play ball, getting a great education and being surrounded by my closest friends. Miami will always hold a special place in my heart - as a school and as my home for those years as well.
