NAPOLEON McCALLUM

When it comes to all-around performances on the football field, running back Napoleon McCallum ranks among the best ever at the Naval Academy. It was not only the rushing yardage he accumulated, but McCallum returned punts and kickoffs and was a pass receiver. His 7,172 all-purpose yards was the NCAA Division I-A record for career all-purpose yardage for more than a decade.

McCallum once held 26 Naval Academy records, including the career rushing mark; single-season rushing yardage; career kickoff return; career punt return yardage and most 100-yard games in a career.

McCallum seemed to get better as the game wore on, taking more and more snaps and pounding opposing defenses. In 1983, his junior year at the Academy, he earned consensus All-America first-team honors at running back and was the Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC) Division I-A Co-Player of the Year with Boston College's Doug Flutie. He led the nation in all-purpose running, with an average of 216.8 yards per game, setting an NCAA record. He also finished third in the country in rushing with an average of 144.3 yards per contest.

But in 1984, McCallum suffered a season-ending broken ankle in the fourth quarter of the second game of the season. Prior to the start of that season, the Academy's Sports Information Office developed a poster of McCallum in a Napoleon Bonaparte military uniform—he was standing in front of the USS Constellation with the slogan "I Have Not Yet Begun To Run." McCallum later tweaked the Sports Information Office that the only part of his body not shown on the poster was his left ankle — the one that was injured.

McCallum was granted an additional year of eligibility because of the injury, and prior to the 1985 season, he was on the cover of Sports Illustrated's football issue along with NFL running back Eric Dickerson.

In that season, he again led the country in all-purpose running (211.8 yards per game) and was seventh in rushing (120.6), 10th in kickoff returns (24.4) and 14th in scoring (8.2). Again a First-Team All-American, he was Most Valuable Offensive Player for the Gray squad in the annual Blue/Gray Game and the Most Valuable Player in the Senior Bowl.

In 1986, McCallum was assigned to the USS Peleliu and was able to complete his military duties in time to practice and play with the Los Angeles Raiders that fall. He was second on the team, and second among AFC rookies with 536 yards on 142 carries.

Because of a change in his military assignment, he was unable to play for the next three seasons. He was traded to the San Diego Chargers, who placed him on the Military Reserve list. He rejoined the Raiders in 1990, seeing limited action.

After seeing limited action again in 1991, he was cut in 1992, but resigned with the Raiders a month later. In 1993, he was again on the Raiders special teams and saw some time in short-yardage situations. Late in the season, injuries moved McCallum into the Raiders lineup and he responded with a three-touchdown outburst in a 42-24 win over the Denver Broncos in an AFC wild card playoff game. He scored two more touchdowns the next week against the Buffalo Bills in the AFC Championship game.

However, in the first game of the 1994 season on Monday Night Football, McCallum suffered a severe injury to his left knee that required three surgeries and effectively ended his professional career.

McCallum was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in August 2003.

CHRIS McCOY

If not for a coaching change, the name of Chris McCoy may have never been heard. Instead, he ended his career at the Naval Academy as one of the greatest rushing quarterbacks in NCAA history.

As a freshman, McCoy was a seldom used defensive back. Seldom used on the junior varsity. McCoy never even suited up for a varsity football game as a freshman. Navy finished 3-8 that year for over 1,000 yards in consecutive seasons and his five 200-yard games was also a school record.

McCoy, who was the Blue team MVP of the Blue/Gray All-Star Game, was signed by the Green Bay Packers as a free agent after graduation.

and a coaching change was made at the end of the year. Charlie Weatherbie was hired from Utah State and he, along with offensive coordinator Paul Johnson, installed Johnson's "spread" offense, a hybrid of the triple option and the run-and-shoot. Weatherbie and Johnson held open try-outs in the spring for the starting quarterback job and chose McCoy. It didn't take him long to prove to the coaches and everybody else that he was the man for the job.

In his first collegiate football game, with former Heisman Trophy winner Roger Staubach looking on, McCoy rushed for a school-record 273 yards and one touchdown and completed six-of-11 passes for 125 yards and a touchdown, as Navy routed the heavily favored SMU Mustangs, 33-2. The 273 yards rushing is still an NCAA record for rushing yards by a player playing in his first collegiate game.

McCoy went on to rush for 803 yards and seven touchdowns and passed for 524 yards and four touchdowns, as he helped lead the Mids to a 5-6 record.

The best, though, was yet to come.

In the fall of 1996, McCoy helped Navy burst into the national spotlight by leading the team to a 9-3 record, including a victory over California in the Aloha Bowl. In that contest, McCoy showed the rest of the nation he was more than just a "running" quarterback by completing nine out of 13 passes for 277 yards. He also rushed for 61 yards and two touchdowns.

The nine wins in 1996 were the most by a Navy team since 1978, and the bowl win was the first for Navy since the 1978 Holiday Bowl victory over BYU, and just the fourth in school history. Individually, McCoy rushed for 1,228 yards and 16 touchdowns and threw for 759 yards and six touchdowns.

McCoy's outstanding year in 1996 made him an early Heisman Trophy candidate for the 1997 season. Though he ended up out of the running for the award because of a couple of early losses, McCoy still put up dazzling numbers as he led the Mids to a 7-4 record, including a 39-7 thrashing of Army in the season finale. McCoy rushed for 1,370 yards, which is the fifth most in NCAA history for a quarterback, while throwing for 1,203 yards. His 20 rushing touchdowns are the second most in NCAA history for a quarterback and he also became just the 10th quarterback in NCAA history to rush and throw for 1,000 yards in a single season.

McCoy ended his career with 3,401 yards rushing (second most in Navy history and seventh most in NCAA history for a quarterback), 44 touchdowns (Navy record), 43 rushing touchdowns (Navy record), 5,887 yards of total offense (Navy record), and 3,455 all-purpose yards (second-most in Navy history). He is one of only two players in school history to rush
