Date: Friday April 4, 2008 to Saturday, April 5, 2008

Location: United States Naval Academy
Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium
or Ricketts Hall
Annapolis, Maryland

Director: Ken Niumatalolo, Head Coach
United States Naval Academy

Clinic Staff: The 2008 Navy Coaches Clinic will feature head coach Ken Niumatalolo and his outstanding staff of assistants who have turned the tide of Navy Football.

Costs: Cost of the clinic is $40 per coach. Sorry but we can not accept purchase orders. The cost includes Friday's pizza and beverage and Saturday's coffee and donuts.

Facilities: The majority of the clinic will be held in the newly-renovated banquet facility at Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium or the remodeled Ricketts Hall, with bus transportation from the stadium. Major lectures will be held in the 800-seat banquet facility, or the accommodating Bellino Auditorium in Ricketts. Several smaller meetings will be held, where assistant coaches will teach offense and defense more specifically during the break out positional meetings.

Longtime assistant head coach Ken Niumatalolo was promoted to head football coach at the Naval Academy on Saturday, Dec. 8 by Naval Academy Director of Athletics Chet Gladchuk. Niumatalolo is the 38th head football coach in Naval Academy history, the first Polynesian coach in FBS history and the first Samoan head coach in NCAA history. Niumatalolo has had two coaching stints at the Naval Academy for a combined 10 seasons, including the last six where he has served as assistant head coach and offensive line coach.

Niumatalolo has been an integral part of a staff that has brought the Midshipmen back into the national spotlight with a 43-19 (.689) record over the last five years and has helped lead Navy to a school-record five-straight bowl games and five-consecutive Commander-In-Chief's Trophies.

Niumatalolo's work with the offense has helped the Mids lead the nation in rushing in four of the last five years, including each of the past three seasons, a first in NCAA history.

This past fall, the Mids set 22 school records on offense including rushing yards per game (348.8 yards per contest), total offense per game (444.1 yards per game) and points scored (511).

In 2006, Navy averaged a then school-record 327.0 yards per contest. One of Niumatalolo's pupils, Antron Harper, was named to the ESPN.Com All-Bowl Team for the second-straight year.

In 2005, Niumatalolo helped develop an offensive line that, despite having just one returning starter, paved the way for the nation's best rushing offense (318.7 yards per contest). The Mids blasted Colorado State, 51-30, in the Poinsettia Bowl.

In 2004, Niumatalolo's efforts helped an offensive line that was hampered by injuries all year to perform well enough for the Midshipmen to finish third in the country in rushing (289.5) and win a school-record tying 10 games (the most wins since 1905), including the Emerald Bowl. Navy's offensive line was instrumental in the NCAA-record 26-play, 94-yard, 14:26 epic drive in the 2004 Emerald Bowl.

In 2003, despite a lack of experience up front, the Mids led the nation in rushing (323.2 yards per contest) and set seven school records as Navy went 8-5, won the Commander-In-Chief's Trophy and earned a berth in the Houston Bowl.

In 2002, the Navy offensive line helped the Mids to the third-best rushing average in the country (270.75).

Niumatalolo was also an assistant at Navy from 1995-98, serving as the offensive coordinator in 1997 and 1998.

As the offensive coordinator, Niumatalolo tutored Chris McCoy, who set the then-NCAA record for most rushing touchdowns by a quarterback in a season with 20 in 1997 and became just the 10th player in NCAA history to rush for more than 1,000 yards and pass for more than 1,000 yards in the same season. In addition, Navy finished among the nation's top five in rushing his last-two years and broke 38 school offensive records during his tenure.
