Tournament Notes: Notre Dame was making its first-ever trip to the San Francisco Bay Area ... this week's tournament was the first to be played at the famed Olympic Club (site of four U.S. Opens) since 1995 ... Hock posted his fourth career Top 20 finish (and third as a member of the Irish travel squad) ... Chen made the starting five for the first time in his career, with his final-round 72 only one stroke off his career-low round (71, done twice last year) ... Chen, Alan-Lee and Fortner all are native Californians, but all are from the southern half of the Golden State ... the head-to-head results for the San Francisco "B" team do not count in the overall won-loss records for the other participating schools.

Tournament Notes: This tournament, hosted by Notre Dame's BIG EAST rival DePaul, was one of two on the Irish schedule this year in which Notre Dame players competed solely as individuals (with no team score recorded) ... three of the five Irish golfers in the tournament were freshmen making their collegiate debuts (Scodro, Usher and Walker) ... Scodro's second-round 67 was the lowest score by a Notre Dame golfer since (current senior) Josh Sandman's opening-round 66 in the 2006 Aloha Purdue Collegiate Invitational in Poipu, Kauai, Hawaii ... three of the five Irish golfers in this tournament were internationals (Usher - England; Zhang - Canada; Batista - Brazil) ... all but Batista managed to record at least one round under par during the tournament ... Zhang's 223 was the second-lowest 54-hole score of his career (219 at last year's Rutgers Invitational "B" team event).

(tie) Kyle Willis	78	81	159 (+15)
26. (tie) Chris Walker	84	82	166 (+22)

Tournament Notes: This tournament, hosted by Loyola-Chicago (a former rival of Notre Dame's in the old Midwestern Collegiate Conference, now known as the Horizon League), was the second of two on this year's Irish schedule in which Notre Dame players competed solely as individuals (with no team score recorded) ... the event was shortened to 36 holes due to rain on the first day ... Alan-Lee chalked up the best finish of his career, surpassing his tie for 10th place at the 2008 Irish Invitational ... Scodro earned the third top-10 finish of his freshman season ... Willis turned in his best career finish, one spot higher than the 14th-place tie he registered as a rookie at the 2006 Fighting Irish Gridiron Golf Classic ... Zhang posted his best finish of the season after tying for 26th place in three of his seven previous tournaments this year (most recently at the Border Olympics on March 14-15).

Tournament Notes: Notre Dame has finished fifth or better in all 14 BIG EAST Championships it has played in since joining the conference in 1995-96 ... the Irish posted their second-lowest 54-hole score of the season, topped only by an 869 (+17) mark at the Saint Mary's (Calif.) Invitational back on Sept. 30 ... Notre Dame's final-round 286 (-2) also was its second-best of the year, just two shots off its 284 total in the second round at the Palmas del Mar Intercollegiate on March 10 ... in their last four BIG EAST tournaments, the Irish have averaged 283.50 in the final round, playing the last 18 holes in a combined 18-under par ... Fortner ties his best tournament finish and career-low 54-hole total (210), and cards a new single-round best with his third-round 66 (which also matches both the third-lowest score in school history and the best-ever by an Irish golfer at the BIG EAST Championship); Fortner's 210 also was one stroke off the school record ... Fortner and Scodro earned all-BIG EAST Conference honors in a post-tournament vote of the conference coaches.
