Tom Fallon Invitational Facts

The Tom Fallon Invitational, known as the Irish Invitational until the name was changed in 1988, honors Notre Dame coaching legend Tom Fallon, who coached the Irish for 31 years from 1957-87. Fallon, a member of the ITA Collegiate Tennis Hall of Fame, amassed a career record of 511-200 and helped Notre Dame to a share of the 1959 national title.

The tournament was changed from a "flight" format to a "hidden dual" format in 2000. Teams play simulated matches against each other, but there are no team scores recorded. Each scheduled "match" will consist of either eight singles matches or four doubles matches. Collegiate Game Scoring (CGS) is utilized -- as it will be for all ITA-sanctioned events this fall. It is basically a "one-ad" format so a game point will ensue on the second deuce of a game. Singles matches consist of two sets and a match tiebreaker (first to 10 points) instead of a third set. Doubles matches will be one eight-game pro set. All individual results are counted for ranking purposes.
