

Lobo Career Development Program

Introduction

University of New Mexico Lobo student-athletes develop unique, transferable skills throughout their undergraduate experience. These qualities make Lobo student-athletes highly marketable and valuable assets in today's workforce. The Lobo Career Development Program is a cooperative effort between the University of New Mexico Athletic Department and the Career Services Center.

Mission

The mission of the Lobo Career Development Program is to assist all student-athletes with the transition into, through, and out of college. Lobo student-athletes are encouraged to discover and explore their interests, to understand their unique skill sets and abilities, as well as to participate in career development services and programs during their undergraduate experience.

Future Vision

The future vision of the Lobo Career Development Program is to develop a network database (Lobo Career Network) of University of New Mexico alumni, boosters, former letter winners, as well as local and national corporations. The purpose of this group will be to provide networking opportunities for Lobo student-athletes while sharing information pertinent to their career choices and future employment. This process will allow student-athletes to better prepare themselves for the transition from college to the workforce.
