Men's Season Review

The best showing for the Bobcat men in the fall season took place at the Piper Intercollegiate – hosted by Bowling Green – when they finished fourth in a field of 14 teams. Individually, the best finish of the fall season took place at the Yestingsmeier Invitational at Ball State when Grant Christman tied for third place at one-under.

The Ohio men were impressive at Marshall Invitational and the FirstEnergy Intercollegiate during the spring campaign, but their top finish of the season came at the Kauai Collegiate Cup in Princeville, Hawaii when they finished as the event's runner-up. The best finish for a Bobcat golfer in the spring was Mark Cimarolli's fourth place effort at Hawaii.

In the men's MAC Championship, the Bobcats improved three places from the prior year to finish fifth. The 'Cats compiled a team score of 1166, the second-best league championship score in program history. Ryan Siekmann tied for 11th to lead Ohio, and his 289 was tied for the sixth-best MAC performance in school history.

During the year, Christman and Cimarolli garnered MAC Golfer of the Week honors.

Women's Season Review

The highlight of the fall season for the Ohio women came at the Cincinnati Fall Classic when they tied for fifth place in a weather-shortened event. Shanna Siefke notched the best individual finish of the fall season for the 'Cats when she tied for fifth at the Cincinnati Fall Classic.

The spring season for the Ohio women saw their best performance result in a tie for fifth out of 11 teams at the Bowling Green Falcon Invitational. In that tourney, Meredith Waterston finished as the runner-up, the highest place for an Ohio men's or women's golfer in 2006-07.

On the women's side, the Bobcats finished fifth for the second year in a row led by Kristen Mautz's 10th place effort.

Waterston received MAC Golfer of the Week recognition following her performance at Bowling Green and Mautz was named Academic All-MAC at season's end.
