The Susan Yow Camps staff is dedicated to working with each camper to help develop her fundamental skills. The camp involves individual instruction and team competition that provide opportunities for young athletes to develop their fundamental skills. Campers will be grouped by age for instruction and for game competition.

The campers will benefit from instruction by Coach Yow and many of the current women basketball staff and Friar players. Campers will be taught fundamental skills through many of the same drills the Friars use on their practice floor.

Additionally, campers will be assigned to teams for game competition - a great opportunity to put newly learned skills into practice.

This is a challenging AND fun week of basketball!

Camp Staff:

Head Coach Susan Yow was hired in June 2002 to head the Providence Women's Basketball program. She has over 20 years of Division 1 head coaching experience and 4 years of WNBA coaching experience. She was a 2-time Kodak All-American as a collegiate player.

Assistant Coaches Sue Doran, Jack Easley and A.G. Hall combine for over 40 years of experience on the collegiate level.
