The Boilers have won 14-straight exhibition games dating back to 2002, and are 11-0 with an average margin of victory of 22.4 points since moving strictly to collegiate exhibition opponents in 2004 ... Purdue's 34-point margin of victory (78-44) in its exhibition opener against California of Pennsylvania was its largest since handing Russia Select a 45-point (117-72) loss on Nov. 9, 1997.

UP NEXT

Purdue kicks off the regular season on Friday night when it plays host to back-to-back Big West regular season, and defending Big West Tournament, champion Cal State Northridge for a 7 p.m. ET affair. Picked third in the Big West preseason poll, the Matadors claimed victory in both of their exhibition outings, averaging a 19-point margin of victory.

Purdue is 91-20 all-time in season openers, and has won all four season debuts under head coach Matt Painter.

PURDUE FORCES 30 TURNOVERS FOR JUST FIFTH TIME IN PAINTER ERA

The Boilermakers' ballhawking defense induced California of Pennsylvania into 32 turnovers on Tuesday night, marking just the fifth time in head coach Matt Painter's tenure - exhibition or regular season - that Purdue has forced at least 30 turnovers in a game.

The first 30-turnover effort of the Painter era came in the exhibition over North Dakota (32) on Nov. 3, 2006, and the Old Gold and Black followed that up by forcing 33 turnovers against Northern Colorado in the season opener. The Boilers have posted one 30-turnover performance in each of the last two seasons, getting 30 out of Bethune-Cookman on Nov. 15, 2007, and taking the ball from Arkansas-Pine Bluff 35 times on Dec. 6, 2008.

BOILERMAKERS RANKED SEVENTH IN BOTH MAJOR PRESEASON POLLS

Purdue will open the 2009-10 season ranked in the top 10 of both major polls, garnering the No. 7 spot in both the Associated Press and ESPN/USA Today preseason rankings.

The No. 7 ranking marked the Boilermakers first preseason top-10 nod from the AP since the organization listed them ninth prior to the 1997-98 campaign, a span of 11 seasons. The ranking was also Purdue's highest preseason ranking by the AP since it received No. 2 billing prior to the 1987-88 campaign.

The Boilers were included in the AP preseason top 10 for the sixth time in program history, and ranked in the AP preseason poll for the 17th time.

PURDUE NEARING RECORD FOR CONSECUTIVE WEEKS RANKED IN AP POLL

Including the recently-released preseason rankings, the Boilermakers have been ranked in the Associated Press poll for 26-consecutive weeks, a streak that began on Feb. 4, 2008. The Boilers' current run is just eight shy of the program record of 34 weeks, established twice from 1992-94 and 1997-99.

Purdue has spent five of those 26 weeks in the poll's top 10, and 13 weeks in the top 15 spots of the AP rankings.

BOILERMAKERS PICKED SECOND IN BIG TEN

Returning all five starters from a team that advanced to the NCAA Sweet 16 a year ago, defending Big Ten Tournament champion Purdue has been picked to finish second in the league this season in a vote by a 24-member media panel. The results of the vote were announced at Big Ten Basketball Media Day on Nov. 29.

Reigning Big Ten regular season champion Michigan State was the media's pick to win the league in 2009-10, and Ohio State was the predicted third-place finisher.

HUMMEL VOTED TO PRESEASON ALL-CONFERENCE TEAM

For the second-consecutive year, Purdue forward Robbie Hummel has been voted to the five-man Big Ten Preseason All-Conference Team by the league's media. Hummel was named Big Ten Preseason Player of the Year in 2008, and ranked fourth in the league in rebounding and 15th in scoring last season with averages of 7.0 and 12.5, respectively.

Hummel was joined on the all-junior Preseason All-Conference Team by Talor Battle of Penn State, Manny Harris of Michigan, Kalin Lucas of Michigan State and Ohio State's Evan Turner.

HUMMEL, MOORE REPRESENT BOILERS ON WOODEN WATCH LIST

Purdue juniors Robbie Hummel and E'Twaun Moore have been named two of the 50 preseason candidates for the 2010 John R. Wooden Award All-American Team and Player of the Year trophy. Bestowed upon the nation's best player while taking into account academic considerations as well as on-court accomplishments, the Wooden Award is the most prestigious individual honor in college basketball.

Purdue is one of just nine schools in the nation to place more than one player on the preseason watch list.

HUMMEL NAMED TO NAISMITH TROPHY PRESEASON WATCH LIST

In addition to earning inclusion on the preseason watch list of the Wooden Award, junior forward Robbie Hummel was also one of just 50 players from across the nation to be named to the watch list for the Naismith Trophy. The list featured 33 upperclassmen, including 19 seniors and 14 juniors.

KRAMER ONE OF 30 CANDIDATES FOR LOWE'S SENIOR CLASS AWARD

Purdue senior guard Chris Kramer has been selected as one of just 30 men's candidates from across the nation for the Lowe's Senior CLASS Award.

To be eligible for the award, a player must be classified as an NCAA Division I senior and exemplify excellence in four areas: classroom, character, community and competition. The list of candidates will be narrowed to 10 midway through the season, and the award will be bestowed at the 2010 NCAA Final Four in Indianapolis.

BOILERS COMING OFF SECOND-BEST TWO-YEAR WIN TOTAL IN PROGRAM HISTORY

Purdue's 52 victories since the beginning of the 2007-08 season mark the second-best two-year total in program history, just behind the mark of 54 posted from 1987-88 and 1994-95. The Boilermakers are one of only 24 teams in the nation to win 50 or more games of the last two seasons.

The Purdue record for three-year win total stands at 80, from 1994-96, heading into this season. The Boilers narrowly missed that mark over the last three campaigns, piling up 74 victories since 2007.

PURDUE LOOKING TO WIN 100 GAMES IN A FOUR-YEAR STRETCH FOR FIRST TIME IN PROGRAM HISTORY

With 74 victories since the beginning of the 2006-07 campaign, Purdue enters the season 26 wins away from posting the first four-year period in program history with at least 100 wins.

The current record for a four-year time frame is 98 wins, established in from both 1993-96 and 1994-97. The Boilermakers won 96 ballgames from 1985-88, and captured 91 decisions from 1997-00.

GRANT, KRAMER LOOK TO TAKE THEIR PLACES AMONG PURDUE'S ALL-TIME WINNINGEST PLAYERS

Senior guards Keaton Grant and Chris Kramer have been two of the primary catalysts of Purdue's transformation from a nine-win team to one that has made three-straight NCAA Tournaments and appeared in the Sweet 16. In 2009-10, both players have a chance to etch their names alongside the Boilermakers who have played in the most wins in program history.

PURDUE'S JUNIOR TRIO EVOKING MEMORIES OF THE BOILERS' FAMED "TRIPLETS"

Known simply as the "Triplets," Troy Lewis, Todd Mitchell and Everette Stephens dazzled Purdue fans for four years during the prosperous 1980s, winning two Big Ten titles and advancing to the NCAA Tournament in each of their four seasons in West Lafayette. With the "Triplets" at the helm, Purdue's class of 1988 finished its career with 96 wins, at the time a program record, while cementing their names in the school record books a countless number of times. There is perhaps no other group of players in program history more revered and respected than the "Triplets."

More than two decades after the "Triplets" played their final game in the Old Gold and Black, a new Boilermaker trio has emerged to lead the program. Current juniors Robbie Hummel, Jajuan Johnson and E'Twaun Moore have propelled Purdue basketball back into the national spotlight, qualifying for the NCAA Tournament in each of their first two seasons on campus, reaching the Sweet 16 in 2009.

An examination of the groups' team accomplishments and statistics reveals an eerie similarity between two trios of players, separated by more than two decades, who became the faces of Purdue basketball for their respective eras.

BOILERS' CLASS OF 2010 NEARING ELITE COMPANY IN PROGRAM LORE

In tandem with the fact that seniors Keaton Grant and Chris Kramer have the potential to rank among Purdue's all-time leaders in terms of playing in Boilermaker victories, the 2009-10 campaign could also see the Class of 2010 take its place among the winningest classes ever to don the Old Gold and Black.

Purdue's seniors enter the season having won 74 games over the last three years, placing them 19 victories shy of tying the Class of 1999's win total of 93 games for fifth place on the program's chart.

PURDUE'S ALL-TIME WINNINGEST CLASSES

- Class of 1996 98
- Class of 1997 98
- Class of 1998 97
- Class of 1988 96
- Class of 1999 93

PAINTER LOOKING TO BECOME SIXTH COACH TO WIN 100 GAMES AT PURDUE

With 83 victories to his credit since taking over as Purdue's head coach prior to the 2005-06 campaign, Matt Painter will look to win his 100th game with the Boilermakers this season, becoming just the sixth person to reach the milestone in West Lafayette.

Legendary head coaches Ward "Piggy" Lambert is the fastest coach to win 100 games at Purdue, needing just 139 games, followed by Gene Keady (148), George King (152), Fred Schaus (155) and Ray Eddy (197). Painter's 83 victories have come in 133 contests on the Purdue bench.

QUARTET OF BOILERS SHOOTING FOR 1,000-POINT MARK IN 2009-10

Heading into the 2009-10 season, Purdue has four players within striking distance of the 1,000-point mark for their careers. Junior guard E'Twaun Moore leads the pack with 949 points to his credit, while senior guard Keaton Grant (799), junior forward Robbie Hummel (776) and junior forward/center Jajuan Johnson (679) could also reach the milestone this season.

In its 111-year history, Purdue has only had four 1,000-point scorers on the same roster at one time, when Troy Lewis, Todd Mitchell, Melvin McCants and Everette Stephens took the floor for the Boilermakers during the 1987-88 season. Purdue has had three 1,000-point scorers on the same roster five times (including 1987-88), most recently in 1999-00, and the Boilers have boasted at least a pair of 1,000-point scorers on the same team 17 times.

PURDUE ROSTER BOASTS TWO OF MOST PROLIFIC THREE-POINT SHOOTERS IN PROGRAM HISTORY

Two of the key ingredients of Purdue's three-point success in recent years, senior guard Keaton Grant and junior guard E'Twaun Moore enter the 2009-10 season already ranked among the top long-distance shooters in program history.

2009-10 PURDUE SEASON TIMELINE

Oct. 16 Opened practice with two-hour session on Keady Court

Oct. 29 Predicted to finish second in Big Ten by league media

Nov. 3 Grant scores 14, adds five steals in 78-44 exhibition win over Cal U

Grant, who led the team with 61 trifectas a season ago, heads into his final collegiate campaign ranked sixth on Purdue's career lists for both three-pointers made (144) and attempted (389). He needs seven triples to tie Troy Lewis for fifth on the school's all-time ledger, and a third-consecutive season with at least 60 three-point field goals would make him just the fourth player in program history with 200 or more for his career.

Purdue's freshman record holder for three-point field goals, Moore stands in 11th place on both the makes (122) and attempts (318) charts at the outset of his junior season. He needs just three trifectas to crack the top-10, tying Jimmy Oliver and Maynard Lewis for ninth place (125).

KRAMER RANKS AMONG NCAA'S ACTIVE LEADERS IN STEALS

Widely regarded as one of the nation's top defenders, senior guard Chris Kramer stands among the NCAA's active leaders in total thefts heading into his final season at Purdue.

NCAA ACTIVE STEALS LEADERS HEADING INTO 2009-10 SEASON

1. Devan Downey, South Carolina 257
2. Chris Kramer, Purdue 214
3. Chase Adams, Pittsburgh 210^
4. Tyrone Lewis, Niagara 197
5. Brigham Waginger, W. Carolina 195

^ - Completed his first three years of eligibility at Centenary

Heading into the 2009-10 campaign, Kramer has registered at least on steal in 21-straight games, and 64 of his last 68 outings, for the Boilermakers. He's also led Purdue in thefts 54 times in 98-career games, or 55 percent of his appearances in the Old Gold and Black.

MINUTES PILING UP FOR BOILERMAKER QUARTET

As the 2009-10 season gets under way, four Purdue players are already within reach of etching their names on the program's top-25 chart for career minutes played. All four are chasing James Bullock, who logged 2,818 minutes played from 1982-85, for 25th place on the chart.

Senior guard Chris Kramer is the closest to catching Bullock, entering the season with 2,730 minutes to his credit to leave him 88 minutes shy of cracking the list. Classmate Keaton Grant heads into the campaign having played 2,607 minutes (211 shy of 25th place), while junior guard E'Twaun Moore has played 2,262 (556 shy) and junior forward Robbie Hummel has logged 1,885 (933 shy).

Moore, who is just the third player in school history to play at least 1,000 minutes in each of his first two seasons at Purdue (also Russell Cross and Glenn Robinson), has a chance to establish a new program record for court time by the time his career in West Lafayette is over. His 2,262-career minutes are 1,597 shy of Troy Lewis' school record of 3,859, and Moore has averaged 1,131 minutes per season during his collegiate tenure.

Moore moved into second place on Purdue's single-season minutes list as a sophomore with 1,222 on the year, and has a chance in 2009-10 to become only the fourth player in program history to register three 1,000-minute seasons, joining Russell Cross, Lewis and Keith Edmonson.

BOILERMAKERS FIND SUCCESS WHEN MOORE HAS AT LEAST FIVE ASSISTS

While junior guard E'Twaun Moore's ability to score the ball is certainly a key to Purdue's success, he has also shown a knack for influencing the game by setting up his teammates for buckets.

Moore has piled at least five assists on 12 occasions in two collegiate seasons, and the Boilermakers are 11-1 in those contests. Purdue was a perfect 6-0 when Moore had at least five assists as a freshman, and last season saw the Boilers post a 5-1 record when he hit that mark.

PURDUE SEEKING TO EXTEND STREAK OF NCAA TOURNAMENT BERTHS

The Boilermakers have qualified for the NCAA Tournament in each of the last three seasons, the third-longest streak in program history and the longest since making eighth-straight Big Dances from 1993-00. Purdue also earned six-consecutive tournament berths from 1983-88.

BOILERS' STRING OF 20-WIN SEASONS NOT A COMMOMPLACE FEAT

Purdue has won at least 20 games in each of the last three seasons, a feat that had only been accomplished four times prior to the team's current stretch. Such a streak also hadn't occurred in West Lafayette since the 1997-98, 1998-99 and 1999-00 seasons.

Another 20-win campaign in 2009-10 would give the current Purdue team the second-longest streak in program history, trailing only the six-consecutive seasons of 20 or more wins put together from 1983-88.

PURDUE'S RETURNING PLAYERS KNOW HOW TO TAKE CARE OF THE BALL

The Boilermakers continued to establish themselves among the country's elite in terms of ball security in 2008-09, finishing the season with a 1.30 assist-to-turnover ratio to rank 16th nationally.

Many of the catalysts for Purdue's ability to take care of the ball are back in 2009-10, as the Boilers' returning players combined for a 1.40 ATR a year ago - a figure that would have been ninth in Division I last season. Junior forward Robbie Hummel and senior guard Chris Kramer were Purdue's leaders in ATR in 2008-09, posting marks of 1.94 and 1.91, respectively, while sophomore guard Lewis Jackson returns after a rookie season that saw him record a 1.59 ratio in 36 games.

BOILERS COUNTING DOWN TO 500 WINS AT MACKEY

Now in its 42nd season as home to the Boilermakers, Mackey Arena has provided Purdue with one of the top home-court advantages in all of college basketball.

The Boilers will open the season with an all-time record of 492-114 (.812) at Mackey, leaving them just eight wins shy of a milestone 500th victory on their home floor. The fastest Purdue could attain that milestone is its Jan. 5 showdown with Minnesota, the team's Big Ten home opener.

PURDUE RECOGNIZED AMONG COLLEGE BASKETBALL'S ALL-TIME ELITE

The Big Ten's all-time leader in conference championships and a two-time Final Four participant, Purdue's place among college basketball's elite programs was recognized in early October when the Boilermakers were awarded the No. 8 spot on the ESPN/Sagarin All-Time Rankings, compiled as part of the ESPN College Basketball Encyclopedia.

Noted computer rankings analyst Jeff Sagarin also put together lists of the top 40 programs in each decade from the 1940s to the present. Purdue was one of only four programs, along with Indiana, Kansas and Kentucky, to garner a spot on each decade's list.

In addition to their No. 8 overall ranking, the Boilers were rated No. 7 in the 1940s, No. 30 in the 1950s, No. 28 in the 1960s, No. 10 in both the 1970s and 1980s, No. 11 in the 1990s and No. 40 in the 2000s.

BOILERMAKERS ADD ANOTHER CHAPTER TO HISTORY OF INTERNATIONAL SUCCESS

Purdue head coach Matt Painter and junior forward Robbie Hummel added another chapter to Purdue's legacy of success with USA Basketball during the summer of 2009, winning gold and bronze, respectively, in international competition.

Painter served as an assistant coach for United States' U19 World Championship team in Auckland, New Zealand, helping Team USA win its first U19 gold medal since 1991. Hummel, meanwhile, averaged 7.3 points and 5.6 rebounds per contest to help spur the U.S. to a bronze medal at the World University Games in Belgrade, Serbia.

Including the Boilers' success in 2009, six different members of the Purdue basketball program have now won international medals:

PURDUE'S ALL-TIME INTERNATIONAL MEDAL WINNERS

- 1979 Gene Keady, U.S. Olympic Festival (gold)
- 1989 Gene Keady, World University Games (gold)
- Tony Jones, World University Games (gold)

- 1998 Brian Cardinal, Goodwill Games (gold)
- 2009 Matt Painter, FIBA U19 World Championships (gold)
- Robbie Hummel, World University Games (bronze)

BOILERMAKERS IN THE NBA

With the 2009-10 season under way, Purdue is represented by three players on NBA rosters.

Brad Miller (1995-98) is in his second stint with Chicago after joining the Bulls in a midseason trade last year and leading the team to a playoff berth, while Brian Cardinal (1997-00) is in his second season with the Minnesota Timberwolves and Carl Landry (2005-07) is in his third year with the Houston Rockets.

Former Purdue assistant Steve Lavin and former Illinois forward Stephen Bardo - both currently serving as college basketball television personalities - will be the evening's featured guests.

SEASON-TICKET SALES A SUCCESS FOR BOILERMAKERS

After winning its first-ever Big Ten Tournament title and advancing to the Sweet 16 last season, Purdue has sold more season tickets for the 2009-10 season than it did a year ago.

To date, 13,837 season passes have been purchased to see the Boilermakers in Mackey Arena this season, an increase of nearly 400 from the 2008-09 campaign. Public and staff season tickets sales have eclipsed the 8,000-ticket mark, also an improvement of nearly 350 over last year's total.

Season tickets in the upper arena are still available at a rate of $358 for the general public and $287 for staff.

PURDUE ICON BACK FOR 27TH YEAR BEHIND MICROPHONE

Boilermaker legend Larry Clisby returns for his 27th season as the voice of Boilermaker basketball in 2009-10. Heading into the campaign, Cliz has worked a total of 933 Purdue contests, including 849 as the play-by-play man, and been behind the mike for 526-straight Boilermaker games.

The Old Gold and Black has won 547 games during Cliz's tenure as play-by-play voice for a sparkling .644 winning percentage.

Fans can log on to purduesports.com to read the Cliz Blog, an inside look at the Boilers through the eyes of one of the program's institutions.

THE MACKEY ARENA PROJECT

Purdue University's Mackey Arena is currently undergoing a construction project designed to complement it not only as a basketball venue, but also benefit each of the university's nearly 500 student-athletes.

The scope of the Mackey Arena Complex project is the most comprehensive and significant facility undertaking in the university's athletics history, said Morgan J. Burke, director of intercollegiate athletics. It will bring a 40-year-old campus landmark into the 21st century, while preserving its rich history and tradition.

A three-level structure is planned to the north of Mackey, and is currently being referred to as the Student-Athlete Development Center. Its highlights include:

- A sports medicine facility approximately three-and-a-half to four times larger than the current area in Mackey
- A strength and weight training facility approximately four times larger than the existing Intercollegiate Athletic Facility weight room
- An oversized basketball practice facility with a full-size court and three breakout shooting area

The Mackey Arena Complex will significantly enhance the overall fan experience at Purdue home games. The concourse width will be approximately doubled, while both concessions and restrooms will increase. In addition, the lower seating sections on the east side will be modified to allow for premium seating, with club seats and logo seats provided. A limited number of premium courtside seats will also be available in the west pit area. Accessible seating will increase approximately six times, and two club spaces will be created - one for general fans on the west side and a premium club to the east.

Other upgrades will include new locker rooms and lounges, meeting rooms, offices, laundry facilities and equipment storage. The entire upper level of the IAF will be transformed into an academic center spanning approximately 10,000 square feet.

"Mackey Arena is one of the top places in the country for basketball," Purdue head coach Matt Painter said. "One of the best aspects of this renovation is that the integrity of the arena will remain the same. This plan is integrating state-of-the-art facilities and still preserving the tradition of the past."

Since it opened in 1967, Mackey Arena, named for late Purdue athletics director Guy "Red" Mackey, has earned a reputation as one of the premiere basketball arenas in the nation. The men's program tops all Big Ten schools with 21 conference championships, while the women's program has won seven regular-season titles and six postseason tournament crowns, all since 1991.

With a Sweet 16 appearance, three-consecutive NCAA Tournament berths, a Big Ten championship and an international gold medal on his résumé, Matt Painter heads into his fifth season at Purdue as one of the brightest and most-respected coaches in the college game.

In four short years, Painter has taken a program that won only nine games in his initial campaign and returned it to the ranks of the nation's elite, reaching the Sweet 16 for the first time in almost a decade in 2009. The Boilermakers have won 52 games over the course of the last two seasons, the second-best two year total in the school's storied history, while claiming Purdue's first-ever Big Ten Tournament championship in 2009.

Painter has proven himself as a master of personnel development during his time at the helm of the Purdue program, mentoring a squad that known just two seasons ago as the "Baby Boilermakers" into one of the nation's most formidable teams.

The 2008-09 season was a testament to that development, as Painter guided the Boilers to a 27-10 record and their first-ever Big Ten Tournament title. The team smashed the previous program record with 176 blocked shots on the year, while Purdue's 27 victories were its most since 1997-98 and tied for the fourth-best total in school history.

The Boilers were at their best in the postseason, rattling off double-digit victories over both Penn State and Illinois to reach the Big Ten Tournament final, where they dispatched Ohio State, 65-61, to cut down the nets.

MATT PAINTER

HEAD COACH

FIFTH SEASON (PURDUE '94)

The Big Ten Tournament, however, was just the first act of Purdue's postseason script in 2009, as the Boilers earned the fifth seed in the West Region and headed out to Portland, Ore., for the NCAA Tournament. After defeating Northern Iowa in its first-round game, Purdue earned a 76-74 triumph over Washington in front of a highly-partisan crowd at the Rose Garden to earn its first Sweet 16 berth since 2000.

Purdue was also a constant presence in the national polls during the 2008-09 campaign, rising as high as ninth to mark the Boilermakers' first appearance in the AP top-10 since 1999.

Both Painter and his players were widely recognized for their accomplishments in 2008-09. Sophomore Jajuan Johnson became the third-straight Boiler to earn first-team All-Big Ten acclaim, while classmates E'Twaun Moore and Robbie Hummel took home second and third-team honors, respectively. Junior Chris Kramer captured honorable mention all-league honors in addition to his third-straight nod to the Big Ten All-Defensive Team, and freshman Lewis Jackson earned a place on the league's All-Freshman squad.

Johnson and Hummel were also named to the USBWA All-District V team, making Purdue the only school with multiple honorees, while the former also earned inclusion on the NABC District 7 first team.

As the architect of one of the finest seasons in program history, Painter was named a finalist for the Henry Iba Award, given annually by the USBWA to its coach of the year, for the second-consecutive season.

Despite counting four true freshman, two sophomores and a junior college transfer among his top seven scorers in 2007-08, Painter led Purdue to a 25-9 record, a second-place finish in the Big Ten and a second-consecutive trip to the NCAA Tournament. With a 15-3 record in the Big Ten, the Boilermakers finished just one game out of first place and swept league champion Wisconsin to hand the Badgers their only two Big Ten losses of the year.

Purdue ranked as high as 14th in the polls in 2007-08, wrapping up the campaign at No. 20 in both the Associated Press and ESPN/USA Today rankings. The Boilers also showed a knack for knocking off some of the nation's top teams that season, posting three victories over squads ranked in the top-11 of the polls.

For his efforts, Painter was named Big Ten and NABC District 10 Coach of the Year, becoming just the second Purdue floor leader to earn the first acclaim. He was also a finalist for the Naismith Coach of the Year Award, the Jim Phelan Award and the Skip Prosser Man of the Year Award, and secured a nomination for the Iba Award.

Several of Painter's players were also honored following the 2007-08 campaign, as Hummel and Moore were named first and second-team All-Big Ten, respectively, and Kramer took home league Defensive Player of the Year accolades.

In his second season at the helm, Painter led Purdue back to the NCAA Tournament, where it defeated Arizona in the first round before dropping a seven-point decision to eventual national champion and top overall seed Florida.

Purdue won nine conference games in 2006-07, setting a school record for improvement after capturing just three Big Ten victories the year before. The Boilermakers' 13-game turnaround was also a program record, and ranked as the fourth-best in the nation that season.

Boilermaker seniors Carl Landry and David Teague also excelled on the individual level in 2006-07, collecting first and second-team All-Big Ten honors, respectively.

In the fall of 2006, Painter signed the Big Ten's top-ranked recruiting class, a haul that was widely regarded as one of the nation's five best by various recruiting publications.

Painter's transition into the head coaching job was a planned one, as he was tabbed in April of 2004 to succeed legendary Purdue coach Gene Keady and lead the Boilermakers into the future. Following a one-year stint as the Boilers' associate head coach, Painter officially became Purdue's 18th head coach on April 1, 2005.

Painter has also resurrected Mackey Arena as one of the country's best home-court advantages, piling up a 55-9 (.859) record at home in his first four seasons as the Boilermakers' head coach. The Boilers went 16-1 at Mackey Arena in both 2006-07 and 2007-08, setting a new program record for home wins in a season, while the 2007-08 campaign also included Purdue's first 9-0 home conference record since the 1987-88 season.

In July of 2009, Painter extended his reach past the collegiate game and into the international arena, serving as an assistant coach with the United States squad that captured the gold medal at the FIBA U19 World Championship in Auckland, New Zealand. Despite medaling in seven of the last nine U19 Worlds, Team USA hadn't won gold since 1991.

Painter spent the 2003-04 season as head coach at Southern Illinois, where he led the Salukis to a 25-5 record and a spot in the NCAA Tournament. SIU was ranked as high as 15th in the AP poll during the campaign, and Painter was rewarded for the team's success with Missouri Valley Conference Coach of the Year honors.

Prior to taking over as head coach at Southern Illinois, Painter served as the Salukis' top assistant for five years under longtime Purdue assistant Bruce Weber, helping quickly reverse the fortunes of a program that suffered three-straight losing seasons before the duo arrived in Carbondale.

Painter helped put the Southern Illinois program on the map during the 2001-02 season, mentoring a team that set a school record with 28 wins and earned a spot in the Sweet 16. The Salukis made a return trip to the Big Dance with Painter on the bench in 2003, and were featured in a nationally-televised documentary on MTV.

After graduating from Purdue in 1994, Painter made three coaching stops before heading to Southern Illinois. He coached one year each at Washington & Jefferson College (1993-94) and Barton College (1994-95) before breaking into the Division I ranks, spending three years at Eastern Illinois (1995-98).

Painter helped guide Washington & Jeff to the Division III Elite Eight and an overall record of 22-3 in his lone year on the bench. He was also heavily involved in recruiting Eastern Illinois stars Kyle Hill and Henry Domercant, who later led EIU to the 2001 NCAA Tournament.

The Muncie, Ind., native played guard at Purdue from 1990-93, leading the Boilers to three NCAA Tournament bids and an NIT appearance. Painter also piled up 276 assists during his playing days in West Lafayette, a figure that still ranks 17th on the program's career chart. He served as a team captain during the 1992-93 season, which saw him collect honorable mention All-Big Ten accolades after dishing out 127 assists in 28 games, an average of better than 4.5 per contest.

In addition to his bachelor's degree from Purdue, Painter also earned a Master's degree from Eastern Illinois in 1998. He and his wife, Jerri, have three children: Maggie, Brayden and Emma.
