HEAD COACH KEVIN WILLARD

Kevin Willard, now in his sixth season as the Seton Hall men's basketball head coach in 2015-16, has reenergized the program both on the court and in the classroom and has the Pirates ready to break through in the BIG EAST.

Willard has developed student-athletes who have earned nine All-BIG EAST selections and 20 BIG EAST Academic All-Star selections, and he has boasted three perfect single-year academic progress rate in the four NCAA reports since becoming the Pirates' head coach. He has proven to be a strong evaluator and recruiter of talent, as he brought in a consensus top 15 national recruiting class in 2014, led by Isaiah Whitehead, the program's first McDonald's All-American since 2001 and just the fifth all-time. He also has been able to retain Metropolitan New York's top talent with seven of the team's 13 players hailing from either New York City or New Jersey.

In 2014-15, Willard guided one of the youngest teams in NCAA Div. I to a winning season full of accomplishments. Under Willard's direction, the Pirates captured the 2014 Paradise Jam championship, claimed the first-ever Garden State Hardwood Classic trophy with a win over Rutgers and defeated two Associated Press top-15 teams (No. 15 St. John's, No. 6 Villanova) in back-to-back games for the first time in over 20 years. Seton Hall returned to the national rankings for the first time in three years, earning a No. 19 ranking in the Associated Press poll on Jan. 5 and remaining ranked for a total of three weeks. The No. 19 ranking was the highest for Seton Hall since being No. 22 on Jan. 30, 2001 and the first time inside the top 20 since Jan. 23, 2001.

And although the team was young, Willard and his staff did an outstanding job developing the freshmen student-athletes into fantastic BIG EAST contributors, headlined by forward Angel Delgado, who was named the BIG EAST Rookie of the Year after becoming just the second freshman in BIG EAST history to lead the conference in rebounding (Troy Murphy in 1999). Joining Delgado on the BIG EAST All-Rookie team was Whitehead, who had a big impact on the team, finishing second in scoring at 12.0 points per game. He earned Joe Calabrese MVP honors after scoring 25 points in Seton Hall's win over Rutgers in the inaugural Garden State Hardwood Classic. Khadeen Carrington, Desi Rodriguez and Rashed Anthony also were freshmen playing critical roles for the Pirates, who received nearly half of their season points from rookies.

Willard and his staff also aided in the development of Sterling Gibbs, who blossomed into a BIG EAST star after finishing in the top five in the conference in scoring and assists, the only player in the league to do so. Gibbs was a second-team All-BIG EAST selection, dropped 20 or more points nine times during the season and had a 40-point outburst against Illinois State in the Paradise Jam championship title game to earn MVP honors. Gibbs finished ninth in the nation in three-point shooting at 43.6 percent, which is also second-highest of any Seton Hall Pirate ever.

Off the court, Willard is a big believer in academic success, and his vision has translated into incredible results. The Pirates posted a GPA over 3.0 during the spring 2015 semester. At the same time, the program was honored with the distinguished NCAA APR Public Recognition Award for sporting an Academic Progress Rate in the top 10 percent of all Div. I men's basketball schools. Five Pirates were bestowed the BIG EAST Academic All-Star award for holding a 3.0 GPA or higher during the entire 2014-15 academic year, including Angel Delgado, Sterling Gibbs, Haralds Karlis, Brandon Mobley and Michael Nzei.
