The Green Wave fell at Mississippi State on Saturday evening, 69-59, scoring just two field goals in the final 11 minutes of the game. Tulane trailed by six at the half and came out of the break to score 10 straight points via two dunks by Dylan Osetkowski and three layups by Malik Morgan. The Green Wave turned it into a 17-2 run before the shots stopped falling. The Bulldogs took advantage of the drought, going on a 22-5 run to close out the game.

Osetkowski set a career high with 20 points in the game, while Morgan earned the first double-double of his Tulane career with 11 points and 10 boards.

SEASONED VETERAN
Louis Dabney is the top returner and lone senior for Tulane this season. The New Orleans native opened the season surpassing the 1,000 career point mark with his second bucket of the Alabama A&M game and he currently leads the team averaging 13.9 points per game.

BIG-TIME BEGINNING
A number of Tulane players got the 2015-16 season started in a big way in the opener against Alabama A&M. Graduate student Jernard Jarreau became the second player on this year’s rosters to notch a double-double with he scored 10 points and brought down 13 rebounds in the same game.

Tulane’s first lead of the game midway through the second half. LSU-transfer Malik Morgan gave the Green Wave a balanced effort in his new role as point guard with his new team. Morgan finished with nine points, eight rebounds, four assists and three steals.

RETURNING ON THE OTHER SIDE
Tulane assistant coach Shammond Williams returned to Chapel Hill for the first time as a coach. Williams played for the Tar Heels from 1994-1998 and helped the Heels get to three Final Fours during his career. Williams was recently dethroned as North Carolina’s all-time leader in three-pointers made (223).

TULANE VS. RANKED OPPONENTS
The Green Wave hold an 11-48 record since 1989 against ranked teams in the AP Rankings. Most recently, Tulane fell to No. 11 North Carolina, 96-72.

TULANE IN OVERTIME
The Green Wave opened a season with an overtime game for the first time in program history when they fell to Alabama A&M, and followed it up with another overtime outing against Drake. Tulane is now 33-42 all-time in overtime games, 2-6 under Coach Conroy. The Green Wave are 2-4 all-time in back-to-back overtime games, 2-2 under Coach Conroy after falling to Alabama A&M and knocking off Drake to open the season.

STAYING LOCAL
More than half of the 2015-16 Tulane roster hails from not only the state of Louisiana, but New Orleans itself. Seven players have made the choice to stay home for both their playing career and education. Louis Dabney (New Orleans, Riverside), Malik Morgan (River Ridge, John Curtis), Riley Conroy (New Orleans, Jesuit), Blake Paul (New Orleans, Landry-Walker), Von Julien (Reserve, Riverside) and Melvin Frazier (Avondale, L.W. Higgins) make up the team’s local products, and will be joined next season by recent signee Maxwell Starwood (Baton Rouge, University Lab).

1,000 AND COUNTING
Senior Louis Dabney entered his senior season just three points shy of the 1,000 career point mark. He became the 35th player in Tulane history to surpass that threshold with his second bucket of the game in the season opener against Alabama A&M. He now sits at 23rd all-time at Tulane with 1,164 points to date.

Game 13: Southern Miss
ED CONROY
SIXTH SEASON
THE CITADEL, 1989

The 2011-12 campaign saw the Green Wave get off to the program's best start at 12-2 since the 1994-95 team opened 13-2. Tulane claimed the Hoops for Hope and the Skip Prosser Classic titles and conference rival Houston. The 2012-13 team also featured two all-conference performers as Juhsh Davis earned first-team All-CUSA and Richy Tarrant was tabbed second-team All-CUSA. Under Conroy, Davis put together one of the most successful seasons in school history and became just the first player to score at least 600 points and pull down at least 350 rebounds in a season.

As a team, Conroy guided Tulane to its fourth most points in a season in school history and the most free throws made and attempted. The Green Wave also posted wins at SEC foe Alabama and conference rival Houston.

The 2011-12 campaign saw the Green Wave get off to the program's best start at 12-2 since the 1994-95 team opened 13-2. Tulane claimed the Hoops for Hope and the Skip Prosser Classic titles during that stretch. During Conroy's second season, two starters were lost due to injuries, including preseason All-Conference selection Kendall Timmons, who went down with an achillies injury during the second Conference USA game of the season on Jan. 7. Timmons' injury did open the door for freshman Richy Tarrant to step up and eventually earn first-team All-CUSA and the conference's Freshman of the Year honors.

During Conroy's first season at the helm, Tulane enjoyed a 12-4 start before losing two starters to injury. Conroy also coached the Green Wave to the most prolific three-point shooting season in the program's history, hitting 238 long range shots, shattering the previous mark of 181 set by the 1995-96 team. Conroy's Tulane team also had the highest assist to turnover ratio (1.098) since the 1983-84 season (1.14) and had the highest three-point field goal percentage (36.4) since the 1990-91 team's 38.0 percent.

Tulane's Kendall Timmons enjoyed one of the most successful sophomore seasons in school history in 2010-11 and earned second-team All-Conference USA and second-team All-District by the NABC. Conroy, formally introduced as the 23rd coach of the Tulane University's men's basketball team on April 7, 2010, came to Tulane after a four-year stint as the head coach at The Citadel where he posted a 36-29 overall record, including a 24-14 mark in the Southern Conference in his last two seasons. Both marks were tops in school history for wins in a two-year stretch. He has also served as an assistant coach at Coastal Carolina University, the University of Tennessee, Furman University, Virginia Military Institute and North Carolina State University, and spent three seasons as the head coach at Division II Francis Marion University.

The Davenport, Iowa, native was named the 2008-09 Southern Conference Coach of the Year and earned NABC District 22 Coach of the Year honors after leading The Citadel to a 20-13 record that included a school record 15 conference victories. Conroy led the Bulldogs to the best turnaround in Division I that season, going from a 6-24 team into the second 20-win season in school history and the first since the 1978-79 season. He guided the Citadel to the program's first post-season appearance in history, earning an appearance in the 2009 CIT. Conroy was also honored nationally as the Skip Prosser Man of the Year in 2009. Conroy had tremendous success on the recruiting trail at The Citadel as the program had at least one member of the five-member SoCon All-Freshman team in each of his last three seasons. In 2008, Cameron Wills became the first Citadel player to earn the Southern Conference Freshman of the Year honors. Wills completed his career in 2011 as the school's all-time leading scorer (1,619 points) and the first Citadel player to ever score over 2,000 points. As Conroy's players developed and improved, they reached the next level and every graduating senior from 2007-2010 at the Citadel under Conroy went on to sign professional contracts.

Prior to his tenure at The Citadel, Conroy spent one season as an assistant coach at Coastal Carolina under Buzz Peterson. In his first year with CCU, the Chanticleers went 20-10 overall and 12-4 in the Big South Conference. Coastal finished the season second in the Big South and made their first appearance in the Big South championship game since 1993.

Conroy joined Coastal after spending four years on Peterson's staff at Tennessee, the last two as an assistant coach. Prior to being named an assistant coach, Conroy served as the Director of Basketball Operations for the Volunteers during the 2001-02 and 2002-03 seasons after holding the same position on Peterson's staff at the University of Tulsa in 2000-01.

Prior to joining Peterson's staff at Tulsa, Conroy worked for three years as the head coach at Francis Marion University in Florence, S.C. In three seasons at Francis Marion, Conroy recorded a 49-46 overall record. In his first season at FMU he led the Patriots to a 16-11 record, which was an improvement of 13 wins from the previous season and ranked as the biggest turnaround in NCAA Divisons I and II that year. Picked to last in the Peach Belt Conference that season, the Patriots finished second. His team's accomplishments netted Conroy the 1998 conference coach of the year honors.

Before taking over the head coaching reins at Francis Marion, Conroy spent three years (1994-97) as an assistant coach at Furman and one year (1993-94) at Virginia Military Institute. He also spent three years (1990-93) on Les Robinson's North Carolina State staff and also included Peterson and Dan Daniel.

Conroy was recruited to play basketball for The Citadel by Robinson in 1985 and was a three-year starter for the Bulldogs. He is tied for 10th in The Citadel record books for his free throw percentage in a season (84.7 in 1988) and holds down the No. 7 spot for free throw percentage in a career with 81.5. During his senior season, Conroy started all 28 games and averaged 10.1 points a game. He converted 103 three-point field goals in his career. As a senior, Conroy also served as team captain and held the rank of Lt. Colonel in the Corps of Cadets, the highest rank achieved by a basketball player in the modern era at The Citadel.

After graduating from the military school in 1989 with a bachelor's degree in business administration, Conroy worked at IBM before earning his first coaching job as an assistant to Robinson at North Carolina State.

Conroy and his wife Ginny have three children, Riley, Hunt and Hannah. Riley is a redshirt freshman on this year's Green Wave team.
