The Stanford-Florida State Series

This is the second meeting between Stanford and the Seminoles, but it's also the second NCAA tournament meeting in as many years. In the NCAA quarterfinals on Nov. 26, 2010, Stanford broke open a 1-0 match with four second-half goals in a 5-0 home victory. The goals were scored by five different players, including current Cardinal Mariah Nogueira, Lindsay Taylor, Teresa Noyola, and Marjani Hing-Glover.

Reunion

Stanford will face former teammate Katie Riley when it faces Florida State on Friday. Riley, a sixth-year senior, was on the Stanford team from 2006-09, but played in only 2006 and 2009 because of a series of injuries. As a freshman, she played in 20 matches and started 12. As a redshirt junior, she played 12 times and started the first two rounds of the NCAA tournament at left outside back in place of injured Ali Riley (no relation). In all, she played in 32 matches and started 14. Riley, who was not part of the team in 2010, graduated from Stanford with degrees in psychology and religious studies, and is enrolled in graduate school at Florida State while working toward a master's in sports psychology.

The Stanford-Duke Series

Stanford leads the all-time series against Duke, 6-1. The two last met on Aug. 29, 2010, at the Carolina Nike Classic in Chapel Hill, N.C., with Stanford winning 2-1. Stanford fell behind in the 50th minute on a rebound by Laura Weinberg, but Stanford rallied on a tying goal by Teresa Noyola in the 50th minute and a Noyola assist to Christen Press in the 75th for the winner. All of Stanford's previous victories took place from 1989 to 1994, all by one goal. Duke won 3-0 in 1996.

The Stanford-Wake Forest Series

Trivia question: Of the schools that Stanford has played at least three times over the years, which are the only two the Cardinal never has beaten?

The Answer: North Carolina and ... Wake Forest.

Stanford is 0-2-1 against the Demon Deacons, with all matches between 1998 and 2006. The most recent meeting (a 2-1 overtime loss on Aug. 27, 2006 at Santa Clara) is significant to Stanford because it marks the last time the Cardinal has scored and lost. Stanford has gone unbeaten in its past 127 matches since when scoring a goal.

Head Coach Paul Ratcliffe

Two-time national coach of the year Paul Ratcliffe has built Stanford into one of the nation's elite and continues to draw the program closer to a national championship. In eight seasons, Ratcliffe has never failed to direct the Cardinal to the NCAA tournament. Now, with consecutive berths in the NCAA championship final, the team is a perennial title contender.

In guiding Stanford to NCAA College Cup appearances the past three years, Ratcliffe has earned the past four Pac-12 and NSCAA Pacific Region Coach of the Year awards, and two NSCAA National Coach of Year honors.

The Cardinal has won the past three Pac-12 titles with perfect records and is a combined 93-4-4 overall since 2008. Just as impressive is the level of talent that has come through the program -- headlined by the past two Hermann Trophy winners as college soccer's top player, Christen Press (2010) and Kelley O'Hara (2009).

Ratcliffe is in his ninth season at Stanford, which makes him the longest-tenured head coach in program history, and his 156-35-19 record makes him the winningest as well. Ratcliffe has never had a losing season at Stanford, or anywhere else since his first collegiate head-coaching season, at Saint Mary's in 1998.

Ratcliffe, whose career record is 211-69-26, has coached five first-team NSCAA All-Americans (11 All-Americans in all), 26 all-conference players, 51 conference All-Academic selections, six FIFA World Cup players, and three Olympians.

Fellow senior Camille Levin also has five appearances, with two starts.

In all, 12 current Stanford players have made College Cup appearances, and nine have started. Seven projected starters have made College Cup starts and nine projected starters have played.

History in the Making

Stanford's seniors completed their home careers undefeated at Laird Q. Cagan, going 53-0-1 after a 2-1 quarterfinal overtime victory over Oklahoma State last week.

Stanford's home winning streak of 50 is the second-longest in NCAA Division I history. The streak, which began at the outset of the 2008 season, is second only to North Carolina's 84 from 1986-94. The Stanford class of 2012 became the first team other than North Carolina to complete four years undefeated at home.

In addition, Stanford's 54-match home unbeaten streak (2008-current) is third in history only to North Carolina's streaks of 84 (1986-94) and 56 (1999-2004).

Three Consecutive 20-Goal Scorers

It's not unprecedented, but it's certainly a rare feat: Stanford has had three different 20-goal scorers in each of the past three years:

2009: Kelley O'Hara, 26 goals

2010: Christen Press, 26 goals

2011: Lindsay Taylor, 20 goals

Through some unofficial research, it appears as though the last team to accomplish the feat was Notre Dame from 1996-98. The Fighting Irish actually had six different 20-goal scorers during that span. They had three in 1996, two in 1997, and Jenny Heft (28 goals) in 28.

When Scoring a Goal

Since the second match of the 2006 season, Stanford is 122-0-5 when scoring at least one goal. The last time Stanford scored and lost was Aug. 27, 2006, in a 2-1 overtime loss to Wake Forest at Santa Clara. At home, Stanford hasn't scored a goal and lost since Oct. 5, 2003, when the Cardinal fell to Loyola Marymount, 2-1, during coach Paul Ratcliffe's first season. Stanford is 84-0-3 when scoring a home goal during that stretch.

Rarely Overtaken

The Wake Forest match on Aug. 27, 2006, also marks the last time Stanford failed to hold a lead in a loss. Since then, Stanford has gone 145 matches without losing after holding a lead.

Defense

Stanford has allowed only nine goals in 24 matches and is second in the nation in goals-against average (0.37). The Cardinal has had two long shutout streaks, most recently one that lasted 604 minutes, 40 seconds until Oklahoma State scored last week in the quarterfinals. Earlier, Stanford assembled a stretch of 675:24. That streak included seven consecutive shutouts, tying a school record that has been reached four times. Stanford has 16 shutouts. In the past 18 matches, Stanford has allowed only three goals in the run of play. Two others in that span were scored on penalty kicks. Goalkeeper Emily Oliver has allowed only five goals in 1,761 minutes and has 10 shutouts.

When Trailing

Stanford has trailed three times this season, falling behind Pacific, Notre Dame, and Oregon State by 1-0 scores. Against Pacific on Aug. 21, Stanford scored three goals by halftime to take a 3-1 lead on the way to a 5-2 victory. In the others, Stanford combined to score four goals in those matches to win each 2-1, with three of those goals by Lindsay Taylor.

The Notre Dame match marked Stanford's latest deficit after the Irish's Melissa Henderson scored in the 67th minute on Sept. 9 at Stanford. The Cardinal, however, rallied with two goals in the final 10 minutes, including a header by Mariah Nogueira in the 87th minute to win.

Stanford vs. Tournament Teams

Stanford is 13-0-1 against teams in this year's tournament field. The following is a list of those matches:

Aug. 19: at Stanford 4, Penn State 0

Aug. 26: Stanford 0, at Maryland 0

Sept. 9: at Stanford 2, Notre Dame 1

Sept. 11: at Stanford 2, UC Irvine 0

Sept. 15: Stanford 2, at Portland 0

Pac-12 Scholar-Athlete of the Year

Senior midfielder Teresa Noyola was named the Pac-12 Scholar-Athlete of the Year for women's soccer, becoming the third consecutive Cardinal to win the award. Previous winners were Ali Riley (2009) and Christen Press (2010).

Noyola carries a cumulative GPA of 3.52 and is majoring in math and computational science. Going into the College Cup, Noyola is a two-time NSCAA first-team All-America (2008, 2010).

Pac-12 Player of the Year

Lindsay Taylor became the third consecutive Stanford player to earn Pac-12 Player of the Year honors, following Christen Press (2010) and Kelley O'Hara (2009). Like her former teammates, Taylor leads the conference in points (46) and goals (20) and led the Cardinal to the conference title. Taylor is the seventh Stanford player all-time to win the award and her 20 goals ranks fourth on Stanford's single-season list. Press is third with 21.

Pac-12/NSCAA Pacific Region Coach of the Year

Paul Ratcliffe earned two separate awards for the fourth consecutive year -- the Pac-12 Coach of the Year and the NSCAA Pacific Region Coach of the Year. Ratcliffe led the Cardinal to its third consecutive Pac-12 title and a 29-0 conference record in that span. In his four Coach of the Year seasons, Stanford has compiled a 37-1 conference record, a 53-0-1 home mark, and an overall record of 93-4-4.

Pac-12 Freshman of the Year

Chioma Ubogagu, from Coppell, Texas, became the fourth Stanford player in five years to win the Freshman of the Year award. She has 9 goals and 9 assists.

All-Conference

Stanford had eight All-Pac-12 selections:

First team: Alina Garciamendez, jr., D; Camille Levin, sr., D; Teresa Noyola, sr., M; Emily Oliver, so., GK; Lindsay Taylor, sr., F.

Second team: Rachel Quon, jr., D; Chioma Ubogagu, fr., F.

Honorable mention: Mariah Nogueira, jr., M.

All-Freshman team: Ubogagu; Kendall Romine, D.

Scoring by Committee

Stanford's 69 goals have been scored by 14 individuals, including nine with at least two apiece. Lindsay Taylor leads with 20, freshman Chioma Ubogagu has 9 and senior Teresa Noyola has 8. Stanford is averaging 2.88 goals per match.

Stanford in the 2011 World Cup

Stanford had two current players and six current or former players on World Cup rosters during the event in Germany this summer. Current Stanford players Alina Garciamendez and Teresa Noyola played for Mexico. The U.S. had three former Stanford players: current Stanford volunteer assistant coach Nicole Barnhart at goalkeeper, co-captain Rachel Buehler at defender, and forward Kelley O'Hara. In addition, former Stanford defender Ali Riley played for New Zealand. All six played at Stanford under head coach Paul Ratcliffe and assistant Jay Cooney.

Passing Foudy

Stanford's Julie Foudy (1989-92), the only four-time first-team All-America in school history, was passed last week in two career categories. On the career goal-scoring list, Lindsay Taylor moved into fourth (53) to Foudy's fifth (52). On the single-season assists list, Teresa Noyola moved into a tie for second (14), with Foudy in a tie for fourth (13, 1992).

Freshmen Scoring

Forward Chioma Ubogagu's nine goals place her in a tie for seventh on Stanford's freshman scoring list.

1, Lindsay Taylor (2008) 16; 2 (tie), Erin Martin (1993) and Marcie Ward (2000), 14; 4, Julie Foudy (1989) 14; 5, Sarah Rafanelli (1990) 11; 6, Marcia Wallis (1999) 10; 7 (tie), Kelley O'Hara (2006) and Chioma Ubogagu (2010) 9; 9, Christen Press (2007) 8; 10, Teresa Noyola (2008).

Undefeated Regular Season

By completing its third consecutive unbeaten regular season, Stanford became the third team in history to do so, following North Carolina teams of 1991-93 and 1986-89. North Carolina most recently accomplished the feat during an NCAA-record overall winning streak of 92 matches (1990-94). The earlier North Carolina feat of four unbeaten regular-seasons came during an NCAA-record overall unbeaten streak of 103 (1986-90).

Rankings

Stanford has been ranked as the nation's No. 1 team since Sept. 14, in both the NSCAA coaches' poll and Soccer America. The Cardinal also is No. 1 by Top Drawer Soccer, Our Game Magazine, and Soccer Times.

Pac-12 Champions

Stanford advanced to the NCAA's on the basis of collecting the Pac-12's automatic bid by winning its third consecutive conference title. Stanford (11-0) finished seven points clear of runner-up UCLA (8-1-2). The conference title was Stanford's eighth overall as Stanford extended its Pac-12 winning streak to 31. The Stanford seniors finished with a 37-1 conference record.

No. 200

Stanford coach Paul Ratcliffe, in his 14th season of collegiate coaching, captured his 200th collegiate career victory on Oct. 9 in Stanford's 3-0 victory over visiting USC. Ratcliffe began at Saint Mary's in 1998, where he spent five seasons and came to Stanford in 2003. Since then, he has compiled a career record of 211-69-26. At Stanford, Ratcliffe has a record of 156-35-19. He is the longest tenured women's coach ever at Stanford and the winningest soccer coach, including men's and women's teams, in Cardinal history.

National-Team Camp

Three Stanford players - senior defender Camille Levin, senior forward Lindsay Taylor, and sophomore goalkeeper Emily Oliver - were in the U.S. under-23 national team camp from Oct. 2-6 in Carson, Calif. The camp was overseen by U.S. full national team coach Pia Sundhage, development director Jill Ellis, and technical director April Heinrichs in an effort to identify players for the Olympic qualifying tournament, from Jan. 19-29, in Vancouver, B.C., Canada.
