Sun Bowl Stadium (51,500)
Sat., Sept. 6 (Time: 9:15 p.m./CT/TV: ESPN2)

AP POLL: Texas is ranked 10th in The Associated Press Poll. UT has been ranked in The AP Poll for a UT-record 126 consecutive weeks.

COACHES POLL: Texas is ranked 9th in the USA Today Coaches Poll. UT has been ranked in USA Today's Top 25 for a school-record 154 weeks in a row.

THE SERIES: This will be the third matchup between Texas and UTEP. The Horns defeated UTEP, when they were known as the College of Mines, winning both games in Austin, 28-0 in 1930 and 22-6 in 1933. Texas holds a 149-51-8 all-time record against Conference USA and is 13-0 under Mack Brown. The Horns' last meeting against a team from Conference USA was a 58-14 win over Rice on Sept. 22, 2007.

TELEVISION: The game will be broadcast nationally by ESPN2. Mark Jones (play-by-play) and Bob Davie (analyst) have the call.

RADIO: The game will be broadcast nationally by ESPN Radio. Dave Barnett (play-by-play), Dennis Franchione (analyst) and Dave Ryan (sidelines) have the call. The game will be broadcast locally by the Longhorn Sports Network and KVET (1300 AM/98.1 FM) on its 40-station network and is available online at www.sportsradio1300.com with Craig Way (play-by-play), Keith Moreland (color) and Roger Wallace (sidelines). A live radio broadcast for each UT game also can be heard on XM Satellite Radio Channel 241 (Subscriber Only). Dr. Rubén Pizarro (play-by-play), Jesús Mendoza (color) and Raúl Sáenz (color) will have the call this season for the Spanish Language Radio Broadcasts on a statewide network and on the web at www.univision.com.

NO. 10/9 TEXAS HITS THE ROAD TO FACE UTEP: No. 10/9 Texas will hit the road to take on Conference USA member UTEP on Saturday, Sept. 6 (9:15 p.m./Central/ESPN2). Texas is 149-51-8 against C-USA teams and 13-0 during the Mack Brown era. The Horns have faced UTEP, when they were known as the College of Mines, winning both games in Austin, 28-0 in 1930 and 22-6 in 1933.

Ironically, this is not Texas' first trip to El Paso. The Horns traveled the 580 miles to west Texas for the 1994 Sun Bowl. In that game, Texas defeated North Carolina, which was coached by Mack Brown, 35-31. UT has played at the Sun Bowl on three other occasions, 1978, '79 and '82, and has a 2-2 record in El Paso. The Horns are coming off a 52-10 victory over Florida Atlantic, while the Miners dropped their season-opener to Buffalo, 42-17.

TEXAS OWNS TEXAS: Since Mack Brown took over at Texas in 1998, the Horns are 40-5 (.889) against teams from within the state's borders with the five losses coming by a combined 28 points. The Longhorns are 15-0 against non-conference schools, 16-4 (.800) on the road and have won 23 of their last 25 against other Texas schools, including nine of the last 10 on the road. Prior to UT's losses to Texas A&M, 38-30 in 2007 and 12-7 in 2006, its last loss to a state school came at the hands of Texas Tech, 42-38, in Lubbock in 2002. The Red Raiders also snuck past the Horns in 1998, 42-35, in Lubbock. The only other loss came in a 20-16 defeat at Texas A&M in 1999.

SEPTEMBERS TO REMEMBER: Texas has won 24 of its last 27 games in the season's first month (August/September) under Mack Brown. The only losses in that stretch were to Kansas State in 2007, when the Horns gave up two special teams TDs and committed four turnovers, No. 1 Ohio State in 2006 and when the Horns gave up three turnovers versus Arkansas in 2003. Overall, the Horns have won 31 of their last 36 outings in Aug./Sept.

UT IN OPENERS: In its 116 years of football, UT is 96-17-3 (.841) in season-opening games. The Longhorns are 75-7-2 (.904) when they open the year at home. Now in his 11th year at UT, Mack Brown has won 12 of his last 13 and 18 of his last 21 season-opening games. He is 10-1 in openers at UT, including nine in a row, and was 8-2 at North Carolina. In Brown's 11 openers at Texas, the Horns have outscored their opponents 526-116 and have topped the 50-point plateau seven times.

COACHES RANK TEXAS PRESEASON NO. 10: For the ninth consecutive season, Texas opened the season ranked in the Top 10 of the USA Today Coaches Preseason Poll. Texas has now been ranked in the coaches' initial poll for 16 straight seasons dating back to 1993. It has entered the season in the coaches' Top 10 in 11 of the past 13 seasons. In addition, UT has been ranked in the coaches' poll for 154 straight weeks, which is the nation's longest active streak. Texas' No. 10 preseason ranking came on the heels of a No. 4 preseason ranking in 2007 and consecutive No. 2 rankings in '05 and '06. The Horns were ranked fourth at the beginning of the 2003 season and second entering '02. UT has held the top spot in the coaches first poll of the season three times (1964, '65 and '70).

THE PRESEASON AP NO. 11: Texas entered the season with a No. 11 ranking in The Associated Press Poll for the sixth time (1975, '58, '53, '52 and '51). It marked the 10th consecutive season Texas entered the year in The AP Poll and the ninth year in a row it has been ranked in the preseason Top 15. The Longhorns have finished the year ranked in The AP Top 10 in five of the last seven years and are riding a UT-record streak of eight-straight AP Top 15 finishes. In addition, Texas has finished in The AP Top 15 in nine of Mack Brown's 10 seasons.

TEXAS COMING OFF NATION-LEADING SEVENTH CONSECUTIVE 10-WIN SEASON: The Texas Longhorns finished the 2007 season 10-3, giving them at least 10 wins in each of the last seven seasons, a feat unmatched by any other program nationally. Overall, Texas' 104 victories over the last 11 years are the most in the nation. The Horns also have won more Big 12 games (65) than any other team in the conference during that time. In addition, the Horns set a school record last season by winning a bowl game for the fourth straight year after defeating No. 12 Arizona State in the Holiday Bowl. They are one of only three schools nationally to do so. The Holiday Bowl win marked UT's sixth bowl victory in the last seven years, including two BCS triumphs and a BCS Championship Game victory. Mack Brown's seven bowl victories at UT trail only Darrell Royal's eight wins.

STRING OF SUCCESS: With a 2007 No. 10 final ranking, Texas has finished the year ranked among the nation's Top 15 in each of the last eight seasons, a Longhorn best. In addition, UT has finished in the Top 10 in five of the last seven seasons (2001, '02, '04, '05 and '07). You have to go back to Darrell Royal's string of success in the late 1960s, when the Horns finished among the Top Five four out of five years (1968-72), to equal that consistency in UT history.

THREE LONGHORN JERSEYS RETIRED: The University of Texas recently announced the retiring of three football jerseys, Bobby Layne's No. 22, Tommy Nobis' No. 60 and Vince Young's No. 10, to go along with the previously retired No. 20 of Earl Campbell, the 1977 Heisman Trophy winner, and No. 34 of Ricky Williams, the 1998 Heisman Trophy winner. Layne finished his UT career with then school records 3,145 yards passing, 25 TD passes on 210 completions and 400 attempts. He finished sixth in the Heisman voting in 1947 and eighth in 1946. Nobis was the Outland Trophy and Maxwell Award winner as a senior, a two-time All-American, made the All-Southwest Conference team three years and finished seventh in the Heisman voting in 1965, the only defensive player ranked among the top 10. Just the fourth player in Rose Bowl history to earn two MVP Awards, Young led Texas to its first National Championship in 30 years with a 41-38 victory over No. 1 USC and was named the recipient of the Maxwell Award (nation's outstanding player), Davey O'Brien Award (nation's top QB) and Manning Award (nation's best QB). His jersey was officially retired at a ceremony prior to UT's season-opener against Florida Atlantic.

SIX HORNS ON WATCH LISTS: Texas has six players listed on national award watch lists in PK Ryan Bailey, OG Cedric Dockery, C Chris Hall, QB Colt McCoy, DT Roy Miller and DE Brian Orakpo. Bailey was named to the Lou Groza Award watch list for the nation's top kicker. Dockery was tabbed for the Outland Trophy watch list, which honors the nation's top interior lineman. Hall earned a spot on the Rimington Trophy watch list, which honors the nation's top center. McCoy landed on the Maxwell Award, which recognizes the nation's outstanding collegiate player, the Walter Camp Football Foundation Player of the Year award and the Davey O'Brien Award, which goes to the nation's best college quarterback, watch lists. Miller was tabbed for the Bednarik Award watch list for the college defensive player of the year and Orakpo earned spots on the Nagurski Trophy, Hendricks Award and Lott Trophy watch lists. The Nagurski Trophy honors the nation's top defensive player, the Hendricks Award goes to the nation's top defensive end and the Lott Trophy is awarded to college's Defensive IMPACT Player of the Year.

ELEVENTH YEAR UNDER MACK BROWN: With Mack Brown in his 11th season at Texas, he is just the fourth coach in the 116 years of Texas football to coach the Longhorns for at least a decade and just the second UT coach to win 100 games. Darrell Royal, who won 167 games while at Texas, has the longest tenure at 20 years, while D.X. Bible and Fred Akers each coached in Austin for 10 seasons. With a 104-25 (.806) record at UT, Mack Brown is the architect of the nation's best record during that stretch. In addition, Brown has led the Horns to a 77-14 (.846) mark over the last eight seasons, which ranks second nationally, and includes four 11-win seasons (2001, '02, '04 and '05). The 11-win seasons set the bar at Texas before the Horns' record-setting, 13-win campaign in 2005. Texas is the only school in the nation that has posted at least 10 wins in each of the last seven seasons (a UT record). With 10 wins in 2007, Brown is the lone coach nationally to lead his team to nine or more victories in 12 straight seasons. His 10 straight seasons at UT of nine or more victories are a school best. Under Brown, the Horns have posted Top 10 finishes five times in the last seven years (2001, '02, '04, '05 and '07). Prior to his arrival, the last time UT finished in the Top 10 was 1983. In addition, Texas played in a bowl game for a school-record 10th-consecutive season in 2007, bettering the previous streak of nine straight from 1977-85. Brown's personal strings, including time at North Carolina, go back even further. He has posted 18 consecutive winning seasons and has directed his teams to 16 straight bowl games. Both of those marks are the second-longest active streaks in the nation.

UT'S NO. 2 ALL-TIME: Mack Brown has won 104 games at Texas. He is in second place on UT's all-time list behind only Darrell Royal, who tallied 167 victories from 1957-76. Brown moved ahead of Fred Akers, who posted 86 wins from 1977-86, during the 2006 season.

BROWN REACHES CENTURY MARK: With a victory against Nebraska in 2007, head coach Mack Brown joined Darrell Royal as just the second coach in UT history to reach the 100-victory plateau (104-25/.806). He also became one of only nine active coaches at NCAA Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) schools who have won 100 games at their current school. Of the 79 coaches that have ever won 100 games at a FBS school, Brown is the 13th fastest to reach the century mark (124 games) and the second-fastest among active coaches. For his career, Brown has won 190 games, which is tied for 25th on the NCAA all-time list.

BOWL ROLL: With a 52-34 victory over No. 12 Arizona State in the 2007 Holiday Bowl, Texas has played in a bowl game for a UT-record 10 straight seasons, bettering the previous mark of nine straight bowl games from 1977-85. The Horns have won six of their last seven bowl games and have a 7-3 record in bowl contests under Mack Brown. In the 10 years prior to Brown's arrival, Texas went to four bowls and was 1-3. Brown is the first UT coach since Darrell Royal, who was 8-7-1 in bowl games, to post a .500 or better record in bowls. Under Brown, Texas has won bowl games in four consecutive years for the first time in school history (2004-07). They are one of only three schools nationally to accomplish that feat. The Horns did win five straight bowl contests previously (1963-64, '66, '68-69), but the streak was interrupted by seasons that did not result in a bowl game. Brown's personal string, including time at North Carolina, goes back even further. He has directed his teams to 16 straight bowl games, which is the second-longest active streak in the nation.

NINE-WIN SEASONS: Texas has posted at least nine victories for the 10 straight seasons. The streak of 10 straight seasons of nine or more victories is a UT first and the longest active string in the nation. In addition, with 10 wins in his final two seasons at North Carolina, Mack Brown is the lone coach nationally to lead his team to nine or more victories in 12 straight seasons.

THE ONE AND ONLY: Texas is the only school in the nation to record at least 10 wins in each of the last seven seasons. In addition, Texas is the only NCAA Football Bowl Subdivision school that has won at least nine games in each of the last 10 seasons.

REWRITE THE RECORD BOOK: During Mack Brown's 10-year tenure at Texas, the Horns have set 214 school records. The offense has led the way by setting 135 team, records, 32 special teams records and 28 freshman records under Brown. In addition, the Horns have set every major school attendance record during the Mack Brown era.

BROWN'S TOP 10 HORNS: Mack Brown revived the Horns as a Top 10 regular beginning with a No. 5 preseason ranking in 2001. Since then, the Horns have earned a Top 10 standing in 90 of the last 113 AP polls. All totaled, UT has spent 97 weeks ranked among the Top 10 since Brown arrived in 1998. In the same 10-year stretch prior to his arrival, UT spent just 16 weeks rated among the Top 10. Brown has led the Horns to a final Top 10 ranking in five of the last seven seasons. In 2005, he led UT to its first No. 1 ranking since 1984 and its first No. 1 ranking to end the season since 1969. Before Brown took over the program, the last time UT earned a Top 10 finish was 1983. From the start of the 1984 season to Brown's arrival in 1998, UT was in the Top 10 just 28 times in 14 seasons.

UT AND THE AP TOP 10: After its loss at Kansas State in 2006, Texas had its string of 46-straight weeks in The AP Top 10 snapped. Prior to that, the last time the Horns were not among The AP Top 10 was in the final poll of the 2003 season. The 46-straight weeks was the second-longest streak in the nation and bettered the Horns' run of 40 straight weeks from 1968-71. It also was the longest for the Horns in the Mack Brown era. The longest Texas streak in The AP Top 10 is 60 weeks from 1961-65.

EIGHT STRAIGHT TOP 15 FINISHES: Texas' No. 10 ranking in 2007 marked the eighth straight year the Horns finished ranked among the nation's Top 15. That is the first time UT has ever accomplished that feat. The 2007 standing followed a No. 13 ranking in 2006, a No. 1 ranking in 2005, a No. 5 ranking in 2004, a No. 12 ranking in 2003, a No. 6 ranking in 2002, a No. 5 ranking in 2001 and a No. 12 ranking in 2000.

WIRE-TO-WIRE: Texas is the nation's only school that has both started and finished the season ranked among the nation's Top 15 in each of the last eight seasons.

AP TOP 25 STREAK AT UT RECORD 126

STRAIGHT WEEKS: Texas has been ranked among The Associated Press Top 25 for a UT-record and national-leading 126 straight weeks, bettering a 114-week streak from 1968-76. The next longest active streak is USC's 100-week streak. Texas has finished the year ranked among The AP Top 25 in each of Mack Brown's 10 years in Austin. That marks the first time in school history Texas has finished in The AP Top 25 for 10 straight years, bettering the previous record of eight straight seasons from 1968-75.

UT-RECORD 154 STRAIGHT WEEKS IN

COACHES POLL: UT has been ranked among the USA Today Coaches Poll for 154 straight weeks dating back to late in the 1998 season. The 154 straight weeks is the longest UT streak in any poll and the nation's longest active streak in the coaches poll. The next longest active streak is USC's 99-week streak. The Horns' previous longest streak in the coaches poll was 54 weeks from 1977-80. Texas has been ranked in the first and last coaches poll in all 10 of Mack Brown's seasons in Austin.

CONFERENCE COMPETITION:

Mack Brown, who guided the Horns to the 2005 Big 12 Championship and has won or shared the Big 12 South Division Championship four times, is 65-15 (.813) in 10 seasons of Big 12 play. That is the best league record over that span, ahead of Oklahoma (63-17), Nebraska (48-32) and Kansas State (47-33). UT has won 33 of its last 39 games against Big 12 foes. The Horns had tied the school record by winning 21 straight conference games from 2004-06 before the streak was snapped at Kansas State in 2006. The record of 21 straight conference victories was set from 1968-71 when Texas was competing in the Southwest Conference. The 21-straight Big 12 victories also marked the longest streak in league history. It is a significant improvement from the 8-8 (.500) mark Texas produced in Big 12 competition the two years prior to Brown's arrival, UT's first in the conference. At 73-23 (.760), Texas has the top intra-conference record since the Big 12 formed in 1996.

ROAD WARRIORS: Texas has lost only eight road games in Mack Brown's 10-year tenure, with two of them coming in his first three games at UT. The Longhorns have won 33 of their last 36 true road games (.917). The only losses during that stretch were a trio of shootouts, 42-38 at Texas Tech in 2002, 45-42 at Kansas State in 2006 and 38-30 at Texas A&M in 2007. UT's loss at KSU snapped a school-record streak of 17 consecutive road wins. The 17-straight road wins eclipsed the previous record of 13 set from 1981-84. UT also won 12 consecutive road games from 2000-02. Texas is 38-8 (.826) overall on the road and 32-5 (.865) versus unranked road foes during the Mack Brown era. In fact, UT is currently riding a school-record non-conference road winning streak of eight, which better the previous mark of seven from 1956-63.

BIG 12 ROAD SUCCESS:

Texas has won 25 of its last 28 Big 12 Conference road games (.893), including a league-record 13 consecutive conference road wins from 2002-06. The Horns are 29-5 (.853) in league road contests under Mack Brown. UT was 2-5 in Big 12 road games prior to Brown's arrival in 1998. Highlighting the Horns' road record under Brown are victories at Nebraska (1998) to end the Huskers' national-best 47-game home winning streak, another win that snapped a Nebraska 26-game home winning streak (2002) and a victory to break Oklahoma State's 10-game winning streak (2003). Prior to Brown's arrival, UT posted just two winning road records in the 10 seasons leading up to 1998 (the first year under Brown). All totalled during that time, UT was just 23-25 in road games.

HOME FIELD ADVANTAGE:

During Mack Brown's 11-year tenure, Texas has won 53 of its 59 home games (.898), including two of the five longest home winning streaks in UT history. The Horns won 20 in a row at home from 1999-2003 (third-longest in school history). Then, from 2003-06, Texas won 16 straight home games, which tied for the fourth-best string on UT record. Under Brown, the Horns have outscored their opponents by an average of 43-16 and outgained them by an average of 461.9 yards to 287.3 at home.

UT'S BIG 12 SUCCESS AT HOME:

Texas is 32-3 (.914) at home versus league opponents during the Mack Brown era. The 32 home victories are the most by any team in the conference over the last 10 years. In addition, the Horns set the league record with a 26-game home winning streak over Big 12 opponents, which was snapped in 2006. Prior to 2006, the last time UT had lost a home game against a league foe was 1999 (35-17 to No. 13 Kansas State).

LONGHORNS IN THE NFL:

The Texas Football program is not only one of the best at the collegiate level, but since Mack Brown's arrival, it has become one of the premier sources of talent for the NFL as well. At the close of the 2007 NFL season, Texas had 34 players on NFL rosters, the same number as USC. The 34 players are the most among Big 12 schools and rank 11th nationally. Currently, the Horns have 35 players on NFL rosters. And, they aren't just roster players either. Of the 34 Longhorns that played last season, 28 have started games during their NFL career including 23 who were 2007 starters. Among that group of 34, seven have earned a spot in a Pro Bowl, five have played in a Super Bowl with two coming away as Super Bowl Champions. In addition, Texas has the most Top 10 and Top Five picks in the NFL Draft since 1999. The Horns' eight Top 10 picks lead USC (seven) and their six Top Five picks lead Miami and Penn St. (three).

HORNS ROLL TO NINTH STRAIGHT SEASON-OPENING VICTORY:

No. 11/10 Texas rolled to its ninth consecutive season-opening victory with a 52-10 win over Florida Atlantic. The game kicked off the Horns newly expanded Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium with a record crowd of 98,053, the largest crowd to ever see a football game in the state of Texas. Vince Young was officially honored with the retirement of his No. 10 jersey at the game as well. Like the Young era Longhorn squad, Texas used a balanced attack in racking up 503 yards of total offense (271 passing / 232 rushing). Texas scored TDs on four of its first five possessions and scored on all eight of its trips into the red zone in its rout of the Owls, which returned 18 starters from a team that won eight games, claimed the Sun Belt Conference title and won the New Orleans Bowl last season. Colt McCoy led the Horns on offense with 325 total yards and accounted for four TDs. It marked his 11th 300-yard performance in his 27 career starts. McCoy went 24-of-29 (82.8%) for 222 yards and three TDs for a passer rating of 181.2. He also notched his second career 100-yard rushing game with 103 yards and a TD on 12 carries (8.6 ypc). McCoy joined Young as the only players in UT history to pass for 200 or more yards and rush for 100 or more yards in a game more than once in a career. He also set a UT single-game record by completing 13 consecutive passes to open the game. McCoy got into the action on special teams as well, pooch punting a 44-yarder that pinned the Owls at their own two-yard line. Overall, McCoy moved into fifth on UT's career passing list with 6,095 yards and into third on the school's TD passes list with 54. McCoy hooked up with seven different receivers, with six of them catching at least three passes. TE Blaine Irby led the receivers with a career-best seven receptions for 62 yards and a TD. He also played a big role in the run game, registering nine knockdown blocks. Jordan Shipley added four receptions for 53 yards and a TD, while Chris Ogbonnaya and James Kirkendoll each posted the first TD receptions of their careers. Kirkendoll's 29-yard TD was delivered by John Chiles, the first TD pass of his career. Chiles went 4-of-5 (80.0%) for 49 yards and also caught a six-yard pass. In addition to McCoy's 103 yards, Vondrell McGee posted 63 yards and a TD on 12 carries (5.2 ypc) in the first start of his career, while redshirt freshman Cody Johnson powered his way to 38 yards and a TD. Defensively, the Horns forced two turnovers, five three-and-outs and held FAU to 292 total yards (255p/37r). After allowing 146 yards in the first quarter, Texas held FAU to the same amount, 146 yards, over the final three quarters and just 53 yards in the second half. In fact, FAU did not cross midfield in the second half. The Owls opened the game by posting 151 passing yards in the first quarter, but the Horns regrouped and held FAU to just 104 yards passing over the final three quarters and just 29 yards in the second half. FAU managed just 37 yards rushing for the game on 23 carries (1.6 ypc). Pressure was a big part of the Horns defensive effort as they tallied nine hits on FAU quarterbacks, 13 pressures and nine TFL. On two of their first three possessions, the Owls drove to the Texas red zone, but the Horns defense forced turnovers to halt the drives. Sergio Kindle recovered a fumble on the first possession, which UT converted into a TD, and Ryan Palmer picked off a Rusty Smith pass in the end zone to prevent FAU from scoring on its third possession. In his first game as a Longhorn, Earl Thomas tallied five tackles, two PBU, a forced fumble and blocked a punt that UT converted into a TD. The blocked punt was UT's first since the 2006 Kansas State game. Roddrick Muckelroy added six tackles, including a TFL, while Jared Norton added four stops and a TFL.

DKR'S RENOVATIONS: As Texas football proceeds through the 21st century, Darrell K Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium continues to evolve as a state-of-the-art facility at the forefront of college football. The north end zone expansion project, which features an upper deck, club seating, an academic center and a war memorial plaza, is ready for the 2008 season. The expansion has increased the stadium's capacity to 94,113 and added approximately 2,108 club seats and 47 suites. The lower deck of the north end zone was completed for the 2007 season. Two major upgrades were made prior to last season, including a new video board and temporary bleacher seating in the south end zone. The scoreboard is the nation's largest high-definition video display board thanks to DAKtronics. The $8-million Prostar Video Board is 55 feet high by 134 feet wide. In addition, the interior of the Moncrief-Neuhaus Athletics Complex, most notably the players' lounge, is consistently being upgraded. It is all part of an ongoing $176.5-million renovation project at the Longhorns' stadium. Plans have already been drawn for construction of a new academic center approximately three times the size of the current one at Moncrief-Neuhaus. It will feature writing, math and computer labs, numerous tutoring areas, a multimedia classroom and academic staff office space.

"FAN"-TASTIC: Texas has been one of the best-attended programs in the nation over the past 10 years, drawing over 83,000 fans per game. The Horns, who have played in front of a sellout crowd in their last 47 home games, have attracted the top 10 crowds in UT history since Mack Brown took over in 1998. Texas' school-record season-ticket sales of 83,000 in 2008 are more than double the 39,743 sold in 1997, the UT record when Brown arrived, and increased by 9,000 tickets from the all-time high set in 2006. With the completion of the north end zone expansion project, all of UT's attendance records will be broken in 2008. Texas started the season by setting a new single-game attendance record against Florida Atlantic with 98,053 fans, which is the largest crowd to ever see a football game in the state of Texas. UT's previous single-game attendance record of 89,422 fans was established when it hosted No. 1 Ohio State at Darrell K Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium in 2006. The Horns went on to averaging 88,505 fans per game (No. 10 NCAA), which bettered the previous mark of 83,339 fans set in 2003. The total attendance figure was also shattered in 2006 with 619,534 total fans witnessing a home game, bettering the previous mark of 500,034 (2003). Overall, the top 14 home crowds at Texas have come since '06. On top of that, Texas has attracted record crowds in three of its road games over the past two seasons, at Texas A&M (88,253), at Nebraska (85,187) and at Texas Tech (56,158).

COMEBACKS UNDER MACK BROWN: During Mack Brown's 11 seasons at Texas, the Horns have registered 10 fourth-quarter comebacks and 10 second-half comebacks. In addition, UT has recorded the six largest comebacks in school history during the Mack Brown era. In 2007, Texas erased two fourth-quarter deficits and a second-half deficit, including the largest fourth-quarter comeback in school history against Oklahoma State. The Horns trailed 35-14 entering the final stanza before scoring 24 unanswered points to win, 38-35. The 2006 season mirrored '07 with two fourth-quarter comebacks and a halftime comeback, highlighted by the game at Texas Tech. After trailing the Red Raiders, 21-0, in the first quarter, the Horns closed the gap to 31-21 at halftime and 31-28 entering the fourth quarter, before going on to win 35-31. The 2005 National Championship season included a second-half comeback and two of UT's most memorable fourth-quarter comebacks, at No. 4 Ohio State and in the BCS Championship game against No. 1 USC. The Horns trailed the Buckeyes, 22-16, entering the final quarter, but Vince Young connected with Limas Sweed for a 24-yard TD with 2:37 remaining to give Texas a 23-22 lead. A late safety gave the Horns a 25-22 victory. Against USC, the Horns trailed 38-26 with just 6:42 remaining in the game before Young led two TD drives, including Young's game-winning eight-yard TD run with just 19 seconds left, to secure the win and the National Championship. Previously, the Horns notched four second-half comebacks and a fourth-quarter comeback in 2004, including a 28-point comeback against Oklahoma State, the largest in school history, a halftime comeback in '02, a fourth-quarter comeback in '01, two halftime comebacks in 1999 and two fourth-quarter comebacks in '98.

OFFENSIVE EXPLOSION: In 11 seasons under Mack Brown and offensive coordinator Greg Davis, UT's offense has produced eight of the top nine passing seasons, nine of the top 11 total yardage campaigns and the top seven scoring years in school history. The Horns have also averaged at least 200 yards both rushing and passing in four of the 10 seasons. During that timespan, the Longhorns have registered 135 school records, thirty-four 50-point games and four of the top six total offense games on school record. Since Brown took over in 1998, UT has produced thirty-five 500-yard total offense performances (there are only 58 of them in the 116 years of Texas football) and has recorded eight of the school's eighteen 600-yard total offense games. The Horns' balanced attack has produced at least 400 yards of offense in 60 of its last 91 games and has registered 200 yards both passing and rushing 41 times under Brown and Davis. Texas has scored at least 25 points in 41 of its last 47 games.

2008: UT opened the season against Florida Atlantic by eclipsing the 200-yard mark both rushing and passing. The Horns used 271 passing yards and 232 rushing yards to produce 503 yards of total offense. It marked the fourth time in the Mack Brown era that UT eclipsed 500 yards of total offense in the season opener. The Horns have now reached the 500-yard mark in five of their last eight games.

2007: The Texas offense finished the 2007 campaign as one of only 10 teams nationally to average 200 yards passing and 200 yards rushing. The Horns posted 255.4 yards passing (39th NCAA), 207.5 yards rushing (17th NCAA), 462.9 total yards (13th NCAA) and 37.2 points per game (14th NCAA). UT produced at least 400 yards of total offense in nine games and at least 500 yards in five, while scoring at least 30 points in nine of the 13 games. UT eclipsed the 200-yard rushing plateau on seven occasions and reached at least 300 yards rushing in three of its last five games.

2006: Texas finished the 2006 season ranked sixth nationally in scoring offense (35.9 ppg), ninth in passing efficiency (155.9 rating) and 22nd in total offense (391.5 ypg). The Horns registered at least 400 yards in seven of the 13 games and scored at least 35 points in eight contests.

2005: UT led the nation in scoring offense (50.2 ppg), ranked second in rushing offense (274.9 ypg) and finished third in total offense (512.1 ypg). The Horns produced at least 600 yards of offense three times in 2005, which was a first in UT history. Texas also came close to having three more 600-yard games with 591 against La.-Lafayette, 585 at Missouri and 556 in the Rose Bowl versus No. 1 USC. UT's 600-yard games came in three consecutive contests against Oklahoma State (606), Baylor (645) and Kansas (617). Texas rushed for at least 300 yards six times in 2005, matching 2004's total for the most by a Texas team since 1977. UT averaged a balanced 274.9 rushing yards and 237.2 passing yards in 2005, marking just the fifth time in school history the Horns averaged better than 200 yards both rushing and passing.

Prior to 2005: UT ranked second in the nation in rushing (299.2 ypg), seventh in total offense (464.4 ypg) and 12th in scoring (35.3 ppg) in 2004. The Horns posted at least 600 yards of offense twice. They recorded 673 yards of offense (third-most in UT history) versus North Texas and 600 total yards against No. 19 Oklahoma State. In 2003, Texas averaged 232.5 rushing yards (eighth NCAA) and 206.6 passing yards, which was the fourth time in school history UT averaged better than 200 yards for each. Texas also averaged 439.2 yards of offense (20th NCAA) while averaging 41.0 points per game (sixth NCAA) in 2003. That came one year after UT averaged 250.1 passing yards and 33.8 points per game (16th NCAA) in 2002. In 2001, the Horns' led the Big 12 in scoring (39.2 ppg/sixth NCAA) and pass efficiency (136.1 rating/27th NCAA). Brown's first UT squad produced a school-best 692 yards against Rice in 1998 and averaged a balanced 266.5 yards passing per game and 204.2 yards rushing per game.

RECORD-BREAKING YEAR: In 2005, Texas not only set records, it shattered them, in several team offensive categories. The Longhorns set an NCAA record for points scored in a season with 652. The previous high was 624 by Nebraska in 1983, and the previous UT record was 533 in 2003. The team also set school marks with 50.2 points per game (41.4, 1969), 6,657 total yards (5,709, 2003), 512.1 yards per game (472.1, 1969) and 5.91 yards per carry (5.84, 2004). UT became one of only four teams in NCAA history to average 50 or more points and 500 or more yards per game for a season, and the first to do it since 1995. Texas scored at least 40 points in each of its last 11 games and 12-of-13 contests on the season. In 2005, only one other team in the nation (USC) scored 40 points in more than nine games. Texas scored at least 50 points in a game seven times in 2005. UT was the only school in the nation besides USC to accomplish that (versus NCAA Div. I-A). That is the most 50-point games the Horns have ever had in a season, surpassing the previous best of four set in 2003. As for 60-point games, Texas registered at least 60 points four times, which was also a UT first.

PRODUCTIVE PERFORMERS: Since Mack Brown and offensive coordinator Greg Davis took over UT's offense in 1998, Texas has produced its only 2,000-yard rusher (2,124, Ricky Williams, 1998), 1,000-yard receivers (1,087, Wane McGarity, 1999/1,188, Kwame Cavil, 1999/1,142, Roy Williams, 2002/1,079, Roy Williams, 2003), 3,000-yard passers (3,357, Major Applewhite, 1999/3,303 Colt McCoy, 2007/3,207, Chris Simms, 2002/3,036 Vince Young, 2005) and 1,000 yard rusher/passers (Vince Young, 2004 and '05) in a season in school history. UT has seen players record school single-season bests for rushing touchdowns (28, Ricky Williams, 1998), TD passes (29, Colt McCoy, 2006), TD receptions (12, Roy Williams, 2002/Limas Sweed, 2006), total TDs (38, Vince Young, 2005), receptions (100, Kwame Cavil, 1999), scoring (168, Ricky Williams, 1998) and total offense (4,086, Vince Young, 2005). Cedric Benson became the fifth player in NCAA history to rush for over 1,000 yards in four straight seasons and finished his career ranked sixth on the NCAA all-time rushing list (5,540 yards). Vince Young became the first player in UT history to rush (1,079 yards) and pass (1,849 yards) for more than 1,000 yards in the same season in 2004 and then repeated the feat in 2005 with 1,050 yards rushing and 3,036 yards passing. He became the first player in NCAA history to rush for 1,000 yards or more and pass for at least 2,500 yards in the same season. He came within two rushing yards of becoming just the third freshman QB in NCAA history to post 1,000 yards rushing and passing in a season in 2003. The Longhorns' freshman records for rushing yards (1,053, Cedric Benson, 2001), rushing TDs (12, Cedric Benson, 2001), total TDs (13, Cedric Benson, 2001), 100-yard rushing games (5, Cedric Benson, 2001), passing yards (2,570, Colt McCoy, 2006), total offense (2,740, Colt McCoy, 2006), receptions (41, B.J. Johnson, 2000), receiving yards (809, Roy Williams, 2000), TD catches (8, Roy Williams, 2000) and TD passes (29, Colt McCoy, 2006) have also been set in the Brown era. In addition, McCoy's 29

DEFENSIVE DOMINANCE: After inheriting a program that ranked among the NCAA's bottom half in total defense for the five seasons prior to his arrival, Mack Brown and the Longhorns' staff have reversed that trend. Texas has ranked among the nation's top 25 in total defense in eight of the last 10 seasons.

2008: UT opened the season by holding Florida Atlantic to 292 total yards (255p/37r). After giving up 146 yards in the first quarter, Texas held FAU to the same amount, 146 yards, over the final three quarters and just 53 yards in the second half.

2007: Texas allowed 25.3 points, 371.2 total yards and 93.4 rushing yards per game (sixth NCAA) in 2007, while holding opponents to a 127.5 passer rating. UT held seven teams under 100 yards rushing, including three games of 10 yards or less. Texas held Rice to -11 yards rushing, which marked the fourth-best performance by the Longhorn D since 1990. The Horns also held five opponents to 14 points or fewer.

2006: Texas finished 2006 ranked third nationally against the run (61.2 ypg), 22nd in total defense (297.4 ypg) and 26th in scoring defense (18.3 ppg). The Horns only allowed two teams to rush for 100 yards and held seven opponents to 14 points or fewer. The 2006 UT defense produced the school's second-best effort since 1990 by holding North Texas to just 95 total yards. UT also held Rice to -12 yards rushing, which marked the fourth time since 1990 that UT held a team to negative yards rushing. In fact, seven of UT's top 22 performances against the rush since 1990 came during the 2006 campaign.

2005: The Longhorns ranked 10th nationally in total defense (302.9 ypg), eighth in scoring defense (16.4 ppg), eighth in passing defense (172.0 ypg) and 33rd in rushing defense (130.9 ypg). Texas only allowed opponents to reach 300 yards of total offense five times and held the remaining eight opponents to 267 yards or fewer. Statistically, UT's best defensive performance came against Oklahoma in the Red River Rivalry. The Sooners only managed 171 total yards and one TD. The Longhorns weren't far off that pace by allowing only 191 yards and one field goal to Colorado in the Big 12 Championship game.

Prior to 2005: Texas held its opponents to 320.1 yards (23rd NCAA), 17.9 points (18th NCAA) and 107.4 yards per game (16th NCAA). Texas ranked 25th nationally in total defense (329.8 ypg) and allowed just 21.1 points per game in 2003, while holding its opponents to 307.7 yards (16th NCAA) and 16.3 points per game (eighth NCAA) in 2002. UT was one of only two teams to post three shutouts against NCAA Division I-A opponents in 2002. The Longhorns defense went from ranking 85th nationally in total defense in 1997, the year prior to Brown's arrival, to back-to-back top 10 finishes in total defense in 1999-

Mack Brown era in BOLD

^ 2005 Big 12 Championship game

2000 and captured an NCAA statistical title in total defense in 2001. UT's 236.2 yards per game allowed that season were the fewest it had allowed since 1983 (212.0 ypg). It marked the first time since '83 and only the third time in school history that UT led the nation in total defense. Texas also led the Big 12 in rushing (89.5 ypg/sixth NCAA), passing (146.7 ypg/third NCAA) and scoring defense (13.7 ppg/third NCAA) while establishing itself as one of only two defenses ranked among the nation's top 10 in every major defensive category in 2001.

GROUND PATROL: Mack Brown and his staff inherited a ground defense that had ranked no better than 64th nationally in the five seasons prior to their arrival. In 11 seasons at Texas, they have turned that around dramatically. The Horns have limited 45 of their last 88 opponents to fewer than 100 yards rushing and allowed just twenty-five 100-yard rushers in the last 115 games. UT has held opponents to just 109.4 rushing yards per game (9,959 yards on 3,058 carries) and 3.3 yards per carry the last eight seasons (91 games).

2008: UT opened the season against Florida Atlantic by allowing just 37 yards on 23 carries for a 1.6 ypc average. The Horns held FAU's leading returning rusher, Charles Pierre, to just three yards on six carries.

2007: Texas allowed just 93.4 yards per game to rank sixth nationally. The Horns held seven of their 13 opponents under 100 yards rushing and gave up just 2.9 yards per carry. Highlighting the season were games against No. 19 TCU (43 yards), Rice (-11 yards), Baylor (eight yards), Texas Tech (10 yards) and Arizona State (22 yards). All five games rank in UT's top 35 performances since 1990. In fact, the minus-11 yards by Rice were the fourth-fewest since 1990 and the fifth time UT has held an opponent to negative rushing yards in that span. All five occasions have come during the Mack Brown era.

2006: The Horns rush defense gave up just 61.2 yards per game in 2006 (third NCAA), turning in the best performance on school record since 1942 (57.5 ypg). They gave up only 795 yards rushing on 345 carries (2.3 ypc). UT allowed just two teams to rush for 100 yards and held six teams to 27 yards or less, including two games in which the opponent rushed for negative yards (Texas Tech, -13; Rice, -12). In addition, seven of UT's top 22 performances against the rush since 1990 came during the 2006 campaign.

2005: Texas allowed 130.9 ypg on the ground, 3.7 ypc and gave up only 15 rushing TDs, while holding nine of their 13 opponents to under 120 yards.

Prior to 2005: The Horns ranked 16th nationally in rushing defense (107.4 ypg) in 2004, allowing just 60.0 yards per game over the final six contests. UT held six foes to 70 (or fewer) yards rushing that season. After inheriting a unit that ranked 104th nationally and allowed 241.5 yards per game in 1997, Brown and company guided the Horns to the nation's 17th-best run defense (105.7 ypg) in 1999 and the 12th-best ground defense (94.0 ypg) in 2000. UT's 94.0 yards allowed rushing per game in 2000 was, at the time, the fewest allowed by a Longhorns' squad since 1977 (91.1 ypg). UT followed that effort up in 2001 by allowing a Big 12-low 89.5 rushing ypg (sixth NCAA) and just 2.8 yards per carry.

AIR DEFENSE: Texas' pass defense has been ranked in the Top 10 in five of the last eight seasons. During that time, it has allowed opponents to complete 52.4 percent (1,723-of-3,289) of their passes for only 193.9 yards per game (19,976 in 103 games), while intercepting 124 passes (1.2 pg).

2008: Texas opened the season against Florida Atlantic by allowing just 255 yards passing. After giving up 151 yards in the first quarter, the Horns held FAU to just 104 yards passing over the final three quarters and just 29 yards in the second half.

2007: UT allowed 277.8 yards passing per game, held opponents to a 127.5 passer rating and intercepted 17 passes on the season. Marcus Griffin led the team in tackles (99) and INTs (five), while Ryan Palmer (80 tackles, 14 PBU) and Brandon Foster (71 tackles, four INTs, 12 PBU) finished second and third on the team in tackles.

2006: The 2006 campaign saw Aaron Ross win the Thorpe Award as the nation's top defensive back. It marked the second consecutive season that a Longhorn won the award after Michael Huff did so in 2005. Ross' six INTs helped UT total 13 for the season, and he also finished second nationally with 25 passes defended. Michael Griffin led the team in tackles for the second consecutive year and, along with Ross, earned All-America and first-team All-Big 12 honors.

2005: UT finished eighth nationally in pass defense (172.0 ypg). The Horns also finished fourth nationally in pass efficiency defense (96.7 rating) that year. Opponents averaged only 5.13 yards per pass attempt, which led the nation, and threw for only 10 TDs compared to UT's 11 INTs. In 13 games, Texas allowed only two teams, Texas Tech and USC, to throw for over 200 yards. Both of those teams finished in the top five nationally in passing offense.

Prior to 2005: The Horns intercepted 13 passes and ranked 31st nationally in pass efficiency defense (114.3 rating) in 2004. Texas allowed opponents to complete just 167-of-354 passes (47.2%/third NCAA) for 2,305 yards (177.3 ypg/ninth NCAA) and ranked 18th nationally in pass efficiency defense (106.5 rating) in 2003. UT's recent pass defense efforts continue a turnaround that started when Mack Brown took over the Longhorns' program in 1998. That year, UT was coming off a season that saw it rank 75th nationally in pass efficiency defense (132.7 rating). In just their third season (2000), UT led the nation in pass efficiency defense (88.3 rating). The Horns limited opponents to the second-lowest completion percentage in the nation (45.2%/171-of-378), 184.3 yards per game, 5.36 yards per pass attempt (second NCAA), while allowing just eight TD passes that season. The Horns put up comparable numbers in 2001, holding a schedule that featured several high-powered passing attacks to a Big 12-low 146.7 passing yards per game (third NCAA) and ranked fourth nationally in pass efficiency defense (88.0). Texas held its opponents to a NCAA-low 4.77 yards per attempt and just six TDs (t-2nd NCAA) in 2001. In 2002, Texas allowed opponents to complete just 192-of-400 passes (48.0%) for 2,147 yards (165.2 ypg/eighth NCAA). UT also ranked seventh nationally in pass efficiency defense (96.1 rating). Texas' 22 interceptions were tied for the fourth-most nationally and second-most in UT history. The Horns ranked 92nd nationally in pass efficiency defense (138.7 rating) in '98 and improved to 12th in '99 (101.6 rating) before leading the nation in 2000.

FORCING TURNOVERS: Texas' defense has forced 290 turnovers during the Mack Brown era (129 games/2.2 per game), while only giving up 220 turnovers for a plus-70 turnover margin. Overall, the Horns have averaged a plus-seven turnover margin per season during Brown's tenure. The Horns opened 2008 by forcing two turnovers (one fumble/one INT) against Florida Atlantic, while not committing a turnover of their own. In 2007, Texas forced 27 turnovers (10 fumbles/17 INTs), while giving up 26 (seven fumbles/19 INTs). In 2006, UT forced 32 turnovers (19 fumbles/13 INTs), while only giving up 23 (14 fumbles/nine INTs), for a plus-nine margin (T-No. 13 NCAA). The 32 take-aways were tied for the sixth-most in the nation and the 19 fumble recoveries tied for the most nationally. In 2005, UT forced 27 turnovers (16 fumbles/11 INTs). Three of those 27 turnovers were returned or recovered for scores, and the 16 fumble recoveries ranked fourth nationally. The Horns finished the season with a plus-nine turnover margin. Texas had a plus-five turnover margin, forcing 23 turnovers (10 fumbles/13 INTs) and losing 18, in 2004. UT forced 29 turnovers (14 fumbles/15 INTs) in 2003.

UT's attacking unit provided several big plays in forcing 35 turnovers (T-No. 12 NCAA) in '02. The Longhorns combined for 22 INTs (T-No. 4 NCAA) by eight different players and recovered 13 fumbles.

UNEXPECTED OFFENSE:

Even though Texas' offense is one of the most potent in the country, it has received help from the rest of the team when it comes to scoring TDs. Since 1999, UT has scored 58 TDs via returns, turnovers and blocked kicks. The 58 scores during that stretch rank fourth nationally behind Virginia Tech (68), Miami (61) and Kansas State (60). UT posted five non-offensive TDs in 2007 on three INT returns, a fumble return and a kickoff return, which was UT's first since 2003. The Horns scored eight non-offensive TDs in 2006 with four coming off fumble recoveries, two from punt returns, one on an INT return and one on a blocked punt recovery in the end zone. In the nine-season stretch, Texas scored the most non-offensive TDs in 2003 (nine).

GUARDING THE END ZONE:

Texas' defense has made it difficult for opponents to reach the end zone over the last eight seasons. Since 2000, the Horns have allowed only 214 TDs in 103 games (2.1 TDs per game), which ranks seventh nationally. Miami has allowed the fewest TDs, giving up only 177. UT's best season came in 2001, when the Horns' top-ranked unit gave up only 19 TDs. Texas has relinquished 27 TDs or fewer in five of the last eight seasons. Conversely, Texas has scored at least 45 TDs in each of the last eight seasons, with a high of 81 scores in 2005. The Horns opened 2008 with seven TDs against Florida Atlantic and have scored 463 TDs over the eight-year span, averaging over four TDs per game.

SCORING DEFENSE: Texas' defense has been a scoring machine since 1999. During that time, the defense has accounted for 228 points and scored in 33 of the 117 games. The Horns' defense has scored at least three TDs in eight of the last nine seasons, led by the seven TDs scored in 2000. That defense tallied 46 points, which is the most over the nine-year stretch. The 2003 unit scored six TDs, while the 2006 unit scored five TDs.

SHORT DRIVES: The Texas defense has prevented its opponents from moving the chains on 37.1 percent of their drives over the last eight seasons (91 games). During that time, UT has forced 438 three-and-outs or better in 1,180 possessions. UT opened 2008 against Florida Atlantic by forcing five three-and-outs on 13 possessions, including four straight possessions in the second half. In 2007, UT forced 52 three-and-outs or better on 168 possessions (.310). Texas forced 60 three-and-outs or better on 154 possessions (.390) in 2006. Previously, the Horns held foes to three-and-outs or better on 73-of-178 possessions (.438) in 2005, 46-of-153 possessions (.307) in 2004, 56-of-181 possessions (.309) in 2003, 73-of-176 possessions (.414) in 2002 and 73-of-165 possessions (.442) in 2001.

"SPECIAL" TEAMS: The Texas special teams have been just that since Mack Brown took over the program in 1998. Since then, Texas has blocked 58 kicks (31 punts/15 FGs/12 PATs), an average of 6.3 per season. That is 33 more than the 25 recorded in the 11-year span prior to Brown's arrival. UT has blocked the most kicks in the nation since 2000 with 49 to lead N.C. State (43) and Virginia Tech (42). Since Brown arrived, the Longhorns have had players set or equal UT records for career blocked kicks, single-season blocked kicks, career blocked punts and single-season blocked punts. Texas also has improved its kick returning and defending on kickoffs and punts. The Longhorns have scored on eight punt returns, while only giving up three punt return TDs since Brown's arrival. It had been 101 games (Kansas State, 1999) since Texas had given up a punt return for a TD before Kansas State returned one in 2007. That is a major difference from the 11 years prior to Brown's arrival. During that time, Texas scored on four punt returns, while its opponents scored on six returns.

Texas has given up three kickoff returns for TDs during the Mack Brown era which is the same amount UT allowed in the 11 years prior to Brown's arrival. When Brown arrived in 1998, Texas hadn't returned a kickoff for a score since 1978. The Horns snapped that string when Victor Ike returned a kickoff 93 yards for a TD in the 2000 Holiday Bowl. Selvin Young added a 97-yard kickoff return TD against New Mexico State in 2003 and Quan Cosby posted a 91-yard kickoff return TD at Texas A&M in 2007. In addition, three of Texas' most accurate field goal kickers (Kris Stockton, 1996, '98-2000, Dusty Mangum, 2001-04 and Ryan Bailey, 2006-present) also have come during Brown's time at Texas. Mangum (121), Bailey (60) and Stockton (57) also are at the top of UT's consecutive made extra points list.

LONGHORN RETURNEES: Texas returns 10 starters (5 offense/4 defense/1 specialist) and 47 lettermen (25 offense/18 defense/4 specialists) from the 2007 squad. Among the returning offensive and defensive starters, UT welcomes back 12 players who have combined to start 191 games (109 offense/82 defense). When you add in eight other returning veterans who have combined to start 20 games (4 offense/16 defense), Texas' 2008 squad features 20 returnees with starting experience on offense or defense. That group has combined to start 225 career games (121 offense/104 defense).

2007 SENIOR CLASS: Last season's group of 24 seniors proved to be one of Mack Brown's most successful at Texas. The class collectively helped the Longhorns post a 44-7 (86.3%) overall record over the last four years and a 26-6 (81.3%) mark in regular season Big 12 Conference games. They became the first class in UT history to win four straight bowl games. The senior class helped the Horns post a 21-game winning streak, the second-longest winning streak in school history, and matched the longest conference winning streak with 21 straight Big 12 wins. Those seniors won 21 of 24 home games. The class' 44 wins are tied for the second most with the 2006 class behind the four-year UT victory record of 45 (since freshmen became eligible in 1972) set by the 2005 senior class (45-6). Of their six regular season league losses, two came to Top 10-ranked Oklahoma squads (No. 2 in 2004 and No. 10 in 2007). Last year's group helped Texas set a school record for victories in a season with 13 in 2005 on their way to the National Championship. They helped the Horns to a seventh straight Top 15 finish for the first time in school history. The group has finished in the top 10 three times, including the first No. 1 ranking to end a season since 1969. Fifteen Longhorn seniors played key roles in 2007 and 12 (four offense/seven defense/one specialist) were starters as seniors (LB Scott Derry, CB Brandon Foster, C Dallas Griffin, S Marcus Griffin, OT Tony Hills, S Erick Jackson, WR Nate Jones, LB Robert Killebrew, DT Derek Lokey, P Justin Moore, DT Frank Okam and WR Limas Sweed).

2008 SENIORITY: A group of 14 seniors who have played in a combined 447 games (131 starts) are leading the 2008 Longhorns. WR Quan Cosby (40 games/22 starts), OG Cedric Dockery (29 games/18 starts) and WR Jordan Shipley (28 games/nine starts) return as starters on the offensive side of the ball, while LB Rashad Bobino (40 games/39 starts), DL Aaron Lewis (33 games/10 starts), DE Brian Orakpo (36 games/11 starts) and CB Ryan Palmer (37 games/14 starts) lead the way for the defense. PK Ryan Bailey (19 games) also returns with first-team experience. In addition, DE Henry Melton (37 games, 10 at defensive end/one start), DT Roy Miller (37 games/seven starts), RB Chris Ogbonnaya (35 games), DE Nic Redwine (10 games), FB Luke Tiemann (31 games/one start) and TE Peter Ullman (35 games) will also provide senior leadership in 2008.

DEPARTED STARTERS: Texas entered 2008 seeking to replace a combined 14 starters (6 offense/7 defense/1 specialist). That group combined to start 267 games (124 offense/143 defense), won a Draddy Trophy, earned two Academic All-America honors, placed three players on All-America teams and eight players on All-Big 12 teams. C Dallas Griffin capped his career by taking home the "Academic OT Tony Hills was named a first-team All-American by the Walter Camp Football Foundation, while DT Frank Okam earned third-team All-America honors from The Associated Press. DT Derek Lokey joined Griffin as an Academic All-American and was named to various All-Big 12 teams. WR Limas Sweed finished his career sixth on UT's all-time list with 124 receptions, fifth on the all-time list with 1,915 yards and second on Texas' TD receptions list with 20. Fellow receiver Nate Jones capped his career by tying Roy Williams for second on UT's single-season reception list with 70 in 2007. S Marcus Griffin earned All-America honors from ESPN.com and first-team All-Big 12 accolades, while CB Brandon Foster earned second-team honors. LB Scott Derry was named an Academic All-Big 12 performer and an honorable mention All-Big 12 pick. Two juniors, RB Jamaal Charles and TE Jermichael Finley, will also need to be replaced. Charles earned honorable mention All-America honors from Sports Illustrated, while Finley was tabbed honorable mention All-Big 12.

OFFENSIVE RETURNEES:

Texas returned nine players with starting experience at five different positions for 2008. That group, which includes three players that earned mention on one of the All-Big 12 teams, helped pace an offense that ranked 13th nationally in total offense (462.9 ypg), 14th in scoring offense (37.2 ppg) and 17th in rushing offense (207.5 ypg) in 2007. Back from that offense are junior QB Colt McCoy, a member of the Maxwell Award, Davey O'Brien Award and WCFF Player of the Year award watch lists, two of his favorite targets, senior WRs Quan Cosby and Jordan Shipley, and six offensive linemen with starting experience. A year after being named National Freshman of the Year, McCoy threw for 3,303 yards (No. 2 on UT's single-season list) and 22 TDs (T-No. 4 on UT's single-season list) in 2007. With 21 career victories, McCoy ranks eighth on UT's all-time list. Cosby, who earned second-team All-Big 12 honors as a returner, ranks seventh on UT's all-time receptions list with 123. Shipley averaged 15.4 yards on his 27 receptions and scored five TDs in 2007. The offensive line returns senior OG Cedric Dockery (29 games/18 starts/Outland Trophy watch list/preseason first-team All-Big 12) and juniors C Chris Hall (21 games/13 starts/Rimington Trophy watch list), OG Charlie Tanner (21 games/nine starts) and OT Adam Ulatoski (24 games/18 starts/Second-team All-Big 12). In addition, sophomores C Buck Burnette (14 games/two starts) and OT Kyle Hix (14 games/two starts) also return.

SIX KEY OFFENSIVE STARTERS NEED TO BE REPLACED:

Texas is trying to replace six veterans on offense, including two All-Americans and three All-Big 12 performers, in 2008. The six standouts combined to start 124 games. C Dallas Griffin, the 2007 Draddy Trophy winner and honorable mention All-Big 12 performer, appeared in 32 games, starting 10, during his career. All-America OT Tony Hills, who was drafted in the fourth round by the Pittsburgh Steelers, also will be missed after playing in 42 games and making 24 straight starts to finish his career. WR Limas Sweed, who was a two-time All-Big 12 selection and a second-

His 99 career receptions are tied for 10th on UT's all-time list. RB Jamaal Charles, who earned honorable mention All-America honors as a junior and was drafted in the third round by the Kansas City Chiefs, finished his career with 3,328 yards (No. 4 on UT's all-time list) and 36 TDs (T-No. 5 on UT's all-time list). TE Jermichael Finley, who was an honorable mention All-Big 12 selection and a third-round draft choice of the Green Bay Packers, posted 76 receptions (No. 3 on UT's all-time TE list) for 947 yards (No. 6 on UT's all-time TE list) and five TDs during his career.

THE REAL MCCOY: With a 21-6 career record as the starting quarterback at Texas, Colt McCoy, who is a member of the pre-season Maxwell Award, Davey O'Brien Award and WCFF Player of the Year award watch lists, ranks eighth on UT's all-time victories list after passing James Street (20-0, 1967-69) with a season-opening win over Florida Atlantic. During his 27-game career, McCoy has completed 517-of-771 passes (67.1%/No. 1 on UT's all-time list) for 6,095 yards and 54 TDs against 25 INTs for a passer rating of 150.1 (No. 1 on UT's all-time list). His 6,095 passing yards are fifth best on school record and his 54 TD passes are third all-time. McCoy is just the fourth QB to surpass 2,000 yards passing in consecutive seasons and the fifth to record multiple seasons of at least 2,000 passing yards. McCoy has thrown for at least 200 yards 18 times in 27 career games. He has produced 39 plays of 30 yards or more, 18 of 40 yards or more and 13 of 50 yards or more during his career. McCoy has thrown a TD pass in 24 of 27 career games and has thrown at least two TD passes in 16 games. He joined Chris Simms as one of only two players in Texas history to record two seasons of at least 20 TD passes. In fact, McCoy's 51 TDs over his first two seasons are the most in consecutive years, bettering Simms' total of 48 (22, 2001; 26, 2002). In total, McCoy has produced 6,860 yards of total offense (6,095p/765r), including 11 games of at least 300 total yards. He is just the seventh Longhorn in school history to eclipse the 6,000-yard plateau and ranks sixth on UT's all-time total offense list. He is just the fourth player in UT history to record at least 2,500 total yards in two or more seasons.

RECORD BREAKER: Colt McCoy has already etched his name in the Texas record book. He matched UT's all-time record by reaching the 1,000-yard plateau after the first four games of 2007 and tied for second on UT's all-time list by reaching 2,000 yards passing after eight games. McCoy is just the fourth QB to surpass 2,000 yards passing in consecutive seasons and the fifth to record multiple seasons of at least 2,000 passing yards. He is just the fourth player in UT history to record at least 2,500 total yards in two or more seasons and joined Chris Simms as the only two players in Texas history to record two seasons of at least 20 TD passes (29, 2006; 22, 2007). In fact, McCoy's 51 TDs over his first two seasons are the most in consecutive years, bettering Simms' total of 48 (22, 2001; 26, 2002). McCoy's 3,303 yards passing in 2007 rank second on UT's single-season list, while his 3,795 total yards also rank second. As a freshman in 2006, McCoy threw 29 TD passes, which set the UT single-season mark, breaking the record of 26 shared by Chris Simms (2002) and Vince Young (2005). He also tied the then-NCAA freshman record held by Nevada's David Neill (1998). Against Baylor in 2006, McCoy threw six TD passes, which set the UT record for TD passes in a game and tied the NCAA freshman mark. The six TD throws eclipsed the previous mark of five set by James Brown (at Baylor, 1994) and matched by Chris Simms (at Oklahoma State, 2001). McCoy's 2,570 yards passing as a freshman rank first on UT's single-season freshman list and sixth on the overall single-season list. His 2,740 yards of total offense also rank first on UT's freshman single-season list and sixth on the overall single-season list. McCoy also tied the Texas record for consecutive completions with 15 (four vs. OSU/four at KSU/seven vs. TAM) and set a school record for consecutive completions in a game with 13 against Florida Atlantic. He produced 352 yards of total offense against Oklahoma State in 2006, which ranks as the second-highest single-game total by a freshman in UT history. He also posted 324 yards of total offense at Texas Tech (No. 5 on UT's freshman single-game total offense list) and 301 yards of total offense against Baylor (No. 6 on UT's freshman single-game total offense list). His 72-yard TD pass to Jamaal Charles in the 2006 Alamo Bowl is the fourth-longest pass play by a freshman in UT history, while his 62-yard TD pass to Billy Pittman against Baylor ranks seventh. He also threw a 50-yard TD pass to Limas Sweed against Baylor to become just the second freshman QB, along with Major Applewhite, to throw two TD passes of 50 or more yards in the same game. McCoy had a streak of 10-straight games with a TD pass, which is the second-longest in UT history.

OPENING YEAR THREE: Already entrenched in the record books after two seasons, junior QB Colt McCoy opened his third year as Texas' starter against Florida Atlantic by leading the Horns to a 52-10 victory. Not only did McCoy throw for 222 yards and three TDs, but he notched his second career 100-yard rushing game with 103 yards on 12 carries (8.6 ypc). He joined Vince Young as the only players in UT history to pass for 200 or more yards and rush for 100 or more yards in a game more than once in a career. McCoy also accomplished the feat with 282 passing yards and 106 rushing yards against Oklahoma State in 2007. In addition, McCoy moved up the career passing yardage list and the career TDs passes list against FAU. The 222 passing yards increased his career total to 6,095, which moved him past Vince Young McCoy opened the 2008 season by completing his first 13 passes, which set a single-game record (previous record: Vince Young, 12, vs. Oklahoma St., 2004), on his way to completing 24-of-29 passes (82.8%).

SOPHOMORE SUCCESS: After one of the most productive seasons by a QB in UT history in 2006, Colt McCoy returned in 2007 to earn both team and Holiday Bowl MVP honors. For the season, McCoy went 276-of-424 (65.1%) for 3,303 yards (No. 2 on UT's single-season list) and 22 TDs (T-No. 4 on UT's single-season list) for a passer rating of 139.2 (24th NCAA). McCoy's 276 completions rank first on UT's single-season list, while his 424 attempts stand second. McCoy also was the team's second-leading rusher with 492 yards, including at least 40 yards rushing in six of the last seven games and his first career 100-yard rushing game (106 at Oklahoma State). He amassed 3,795 total yards on the season (22nd NCAA/No. 2 on UT's single-season list). He passed for at least 200 yards 11 times and posted at least 300 yards of total offense six times. He matched UT's all-time record by reaching the 1,000-yard plateau after the first four games of 2007 and tied for second on UT's all-time list by reaching 2,000 yards passing after eight games.

Colt McCoy has thrown a touchdown pass in 24 of his 27 starts and at least two TD passes in 16.

No. 19 TCU: Colt McCoy helped defeat a ranked opponent for the third time in his career by going 25-of-38 (65.8%) for 239 yards and a TD.

at UCF: McCoy completed a UT single-game record 32 passes and tied the school record in attempts with 47.

Rice: McCoy posted his first 300-yard game of the season with 333 yards on 20-of-29 passing (69.0%) and three TDs (no INTs). His 295 yards passing in the first half are the second-most in a half on UT record.

vs. No. 10 Oklahoma: McCoy threw for 324 yards and two TDs. His 324 yards passing were the second-most ever by a Longhorn QB in a Red River Rivalry game. Major Applewhite's 328 yards in 1999 rank first.

at Iowa State: McCoy went 23-of-29 (79.3%) for 298 yards and four TDs. Combined with his 50 yards rushing, McCoy produced 348 yards of total offense, the third-best output of his career. He also had a 44-yard TD run, which is the longest of his career.

at Baylor: McCoy posted 337 yards of total offense behind 293 yards passing and 44 yards rushing.

Nebraska: McCoy notched 236 yards of total offense behind 55 yards rushing in helping Texas to a come-from-behind 28-25 victory.

at Oklahoma State: McCoy set a career high with 388 total yards, which is the 11th best total in school history. He threw for 282 yards and a TD on 20-of-28 passing (71.4%) and notched his first career 100-yard rushing game with 106 yards on 16 carries (6.6 ypc). While helping Texas score 24-unanswered points in the fourth quarter, McCoy went 8-of-9 for 145 yards and rushed for 38 yards.

Texas Tech: McCoy notched six TDs and 319 total yards by going 21-of-30 (70.0%) for 268 yards and four TDs, while rushing for 51 yards and two TDs. The six TDs were just one shy of the UT single-game record (seven, Clyde Littlefield, 1915).

vs. No. 12 Arizona State: McCoy notched his second bowl Offensive MVP honor after completing 21-of-31 passes (67.7%) for 174 yards and a TD and rushing for 84 yards and a TD on 16 carries (5.2 ypc) in a 52-34 Holiday Bowl victory.

FINISHING STRONG: Over the last eight games of 2007, Colt McCoy went 158-of-238 (66.4%) for 2,049 yards and 14 TDs for a passer rating of 151.4, while rushing for 390 yards and four TDs. During that span, McCoy threw for at least 280 yards four times and had two games with four TD passes. He also posted at least 50 yards rushing in five games, including his first 100-yard game against Oklahoma St. (106) and an 84-yard game in the Holiday Bowl versus No. 12 Arizona State.

MCCOY ON THE MOVE: QB Colt McCoy finished second on the team in rushing in 2007 with 492 yards, but his production is even better if you figure his totals purely as a runner (minus sack yardage). On 88 rushes, McCoy gained 665 yards (7.6 ypc), scored four TDs and posted 37 first downs. His 7.5 ypc average would have ranked him third nationally. Vince Young's stats as a runner are by far the best in UT history and a standard no one should be compared to. If Young is excluded, McCoy's 665 rushing yards are the most by a Texas QB since 1980, when Donnie Little rushed for 486 yards. Excluding sacks, McCoy rushed for at least 40 yards in seven games in 2007 and rushed for at least 55 yards in six of the last seven games. He produced his first career 100-yard rushing game with 106 at Oklahoma State and his 14-yard scramble on the final drive set up Texas' 40-yard game-winning field goal. McCoy added his second career 100-yard game in the 2008 season opener against Florida Atlantic with 106 yards on 12 carries (8.6 ypc).

FANTASTIC FIRST SEASON: After redshirting in 2005, Colt McCoy took over the reins of the Longhorn offense from former National Player of the Year and NFL

Pro Bowler Vince Young in 2006. He progressed throughout the season and earned The Sporting News and Touchdown Club of Columbus National Freshman of the Year awards, while becoming a semifinalist for the Davey O'Brien Award (nation's top quarterback). McCoy also shared UT's MVP honors with Aaron Ross. He finished his redshirt-freshman campaign with a 161.8 passer rating (eighth NCAA), completing 217-of-318 passes (68.2%) for 2,570 yards (No. 6 on UT's single-season list/No. 1 on UT's freshman single-season list) and a UT-record 29 TDs (T-No. 2 on NCAA single-season freshman list), while throwing just seven INTs. His 217 completions rank fourth on UT's single-season list and first on the school's freshman list. During 2006, he posted 14 plays of 30 yards or more, nine of 40 yards or more and six of 50 yards or more. McCoy opened the season by throwing for 200 yards in only one of the first six games, but finished by exceeding the 200-yard mark in five of the final seven games, including two games over 300 yards. The two games he didn't throw for 200 yards over that stretch were the Kansas State and Texas A&M games, when he was suffering from an injury. During 2006, McCoy had a streak of 10-straight games with a TD pass, which is the second-longest in UT history. He threw a TD pass in 11 of 13 games and two TDs in 10 of 13. He also spread the ball around, completing passes to 12 different receivers and TD passes to nine different players. In addition, McCoy tied the UT record for consecutive completions at 15 after completing the final four passes against Oklahoma state, his only four attempts at Kansas State and the first seven passes versus Texas A&M. In total, McCoy tallied a UT freshman record 2,740 yards of total offense (No. 5 on UT's single-season list). He became UT's first freshman QB to win a season opener since Bobby Layne in 1944.

MCCOY'S 2006 HIGHLIGHTS

Iowa State: Colt McCoy threw for 200 yards for the first time in his career when he threw for 212 yards and two TDs.

Baylor: McCoy's season took off when he threw a UT single-game record six TD passes. The six TDs also tied the NCAA mark for TD passes by a freshman in a game. He ended the game going 21-of-32 (65.6%) for 275 yards, while rushing for another 26. The 301 yards of total offense rank seventh on UT's freshman list. He was named the Cingular All-America Player of the Week for his performance.

at Nebraska: McCoy went 25-of-39 (64.1%) for 220 yards, two TDs and no INTs in the snow. He helped the Horns come back twice from fourth-quarter deficits to win that game.

at Texas Tech: McCoy went 21-of-31 (67.7%) for 256 yards and four TDs, while rushing for 68 yards on nine carries (7.6 ypc) in helping UT come back from a 21-point deficit, which is tied for the second-largest comeback in UT history. As a result, McCoy earned the Cingular All-America Player of the Week, the Walter Camp Player of the Week and the Master Coaches Survey Game Ball.

Oklahoma State: McCoy set a career high with 346 yards on 23-of-29 (79.3%) passing. His 352 yards of total offense was the second-best effort by a freshman in UT history.

vs. Iowa: McCoy sustained a pinched nerve in his neck on the first drive, a TD drive, at Kansas State that sidelined him for that game. That injury slowed him against Texas A&M, but he returned to form, capping his rookie campaign by earning Offensive MVP honors at the Alamo Bowl. He completed 26-of-40 passes (65.0%) for 308 yards and two TDs in leading the Horns to a 26-24 come-from-behind victory.

BIG 12 OFFENSIVE FRESHMAN OF THE YEAR: Colt McCoy was named the Big 12 Freshman of the Year in 2006. He was the second consecutive Longhorn to earn the award and the sixth UT player to win that honor. All six have come in the Mack Brown era. McCoy joins RB Jamaal Charles (2005), QB Vince Young (2003), RB Cedric Benson (2001), WR Roy Williams (2000) and QB Major Applewhite (1998) as honorees.

NATIONAL HONORS: Colt McCoy was a semifinalist for the Davey O'Brien Award (nation's top QB) and was named The Sporting News and Touchdown Club of Columbus National Freshman of the Year for his performance in 2006. McCoy was also twice named the Cingular All-America Player of the Week and earned the Walter Camp Player of the Week and Master Coaches Survey Game Ball once.

COMEBACK KID: Over the past few seasons, Texas has developed a never-say-die attitude that has helped pull off comebacks on several occasions. Much like his mentor Vince Young, who engineered six fourth-quarter comebacks and eight second-half comebacks, Colt McCoy has proven that he is capable of leading the Horns when they are behind. He has already posted five fourth-quarter comebacks and three second-half comebacks in his short career.

vs. No. 14 Oklahoma (2006): The first comeback of McCoy's career came after Texas trailed 10-7 at halftime, but the Horns stormed back for a 28-10 victory. McCoy opened the second half by going 5-of-5 passing for 66 yards and two TDs, while rushing for 23 yards on two scoring drives that put away the Sooners.

vs. Baylor (2006): Texas fell behind 10-0 after the first quarter before McCoy hit stride. He racked up 268 yards and a UT-record six TD passes on 19-of-26 passing (73.1%) over the final three quarters to lead UT to a 63-31 victory.

at No. 17 Nebraska (2006): McCoy brought the Horns back in his first test on the road. With Nebraska leading 20-19, Texas got the ball back at the Nebraska 44-yard line with 2:17 to play. McCoy methodically moved the Horns to the Nebraska five before UT kicked a field goal with 23 seconds left to take the lead for good, 22-20.

at Texas Tech (2006): Texas Tech jumped out to a 21-0 lead after the first quarter and 31-21 lead at the half, but McCoy led Texas to a 35-31 victory. The 21-point comeback is tied for the second-largest comeback in school history. After getting down 21-0, McCoy went 15-of-23 for 203 yards and four TDs, while rushing for 74 yards over the final three quarters.

vs. Iowa (2006): McCoy notched his fifth comeback of the 2006 season in the Alamo Bowl. Iowa grabbed the lead at 21-20 late in the third quarter, but, on the ensuing possession, McCoy drove Texas 72 yards in 11 plays for the go-ahead and game-winning score as UT would hold on for the 26-24 victory.

No. 19 TCU (2007): The Horns trailed 10-0 at the half, but McCoy led Texas on a seven-play, 60-yard TD drive to open the second half. For the half, McCoy went 12-of-16 (75.0%) for 139 yards and a TD and led Texas on five scoring drives as UT defeated the Horned Frogs, 34-13.

at UCF (2007): McCoy added his third fourth-quarter comeback, leading Texas to 12 straight points (TD, two FGs) on three consecutive drives after the Horns fell behind 24-23. On those three drives, McCoy went 7-of-10 for 82 yards, while adding 12 yards rushing.

Nebraska (2007): After falling behind 17-3 at the half (17-9 entering the fourth quarter), McCoy guided a Texas offense that produced 336 total yards and 25 points in the second half and helped the Horns go on to win, 28-25.

at Oklahoma State (2007): McCoy notched his second-consecutive fourth-quarter comeback in leading Texas from a 35-14 deficit entering the final stanza. While helping Texas score 24-unanswered points to win the game, 38-35, McCoy went 8-of-9, including eight straight completions, for 145 yards and rushed for 38 yards, while leading the Horns to 311 yards of total offense. His 14-yard scramble on the final drive set up Texas' 40-yard game-winning field goal.

SPREADING THE WEALTH: Junior QB Colt McCoy continued the trend of keeping his entire receiving corps involved in UT's offensive attack by completing passes to seven different receivers in the 2008 season opener against Florida Atlantic. He also completed TD passes to three different receivers in that game. In 2007, McCoy hit 12 different receivers and completed TD passes to seven pass catchers in 2007. For the first time in school history, the Longhorns had three players with 40 or more receptions in the same season. The Horns also had three players with 500 or more receiving yards for just the third time in school history. In addition, McCoy completed passes of at least 50 yards to four different players. In 2006, he completed passes to 12 different players, including six wide receivers, and TD passes to nine different pass catchers, five of which were wide receivers.

RETURNING RECEIVERS: Two of McCoy's top receivers in 2007 are back for 2008 in seniors Quan Cosby and Jordan Shipley. The pair combined to catch 87 passes for 1,097 yards and 10 TDs. They are joined by a duo of young receivers who saw action in 2007 in sophomores Brandon Collins and James Kirkendoll. Collins appeared in seven games at wide receiver and on special teams as a true freshman, while Kirkendoll saw action in four games at wide receiver as a true freshman before an injury shortened his season.

Quan Cosby: A two-time first-team all-state football selection and a 100 and 200-meter state champ as a prepster, Quan Cosby's football career took a four-year detour when he was drafted in the sixth-round by the Anaheim Angels in the spring of 2001. He played four seasons of minor league baseball for the Angels' organization before deciding to rekindle his football career as a true freshman in 2005. Cosby has shown steady improvement and has developed into one of Colt McCoy's favorite targets. A former prep QB, he is currently riding a streak of 32 straight games with a reception (No. 2 on UT's all-time list) and has caught a pass in 35 of his 40 career games. He has caught at least three passes in 16 of his last 19 games. For his career, Cosby has caught 123 passes (No. 7 on UT's all-time list) for 1,509 yards and nine TDs. Also UT's top kick and punt returner, he has totaled 3,226 career all-purpose yards (1,509 rec./1,381 KR/336 PR) on 207 plays (15.6 ypp).

2007: Cosby made 60 receptions (No. 6 on UT's single-season list) for 680 yards and five TDs and posted at least five receptions in eight of the 13 games. He set a career high at UCF with 10 receptions before notching a career high in yards with 113, his second career 100-yard game, against Nebraska. Cosby scored TDs against Rice, Kansas State and Iowa State and had his first multi-TD game against Texas Tech.

2006: Cosby tripled the number of receptions from his freshman year and finished second on the team with 45. He posted 525 yards and scored two TDs on the year. Cosby caught seven passes on three different occasions and posted his first 100-yard receiving game with 101 against Oklahoma State. Over the last five games, he upped his production, making 28 receptions for 344 yards for an average of 5.6 receptions and 68.8 yards per game during that stretch.

2005: Cosby finished his freshman season with 15 catches for 270 yards (18.0 ypc) and two TDs. Beginning with his breakout receiving game of 79 yards on two catches, including a 55-yard TD grab, at Baylor, Cosby caught 12 passes for 245 yards (20.4 ypc) and two TDs in the Horns' final five games. He had a career-long 64-yard TD catch versus Kansas during that stretch.

Career: Cosby has registered 123 receptions for 1,509 yards (12.3 ypc) and nine TDs in 40 career games (23 starts). He is just the ninth player in UT history to post at least 100 career receptions and currently ranks seventh on UT's all-time list.

Special teams/All-purpose yards: Cosby has also been key in the Longhorns' return game and is considered one of the nation's top return men. Tabbed second-team All-Big 12 by The Associated Press as a returner, he is just the second player in school history to log over 1,000 receiving yards and 1,000 kickoff return yards in a career. With 1,509 receiving yards and 1,381 kickoff return yards, he joins Mike Adams, who had 3,032 receiving yards and 1,591 kickoff return yards. For his career, he has returned 56 kickoffs (No. 2 on UT's all-time list) for 1,381 yards (No. 2 on UT's all-time list) for a 24.7 ypr average (No. 6 on UT's all-time list) and 28 punts for 336 yards (12.0 ypr) and a TD. In 2007, Cosby returned 42 kickoffs (No. 1 on UT's single-season list) for 1,017 yards (No. 1 on UT's single-season list), including a 91-yard return for a TD, for a 24.2 ypr average (No. 7 on UT's single-season list) and 19 punts for 178 yards (9.4 ypr), while averaging 144.2 all-purpose yards per game (No. 34 NCAA). In total, Cosby posted 1,875 all-purpose yards (680 rec./1,017 KR/178 PR) on 121 plays (15.5 ypp) in 2007 and 3,226 career all-purpose yards (1,509 rec./1,381 KR/336 PR) on 207 plays (15.6 ypp) and has notched seven career plays of 50 or more yards (four rec./two KR/one PR).

Jordan Shipley: When healthy, senior Jordan Shipley has proven to be a versatile pass catcher for the Horns. Shipley has recorded 47 receptions for 699 yards and 10 TDs during his 28-game career (nine starts). He opened 2008 against Florida Atlantic by making four catches for 53 yards and a TD. Shipley notched 27 receptions for 417 yards and five TDs in 2007. His 15.4 yards per catch average led the team (20+ receptions). He saw his first action of 2007 at receiver after suffering from a hamstring injury against UCF and notched four receptions for 47 yards. Shipley had one of the best games of his career at Iowa State, posting a career-high 71 yards, while notching the first multiple TD game of his career, including a 58-yarder. He added two receptions for 70 yards, including a career-long 60-yarder to set up UT's game-tying score late in the fourth quarter, at Oklahoma State. Shipley posted a career-high six receptions in the Holiday Bowl against Arizona State. In 2006, Shipley played in all 13 games and caught 16 passes for 229 yards and four TDs. He posted 17 plays of at least 10 yards and averaged 32.3 yards per TD catch. He also produced both a run and a reception of 40 or more yards. Shipley also serves as UT's holder.

COSBY'S COMBO: Senior Quan Cosby has been asked to perform various duties since leaving professional baseball and joining the Texas football program. As a receiver, he's posted 1,509 yards and nine TDs on 123 receptions (No. 7 on UT's all-time list). He also is the Horns' top return man and was named honorable mention All-Big 12 by the league's coaches as a returner in 2007. Considered one of the nation's top return men, Cosby has amassed 1,717 combined return yards (1,381 KR/336 PR) on 84 returns (20.4 ypr) during his career. In 2007, Cosby posted nine kickoff returns of at least 30 yards, including a career-long 91-yard TD, and three punt returns of at least 20 yards with a long of 30. Cosby averaged 144.2 all-purpose yards per game, which ranked 34th nationally. Highlighting Cosby's career are a 91-yard kickoff return TD at Texas A&M (2007), a 74-yard kickoff return against No. 14 Nebraska (2006) to set up a score and a 55-yard punt return for a TD against Sam Houston State (2006). In addition, he completed a 34-yard pass to Limas Sweed against Iowa State in 2006.

MOVING THE CHAINS: Of Quan Cosby's 123 career receptions, 75 of them have gone for first downs (61.0%). Ten of his 15 receptions as a freshman went for first downs, while 30 of his 45 catches as a sophomore moved the sticks. Cosby produced first downs on 33 of his 60 receptions (55.0%) in 2007 and he moved the chains on two of his first three receptions in 2008.

SCORING FAST: Senior Jordan Shipley became the fourth player in the Mack Brown era to score on UT's first offensive play from scrimmage in a game. He opened the Iowa State game last season with a 58-yard TD reception to join Jamaal Charles, who scored on a three-yard run on the first play at Missouri in 2005, Cedric Benson, who notched a 38-yard TD run against North Texas in 2004, and Hodges Mitchell, who scored on an 80-yard run at Oklahoma State in 1999.

REPLACING CHARLES: With Jamaal Charles now playing for the Kansas City Chiefs, three Texas backs are competing for carries in 2008. Charles finished his career as UT's fourth leading rusher with 3,328 yards on 533 carries (6.2 ypc). His 36 TDs are tied for fifth on UT's all-time list. In 2007, Charles rushed for 1,619 yards (No. 5 on UT's single-season list) and 18 TDs (T-No. 5 on UT's single-season list) on 258 carries (6.3 ypc). The top candidates to fill the running back position are senior Chris Ogbonnaya and sophomore Vondrell McGee. Ogbonnaya carried the ball 26 times for 71 yards and two TDs and caught 21 passes for 204 yards, while serving primarily as UT's third-down back, in 2007. He opened 2008 against Florida Atlantic by rushing for 17 yards and a TD on four carries, while catching four passes for 35 yards and a TD. McGee posted 75 carries for 325 yards (4.0 ypc) and eight TDs as a redshirt freshman in 2007. His eight TDs tied for fifth all-time on UT's freshman list. Against FAU, McGee carried the ball 12 times for 63 yards (5.2 ypc) and a TD and made three receptions. In addition, redshirt freshman Foswhitt "Fozzy" Whittaker gained valuable experience on the scout team last season after finishing his prep career ranked sixth on the all-time Texas 5A rushing chart with 5,717 yards.

IRBY STEPS IN FOR FINLEY: The Horns must replace another NFL draftee in tight end Jermichael Finley, who caught 76 passes (No. 3 on UT's all-time TE list) for 947 yards (No. 6 on UT's all-time TE list) and five TDs during his career. Finley set UT freshman records in 2006 with 31 catches for 372 yards and three TDs before notching 45 catches (No. 2 on UT's single-season TE list) for 575 yards (No. 3 on UT's single-season TE list) and two TDs in 2007. Sophomore Blaine Irby, who played in 11 games and made two catches for 29 yards in 2007, earned the first opportunity to replace Finley's production. In the 2008 season opener against Florida Atlantic, Irby was Texas' leading receiver with seven catches for 62 yards and a TD. The seven receptions are the most for a tight end since Finley caught seven balls in the third game of 2007 at UCF. Three of Irby's catches went for first downs, including a 21-yard and a 17-yard reception. In addition, Irby posted nine knockdowns to help UT rush for 232 yards.

RECENT O-LINE SUCCESS: The Texas offensive line has been one of the nation's steadiest units over the past four seasons, and despite four linemen moving on to the NFL over the previous two seasons, the Horns finished 17th nationally in rushing offense (207.5 ypg) and 13th in total offense (462.9 ypg) in 2007. The pipeline to the NFL over the last three years began with OT Jonathan Scott, who was taken in the fifth round of the 2006 NFL Draft by the Detroit Lions. Then, in the 2007 draft, the Horns had two players, OL Justin Blalock and OG Kasey Studdard, selected. Blalock was selected in the second round by the Atlanta Falcons and Studdard was taken in the sixth round by the Houston Texans. In addition, C Lyle Sendlein signed with the Arizona Cardinals as a free agent and ended up playing in 14 games, starting two. Now, the Horns must deal with the departure of two seniors from 2007 in OT Tony Hills, a first-team All-America selection who was drafted in the fourth round by the Pittsburgh Steelers, and C Dallas Griffin, who won the Draddy Trophy and was an honorable mention All-Big 12 selection.

2008 OFFENSIVE LINE: The 2008 line is led by the lone senior, OG Cedric Dockery, who is a member of the preseason Outland Trophy watch list. Dockery, who was an honorable mention All-Big 12 selection in 2007, has played in 29 career games and made 18 starts. He is joined by a trio of juniors in C Chris Hall, who is a member of the preseason Rimington Trophy watch list, has played in 21 career games (13 starts) and started at least one game at all five line positions in 2007, OG Charlie Tanner, who has seen action in 21 career games (nine starts) and is a two-time Academic All-Big 12 performer, and OT Adam Ulatoski, who has played in 24 career games (18 starts at right tackle) and was a second-team All-Big 12 pick in 2007. Ulatoski moved to left tackle to fill the void caused by Tony Hill's graduation. In addition to the upperclassmen, sophomore OT Kyle Hix earned the start at right tackle for the 2008 season opener against Florida Atlantic. He saw action in all 13 games of 2007 and started at right tackle in UT's Holiday Bowl victory over No. 12 Arizona State. Sophomores OT Tray Allen (10 games), C Buck Burnette (14 games/one start), OG Michael Huey (14 games), OT Britt Mitchell (13 games) and OG Steve Moore (four games) also saw action against FAU. Two players, redshirt freshman OT Aundre McGaskey and true freshman OG David Snow, saw their first action as Longhorns against FAU. The line helped Texas produce 503 yards of total offense in its season-opening victory over Florida Atlantic, while not allowing a sack.

THE GO-TO GUY: Junior Chris Hall entered 2007 as the starting right guard, but the right-guard label was quickly changed to offensive lineman as the versatile Hall became the go-to-guy at all five line positions for a Longhorn line that battled injuries. Hall started the second game of 2007 against No. 19 TCU at left guard

DEFENSIVE RETURNEES: The Horns' defense returned four starters at three positions and nine players with starting experience for the 2008 season. Texas' 10 returnees with starting experience have combined for 101 career starts. Leading the group is a quintet of seniors in LB Rashad Bobino, DL Aaron Lewis, DT Roy Miller, DE Brian Orakpo and CB Ryan Palmer. Bobino, a two-time All-Big 12 selection, has started 39 of his 40 career games. Lewis, who has played in 33 career games (10 starts) at defensive end, will work at both defensive tackle and defensive end this season. Orakpo, who is a member of the preseason Nagurski Trophy and Lott Trophy watch lists, has played in 36 games (11 starts) at defensive end and finished last season as the Holiday Bowl Defensive MVP. Miller, who is a member of the preseason Bednarik Award watch list, will take over as the leader of the defensive tackle group after playing in 37 career games and making seven starts. Palmer will lead the secondary after playing in 37 career games and starting 14, including all 13 in 2007. Juniors CB Deon Beasley, LB Roddrick Muckelroy and LB Jared Norton also return with starting experience. Beasley has played in 21 career games, starting two. Muckelroy has played in 16 career games, making five starts, while Norton has seen action in 25 career games and made his first start in the 2007 Holiday Bowl. In addition, junior LB Sergio Kindle returned with game experience, having played in 20 career games. He earned the first start of his career in the season opener against FAU.

UT SEEKS TO REPLACE SEVEN DEFENSIVE STARTERS: Texas is looking to replace an All-American and four All-Big 12 performers during the 2008 season. DT Frank Okam, who earned third-team All-America honors and was drafted in the fifth round by the Houston Texans, led a defense that ranked sixth nationally in rushing defense (93.4 ypg). Okam played in 50 games (39 starts) and posted 160 tackles, 28 TFL and 10 sacks during his career. Fellow DT Derek Lokey, who earned first-team All-Big 12 honors, also will be missed after playing in 43 games (21 starts) and notching 101 tackles and 18 TFL for his career. Two of UT's most experienced linebackers also must be replaced in Scott Derry and Robert Killebrew. Derry, a two-time honorable mention All-Big 12 performer, played in 37 games (23 starts) and tallied 159 tackles and 15 TFL during his career. Killebrew, who started 34 of his 49 career games, finished his career with 179 tackles and 16 TFL. CB Brandon Foster, S Marcus Griffin and S Erick Jackson also will need to be replaced. Foster, who earned second-team All-Big 12 honors last season, played in 46 career games (13 starts) and finished his career with 106 tackles, 15 PBU and four INTs. Griffin, who was a first-team All-Big 12 selection in 2007 and a two-year starter, appeared in 49 games (23 starts) and posted 231 tackles and six INTs. Jackson, who finished his career with 90 tackles, played in 41 career games (10 starts).

SACK-TASTIC: Since 1999, Texas ranks fourth nationally in sacks at 327 behind USC (351), Virginia Tech (338) and TCU (337). After finishing 2004 with 22 total sacks, the Longhorn defense improved to 34 sacks in '05 and 39.5 sacks in '06 before notching 28 sacks in '07. The Horns defense returns 21 of those 28 sacks in 2008. DE Brian Orakpo led the team last season with 5.5 sacks, including two in UT's Holiday Bowl victory over No. 12 Arizona State. LBs Roddrick Muckelroy and Jared Norton posted 2.5 and two sacks, respectively, while DEs Aaron Lewis (2.0), Eddie Jones (1.5) and Sam Acho (1.5) also contributed. The Horns also return 72 of their 108 tackles for loss from 2007.

THE RAK IS BACK: Senior DE Brian Orakpo, who is a member of the Nagurski Trophy and Lott Trophy watch lists, headlines a deep group of edge rushers, who will be counted on to pressure the backfield in 2008. During his three seasons on the Forty Acres, Orakpo has tallied 93 tackles, 10.5 sacks, 20 TFL, 35 pressures, four PBD, two forced fumbles and a fumble recovery in 36 games (11 starts). He opened the 2008 season against Florida Atlantic by notching three tackles, a TFL and three pressures. In 2007, Orakpo, who was sidelined for four games after suffering a knee injury in the Longhorns' season opener, returned to action on a limited basis against Oklahoma and his impact was significant. In just 17 plays, the 6-4, 260-pounder recorded three tackles, two TFL and a sack versus the Sooners. Over the last eight games (including the limited duty vs. OU) of the season, "Rak" registered 34 tackles, eight TFL, five sacks, 12 pressures and two PBD. He capped off the year by being named the Holiday Bowl Defensive MVP after a six-tackle, two-sack, three-TFL performance against No. 12 Arizona State. For the season, Orakpo posted 37 tackles, 5.5 sacks, nine TFL and 12 pressures in just nine games (eight starts). In 2006, Orakpo tallied 26 tackles, six TFL and 4.5 sacks, a year after posting 27 tackles, four TFL and a half sack, which resulted in him being named the 2005 National Defensive Freshman of the Year and Big 12 Defensive Freshman of the Year.

WORKOUT WARRIOR: Senior DE Brian Orakpo was named the nation's top workout warrior in a poll conducted by ESPN The Magazine's Bruce Feldman. Orakpo, who entered The University of Texas as a 210-pound athlete, has gained 50 lbs. of muscle while maintaining eight percent body fat. The 6-4, 260-pounder is capable of bench pressing 515 lbs., squatting 600 lbs. and power cleaning 380 lbs., while posting bests of 4.6 seconds in the 40 and 42 inches in the vertical leap.

LEWIS' LAST SEASON: After spending the bulk of his career at defensive end, the Texas coaching staff is taking advantage of Aaron Lewis' versatility, allowing him to see action at both defensive end and defensive tackle in 2008. He opened the year by logging 30 snaps, 16 at DT and 14 at DE, against Florida Atlantic and notched two pressures. Despite missing two games with an elbow injury in 2007, Lewis posted 26 tackles, eight TFL, two sacks and 10 pressures. After playing in eight games as a true freshman in 2005, Lewis saw his productivity more than double in 2006 with 21 tackles, eight TFL, three sacks, 11 pressures, three fumble recoveries and a forced fumble. For his career, Lewis has recorded 55 tackles, 17 TFL, five sacks, 24 pressures, four PBD, three fumble recoveries and a forced fumble in 33 games (10 starts).

MELTON MAKING A MOVE: In just his second season at defensive end, senior Henry Melton used a tremendous off-season to earn the first defensive start of his career in UT's season opener against Florida Atlantic and notched two pressures. After spending his first two seasons at running back, Melton switched to defensive end during Alamo Bowl practices at the end of the '06 season. He saw action in 10 games in 2007 and tallied 11 tackles, a TFL, three pressures, a PBD, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery.

YOUNG DEFENSIVE ENDS: Texas has two underclassmen who made an impact last season in sophomores Eddie Jones and Sam Acho. The duo combined to notch 38 tackles, three sacks, five TFL, eight pressures, an INT and four PBD as freshmen. Jones, who red-shirted in 2006, appeared in 11 games in 2007 and posted 28 tackles, 1.5 sacks, two TFL, six pressures, an INT and two PBD. He opened 2008 by making two tackles, including a TFL. Acho saw action in 11 games as a true freshman and tallied 10 tackles, 1.5 sacks, three TFL, two pressures and two PBD. He added two pressures in UT's season opening game against Florida Atlantic.

MANNING THE MIDDLE: The defensive tackles unit was a major reason why Texas ranked sixth nationally (93.4 ypg) in rush defense in 2007, after giving up just 61.2 yards per game to rank third nationally in '06. But, the 2008 Longhorns are without the services of two of the stalwarts of those defensive lines. DTs Frank Okam and Derek Lokey combined to play in 83 games, while making 60 starts during their four-year careers. Okam, who was a third-team All-American in 2007 before being drafted in the fifth round by the Houston Texans, finished his career with 160 tackles, 10 sacks, 28 TFL, 12 PBD, one forced fumble and five fumble recoveries. Lokey garnered first-team All-Big 12 honors in 2007. He finished his career with 101 tackles, three sacks, 18 TFL, three PBD and a fumble recovery. The Longhorns will have the services of senior DT Roy Miller, who has played in 37 career games (seven starts) and is a member of the preseason Bednarik Award watch list.

MILLER MAKING AN IMPACT: While Lokey and Okam claimed a bulk of the starts at defensive tackle over the last two seasons, senior Roy Miller was an integral part of the DT rotation throughout both of those years. His ability to hold the point of attack in UT's defensive scheme thanks to a 500 lbs. bench press, 690 lbs. squat and 350 lbs. power clean helped the Horns finish third nationally in rush defense (61.2 ypg) in 2006 and sixth (93.4 ypg) in '07. For his career, Miller has recorded 92 tackles, 14 TFL, 4.5 sacks, 19 pressures and a forced fumble in 37 games (seven starts). After seeing action in 10 games as a true freshman in 2005 and making 10 tackles, Miller appeared in all 13 games in 2006, starting six. He finished the year with 39 tackles, six TFL and 3.5 sacks. Miller increased his production during his six starts, posting 26 tackles, four TFL, two sacks and two pressures. Despite battling an ankle injury for most of 2007, the 6-2, 295-pounder added 40 tackles, a sack, eight TFL, seven pressures and a forced fumble in 13 games. Miller opened 2008 against Florida Atlantic by posting three tackles and three pressures.

BOBINO LEADS TALENTED LINEBACKING CORP: Texas' linebacking corps was one of its most experienced position groups in 2007, but the loss of Scott Derry (37 games/23 starts) and Robert Killebrew (49 games/34 starts) required some new faces to step into starting roles. The lone senior, Rashad Bobino, has started 39 of his 40 career games and will be counted on to lead the rest of the linebacking corp. In addition to Bobino, juniors Sergio Kindle (19 games/one start), Roddrick Muckelroy (16 games/five starts) and Jared Norton (25 games/one start) have starting experience.

Rashad Bobino: A three-year starter and UT's top returning tackler at LB, senior Rashad Bobino was tabbed honorable mention All-Big 12 by The Associated Press in 2007. He has started 39 of his 40 career games and posted 199 tackles, 24 TFL, 4.5 sacks, 18 pressures, eight PBU, an INT, two fumble recoveries and one forced fumble. Bobino opened the 2008 season by notching three tackles and a pressure against Florida Atlantic. In 2007, Bobino recorded 69 tackles, four TFL, six pressures, three PBU and an INT. After starting at weakside LB for the Horns' 2005 National Championship team, Bobino moved to middle linebacker in 2006. He recorded 74 tackles, 13 TFL, 2.5 sacks, eight pressures, four PBU and a fumble recovery on his way to honorable mention All-Big 12 honors. His 2006 season was highlighted by performances against Iowa State and Texas A&M. Against the Cyclones, Bobino made eight tackles to go along with career highs in TFL (three) and sacks (two). He also broke up a pass and recorded two pressures. He established a career high with 14 tackles and matched his career best with three TFL against Texas A&M. In 2005, Bobino started all 13 games at weakside LB and was named first-team Freshman All-America by The Sporting News. He registered 53 tackles, six of which came in Texas' 25-22 win at No. 4 Ohio State. Bobino also had seven TFL, two sacks, four pressures, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery.

Roddrick Muckelroy: Junior Roddrick Muckelroy had earned a starting position in 2006 as a redshirt freshman and was off to a great start before an injury ended his year. He started the first three games of 2006, posting 10 tackles, three TFL and a sack before sustaining a ruptured tendon in his ring finger, which forced him to miss the rest of the season. In the first start and first game of his career, Muckelroy posted three tackles, including two TFL, against North Texas. He added three tackles against No. 1 Ohio State and four tackles, including a TFL, at Rice. Back at full strength in 2007, Muckelroy posted 67 tackles, 2.5 sacks, six TFL, an INT, two forced fumbles and a fumble recovery. He finished the year strong, tallying 29 tackles, 2.5 sacks, five TFL and two forced fumbles over the final four games, including the Holiday Bowl victory over No. 12 Arizona State, when he notched three tackles, a sack, two TFL and a forced fumble in his only start of the season. Muckelroy opened the 2008 season against Florida Atlantic by posting a team-high six tackles, including a TFL.

Jared Norton: During junior Jared Norton's 25-game career, he has posted 72 tackles, six TFL, two sacks, an INT, two forced fumbles and a fumble recovery. Norton opened the 2008 season against Florida Atlantic by tallying four tackles, including a TFL. In 12 games in 2007, Norton tallied 53 tackles, two sacks, four TFL, an INT and a forced fumble. He capped the year by earning the first start of his career in the Holiday Bowl victory against No. 12 Arizona State and posted four tackles, a TFL and a pressure. Norton also played in 12 games as a true freshman at linebacker and on special teams. He notched 15 tackles, a TFL, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery.

Sergio Kindle: Junior Sergio Kindle has seen action in 20 games (one start) during his career and tallied 55 tackles, a half sack, seven TFL, five pressures, a PBD and a fumble recovery. In the 2008 season opener against Florida Atlantic, Kindle notched two tackles and recovered a fumble that led to a Texas TD. After playing in 11 games as a true freshman in 2006 and notching 21 tackles and three TFL, Kindle appeared in eight games in 2007, posting 32 tackles, a half sack, four TFL, five pressures and a PBD.

BREAKING IN A NEW SECONDARY, AGAIN: For the second straight season, the Longhorn secondary lost three of its four starters. The Horns must replace first-team All-Big 12 performer S Marcus Griffin, second-team All-Big 12 honoree CB Brandon Foster and S Erick Jackson, who started 10 of 13 games, from the 2007 secondary. Griffin was a two-year starter, who played in 49 career games (23 starts). Foster appeared in 46 career games and started 12 of 13 games last year. Jackson played in 41 career games, making 10 starts. The year before, Texas needed to replace three players who are currently playing in the NFL in CB Tarell Brown

(San Francisco 49ers), S Michael Griffin (Tennessee Titans) and CB Aaron Ross (New York Giants). Brown was a three-year starter, who played in 51 career games. Griffin earned first-team All-America honors from Pro Football Weekly, was a semifinalist for the Lott Trophy (Defensive IMPACT Player of the Year) and finished his career as UT's eighth all-time leading tackler (364 tackles). The Horns also lost Thorpe Award winner and first-team All-American Aaron Ross, who led the team in INTs (six) and PBU (19), while making 80 tackles, as a senior in 2006. In addition, the Horns secondary produced two NFL starters from its 2005 squad in Thorpe Award winner and the seventh pick S Michael Huff and first-team All-Big 12 performer and second round NFL Draft pick CB Cedric Griffin.

PALMER TAKES THE LEAD: With three of the four starters from the 2007 secondary needing to be replaced, senior CB Ryan Palmer, the lone returnee, has taken over as the veteran leader in 2008. Joining Palmer (37 games/14 starts) are junior CB Deon Beasley (21 games/two starts) and sophomores CB Chykie Brown (14 games/one start) and CB Curtis Brown (14 games). Chykie Brown earned the first start of his career against Florida Atlantic and posted two tackles. In addition, a trio of freshmen have earned playing time in spring and fall camp. Redshirt freshman Earl Thomas earned the first start of his career in UT's season-opening victory over Florida Atlantic. He posted five tackles, two PBU, a forced fumble and blocked a punt that led to a Texas TD. True freshman Blake Gideon earned the start opposite Thomas and tallied two tackles against FAU. Redshirt freshman Christian Scott also saw action and posted three tackles.

Ryan Palmer: Senior Ryan Palmer has notched 106 tackles, six TFL, two INTs, 16 PBU, three forced fumbles and a fumble recovery during his 37-game career. Palmer opened 2008 by notching two tackles and an INT in his own end zone that halted a FAU drive. In 2007, Palmer, who started all 13 games, finished second on the team in tackles with 80 and led the team with 14 PBU and three forced fumbles. He also added six TFL and a fumble recovery. In the first start of his career against Arkansas State, Palmer notched 10 tackles and a TFL. He also recorded 10 tackles against Iowa State. Palmer posted at least five tackles in 11 of the 13 games and at least two PBU in five, including a career-high three at UCF. He played at cornerback and on special teams as a freshman and sophomore, combining to tally 24 tackles, an INT and two PBU. One of the fastest players on the team, Palmer earned All-Big 12 honors after running the lead leg on Texas' 4x100-meter relay and teamed with former UT corner Brandon Foster to win the 4x100 Texas 5A state championship in 2003.

Deon Beasley: Junior Deon Beasley has played in 21 career games, starting two, at cornerback, posting 45 tackles, three TFL, three INTs and 10 PBU. In 2007, he tallied 37 tackles, three TFL, three INTs and nine PBU. His three INTs tied for the team lead, while his nine PBU ranked third. In his only start of the season against Rice, Beasley posted six tackles and two PBU. He capped the regular season by posting seven tackles, a TFL and an INT at Texas A&M.

TAKING THE KICK: Senior Quan Cosby took over both the kick return and punt return duties in 2007 from Longhorns who are now playing in the NFL, Selvin Young (Denver Broncos) and Aaron Ross (New York Giants), and went on to be named second-team All-Big 12 by The Associated Press. Cosby returned 42 kickoffs (No. 1 on UT's single-season list) for 1,017 yards (No. 1 on UT's single-season list) for a 24.2 ypr average (No. 7 on UT's single-season list). He posted UT's first kickoff return TD since 2003 when he returned a kickoff 91 yards at Texas A&M. It was the first kickoff return TD Texas A&M had allowed since 1990. In addition, Cosby returned 19 punts for 178 yards (9.4 ypr). Cosby's 61 combined returns (42ko/19p) rank first on UT's single-season list, surpassing Mike Adams' 49 returns (23ko/26p) in 1993. His combined 1,195 returns yards (1,017ko/178p) also rank first on UT's single-season list, bettering Adams' 878 yards (622ko/256p) in 1993.

COSBY'S CAREER RETURNS: For his career, Cosby has returned 56 kickoffs (No. 2 on UT's all-time list) for 1,381 yards (No. 2 on UT's all-time list) for a 24.7 ypr average (No. 5 on UT's all-time list), including a 91-yard TD return at Texas A&M last season and a 78-yard return on the opening kickoff at Nebraska in 2006. He also has returned 28 punts for 336 yards (12.0 ypr), including a 55-yard TD return against Sam Houston State in 2006. Cosby has produced 1,717 combined return yards (1,381 KR/336 PR) on 84 returns (20.4 ypr) during his career. Cosby was UT's leading kickoff return man in 2006, bringing back 13 kicks for 334 yards (25.7 ypr), and was Ross' top backup at punt returner in 2005 and '06.

ELITE RETURN GROUP: With a 91-yard kickoff return for a TD and a 55-yard punt return TD, senior Quan Cosby is just the third Longhorn to return a kickoff and a punt for a TD, joining Raymond Clayborn (1973-76) and Selvin Young (2002-06).

BAILEY HANDLING PLACE-KICKING: Former walk-on turned scholarship kicker senior Ryan Bailey, who is a member of the Lou Groza Award watch list for the nation's top kicker, took over as the place-kicker during the Nebraska game in 2006. Since then, he has gone 24-of-28 on field goal attempts (.857/No. 1 on UT's all-time list), including nine makes from 40 yards or more. He also has converted 76-of-78 PAT attempts, including a streak of 60 straight (No.2 on UT's consecutive made PATs list), and has scored 148 career points. In 2007, Bailey, who was named honorable mention All-Big 12 by The Associated Press and the league's coaches, went 58-of-59 on PATs and 18-of-22 on field goal attempts (.818/No. 3 on UT's single-season list), including 8-of-10 from 40 or more yards and a career-long 52-yarder. Bailey's 112 points (No. 2 on UT place-kicker's single-season list) (8.6 ppg) ranked 23rd nationally and fifth in the Big 12, while his 1.4 FGs per game tied for 33rd nationally and third in the Big 12. In addition, his 81.8% accuracy on field goals ranked first among Big 12 place-kickers. Bailey tied the UT single-game record with five made field goals at UCF and his 17 total points tied the single-game record for place-kickers. He also added a career-long 52-yard field goal against Rice. The 52-yarder was the first made field goal from over 50 yards since Dusty Mangum hit a 52-yarder against Texas A&M in 2004. Bailey scored 10 points against Nebraska with three field goals (38, 47, 49) and an extra point to earn Big 12 Special Teams Player of the Week. He followed that up by earning his second Big 12 Special Teams Player of the Week honor after connecting on a 40-yard field goal with no time on the clock to give Texas a 38-35 victory at Oklahoma State. He also went 5-of-5 on PATs to score eight points on the day. Bailey added 11 points against Texas Tech after going 8-of-8 on PATs and making a 25-yard FG. In 2006, Bailey was perfect on field-goal attempts, going 6-of-6, and went 17-of-18 on PATs for 35 points (5.8 ppg).

CLUTCH KICKS: Ryan Bailey has already produced two game-winning field goals in his short career. He attempted and made the first field goal of his career, a 22-yarder, late in the game at No. 17 Nebraska in 2006 to give Texas a 22-20 victory. Then, at Oklahoma State in 2007, Bailey split the uprights on a 40-yarder as time expired to give the Horns a 38-35 victory over the Cowboys. The kick gave the Horns a victory on the final play of the game for just the fourth time in school history.

GAME-WINNING PLAYS: With a 40-yard, game-winning field goal at Oklahoma State in 2007, Texas won for the fourth time in school history on the final play of a game. Ryan Bailey's last-second boot joins Dusty Mangum's 37-yard field goal to beat No. 12 Michigan, 38-37, in the 2004 Rose Bowl, Phil Dawson's 50-yard field goal to beat No. 14 Virginia, 17-16, in 1995 and Tony Jones' 18-yard TD reception from Bret Stafford, which pushed the Longhorns past No. 15 Arkansas, 17-15, in 1987.

IMMEDIATE IMPACT: Eight true freshmen, Emmanuel Acho, Nolan Brewster, Dan Buckner, Blake Gideon, Jeremy Hills, David Snow, Justin Tucker and Aaron Williams, saw action in the 2008 season opener against Florida Atlantic. Mack Brown has now played 92 of a possible 255 true freshmen (35.9%) in his 11 seasons at Texas.

TEXAS BY THE NUMBERS

- 1: Junior QB Colt McCoy ranks first all-time at UT in completion percentage (67.1%) and passer rating (150.1).
- 2: The Longhorns won back-to-back Thorpe Awards thanks to current Oakland Raiders S Michael Huff (2005) and New York Giants DB Aaron Ross (2006).
- 3: Quan Cosby is one of just three Longhorns (Raymond Clayborn, 1973-76; Selvin Young, 2002-06) who have recorded a kickoff and punt return for a TD during their careers.
- 4: Texas is just one of three schools nationally that has won four consecutive bowl games. The four straight bowl wins also is a UT first.
- 4: Ryan Bailey's game-winning 40-yard field goal at Oklahoma State in 2007 marked the fourth time in UT history that the Horns won a game on the final play.
- 5: Ryan Bailey tied a school record with five field goals at UCF in 2007.
- 5: Colt McCoy has led five fourth-quarter comebacks and three second-half comebacks during his career.
- 6: Texas leads the nation with six Top Five NFL Draft picks over the last nine years.
- 6: Texas ranked sixth nationally in rush defense in 2007 (93.4 ypg) and third nationally in 2006 (61.2 ypg).
- 7: Texas is the only school in the nation to post at least 10 wins in each of the last seven seasons.
- 7: Seven Longhorns have been drafted in the Top 10 of the NFL Draft in the last eight years, the most of any school in the nation.
- 8: Texas is the only school in the nation to both start and finish the season ranked in the Top 15 for each of the last eight seasons.

SPANISH LANGUAGE BROADCAST

The Longhorns Sports Network will also offer a Spanish Language Radio broadcast of all Texas Football games. The games will be broadcast on a statewide network and on the web at www.univision.com.

USE OF AUDIO/VIDEO IN COVERAGE

Any media entity collecting "video or audio materials" (film, traditional video or audio, digital video or audio, photos, etc.) from University of Texas Athletics events (games, practices, post-practice/post-game interviews and press conferences) may use that material only for traditional television newscasts, Web-based or print coverage, or other electronic transmission as approved by The University in writing, with a limitation of up to three (3) minutes in length from any single event. Its usage also must be used only as supporting video/audio for a reported story and not simply as rebroadcast/streamed highlights or interview sessions. Such media entity may not offer any live video, audio or other coverage of the event (or tape-delay rebroadcast coverage in its entirety) without the advance, written permission of The University of Texas Athletics Department.

POSTGAME

The Longhorns' locker room is closed. Interview requests should be given to Assistant AD/Media Relations Director John Bianco. Requested players will be brought to the Moncrief-Neuhaus Athletics Complex meeting rooms following home contests and to a designated interview area at road games.

NO INTERVIEWS ARE TO BE CONDUCTED ON THE FIELD FOLLOWING THE GAME. After a NCAA required and team-enforced 10-minute cooling off period, players and coaches will be escorted to the interview area. Failure to abide by this rule will result in termination of credential.

POST-PRACTICE AVAILABILITY

Practices are closed to the public and media. Players and assistant coaches are available by request after Tuesday's practice and head coach Mack Brown is available after Wednesday's practice to wrap up the week. Your requests should be given to Assistant AD/Media Relations Director John Bianco. All post-practice interviews are done on the roof of the Moncrief-Neuhaus Athletics Complex.

PHONE

Phone interviews with Longhorns players should be requested at least 24 hours in advance through Assistant AD/Media Relations Director John Bianco (office: 512/471-1346/cell: 512/748-9315). Based on the players' schedules, the call will either be made following practice or at an assigned time. The last chance for player interviews is after Tuesday's practice. Phone interviews with coaches and staff members should be requested at least 24 hours in advance through Bill Little (office: 512/471-6062/cell: 512/748-9316).
