NO. 1/1 TEXAS TO HOST NO. 7/8 OKLAHOMA STATE: No. 1/1 Texas (7-0, 3-0 Big 12) will face-off against its third consecutive Top 15 team when it hosts No. 7/8 Oklahoma State (7-0, 3-0 Big 12) on Saturday, Oct. 25 at Darrell K Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium (2:30 p.m./Central/ABC). Both teams were ranked in the first BCS Poll of the season with the Horns holding the top spot, while the Cowboys were ranked sixth. In addition, both teams enter the contest riding eight-game winning streaks, which is tied for fourth nationally. Texas and Oklahoma State will meet for just the third time when both teams have been ranked in the Top 25. Texas won both of the other games, a 56-35 victory in Austin (2004) and a 55-16 win in Stillwater (2003). The Longhorns are coming off a 56-31 victory against No. 11 Missouri, while No. 8/10 Oklahoma State defeated Baylor, 34-6, in Waco.

NO. 1 RANKING: Texas has reached No. 1 in The Associated Press poll 14 different times for a total of 45 weeks, but this week marks the first time in UT history that it was a unanimous No. 1 in writer's poll. The Horns have played 38 games as The AP's top-ranked squad and have gone 29-6-3 during that span. Fourteen of those games were against ranked opponents with UT holding a 9-4-1 record. The last time the Longhorns were ranked No. 1 was in the final poll following the 2005 National Championship. The last time UT held the top spot during the regular season was Oct. 8, 1984. Texas began that season 3-0 before a 15-15 tie with No. 3 Oklahoma dropped them from the top spot. UT's longest stint at No. 1 in The AP Poll was a nine-week stretch in 1963. That stay at the top began on Oct. 15 following a 28-7 win over then-No. 1 Oklahoma. The Longhorns stayed on top for the rest of the season. Texas has reached No. 1 in the coaches' poll 13 different times for a total of 41 weeks. The last time the Longhorns were ranked No. 1 in the coaches' poll also was in the final poll following the 2005 National Championship, and just like in The AP Poll, the last time UT held the top spot in the coaches' poll during the regular season was Oct. 8, 1984.

BCS NO. 1: Texas is ranked No. 1 in the opening 2008 BCS Standings. The Horns ranked first in all three portions, the USA Today Coaches Poll, the Harris Interactive Poll and the computer average, and all six polls that make up the computer average have the Longhorns ranked first. Texas' overall BCS average is .9979, leading Alabama at .9487 and Penn State at .8666. The Longhorns are ranked No. 1 in the standings for the first time since Oct. 24, 2005, when they defeated No. 24 Colorado and No. 10 Texas Tech in consecutive weeks prior to the poll's release. This marks the third time in the last four years Texas has been ranked in the Top 10 of the opening standings with its previous high being No. 2 in 2005. The Longhorns are the only team in the nation to finish ranked in the standings in each of the last nine years.

THE OKLAHOMA STATE SERIES: The Longhorns hold a 20-2 edge in the all-time series with the Cowboys and have won the last 10 meetings and 15 of the last 16 overall. The Horns are 13-1 against the Cowboys in Austin and Mack Brown is 10-0 against OSU. Last season, Texas defeated Oklahoma State, 38-35, in Stillwater on a last-second Ryan Bailey field goal. The Horns trailed by 21 points entering the fourth quarter, but ran off 24 unanswered points to seal the victory. In 2005, the Horns fell behind 28-9 before scoring 38 unanswered points to win, 47-28, in Stillwater. The year before, in Austin, the Longhorns rallied to defeat the Cowboys, 56-35, after trailing 35-7 for the largest comeback in school history. UT has won by an average score of 41-22 during the 10-game winning streak. The last time Oklahoma State defeated the Longhorns was a 42-16 victory in Stillwater on Oct. 4, 1997. Since the two schools joined the Big 12 Conference in 1996, the Horns have won 11 of 12 contests against the Cowboys. The 1998 (UT, 37-34), 2002 (UT, 17-15) and '07 (UT, 38-35) games were decided on the final drive.

TEXAS-OKLAHOMA STATE SERIES TRENDS: UT and OSU have met 22 times with the Longhorns winning 20 of those contests ... six of the games have been played in Stillwater with Texas winning the last five ... the two teams' first-ever meeting, a 14-7 UT win in 1916, was played in San Antonio ... they also met in San Antonio in 1920 ... UT is a perfect 11-0 against the Cowboys when the Horns enter the game ranked among the nation's Top 25 ... the only two times in the history of the series that OSU has entered the game ranked among the Top 25 were 2003 and '04 ... UT and OSU met as Southwest Conference foes five times (1916, '17, '18, '20 and '22) before the Cowboys departed that league ... the two teams also met in 1944, '46, '63, '67 and '68 ... UT has outscored OSU by an average of 31-14 in the series (672-308) ... the Cowboys have tallied more than 10 points on UT just 11 times, four of which were big Texas wins (71-14 in 1996, 55-16 in 2003, 56-35 in '04 and 47-28 in '05) ... UT has shutout Oklahoma State twice and held it to seven or fewer points 10 times.

MONUMENTAL COMEBACKS: Texas' 28-point comeback against Oklahoma State in 2004 marked the largest deficit a UT team had come back from in its history, surpassing the previous mark of 19 points set in the 2001 Holiday Bowl against Washington. The Longhorns trailed the Cowboys 35-7 and responded with 49 unanswered points for the win. In 2005, Texas had to overcome another 19-point deficit against Oklahoma State before scoring 38 unanswered points to win, 47-28. The Horns also tied the second-largest comeback in school history and set the standard for fourth-quarter comebacks against the Cowboys in 2007. The Horns trailed by 21 points entering the fourth quarter, but scored 24 unanswered points and won the game on a last-second, 40-yard Ryan Bailey field goal.

7-0: Texas is off to a 7-0 start for the second time in the Mack Brown era. Prior to Brown's arrival in 1998, the last time Texas registered seven straight wins to open the season was 1983. Texas has opened the year with at least seven straight wins just four times (1970, '77, 2005, '08) in 38 years and two of those have come under Brown.

TACKLING THE TOP 25: Texas is 21-4 (.840) in its last 25 games versus Top 25 opponents, including a 15-2 mark (.882) in its last 17 match-ups. That's a continuation of the success the Longhorns have had against ranked foes during the Mack Brown era. In his 11 years in Austin, UT is 28-16 versus Top 25 opponents. In fact, the Longhorns have posted a winning record against ranked opponents in seven out of Brown's 10 seasons, including each of the last six years.

TEXAS COMING OFF NATION-LEADING SEVENTH CONSECUTIVE 10-WIN SEASON: The Texas Longhorns finished the 2007 season 10-3, giving them at least 10 wins in each of the last seven seasons, a feat unmatched by any other program nationally. Overall, Texas' 110 victories over the last 11 years are the most in the nation. The Horns also have won more Big 12 games (68) than any other team in the conference during that time. In addition, the Horns set a school record last season by winning a bowl game for the fourth straight year after defeating No. 12 Arizona State in the Holiday Bowl. They are one of only three schools nationally to do so. The Holiday Bowl win marked UT's sixth bowl victory in the last seven years, including two BCS triumphs and a BCS Championship Game victory. Mack Brown's seven bowl victories at UT trail only Darrell Royal's eight wins.

THE LAST TIME - NO. 15/14 TEXAS 38, OKLAHOMASTATE 35

Stillwater, Okla., Nov. 3, 2007- No. 15 Texas rallied from 21 points down to post its biggest fourth quarter comeback in school history (second-largest second-half comeback ever) to defeat Oklahoma State, 38-35, in Stillwater. After OSU jumped out to a 21-0 lead just over a quarter into the game, Texas outscored the Cowboys 38-14 over the final 44:36 of the game (just under three quarters). Texas also trailed by 21, 35-14, with 8:40 left in the third quarter. It was UT's 10th straight win over OSU and its fifth in-a-row on the Cowboys' home field. Ryan Bailey hit a 40-yard field goal as time expired to secure the win. It marked just the fourth time in UT history that Texas posted a victory on the game's final play. The Horns recorded 311 yards (166 rushing/145 passing) on 26 fourth-quarter plays (12.0 ypp) en route to outscoring OSU 24-0 in the final period. The rally didn't come easy as the Horns were pinned inside the 10-yard line twice and scored on fourth-quarter drives of 59, 99, 91 and 57 yards. It marked the first time Texas had two scoring drives of at least 90 yards in the same game since the 1990 TCU game. Jamaal Charles sparked the surge, rushing for 125 yards and two TDs on seven carries (17.9 ypc) in the fourth quarter. With Texas trailing 35-14 entering the last quarter, Charles scored on TD runs of 18 and 75 yards to pull the Horns within a touchdown at 35-28 with 7:30 left. Colt McCoy, who completed 8-of-9 fourth quarter passes (including eight straight at one point) for 145 yards and a TD, completed a 60-yard strike to Jordan Shipley to set up Vondrell McGee's one-yard TD run that tied the game at 35 with 3:22 left. After OSU missed a 32-yard field goal with 1:13 remaining, McCoy's 30-yard completion to Jermichael Finley and his 14-yard run were the key plays on an eight-play, 57-yard drive that set up Bailey's game winning field goal. Led by an offense that featured a pair of 100-yard rushers, Texas recorded 589 yards (307 rushing/282 passing). The 300-yard rushing game came against a Cowboy defense that was allowing just 122 rushing yards per game. Charles led the way, rushing for 180 yards and three TDs on 16 rushes (11.2 ypc). McCoy completed 20-of-28 passes for 282 yards and a TD. He also ran for career-high 106 yards on 16 rushes to tally 388 yards of total offense. Jermichael Finley, who pulled the Horns within 21-14 at the 7:43 mark of the second quarter with a 20-yard TD catch, caught a team-high six passes for 79 yards. Shipley added two catches for 70 yards. Defensively, Marcus Griffin (12 tackles) led a group of four Longhorns that recorded double-digit tackles. Rodrick Muckelroy posted 11 tackles, while Rashad Bobino and Ishie Oduewgu each notched 10 stops. Lamarr Houston tallied eight tackles, a TFL, a PBD and two pressures on the day, while Derek Lokey added eight tackles, including two TFL.

NINE-WIN SEASONS: Texas has posted at least nine victories for 10 straight seasons. The streak of 10 straight seasons of nine or more victories is a UT first and the longest active string in the nation. In addition, with 10 wins in his final two seasons at North Carolina, Mack Brown is the lone coach nationally to lead his team to nine or more victories in 12 straight seasons.

STRING OF SUCCESS: With a 2007 No. 10 final ranking, Texas has finished the year ranked among the nation's Top 15 in each of the last eight seasons, a Longhorn best. In addition, UT has finished in the Top 10 in five of the last seven seasons (2001, '02, '04, '05 and '07). You have to go back to Darrell Royal's string of success in the late 1960s, when the Horns finished among the Top Five four out of five years (1968-72), to equal that consistency in UT history.

SEVEN HORNS ON WATCH LISTS: Texas has seven players listed on national award watch lists in OG Cedric Dockery, P John Gold, C Chris Hall, QB Colt McCoy, DT Roy Miller, RB Chris Ogbonnaya and DE Brian Orakpo. Dockery was tabbed for the Outland Trophy watch list, which honors the nation's top interior lineman. Gold was named to the Ray Guy Award watch list as the nation's top punter. Hall earned a spot on the Rimington Trophy watch list, which honors the nation's top center. McCoy landed on the Maxwell Award, which recognizes the nation's outstanding collegiate player, the Walter Camp Football Foundation Player of the Year award and the Davey O'Brien Award, which goes to the nation's best college quarterback, watch lists. Miller was tabbed for the Bednarik Award watch list for the college defensive player of the year. Ogbonnaya was named a semifinalist for the Draddy Trophy, which goes to the absolute best in the country for his combined academic success, football performance and exemplary community leadership and Orakpo earned spots on the Bednarik Award, Nagurski Trophy, Hendricks Award, Lombardi Award and Lott Trophy watch lists. The Bednarik Award goes to the college defensive player of the year, the Nagurski Trophy honors the nation's top defensive player, the Hendricks Award goes to the nation's top defensive end, the Lombardi Award honors the nation's best lineman and the Lott Trophy is awarded to college's Defensive IMPACT Player of the Year.

POST-OU SUCCESS: Regardless of the outcome of the Red River Rivalry, Texas has had great success in the second half of the season during Mack Brown's 11-year tenure. The Horns are 53-6 (.898) in regular season games following the OU game over that span. That includes the 2006 losses to Kansas State and Texas A&M when starting quarterback Colt McCoy was injured, as well as a 1999 loss at Texas A&M when Big 12 offensive co-MVP Major Applewhite was sidelined by a stomach virus. The other three losses came to Texas A&M in 2007 and Texas Tech in Lubbock in 1998 and 2002. UT has won at least four consecutive games following the Red River Rivalry for nine-straight seasons. That had only been done four times in 25 seasons prior to 1999. In fact, in the 10 years prior to Mack Brown's arrival in 1998, UT was just 35-27 in games following the Red River Rivalry. Five times in Brown's 10 years, Texas has won all of its regular season games after the Oklahoma game. In addition, over the past seven seasons, including the Big 12 Championship game in 2005 and a 5-1 record in bowl games, Texas is 39-5 (.886) post-OU with two of those losses coming after McCoy's injury in 2006. The five losses over the last six years have come by a total of 28 points (42-38 at Texas Tech, 2002; 28-20 vs. Washington State in the 2003 Holiday Bowl; 45-42 at Kansas State, 2006; 12-7 vs. Texas A&M, 2006; 38-30 at Texas A&M, 2007).

ELEVENTH YEAR UNDER MACK BROWN:

With Mack Brown in his 11th season at Texas, he is just the fourth coach in the 116 years of Texas football to coach the Longhorns for at least a decade and just the second UT coach to win 100 games. Darrell Royal, who won 167 games while at Texas, has the longest tenure at 20 years, while D.X. Bible and Fred Akers each coached in Austin for 10 seasons. With a 110-25 (.815) record at UT, Mack Brown is the architect of the nation's best record during that stretch. In addition, Brown has led the Horns to an 83-14 (.856) mark over the last eight seasons, which is the best record in the nation over that timespan, and includes four 11-win seasons (2001, '02, '04 and '05). The 11-win seasons set the bar at Texas before the Horns' record-setting, 13-win campaign in 2005. Texas is the only school in the nation that has posted at least 10 wins in each of the last seven seasons (a UT record). With 10 wins in 2007, Brown is the lone coach nationally to lead his team to nine or more victories in 12 straight seasons. His 10 straight seasons at UT of nine or more victories are a school best. Under Brown, the Horns have posted Top 10 finishes five times in the last seven years (2001, '02, '04, '05 and '07). Prior to his arrival, the last time UT finished in the Top 10 was 1983. In addition, Texas played in a bowl game for a school-record 10th-consecutive season in 2007, bettering the previous streak of nine straight from 1977-85. Brown's personal strings, including time at North Carolina, go back even further. He has posted 18 consecutive winning seasons and has directed his teams to 16 straight bowl games. Both of those marks are the second-longest active streaks in the nation.

UT'S NO. 2 ALL-TIME: Mack Brown has won 110 games at Texas. He is in second place on UT's all-time list behind only Darrell Royal, who tallied 167 victories from 1957-76. Brown moved ahead of Fred Akers, who posted 86 wins from 1977-86, during the 2006 season.

BROWN REACHES CENTURY MARK:

With a victory against Nebraska in 2007, Mack Brown joined Darrell Royal as just the second coach in UT history to reach the 100-victory plateau (110-25/.815). He also is one of only 10 active coaches at NCAA Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) schools who have won 100 games at their current school. Of the 80 coaches that have ever won 100 games at a FBS school, Brown is the 14th fastest to reach the century mark (124 games) and the third-fastest among active coaches. For his career, Brown has won 196 games, which is tied for 21st on the NCAA all-time list with Fielding Yost.

BOWL ROLL: With a 52-34 victory over No. 12 Arizona State in the 2007 Holiday Bowl, Texas has played in a bowl game for a UT-record 10 straight seasons, bettering the previous mark of nine straight bowl games from 1977-85. The Horns have won six of their last seven bowl games and have a 7-3 record in bowl contests under Mack Brown. In the 10 years prior to Brown's arrival, Texas went to four bowls and was 1-3. Brown is the first UT coach since Darrell Royal, who was 8-7-1 in bowl games, to post a .500 or better record in bowls. Under Brown, Texas has won bowl games in four consecutive years for the first time in school history (2004-07). They are one of only three schools nationally to accomplish that feat. The Horns did win five straight bowl contests previously (1963-64, '66, '68-69), but the streak was interrupted by seasons that did not result in a bowl game. Brown's personal string, including time at North Carolina, goes back even further. He has directed his teams to 16 straight bowl games, which is the second-longest active streak in the nation.

REWRITE THE RECORD BOOK:

During Mack Brown's 11-year tenure at Texas, the Horns have set 214 school records. The offense has led the way by setting 135 team, individual, game, season and career records. UT also has set 14 defensive records, 32 special teams records and 28 freshman records under Brown. In addition, the Horns have set every major school attendance record during the Mack Brown era.

BROWN'S TOP 10 HORNS:

Mack Brown revived the Horns as a Top 10 regular beginning with a No. 5 preseason ranking in 2001. Since then, the Horns have earned a Top 10 standing in 97 of the last 120 AP polls. All totaled, UT has spent 104 weeks ranked among the Top 10 since Brown arrived in 1998. In the same 11-year stretch prior to his arrival, UT spent just 16 weeks rated among the Top 10. Brown has led the Horns to a final Top 10 ranking in five of the last seven seasons. In 2005, he led UT to its first No. 1 ranking since 1984 and its first No. 1 ranking to end the season since 1969. Before Brown took over the program, the last time UT earned a Top 10 finish was 1983. From the start of the 1984 season to Brown's arrival in 1998, UT was in the Top 10 just 28 times in 14 seasons.

UT AND THE AP TOP 10: After its loss at Kansas State in 2006, Texas had its string of 46-straight weeks in The AP Top 10 snapped. Prior to that, the last time the Horns were not among The AP Top 10 was in the final poll of the 2003 season. The 46-straight weeks was the second-longest streak in the nation and bettered the Horns' run of 40 straight weeks from 1968-71. It also was the longest for the Horns in the Mack Brown era. The longest Texas streak in The AP Top 10 is 60 weeks from 1961-65.

EIGHT STRAIGHT TOP 15 FINISHES: Texas' No. 10 ranking in 2007 marked the eighth straight year the Horns finished ranked among the nation's Top 15. That is the first time UT has ever accomplished that feat. The 2007 standing followed a No. 13 ranking in 2006, a No. 1 ranking in 2005, a No. 5 ranking in 2004, a No. 12 ranking in 2003, a No. 6 ranking in 2002, a No. 5 ranking in 2001 and a No. 12 ranking in 2000.

WIRE-TO-WIRE: Texas is the nation's only school that has both started and finished the season ranked among the nation's Top 15 in each of the last eight seasons.

AP TOP 25 STREAK AT UT RECORD 133 STRAIGHT WEEKS: Texas has been ranked among The Associated Press Top 25 for a UT-record and national-leading 133 straight weeks, bettering a 114-week streak from 1968-76. The next longest active streak is USC's 107 weeks. Texas has finished the year ranked among The AP Top 25 in each of Mack Brown's 10 years in Austin. That marks the first time in school history Texas has finished in The AP Top 25 for 10 straight years, bettering the previous record of eight straight seasons from 1968-75.

UT-RECORD 161 STRAIGHT WEEKS IN COACHES POLL: UT

has been ranked among the USA Today Coaches Poll for 161 straight weeks dating back to late in the 1998 season. The 161 straight weeks is the longest UT streak in any poll and the nation's longest active streak in the coaches poll. The next longest active streak is USC's 106 weeks. The Horns' previous longest streak in the coaches poll was 54 weeks from 1977-80. Texas has been ranked in the first and last coaches poll in all 10 of Mack Brown's previous seasons in Austin.

CONFERENCE COMPETITION:

Mack Brown, who guided the Horns to the 2005 Big 12 Championship and has won or shared the Big 12 South Division Championship four times, is 68-15 (.819) in 11 seasons of Big 12 play. That is the best league record over that span, ahead of Oklahoma (65-18), Nebraska (49-34) and Kansas State (48-35). UT has won 36 of its last 42 games against Big 12 foes. The Horns had tied the school record by winning 21 straight conference games from 2004-06 before the streak was snapped at Kansas State in 2006. The record of 21 straight conference victories was set from 1968-71 when Texas was competing in the Southwest Conference. The 21-straight Big 12 victories also marked the longest streak in league history. It is a significant improvement from the 8-8 (.500) mark Texas produced in Big 12 competition the two years prior to Brown's arrival, UT's first in the conference. At 76-23 (.768), Texas has the top intraconference record since the Big 12 formed in 1996.

HOME FIELD ADVANTAGE: During Mack Brown's 11-year tenure, Texas has won 56 of its 62 home games (.903), including two of the five longest home winning streaks in UT history. That is a dramatic improvement from the Horns' 38-20-1 record in the 11 seasons prior to Brown's arrival. The Horns won 20 in a row at home from 1999-2003 (third-longest in school history). Then, from 2003-06, Texas won 16 straight home games, which tied for the fourth-best string on UT record. Under Brown, the Horns have outscored their opponents by an average of 43-16 and out-gained them by an average of 465.6 yards to 287.2 at home.

UT'S BIG 12 SUCCESS AT HOME:

Texas is 33-3 (.917) at home versus league opponents during the Mack Brown era. The 33 home victories are the most by any team in the conference over the last 10 years. In addition, the Horns set the league record with a 26-game home winning streak over Big 12 opponents, which was snapped in 2006. Prior to 2006, the last time UT had lost a home game against a league foe was 1999 (35-17 to No. 13 Kansas State).

ROAD WARRIORS:

Texas is 31-6 (.838) away from home (road and neutral sites) over the last six years, which is tied for the best record in the nation. The Horns have lost only eight true road games (not including neutral-site games) in Mack Brown's 11-year tenure, with two of them coming in his first three games at UT. The Longhorns have won 35 of their last 38 true road games (.921). The only losses during that stretch were a trio of shootouts, 42-38 at Texas Tech in 2002, 45-42 at Kansas State in 2006 and 38-30 at Texas A&M in 2007. UT's loss at KSU snapped a school-record streak of 17 consecutive road wins. The 17-straight road wins eclipsed the previous record of 13 set from 1981-84. UT also won 12 consecutive road games from 2000-02. Overall, Texas is 40-8 (.833) on the road (not including neutral-site games) and 34-5 (.872) versus unranked road foes during the Mack Brown era. In addition, UT has won a school-record nine consecutive non-conference road games, which betters the previous streak of seven from 1956-63.

The Horns are 30-5 (.857) in league road contests under Mack Brown. UT was 2-5 in Big 12 road games prior to Brown's arrival in 1998. Highlighting the Horns' road record under Brown are victories at Nebraska (1998) to end the Huskers' national-best 47-game home winning streak, another win that snapped a Nebraska 26-game home winning streak (2002) and a victory to break Oklahoma State's 10-game winning streak (2003). Prior to Brown's arrival, UT posted just two winning road records in the 11 seasons leading up to 1998 (the first year under Brown). All totalled during that time, UT was just 24-28 in road games.

LONGHORNS TAME TIGERS: In its first week topping both polls, No. 1 Texas dominated the first half in jumping out on No. 11 Missouri, 35-3, before cruising to a 56-31 victory. In front of a national television audience and with ESPN's GameDay show broadcasting from Austin, the Longhorns improved to 7-0 for the second time in the Mack Brown era and earned their second-straight win over a Top 15 opponent. Texas also moved to 3-0 in the Big 12 and improved to 21-4 in its last 25 games against Top 25 opponents. Offensively, Texas scored TDs on its first five drives, raced out to a 35-0 lead and recorded 337 yards of offense (230p/107r) by halftime. The Horns finished the game just shy of 600 yards (388p/203r), averaged 8.1 yards per play, converted 10-of-12 third down attempts, scored on all six of its trips into the red zone (excluding taking a knee on the games final play) and controlled the ball for 36:26 to Missouri's 23:34. Four of Texas' TD drives covered at least 77 yards with two of at least 90. McCoy, tabbed the Walter Camp Football Foundation National Offensive Player of the Week, set a UT record by completing 90.6 percent of his passes (29-of-32), while throwing for 337 yards and two TDs. He completed a school-record 17 straight passes at one point in the game and also rushed for 23 yards and two scores. In the first half, he went 18-of-20 for 230 yards and two TDs. In the second quarter alone, McCoy was 9-of-9 for 131 yards and two TDs. WR Jordan Shipley caught a 13-yard TD pass with 41 seconds left in the first half as part of his eight receptions for 89 yards. It was his seventh straight game with a TD catch, tying Limas Sweed's school mark set in 2006. WR Quan Cosby added seven catches for 74 yards to extend his consecutive games with a reception streak to 38. A trio of fresh faces chipped into the passing game as a 38-yard catch by sophomore Brandon Collins (6-76) set up a score, redshirt freshman Malcolm made a leaping 32-yard TD grab and true freshman Dan Buckner caught a 51-yard TD pass from John Chiles. The Longhorns displayed a balanced rushing attack. Chris Ogbonnaya recorded 65 yards and two TDs on 13 carries, in addition to his career-high six receptions for 68 yards, and Vondrell McGee added 58 yards on six carries. Defensively, the Horns held a Missouri offense that was averaging 48.3 points (3rd NCAA) and 549.7 total yards per game (3rd NCAA) to just 31 points and 348 total yards. The Tigers managed just 30 rushing yards after entering the contest averaging 171.7 per game. The Tigers managed just one run of at least 10 yards. The numbers were even more impressive in the first half as the Horns held the Tigers to just three points and 121 total yards through two quarters. Coming into the game, Missouri's first-team offense had only been forced into two three-and-outs, but the Horns forced three three-and-outs on the Tigers' first four possessions and the other possession produced just one first down. On its first four possessions, MU produced minus-6 yards on 15 plays to set the tone for the game. Missouri didn't get its second first down until midway through the second quarter. The Tigers averaged just 3.8 yards per play on their 32 first-half plays. DT Roy Miller set the stage on the game's first play from scrimmage by breaking up a reverse by Tigers WR Jeremy Maclin for a seven-yard loss. Maclin finished the game with 66 receiving yards and no TDs. LB Roddrick Muckelroy once again paced the team in tackles and continued his double-digit streak with 11 to go along with a TFL, a PBU and a pressure. Texas totaled eight TFL, including two from LB Sergio Kindle, while notching two sacks with one from Kindle and one from LB Jared Norton. DE Brian Orakpo led the team in pressures with three, one of which forced an errant throw from Tigers QB Chase Daniel, which CB Ryan Palmer intercepted. The play led to a TD from the offense and solidified the game by making the score 49-17. Texas only punted twice on the night and P John Gold averaged 47.5 yards with a career long of 55 yards. On both occasions, he pinned the Tigers inside their own 20. K Hunter Lawrence remained perfect on PATs with six and is now 39-of-39 on the season.

LONGHORNS IN THE NFL: The Texas Football program is not only one of the best at the collegiate level, but since Mack Brown's arrival, it has become one of the premier sources of talent for the NFL as well. Currently, Texas has 38 players on NFL rosters. The 38 players are the most among Big 12 schools and tied for the eighth-most nationally with USC. And, they aren't just roster players either. Of the 38 Longhorns, 28 have started games during their NFL careers, including 23 who were 2007 starters and 24 that started as rookies. Among that group of 38, seven have earned a spot in a Pro Bowl, five have played in a Super Bowl with two coming away as Super Bowl Champions. In addition, Texas has the most Top 10 and Top Five picks in the NFL Draft since 1999. The Horns' eight Top 10 picks lead USC (seven) and their six Top Five picks lead Miami and Penn St. (three).

DKR'S RENOVATIONS: As Texas football proceeds through the 21st century, Darrell K Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium continues to evolve as a state-of-the-art facility at the forefront of college football. The north end zone expansion project, which features an upper deck, club seating, an academic center and a war memorial plaza, was completed for the 2008 season. The expansion has increased the stadium's capacity to 94,113 and added approximately 2,108 club seats and 47 suites. The lower deck of the north end zone was completed for the 2007 season. Two other major upgrades were made prior to last season, including a new video board and temporary bleacher seating in the south end zone. The scoreboard is the nation's largest high-definition video display board thanks to DAKtronics. The $8-million Prostar Video Board is 55 feet high by 134 feet wide. In addition, the interior of the Moncrief-Neuhaus Athletics Complex, most notably the players' lounge, is consistently being upgraded. It is all part of a $176.5-million renovation project at the Longhorns' stadium. Plans have already been drawn for construction of a new academic center approximately three times the size of the current one at Moncrief-Neuhaus. It will feature writing, math and computer labs, numerous tutoring areas, a multimedia classroom and academic staff office space.

"FAN"-TASTIC: Texas has been one of the best-attended programs in the nation over the past 10 years, drawing over 83,000 fans per game. The Horns, who have played in front of a sellout crowd in their last 50 home games, have attracted the top 10 crowds in UT history since Mack Brown took over in 1998. Texas' school-record season-ticket sales of 83,000 in 2008 are more than double the 39,743 sold in 1997, the UT record when Brown arrived, and increased by 9,000 tickets from the all-time high set in 2006. With the completion of the north end zone expansion project, all of UT's attendance records will be broken in 2008. Texas started the season by setting a new single-game attendance record against FAU with 98,053 fans. It bettered that mark against No. 11 Missouri, posting an attendance of 98,383, which is the largest crowd to ever see a football game in the state of Texas. UT's previous single-game attendance record of 89,422 fans was established when it hosted No. 1 Ohio State at Darrell K Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium in 2006. The Horns went on to average 88,505 fans per game (No. 10 NCAA), which bettered the previous mark of 83,339 fans set in 2003. The total attendance figure was also shattered in 2006 with 619,534 total fans witnessing a home game, bettering the previous mark of 500,034 (2003). Overall, the top 16 home crowds at Texas have come since '06. On top of that, Texas has attracted record crowds in five of its road games over the past three seasons, vs. Oklahoma in the Cotton Bowl (92,182, 2008), at UTEP (53,415, 2008), at Texas A&M (88,253, 2007), at Nebraska (85,187, 2006) and at Texas Tech (56,158, 2006).

COMEBACKS UNDER MACK BROWN: During Mack Brown's 11 seasons at Texas, the Horns have registered 21 second-half comebacks, including 11 fourth-quarter comebacks. UT has recorded the six largest comebacks in school history during the Mack Brown era. Texas notched its first comeback of 2008 against No. 1 Oklahoma in the Red River Rivalry. The Horns erased two 11-point deficits in the first half and trailed by one, 21-20, at halftime. OU went up 28-20 before Texas scored 10 straight to take a 30-28 lead late in the third quarter. OU answered with a TD early in the fourth to make it 35-30, but UT scored the game's final 15 points over the last 7:37 to win, 45-35. In total, after the Sooners went up, 28-20, after the first drive of the second half, Texas went on a 25-7 run to seal the victory. In 2007, Texas erased two fourth-quarter deficits and a second-half deficit, including the largest fourth-quarter comeback in school history against Oklahoma State. The Horns trailed 35-14 entering the final stanza before scoring 24 unanswered points to win, 38-35. The week before, Texas trailed Nebraska, 17-9, entering the fourth quarter before running off 19 straight points to win, 28-25. After falling behind 17-3 early in the third quarter, Texas produced 336 total yards and 25 points in the second half to help seal the victory. The 2006 season mirrored '07 with two fourth-quarter comebacks and a halftime comeback, highlighted by the game at Texas Tech. After trailing the Red Raiders, 21-0, in the first quarter, the Horns closed the gap to 31-21 at halftime and 31-28 entering the fourth quarter, before going on to win 35-31. The 2005 National Championship season included a second-half comeback and two of UT's most memorable fourth-quarter comebacks, at No. 4 Ohio State and in the BCS Championship game against No. 1 USC. The Horns trailed the Buckeyes, 22-16, entering the final quarter, but Vince Young connected with Limas Sweed for a 24-yard TD with 2:37 remaining to give Texas a 23-22 lead. A late safety gave the Horns a 25-22 victory. Against USC, the Horns trailed 38-26 with just 6:42 remaining in the game before Young led two TD drives, including his game-winning eight-yard TD run with just 19 seconds left, to secure the win and the National Championship. Previously, the Horns notched four second-half comebacks and a fourth-quarter comeback in 2004, including a 28-point comeback against Oklahoma State, the largest in school history. UT also registered a halftime comeback in '02, a fourth-quarter comeback in '01, two halftime comebacks in 1999 and two fourth-quarter comebacks in '98.

IMMEDIATE RESPONSE: Despite trailing against No. 1 Oklahoma for nearly three quarters, Texas showed a resolve and will to win that helped it score 25 of the game's final 32 points en route to a 45-35 victory. Twice, UT fell behind by 11 points in the first half, but each time, the Horns had an answer. First, after falling behind 14-3 in the beginning of the second quarter, Jordan Shipley returned the ensuing kickoff 96 yards for a TD, making it 14-10. It was the first kickoff return for a TD in the series since the NCAA started keeping stats in the 1930s. But, OU came back with a TD on the next drive to push the lead back to 11 at 21-10. Again the Horns answered, using a 12-play, 80-yard drive to shrink the lead to four. Capitalizing on an Earl Thomas INT, the Horns added a field goal right before the half to cut the OU lead to one, 21-20. The Sooners extended their lead to 28-20 with a TD drive to open the second half, but just like in the first half, the Horns came right back with a TD drive of their own (12 plays, 89 yards). UT added a field goal to take its first lead of the game, 30-28, entering the fourth quarter, but OU reclaimed the lead with a TD on its first drive of the final stanza to make it 35-30. But, that would be all for the Sooners. UT drove 74 yards on eight plays on its next drive to take the lead for good after adding a two-point conversion, 38-35. After the UT defense forced a three-and-out on OU's next possession, Texas drove 80 yards on six plays to produce the final margin, 45-35.

VS. NO. 1: The Longhorns 45-35 victory over No. 1 Oklahoma was Mack Brown's fourth meeting with the nation's top team, two of which he came out of with victories. Prior to Brown's arrival, the Longhorns had posted a record of 3-7 vs. the nation's top team. The last time Texas had defeated a No. 1-ranked team was a 21-17 victory over No. 1 Alabama in the 1964 Orange Bowl.

DRIVING SCHOOL (OFFENSE): Texas' first-team offense under the direction of Colt McCoy has had 65 drives in 2008 and scored 45 times (38 TDs/seven FGs), while punting just 15 times. That's a scoring average of 4.4 points per drive with the Horns scoring nearly 70 percent of the time.

DRIVING SCHOOL (DEFENSE): On 85 drives this season, only 12 times has Texas' defense given up a TD drive that covered more than 30 yards and two of those drives, a Colorado 89-yard and a Missouri 50-yard drive, came against the Longhorn reserves.

IN THE ZONE: Texas is one of only four teams in the nation that rank in the Top 15 in both red zone offense and defense. UT is tied for sixth nationally in red zone offense and is tied for 15th in red zone defense. The Horns have converted on 38 of their 40 trips to the red zone (33 TDs/five FGs), with one of the stops coming when UT took a knee to end the Missouri game. The defense has held opponents to just 17 scores on 25 red-zone possessions (12 TDs/five FGs).

OFFENSE'S LONG DRIVES: Of its 49 scoring drives in 2008, Texas has posted 31 drives of at least 60 yards (30 TDs/one FG), 22 of at least 70 yards (21 TDs/one FG) and 14 of at least 80 yards (14 TDs). The Horns only had 13 scoring drives of at least 80 yards all of last season. In addition, UT posted a 12-play, 99-yard scoring drive against Rice. That marked the fifth time in the Mack Brown era that UT traveled 99 yards for a TD. In addition, UT had two TD drives of at least 90 yards against No. 11 Missouri.

BIG PLAY MAKERS: Texas' multi-threat offense has produced 40 plays of at least 20 yards, including five plays of at least 50 yards, during the first seven games of 2008. The Horns have had 13 different players post a gain of at least 20 yards and four different players have been involved in plays of 50 yards or more. In addition, 13 different players have scored a TD this season and 15 players have scored overall.

OFFENSIVE EXPLOSION: In 11 seasons under Mack Brown and offensive coordinator Greg Davis, UT's offense has produced eight of the top nine passing seasons, nine of the top 11 total yardage campaigns and the top seven scoring years in school history. The Horns have also averaged at least 200 yards both rushing and passing in four of the 10 seasons. During that timespan, the Longhorns have registered 135 school records, thirty-seven 50-point games and four of the top six total offense games on school record. Since Brown took over in 1998, UT has produced thirty-seven 500-yard total offense performances (there are only 60 of them in the 116 years of Texas football) and has recorded nine of the school's nineteen 600-yard total offense games. The Horns' balanced attack has produced at least 400 yards of offense in 66 of its last 97 games and has registered 200 yards both passing and rushing 44 times under Brown and Davis. Texas has scored at least 25 points in 47 of its last 53 games.

Mack Brown era in bold // * bowl game

2008: Texas is averaging 48.1 points per game (second NCAA), 484.0 total yards (10th NCAA), 290.6 passing yards (13th NCAA) and 193.4 rushing yards (28th NCAA). UT has scored at least 38 points in each of its first seven games for the first time in school history. The Horns 337 points over its first seven games are the most in school history. Texas has posted at least 400 yards of total offense in every game, at least 500 yards in three games and posted a 600-yard game against Rice. The Horns have rushed and passed for at least 200 yards in four of the seven games. In addition, Texas is tied for sixth nationally in red zone offense, having converted on 38 of its 40 red-zone possessions (95.0%, 33 TDs/five FGs) with one of the stops coming when UT took a knee to end the Missouri game. The Horns also rank fourth nationally on third down, having converted 47-of-85 (55.3%). UT opened the season against FAU by eclipsing the 200-yard mark both rushing and passing. The Horns used 271 passing yards and 232 rushing yards to produce 503 yards of total offense. Texas scored on five of its first seven possessions, all on drives of at least 50 yards, including three drives of at least 70 yards. Texas went on to post 404 yards of total offense (282p/122r) at UTEP. After a three-and-out on its first possession, UT scored TDs on its next four possessions and tallied three scoring drives of 80 yards or more during the game. The Horns posted 600 yards of total offense (341p/259r) against Rice. It marked the first time since 2005 (vs. Kansas, 617 yards) that Texas reached the 600-yard plateau. The Horns averaged 5.9 yards per carry on 44 attempts and 17.0 yards on its 20 completions. UT scored on eight of its 10 possessions, including seven TDs, and posted four scoring drives of at least 70 yards, including a 99-yard TD drive. The Horns also went the entire game without punting for the first time since the Texas Tech game in 2003. UT used a balanced 208 yards rushing and 213 yards passing to tally 421 yards of total offense against Arkansas. The Horns scored on their first four possessions (three TDs/one FG) and on seven of their first eight drives (six TDs/one FG). Their punt in the second quarter broke a string of 14 straight possessions without a punt. In addition, UT set a single-game school record by completing 21-of-23 passing attempts (91.3%). The Horns added 431 yards of total offense (262p/169r) at Colorado. Texas opened the game by scoring on its first two drives, which totaled 13 plays for 149 yards (11.5 ypp). Overall, the Horns scored on TD drives of 66, 69, 71 and 80 yards. UT notched 12 plays of 10 or more yards, including two plays of at least 50 yards, and converted on nine of its 16 third downs. Against an Oklahoma defense that was allowing just 256 total yards, 159 passing yards and 97 rushing yards entering the game, Texas posted 438 total yards with 277 passing and 161 rushing. In addition, Oklahoma entered the game leading the nation in pass efficiency defense (85.6 rating), but Colt McCoy posted a 155.9 rating after going 28-of-35 (80.0%) for 277 yards and a TD (no INTs). The passing offense averaged 10 yards per completion and the rushing offense averaged 4.6 yards per attempt. The Horns tallied three TD drives of at least 80 yards and added another 74-yard TD drive. Texas added 591 yards (388p/203r) against No. 11 Missouri and scored TDs on all five of its first-half possessions. The Horns averaged 8.1 yards per play (Missouri had been allowing just 4.9 yards per play coming in), 12.9 yards per completion and 5.1 yards per rush against the Tigers. UT converted on 10 of its 12 third-down attempts and scored on six of its seven trips to the red zone with the one stop coming when Texas took a knee to end the game.

2007: The Texas offense finished the 2007 campaign as one of only 10 teams nationally to average 200 yards passing and 200 yards rushing. The Horns posted 255.4 yards passing (39th NCAA), 207.5 yards rushing (17th NCAA), 462.9 total yards (13th NCAA) and 37.2 points per game (14th NCAA). UT produced at least 400 yards of total offense in nine games and at least 500 yards in five, while scoring at least 30 points in nine of the 13 games. UT eclipsed the 200-yard rushing plateau on seven occasions and reached at least 300 yards rushing in three of its last five games.

2006: Texas finished the 2006 season ranked sixth nationally in scoring offense (35.9 ppg), ninth in passing efficiency (155.9 rating) and 22nd in total offense (391.5 ypp). The Horns registered at least 400 yards in seven of the 13 games and scored at least 35 points in eight contests.

2005: UT led the nation in scoring offense (50.2 ppg), ranked second in rushing offense (274.9 ypg) and finished third in total offense (512.1 ypg). The Horns produced at least 600 yards of offense three times in 2005, which was a first in UT history. Texas also came close to having three more 600-yard games with 591 against La.-Lafayette, 585 at Missouri and 556 in the Rose Bowl versus No. 1 USC. UT's 600-yard games came in three consecutive contests against Oklahoma State (606), Baylor (645) and Kansas (617). Texas rushed for at least 300 yards six times in 2005, matching 2004's total for the most by a Texas team since 1977. UT averaged a balanced 274.9 rushing yards and 237.2 passing yards in 2005, marking just the fifth time in school history the Horns averaged better than 200 yards both rushing and passing.

Prior to 2005: UT ranked second in the nation in rushing (299.2 ypg), seventh in total offense (464.4 ypg) and 12th in scoring (35.3 ppg) in 2004. The Horns posted at least 600 yards of offense twice. They recorded 673 yards of offense (third-most in UT history) versus North Texas and 600 total yards against No. 19 Oklahoma State. In 2003, Texas averaged 232.5 rushing yards (eighth NCAA) and 206.6 passing yards, which was the fourth time in school history UT averaged better than 200 yards for each. Texas also averaged 439.2 yards of offense (20th NCAA) while averaging 41.0 points per game (sixth NCAA) in 2003. That came one year after UT averaged 250.1 passing yards and 33.8 points per game (16th NCAA) in 2002. In 2001, the Horns' led the Big 12 in scoring (39.2 ppg/sixth NCAA) and pass efficiency (136.1 rating/27th NCAA). Brown's first UT squad produced a school-best 692 yards against Rice in 1998 and averaged a balanced 266.5 yards passing per game and 204.2 yards rushing per game.

RECORD-BREAKING YEAR: In 2005, Texas not only set records, it shattered them, in several team offensive categories. The Longhorns set an NCAA record for points scored in a season with 652. The previous high was 624 by Nebraska in 1983, and the previous UT record was 533 in 2003. The team also set school marks with 50.2 points per game (41.4, 1969), 6,657 total yards (5,709, 2003), 512.1 yards per game (472.1, 1969) and 5.91 yards per carry (5.84, 2004). UT became one of only four teams in NCAA history to average 50 or more points and 500 or more yards per game for a season, and the first to do it since 1995. Texas scored at least 40 points in each of its last 11 games and 12-of-13 contests on the season. In 2005, only one other team in the nation (USC) scored 40 points in more than nine games. Texas scored at least 50 points in a game seven times in 2005. UT was the only school in the nation besides USC to accomplish that (versus NCAA Div. I-A). That is the most 50-point games the Horns have ever had in a season, surpassing the previous best of four set in 2003. As for 60-point games, Texas registered at least 60 points four times, which was also a UT first.

PRODUCTIVE PERFORMERS:

Since Mack Brown and offensive coordinator Greg Davis took over UT's offense in 1998, Texas has produced its only 2,000-yard rusher (2,124, Ricky Williams, 1998), 1,000-yard receivers (1,087, Wane McGarity, 1999/1,188, Kwame Cavil, 1999/1,142, Roy Williams, 2002/1,079, Roy Williams, 2003), 3,000-yard passers (3,357, Major Applewhite, 1999/3,303 Colt McCoy, 2007/3,207, Chris Simms, 2002/3,036 Vince Young, 2005) and 1,000 yard rusher/passers (Vince Young, 2004 and '05) in a season in school history. UT has seen players record school single-season bests for rushing touchdowns (28, Ricky Williams, 1998), TD passes (29, Colt McCoy, 2006), TD receptions (12, Roy Williams, 2002/Limas Sweed, 2006), total TDs (38, Vince Young, 2005), receptions (100, Kwame Cavil, 1999), scoring (168, Ricky Williams, 1998) and total offense (4,086, Vince Young, 2005). Cedric Benson became the fifth player in NCAA history to rush for over 1,000 yards in four straight seasons and finished his career ranked sixth on the NCAA all-time rushing list (5,540 yards). Vince Young became the first player in UT history to rush (1,079 yards) and pass (1,849 yards) for more than 1,000 yards in the same season in 2004 and then repeated the feat in 2005 with 1,050 yards rushing and 3,036 yards passing. He became the first player in NCAA history to rush for 1,000 yards or more and pass for at least 2,500 yards in the same season. He came within two rushing yards of becoming just the third freshman QB in NCAA history to post 1,000 yards rushing and passing in a season in 2003. The Longhorns' freshman records for rushing yards (1,053, Cedric Benson, 2001), rushing TDs (12, Cedric Benson, 2001), total TDs (13, Cedric Benson, 2001), 100-yard rushing games (5, Cedric Benson, 2001), passing yards (2,570, Colt McCoy, 2006), total offense (2,740, Colt McCoy, 2006), receptions (41, B.J. Johnson, 2000), receiving yards (809, Roy Williams, 2000), TD catches (8, Roy Williams, 2000) and TD passes (29, Colt McCoy, 2006) have also been set in the Brown era. In addition, McCoy's 29 TD passes in 2006 tied the NCAA record for freshmen.

MUSCHAMP'S STINGY SCORING

D: Defensive coordinator Will Muschamp has led a Longhorn defense that has allowed a total of 123 points this year. The Horns opened the season by not allowing more than 14 points in their first five games for the first time since 1991. That's a trend that goes back a few years for one of the nation's premier defensive coordinators. Over the last three seasons at Auburn and Texas, UT defensive coordinator Will Muschamp has led defenses that have allowed 20 points or less in 27 of the last 33 games, including 14 or less 19 times. On average, his units are giving up just 15.9 points per game during that stretch. In 2008, UT's defense has only allowed 14 TDs (the 15th came on a fumble return for a TD) and just 17.6 points per game (18th NCAA). Texas has given up just two rushing TDs this season. Last season, while at Auburn, Muschamp led a group that finished sixth nationally after allowing just 16.9 points per game. The Tigers held opponents to 20 points or less in 10 of their 13 games, including six games with 13 points or less. In 2006, Muschamp's D ranked seventh nationally after allowing just 13.9 points per game, including seven games with 14 points or less and two shutouts.

STAT FACT

In 85 drives against the Texas defense this season, only 12 times (14.1%) have the Horns given up a TD drive that covered more than 30 yards.

GOAL-LINE STAND: Texas' determined goal-line stand midway through the second quarter against Rice is the perfect illustration of how stingy the Horns defense has been in the red zone this season. With Texas leading 21-3 in the second quarter, Rice had a first-and-goal from the Texas two-yard line. The Longhorns proceeded to stop the Owls on 11 consecutive snaps (10 of which came from inside the five-yard line) and ended up holding Rice to minus-one yard in the exchange. Initially, UT held Rice to minus-two yards on a running play and forced two incompletions before a pass interference penalty on fourth down gave the Owls a new set of downs and moved the ball back to the two. After a rush for no gain, Texas was again flagged for pass interference, giving Rice another first down from the two. The Horns forced an incomple-tion and a false-start penalty before giving up a three-yard gain on a screen pass that moved Rice from the six to the three-yard line. UT then forced two incompletions, including a failed fourth-down pass attempt thanks to DE Brian Orakpo's pressure. Overall, on the eight official plays, Rice was 1-of-6 passing for three yards and rushed twice for minus-two yards, and most importantly, the Horns held.

HOGTIED: In its last non-conference game of the season, Texas held an Arkansas offense that was averaging 403.0 total yards per game to just 191 yards, the Hogs' lowest offensive output since 2002. Arkansas was averaging 286.0 passing yards per game coming into the contest, but could only manage 180 on the day. The Horns also held the Razorbacks to just 11 yards rushing (on 26 attempts, 0.4 ypc), which was their lowest total since 1997 and over 100 yards below their season average of 117.0 yards per game. UT got off to a good start by only allowing nine total yards in the first quarter, while building a 10-0 lead. The Horns continued their strong play coming out of halftime, allowing just 21 total yards in the third quarter. Overall, the UT defense allowed only 57 yards on Arkansas' final eight drives (29 plays/2.0 ypp). UT held Arkansas to just 2-of-13 (15.4%) on third down, 3-of-16 (18.8%) combined on third and fourth-down attempts and forced five three-and-outs or better on Arkansas' 12 possessions.

FIRST-HALF FRENZY: The Texas defense basically shut down a Missouri offense that was averaging 48.3 points per game and 549.7 yards of total offense in the first half of their game. The Horns held the Tigers to just three points and 121 total yards through two quarters, while taking a 35-3 halftime lead. Coming into the game, Missouri's first-team offense had only been forced into two three-and-outs, but the Horns forced three three-and-outs on the Tigers' first four possessions and the other possession produced just one first down. Missouri didn't get its second first down until midway through the second quarter. The Tigers averaged just 3.8 yards per play on their 32 first-half plays.

DEFENSIVE DOMINANCE: After inheriting a program that ranked among the NCAA's bottom half in total defense for the five seasons prior to his arrival, Mack Brown and the Longhorns' staff have reversed that trend. Texas has ranked among the nation's top 25 in total defense in eight of the last 10 seasons.

2008: The Texas defense is allowing just 17.6 points per game (25th NCAA/first Big 12). The unit has only given up 14 TDs on the season (the 15th came on a fumble return for a TD), and has only allowed two rushing TDs this year. The Horns are allowing 323.1 total yards per game (39th NCAA/second Big 12) and just 48.1 rushing yards per game (second NCAA/first Big 12). UT's opponents have only converted on 36 of their 102 third-down attempts (35.3%) and the Horns have only allowed 17 scores on 25 red-zone pos-sessions (68.0%), including just 12 TDs (48.0%), which is tied for 15th nationally. On 85 drives against the Texas defense this season, only 12 times (14.1%) have the Horns given up a TD drive that covered more than 30 yards. UT held FAU to 292 total yards (255p/37r) in a 52-10 victory. After giving up 146 yards in the first quarter, Texas held the Owls to the same amount, 146 yards, over the final three quarters and just 53 yards in the second half. Pressure was a big part of the Horns' defensive effort as they tallied nine hits on FAU quarterbacks, 13 pres-sures and nine TFL. The pressure continued at UTEP. The Horns registered 10 hits on the QBs, 19 pressures, six TFL and two sacks in a 42-13 win. UTEP managed just 59 yards on its first four drives of the second half as the Horns built their lead to 29 points entering the fourth quarter. Against a Rice team that was averaging 434.3 yards per game and 39.7 points per game on the season, Texas held the Owls to 318 yards and 10 points while recording seven sacks, 11 TFL, 13 pressures and 16 hits on the QBs. In addition, the Horns gave up just 77 second-half yards after building a 24-3 lead at the break. UT held an Owls' offense that was averaging 142.7 rush-ing yards per game to just 17 yards and a 0.7 yard average on 24 carries. The Horns went on to hold an Arkansas offense that was aver-aging 403.0 total yards per game to just 191 yards, the Hogs' lowest offensive output since 2002. Arkansas was averaging 286.0 passing yards per game coming into the con-test, but could only manage 180 on the day. The Horns also held the Razorbacks to just 11 yards rushing (on 26 attempts, 0.4 ypc), which was their lowest total since 1997 and over 100 yards below their season average of 117.0 yards per game. UT held Arkansas to just 2-of-13 (15.4%) on third down, 3-of-16 (18.8%) combined on third and fourth-down attempts and forced five three-and-outs or better on Arkansas' 12 possessions. UT posted seven sacks, 11 TFL, nine pressures and 18 QB hits on the day. The Texas defense held a Colorado offense that was averaging 340.5

yards per game to just 266 total yards (217p/49r). Prior to the final drive, when Texas was leading 38-7, Colorado had posted just 177 yards on 59 plays (3.0 ypp), including 13 yards rushing on 24 attempts (0.5 ypc). The Horns' held the Buffaloes' Cody Hawkins to just 13-of-33 (39.4%) passing for 118 yards, while breaking up eight of his attempts. UT produced three sacks and five TFL, while forcing two turnovers and five three-and-outs or better. Texas' D held No. 1 Oklahoma more than 100 yards below its season average and 14 points below its scoring average. In addition, the Sooners were averaging 179 yards rushing per game, but could only manage 48 for the game on 26 attempts (1.8 ypc). In fact, Texas held OU to zero yards or less on 21 of its 67 plays. Oklahoma had only one run of more than 10 yards in the game and starting tailback DeMarco Murray was held to six yards on seven carries. Texas also forced four three-and-outs and tallied three sacks, two INTs and two forced fumbles. The Horns held a Missouri offense that was averaging 48.3 points and 549.7 total yards per game to just 31 points and 348 total yards. The Tigers managed just 30 rushing yards after averaging 171.7 per game. The Horns forced four three-and-outs or better against a Missouri offense that had only two three-and-outs entering the game. Overall, Texas held Missouri to just 5.8 yards per play (60-348).

2007: Texas allowed 25.3 points, 371.2 total yards and 93.4 rushing yards per game (sixth NCAA) in 2007, while holding opponents to a 127.5 passer rating. UT held seven teams under 100 yards rushing, including three games of 10 yards or less. Texas held Rice to -11 yards rushing, which marked the fourth-best performance by the Longhorn D since 1990. The Horns also held five opponents to 14 points or fewer.

2006: Texas finished 2006 ranked third nationally against the run (61.2 ypg), 22nd in total defense (297.4 ypg) and 26th in scoring defense (18.3 ppg). The Horns only allowed two teams to rush for 100 yards and held seven opponents to 14 points or fewer. The 2006 UT defense produced the school's second-best effort since 1990 by holding North Texas to just 95 total yards. UT also held Rice to -12 yards rushing, which marked the fourth time since 1990 that UT held a team to negative yards rushing. In fact, seven of UT's top 22 performances against the rush since 1990 came during the 2006 campaign.

2005: The Longhorns ranked 10th nationally in total defense (302.9 ypg), eighth in scoring defense (16.4 ppg), eighth in passing defense (172.0 ypg) and 33rd in rushing defense (130.9 ypg). Texas only allowed opponents to reach 300 yards of total offense five times and held the remaining eight opponents to 267 yards or fewer. Statistically, UT's best defensive performance came against Oklahoma in the Red River Rivalry. The Sooners only managed 171 total yards and one TD. The Longhorns weren't far off that pace by allowing only 191 yards and one field goal to Colorado in the Big 12 Championship game.

Prior to 2005: Texas held its opponents to 320.1 yards (23rd NCAA), 17.9 points (18th NCAA) and 107.4 yards per game (16th NCAA). Texas ranked 25th nationally in total defense (329.8 ypg) and allowed just 21.1 points per game in 2003, while holding its opponents to 307.7 yards (16th NCAA) and 16.3 points per game (eighth NCAA) in 2002. UT was one of only two teams to post three shutouts against NCAA Division I-A opponents in 2002. The Longhorns defense went from ranking 85th nationally in total defense in 1997, the year prior to Brown's arrival, to back-to-back top 10 finishes in total defense in 1999-2000 and captured an NCAA statistical title in total defense in 2001. UT's 236.2 yards per game allowed that season were the fewest it had allowed since 1983 (212.0 ypg). It marked the first time since '83 and only the third time in school history that UT led the nation in total defense. Texas also led the Big 12 in rushing (89.5 ypg/sixth NCAA), passing (146.7 ypg/third NCAA) and scoring defense (13.7 ppg/third NCAA) while establishing itself as one of only two defenses ranked among the nation's top 10 in every major defensive category in 2001.

GROUND PATROL: Mack Brown and his staff inherited a ground defense that had ranked no better than 64th nationally in the five seasons prior to their arrival. In 11 seasons at Texas, they have turned that around dramatically. The Horns have limited 50 of their last 94 opponents to fewer than 100 yards rushing and allowed just twenty-five 100-yard rushers in the last 121 games. In addition, Texas has held its opponent under 50 yards rushing 33 times during the Mack Brown era. During the last eight seasons (97 games), UT has held opponents to just 105.8 rushing yards per game (10,259 yards on 3,212 carries) and 3.2 yards per carry.

2008: Texas is allowing just 48.1 yards rushing per game (second NCAA/first Big 12) and has allowed just two rushing TDs. Overall, Texas has given up just 337 rushing yards on 177 carries (1.9 ypc). In fact, the Horns' defense has produced almost as much lost yardage via tackles for loss and sacks (295) as opponents have netted (337). Over the last five games, Texas has allowed just 154 yards on 123 carries (1.3 ypc). UT opened the season against FAU by allowing just 37 yards on 23 carries for a 1.6 ypc average. The Horns held FAU's leading returning rusher, Charles Pierre, to just three yards on six carries. Against Rice, the Texas defense gave up just 17 yards on 24 carries for a 1.2 yards per carry average. The Horns allowed just 11 yards on 26 attempts (0.4 ypc) against Arkansas. UT gave up just 49 yards on 28 carries (1.8 ypc) against Colorado, and prior to the final drive when UT's first-team defense had exited, the Buffs had manged just 13 yards on 24 carries (0.5 ypc). Overall, 17 of Colorado's 28 rushing attempts went for three yards or less. Texas held No. 1 Oklahoma to 48 yards on 26 attempts (1.8 ypc) and only allowed one run of more than 10 yards on the game. The Horns came back and held a Missouri offense that was averaging 171.7 rushing yards per game to just 30 on 19 attempts (1.6 ypc). Missouri managed just one run of at least 10 yards. Overall, 11 of Missouri's 19 carries went for three yards or less.

2007: Texas allowed just 93.4 yards per game to rank sixth nationally. The Horns held seven of their 13 opponents under 100 yards rushing and gave up just 2.9 yards per carry. Highlighting the season were games against No. 19 TCU (43 yards), Rice (-11 yards), Baylor (eight yards), Texas Tech (10 yards) and Arizona State (22 yards). All five games rank in UT's top 35 performances since 1990. In fact, the minus-11 yards by Rice were the fourth-fewest since 1990 and the fifth time UT has held an opponent to negative rushing yards in that span. All five occasions have come during the Mack Brown era.

2006: The Horns rush defense gave up just 61.2 yards per game in 2006 (third NCAA), turning in the best performance on school record since 1942 (57.5 ypg). They gave up only 795 yards rushing on 345 carries (2.3 ypc). UT allowed just two teams to rush for 100 yards and held six teams to 27 yards or less, including two games in which the opponent rushed for negative yards (Texas Tech, -13; Rice, -12). In addition, seven of UT's top 22 performances against the rush since 1990 came during the 2006 campaign.

2005: Texas allowed 130.9 ypg on the ground, 3.7 ypc and gave up only 15 rushing TDs, while holding nine of their 13 opponents to under 120 yards.

Prior to 2005: The Horns ranked 16th nationally in rushing defense (107.4 ypg) in 2004, allowing just 60.0 yards per game over the final six contests. UT held six foes to 70 (or fewer) yards rushing that season. After inheriting a unit that ranked 104th nationally and allowed 241.5 yards per game in 1997, Brown and company guided the Horns to the nation's 17th-best run defense (105.7 ypg) in 1999 and the 12th-best ground defense (94.0 ypg) in 2000. UT's 94.0 yards allowed rushing per game in 2000 was, at the time, the fewest allowed by a Longhorns' squad since 1977 (91.1 ypg). UT followed that effort up in 2001 by allowing a Big 12-low 89.5 rushing ypg (sixth NCAA) and just 2.8 yards per carry.

AIR DEFENSE: Texas' pass defense has been ranked in the Top 10 in five of the last eight seasons. During that time, it has allowed opponents to complete 52.9 percent (1,868-of-3,531) of their passes for only 198.6 yards per game (21,646 in 109 games), while intercepting 128 passes (1.2 pg).

2008: The Texas secondary had to replace three of its four starters from 2007 and it has been doing so with a senior, a junior and four underclassmen, including two true freshman. After allowing an average of 274.3 passing yards per game in the first three games, UT gave up just 198.5 yards per game over the next two. Then, the Horns youthful secondary kept Oklahoma right at its season average and picked off Sam Bradford, who entered the game with just three INTs, twice. Against Missouri, the Texas secondary held Chase Daniel to just 117 yards in the first half while building a 35-3 halftime lead. Overall, the Horns are holding opposing quarterbacks to 57.7% passing (162-of-281). In addition, on 39 attempts, the Horns' defense has only allowed six conversions of third down and 10 or more this season (15.4%). Over the last five games, Texas' opponents have only converted 2-of-25 (8.0%) third and 10 or mores.

2007: UT allowed 277.8 yards passing per game, held opponents to a 127.5 passer rating and intercepted 17 passes on the season. Marcus Griffin led the team in tackles (99) and INTs (five), while Ryan Palmer (80 tackles, 14 PBU) and Brandon Foster (71 tackles, four INTs, 12 PBU) finished second and third on the team in tackles.

2006: The 2006 campaign saw Aaron Ross win the Thorpe Award as the nation's top defensive back. It marked the second consecutive season that a Longhorn won the award after Michael Huff did so in 2005. Ross' six INTs helped UT total 13 for the season, and he also finished second nationally with 25 passes defended. Michael Griffin led the team in tackles for the second consecutive year and, along with Ross, earned All-America and first-team All-Big 12 honors.

2005: UT finished eighth nationally in pass defense (172.0 ypg). The Horns also finished fourth nationally in pass efficiency defense (96.7 rating) that year. Opponents averaged only 5.13 yards per pass attempt, which led the nation, and threw for only 10 TDs compared to UT's 11 INTs. In 13 games, Texas allowed only two teams, Texas Tech and USC, to throw for over 200 yards. Both of those teams finished in the top five nationally in passing offense.

Prior to 2005: The Horns intercepted 13 passes and ranked 31st nationally in pass efficiency defense (114.3 rating) in 2004. Texas allowed opponents to complete just 167-of-354 passes (47.2%/third NCAA) for 2,305 yards (177.3 ypg/ninth NCAA) and ranked 18th nationally in pass efficiency defense (106.5 rating) in 2003. UT's recent pass defense efforts continue a turnaround that started when Mack Brown took over the Longhorns' program in 1998. That year, UT was coming off a season that saw it rank 75th nationally in pass efficiency defense (132.7 rating). In just their third season (2000), UT led the nation in pass efficiency defense (88.3 rating). The Horns limited opponents to the second-lowest completion percentage in the nation (45.2%/171-of-378), 184.3 yards per game, 5.36 yards per pass attempt (second NCAA), while allowing just eight TD passes that season. The Horns put up comparable numbers in 2001, holding a schedule that featured several high-powered passing attacks to a Big 12-low 146.7 passing yards per game (third NCAA) and ranked fourth nationally in pass efficiency defense (88.0). Texas held its opponents to a NCAA-low 4.77 yards per attempt and just six TDs (t-2nd NCAA) in 2001. In 2002, Texas allowed opponents to complete just 192-of-400 passes (48.0%) for 2,147 yards (165.2 ypg/eighth NCAA). UT also ranked seventh nationally in pass efficiency defense (96.1 rating). Texas' 22 interceptions were tied for the fourth-most nationally and second-most in UT history. The Horns ranked 92nd nationally in pass efficiency defense (138.7 rating) in '98 and improved to 12th in '99 (101.6 rating) before leading the nation in 2000.

UNEXPECTED OFFENSE: Even though Texas' offense is one of the most potent in the country, it has received help from the rest of the team when it comes to scoring TDs. Since 1999, UT has scored 61 TDs via returns, turnovers and blocked kicks. The 61 scores during that stretch rank fourth nationally behind Virginia Tech (70), Kansas State (66) and Miami (62). Texas tallied its first non-offensive TD of 2008 when Roddrick Muckelroy returned a fumble 26 yards for a TD at UTEP. True freshman Aaron Williams pitched in against Arkansas with an 81-yard INT return for a TD and Jordan Shipley recorded the first kickoff return for a TD in Red River Rivalry history (96 yards). In 2007, UT posted five non-offensive TDs on three INT returns, a fumble return and a kickoff return, which was UT's first since 2003. The Horns scored eight non-offensive TDs in 2006 with four coming off fumble recoveries, two from punt returns, one on an INT return and one on a blocked punt recovery in the end zone. In the nine-season stretch, Texas scored the most non-offensive TDs in 2003 (nine).

FORCING TURNOVERS: Texas' defense has forced 298 turnovers during the Mack Brown era (135 games/2.2 per game), while only giving up 226 turnovers for a plus-72 turnover margin. Overall, the Horns have averaged a plus-seven turnover margin per season during Brown's tenure. In addition, UT ranks eighth nationally with 211 forced turnovers since 2001. In 2008, Texas is plus-four in the turnover margin and has not had a turnover in its last two games, both versus Top 15 teams. In total, UT has not committed a turnover in three of its seven games. Texas also has returned two turnovers for scores. Roddrick Muckelroy returned a fumble 26 yards for a TD at UTEP and Aaron Williams returned an INT 81 yards for a TD against Arkansas. In 2007, Texas forced 27 turnovers (10 fumbles/17 INTs), while giving up 26 (seven fumbles/19 INTs). In 2006, UT forced 32 turnovers (19 fumbles/13 INTs), while only giving up 23 (14 fumbles/nine

In 2005, UT forced 27 turnovers (16 fumbles/11 INTs). Three of those 27 turnovers were returned or recovered for scores, and the 16 fumble recoveries ranked fourth nationally. The Horns finished the season with a plus-nine turnover margin. Texas had a plus-five turnover margin, forcing 23 turnovers (10 fumbles/13 INTs) and losing 18, in 2004. UT forced 29 turnovers (14 fumbles/15 INTs) in 2003. UT's attacking unit provided several big plays in forcing 35 turnovers (T-No. 12 NCAA) in '02. The Longhorns combined for 22 INTs (T-No. 4 NCAA) by eight different players and recovered 13 fumbles.

GUARDING THE END ZONE:

Texas' defense has made it difficult for opponents to reach the end zone over the last eight seasons. Since 2000, the Horns have allowed only 227 TDs in 109 games (2.1 TDs per game), which ranks sixth nationally. Miami has allowed the fewest TDs, giving up only 196. The Horns have only allowed 15 TDs through the first seven games of 2008 with one coming on a fumble return. UT's best season came in 2001, when the Horns' top-ranked unit gave up only 19 TDs. Texas has allowed 27 TDs or fewer in five of the last eight seasons. Conversely, Texas has scored at least 45 TDs in each of the last eight seasons, with a high of 81 scores in 2005. The Horns have scored 45 TDs in 2008 and 501 TDs over the eight-year span, averaging 4.6 TDs per game.

SCORING DEFENSE: Texas' defense has been a scoring machine since 1999. During that time, the defense has accounted for 240 points and scored in 35 of the 123 games. UT got its first defensive score in 2008 at UTEP when Roddrick Muckelroy returned a fumble 26 yards for a TD. True freshman Aaron Williams added an 81-yard INT return for a TD against Arkansas. The Horns' defense has scored at least three TDs in eight of the last nine seasons, led by the seven TDs scored in 2000. That defense tallied 46 points, which is the most over the nine-year stretch. The 2003 unit scored six TDs, while the 2006 unit scored five TDs.

SHORT DRIVES: The Texas defense has prevented its opponents from moving the chains on 36.7 percent of their drives over the last eight seasons (97 games). During that time, UT has forced 459 three-and-outs or better in 1,250 possessions. Through seven games in 2008, Texas has forced 26 three-and-outs or better on 83 possessions (.313), averaging almost four three-and-outs per game. UT opened the season against FAU by forcing five three-and-outs on 13 possessions, including four straight possessions in the second half. Against Arkansas, the Horns forced five three-and-outs or better on 12 possessions, including two of Arkansas' first three possessions and the first two drives of the second half. UT added five three-and-outs or better against Colorado, including three of CU's first four possessions of the game and the first drive of the second half. Texas added four three-and-outs on 12 Oklahoma possessions. The Horns forced a Missouri offense that entered the game with just two three-and-outs or better into four, including three of the Tigers' first four possessions. In 2007, UT forced 52 three-and-outs or better on 168 possessions (.310). Texas forced 60 three-and-outs or better on 154 possessions (.390) in 2006. Previously, the Horns held foes to three-and-outs or better on 73-of-178 possessions (.438) in 2005, 46-of-153 possessions (.307) in 2004, 56-of-181 possessions (.309) in 2003, 73-of-176 possessions (.414) in 2002 and 73-of-165 possessions (.442) in 2001.

“SPECIAL” TEAMS: The Texas special teams have been just that since Mack Brown took over the program in 1998. Since then, Texas has blocked 60 kicks (33 punts/15 FGs/12 PATs), an average of 5.5 per season. That is 35 more than the 25 recorded in the 11-year span prior to Brown's arrival. UT has blocked the most kicks in the nation since 2000 with 51 to lead Virginia Tech (46) and N.C. State (43). Since Brown arrived, the Longhorns have had players set or equal UT records for career blocked kicks, single-season blocked kicks, career blocked punts and single-season blocked punts. Texas also has improved its kick returning and defending on kickoffs and punts. The Longhorns have scored on eight punt returns, while only giving up three punt return TDs since Brown's arrival. It had been 101 games (Kansas State, 1999) since Texas had given up a punt return for a TD before Kansas State returned one in 2007. That is a major difference from the 11 years prior to Brown's arrival. During that time, Texas scored on four punt returns, while its opponents scored on six returns. Texas has given up three kickoff returns for TDs during the Mack Brown era which is the same amount UT allowed in the 11 years prior to Brown's arrival. When Brown arrived in 1998, Texas hadn't returned a kickoff for a score since 1978. The Horns snapped that string when Victor Ike returned a kickoff 93 yards for a TD in the 2000 Holiday Bowl. Selvin Young added a 97-yard kickoff return TD against New Mexico State in 2003 and Quan Cosby posted a 91-yard kickoff return TD at Texas A&M in 2007. In addition, three of Texas' most accurate field goal kickers (Kris Stockton, 1996, '98-2000, Dusty Mangum, 2001-04 and Ryan Bailey, 2006-present) also have come during Brown's time at Texas. Mangum (121), Bailey (60) and Stockton (57) also are at the top of UT's consecutive made extra points list.

2008 SENIORITY: A group of 14 seniors who have played in a combined 520 games (180 starts) are leading the 2008 Longhorns. WR Quan Cosby (46 games/29 starts), OG Cedric Dockery (35 games/24 starts), RB Chris Ogbonnaya (41 games/three starts) and WR Jordan Shipley (34 games/15 starts) have starting experience on the offensive side of the ball, while LB Rashad Bobino (46 games/40 starts), DL Aaron Lewis (39 games/12 starts), DE Henry Melton (43 games, 16 at defensive end/five starts), DT Roy Miller (43 games/13 starts), DE Brian Orakpo (42 games/17 starts) and CB Ryan Palmer (43 games/20 starts) lead the way for the defense. In addition, PK Ryan Bailey (23 games), DE Nic Redwine (10 games), FB Luke Tiemann (34 games/one start) and TE Peter Ullman (41 games/two starts) also are providing senior leadership in 2008.

DEPARTED STARTERS: Texas entered 2008 seeking to replace a combined 14 starters (6 offense/7 defense/1 specialist). That group combined to start 267 games (124 offense/143 defense), won a Draddy Trophy, earned two Academic All-America honors, placed three players on All-America teams and eight players on All-Big 12 teams. In addition, seven of those players are currently on NFL rosters. C Dallas Griffin capped his career by taking home the “Academic Heisman” in being awarded the Draddy Trophy. Griffin also was an Academic All-American and earned honorable mention All-Big 12. OT Tony Hills, who was drafted in the fourth round by the Pittsburgh Steelers, was named a first-team All-American by the Walter Camp Football Foundation, while DT Frank Okam, who was selected in the fifth round by the Houston Texans, earned third-team All-America honors from The Associated Press. DT Derek Lokey, who signed as a free agent with the Kansas City Chiefs, joined Griffin as an Academic All-American and was named to various All-Big 12 teams. WR Limas Sweed, who was drafted in the second round by the Steelers, finished his career sixth on UT's all-time list with 124 receptions, fifth on the all-time list with 1,915 yards and second on Texas' TD receptions list with 20. Fellow receiver Nate Jones capped his career by tying Roy Williams for second on UT's single-season reception list with 70 in 2007. S Marcus Griffin earned All-America honors from ESPN.com and first-team All-Big 12 accolades, while CB Brandon Foster, who signed as a free agent with the Indianapolis Colts, earned second-team honors. LB Scott Derry was named an Academic All-Big 12 performer and an honorable mention All-Big 12 pick. Two juniors, RB Jamaal Charles and TE Jermichael Finley, will also need to be replaced. Charles, who was drafted in the third round by the Chiefs, earned honorable mention All-America honors from Sports Illustrated, while Finley, who also was selected in the third round by the Green Bay Packers, was tabbed honorable mention All-Big 12.

THE REAL MCCOY: With a victory against No. 11 Missouri, Colt McCoy, who is a member of the Maxwell Award, Davey O'Brien Award and WCFF Player of the Year award watch lists, improved his career record to 27-6, which ranks third on UT's all-time list and is just one victory behind Bobby Layne (28-6, 1944-47) and three behind Vince Young (30-2, 2003-05). During his 33-game career, McCoy has completed 653-of-939 passes (69.5%/No. 1 on UT's all-time list) for 7,767 yards and 70 TDs against 28 INTs for a passer rating of 157.7 (No. 1 on UT's all-time list). McCoy's 70 career TD passes are the most in UT history, bettering current UT assistant coach and former Longhorn QB Major Applewhite's 60, and his 653 completions also are a school best ahead of Applewhite's 611. In combining his passing (70) and rushing (12) TDs, McCoy moved into first on UT's TD responsible for list, passing Ricky Williams (76) and Vince Young (81). His 7,767 passing yards are second best on school record, trailing only Applewhite (8,353, 1998-2001). McCoy is just the fourth QB to surpass 2,000 yards passing in consecutive seasons and the fifth to record multiple seasons of at least 2,000 passing yards. McCoy has thrown for at least 200 yards 23 times in 33 career games, which ranks second on UT's all-time list, trailing only Applewhite (29). He also has thrown for at least 300 yards six times, which ranks third behind James Brown (seven) and Applewhite (nine). McCoy has produced 54 plays of 30 yards or more, 21 of 40 yards or more and 15 of 50 yards or more during his career. He has thrown a TD pass in 30 of 33 career games, at least two TD passes in 21 games and at least four TD passes in six games. McCoy joined Chris Simms as one of only two players in Texas history to record two seasons of at least 20 TD passes. In fact, McCoy's 51 TDs over his first two seasons are the most in consecutive years, bettering Simms' total of 48 (22, 2001; 26, 2002). In total, McCoy has produced 8,800 yards of total offense (7,767p/1,033r), including 15 games of at least 300 total yards. He is just the fourth Longhorn in school history to eclipse the 8,000-yard plateau and ranks second on UT's all-time total offense list behind Vince Young (9,167). He is just the fourth player in UT history to record at least 2,500 total yards in two or more seasons.

GOOD WORK: Colt McCoy was named to the 2008 Allstate AFCA Good Works Team. McCoy is one of just 11 players selected from the entire Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS), who are being honored for the embodiment of the true spirit of "teamwork" and "giving back" through selfless contributions and commendable acts of kindness. McCoy became the sixth Longhorn to be selected to the team in its 17-year history, following Vince Young in 2005, Ricky Williams in 1998, Tyson King in 1996, Tony Brackens in 1995 and Robert Reed in 1994. Among his many community service activities, McCoy spent his 2008 Spring Break on a mission to Peru, where he volunteered at a week-long Christian Sports camp that hosted less fortunate children in the areas of rain-forests on the Amazon.

RECORD BREAKER: Colt McCoy has already etched his name in the Texas record book. McCoy holds UT's career record with 70 TD passes, bettering current UT assistant coach and former Longhorn

QB Major Applewhite's 60 TD passes. He also set a UT record for completion percentage in a game against Missouri, completing 29-of-32 passes (.906). Vince Young (2005). He also tied the then-NCAA freshman record held by Nevada's David Neill (1998). Against Baylor in 2006, McCoy threw six TD passes, which set the UT record for TD passes in a game and tied the NCAA freshman mark. The six TD throws eclipsed the previous mark of five set by James Brown (at Baylor, 1994) and matched by Chris Simms (at Oklahoma State, 2001). McCoy's 2,570 yards passing as a freshman rank first on UT's single-season freshman list and sixth on the overall single-season list. His 2,740 yards of total offense also rank first on UT's freshman single-season list and sixth on the overall single-season list. He produced 352 yards of total offense against Oklahoma State in 2006, which ranks as the second-highest single-game total by a freshman in UT history. He also posted 324 yards of total offense at Texas Tech (No. 5 on UT's freshman single-game total offense list) and 301 yards of total offense against Baylor (No. 6 on UT's freshman single-game total offense list). His 72-yard TD pass to Jamaal Charles in the 2006 Alamo Bowl is the fourth-longest pass play by a freshman in UT history, while his 62-yard TD pass to Billy Pittman against Baylor ranks seventh. He also threw a 50-yard TD pass to Limas Sweed against Baylor to become just the second freshman QB, along with Major Applewhite, to throw two TD passes of 50 or more yards in the same game. McCoy had a streak of 10-straight games with a TD pass, which is the second-longest in UT history.

OUTSTANDING IN YEAR

THREE: Already entrenched in the record books after two seasons, Colt McCoy has been even better as a junior. After seven games, McCoy has gone 160-of-197 (81.2%) for 1,894 yards and 19 TDs, with only three INTs, for a passer rating of 190.8. His 81.2% completion percentage is the best in the country and his 190.8 passer rating ranks fourth nationally. In addition, McCoy leads the team in rushing with 371 yards and six TDs on 70 carries (5.3 ypc). His 371 rushing yards over the first five games are the second-most by a QB in UT history to Vince Young's 458 in 2005. Overall, McCoy has posted 2,265 yards of total offense (1,894p/371r) and is averaging 323.6 total yards per game, which ranks ninth nationally. His 2,265 total yards are more than 34 teams in the FBS. He also is responsible for 22.0 points per game, which ranks sixth nationally. His 25 total TDs are more than 72 teams in the FBS. In addition, McCoy became the first Longhorn to both rush and pass for a TD in three of the first four games of a season and has accomplished the feat four times this season.

FAU: In Texas' 52-10 victory over FAU, McCoy threw for 222 yards and three TDs, while notching his second career 100-yard rushing game with 103 yards on 12 carries (8.6 ypc). He joined Vince Young as the only players in UT history to pass for 200 or more yards and rush for 100 or more yards in a game more than once in a career. McCoy also accomplished the feat with 282 passing yards and 106 rushing yards against Oklahoma State in 2007. McCoy opened the season by completing his first 13 passes, which set a single-game record (previous record: Vince Young, 12, vs. Oklahoma St., 2004), on his way to completing 24-of-29 passes (82.8%). He shared Big 12 Player of the Week honors for his efforts.

at UTEP: McCoy completed 20-of-29 passes (70.0%) for 282 yards and four TDs. He started fast against the Miners, completing 14-of-16 (87.5%) for 187 yards and three TDs in the first half. It marked the fifth time in his career that he threw for at least four TDs in a game.

He went 19-of-23 (82.6%), including 13 consecutive completions to tie the single-game record he set against FAU, for 329 yards (no INTs). McCoy's 260.2 passer rating for the game was the highest of his career. In the first half alone, McCoy went 15-of-18 (83.3%) for 269 yards and two TDs. The 269 first-half yards tied for the third-highest first-half total in UT history. In addition,

ON A ROLL: Over his last 15 games, Colt McCoy has gone 318-of-435 (73.1%) for 3,943 yards and 33 TDs for a passer rating of 168.8, while rushing for 761 yards and 10 TDs. During that span, McCoy has thrown for at least 275 yards eight times and had four games with four TD passes. He also has posted at least 50 yards rushing in eight games, including two 100-yard games (Oklahoma St., 106, 2007; FAU, 103, 2008).

MCCOY'S GROUND GAME: Colt McCoy is the fifth QB in Longhorn history to rush for 1,000 yards. He has posted 1,033 yards and 12 TDs on 252 carries (4.1 ypc) during his 33-game career, but the bulk of that yardage has come during the last two seasons. Since the beginning of 2007, McCoy has posted 863 yards and 10 TDs on 184 carries (4.7 ypc). In 2008 alone, McCoy has tallied 371 yards and six TDs on 70 carries (5.3 ypc). The 371 yards rushing over the first seven games are the second-most by a QB in Texas history, trailing only Vince Young's 458 in 2005. Aside from Young's totals during his three seasons, Donnie Little's 341-yard total in 1979 is the next-best over the first seven games of a season. Last season, McCoy finished second on the team in rushing with 492 yards, but his production was even better if you figure his totals purely as a runner (minus sack yardage). On 88 rushes, McCoy gained 665 yards (7.6 ypc), scored four TDs and posted 37 first downs. His 7.5 ypc average would have ranked him third nationally. Excluding sacks, McCoy has rushed for at least 50 yards in 10 of the last 12 games. He produced his first career 100-yard rushing game with 106 at Oklahoma State last season and his 14-yard scramble on the final drive set up Texas' 40-yard game-winning field goal. McCoy added his second career 100-yard game in the 2008 season opener against FAU with 106 yards on 12 carries (8.6 ypc). During his career, McCoy has tallied 44 runs of at least 10 yards with 11 of them coming during the first seven games of 2008. He also has produced 15 runs of at least 20 yards and four of at least 30 yards during his career.

SOPHOMORE SUCCESS: After one of the most productive seasons by a QB in UT history in 2006, Colt McCoy returned in 2007 to earn both team and Holiday Bowl MVP honors. For the season, McCoy went 276-of-424 (65.1%) for 3,303 yards (No. 2 on UT's single-season list) and 22 TDs (T-No. 4 on UT's single-season list) for a passer rating of 139.2 (24th NCAA). McCoy's 276 completions rank first on UT's single-season list, while his 424 attempts stand second. McCoy also was the team's second-leading rusher with 492 yards, including at least 40 yards rushing in six of the last seven games and his first career 100-yard rushing game (106 at Oklahoma State). He amassed 3,795 total yards on the season (22nd NCAA/No. 2 on UT's single-season list). He passed for at least 200 yards 11 times and posted at least 300 yards of total offense six times. He matched UT's all-time record by reaching the 1,000-yard plateau after the first four games of 2007 and tied for second on UT's all-time list by reaching 2,000 yards passing after eight games.

MCCOY'S 2007 HIGHLIGHTS

No. 19 TCU: Colt McCoy helped defeat a ranked opponent for the third time in his career by going 25-of-38 (65.8%) for 239 yards and a TD.

at UCF: McCoy completed a UT single-game record 32 passes and tied the school record in attempts with 47.

Rice: McCoy posted his first 300-yard game of the season with 333 yards on 20-of-29 passing (69.0%) and three TDs (no INTs). His 295 yards passing in the first half are the second-most in a half on UT record.

vs. No. 10 Oklahoma: McCoy threw for 324 yards and two TDs. His 324 yards passing were the second-most ever by a Longhorn QB in a Red River Rivalry game. Major Applewhite's 328 yards in 1999 rank first.

at Iowa State: McCoy went 23-of-29 (79.3%) for 298 yards and four TDs. Combined with his 50 yards rushing, McCoy produced 348 yards of total offense, Texas Tech: McCoy notched six TDs and 319 total yards by going 21-of-30 (70.0%) for 268 yards and four TDs, while rushing for 51 yards and two TDs. The six TDs were just one shy of the UT single-game record (seven, Clyde Littlefield, 1915).

vs. No. 12 Arizona State: McCoy notched his second bowl Offensive MVP honor after completing 21-of-31 passes (67.7%) for 174 yards and a TD and rushing for 84 yards and a TD on 16 carries (5.2 ypc) in a 52-34 Holiday Bowl victory.

FANTASTIC FIRST SEASON: After redshirting in 2005, Colt McCoy took over the reins of the Longhorn offense from former National Player of the Year and NFL Pro Bowler Vince Young in 2006. He progressed throughout the season and earned The Sporting News and Touchdown Club of Columbus National Freshman of the Year awards, while becoming a semifinalist for the Davey O'Brien Award (nation's top quarterback). McCoy also shared UT's MVP honors with Aaron Ross. He finished his redshirt-freshman campaign with a 161.8 passer rating (eighth NCAA), completing 217-of-318 passes (68.2%) for 2,570 yards (No. 6 on UT's single-season list/No. 1 on UT's freshman single-season list) and a UT-record 29 TDs (T-No. 2 on NCAA single-season freshman list), while throwing just seven INTs. His 217 completions rank fourth on UT's single-season list and first on the school's freshman list. During 2006, he posted 14 plays of 30 yards or more, nine of 40 yards or more and six of 50 yards or more. McCoy opened the season by throwing for 200 yards in only one of the first six games, but finished by exceeding the 200-yard mark in five of the final seven games, including two games over 300 yards. The two games he didn't throw for 200 yards over that stretch were the Kansas State and Texas A&M games, when he was suffering from an injury. During 2006, McCoy had a streak of 10-straight games with a TD pass, which is the second-longest in UT history. He threw a TD pass in 11 of 13 games and two TDs in 10 of 13.

He also spread the ball around, completing passes to 12 different receivers and TD passes to nine different players. In addition, McCoy tied the UT record for consecutive completions at 15 after completing the final four passes against Oklahoma state, his only four attempts at Kansas State and the first seven passes versus Texas A&M. In total, McCoy tallied a UT freshman record 2,740 yards of total offense (No. 5 on UT's single-season list). He became UT's first freshman QB to win a season opener since Bobby Layne in 1944.

MCCOY'S 2006 HIGHLIGHTS

Iowa State: Colt McCoy threw for 200 yards for the first time in his career when he threw for 212 yards and two TDs.

Baylor: McCoy's season took off when he threw a UT single-game record six TD passes. The six TDs also tied the NCAA mark for TD passes by a freshman in a game. He ended the game going 21-of-32 (65.6%) for 275 yards, while rushing for another 26. The 301 yards of total offense rank seventh on UT's freshman list. He was named the Cingular All-America Player of the Week for his performance.

at Nebraska: McCoy went 25-of-39 (64.1%) for 220 yards, two TDs and no INTs in the snow. He helped the Horns come back twice from fourth-quarter deficits to win that game.

Oklahoma State: McCoy set a career high with 346 yards on 23-of-29 (79.3%) passing. His 352 yards of total offense was the second-best effort by a freshman in UT history.

vs. Iowa: McCoy sustained a pinched nerve in his neck on the first drive, a TD drive, at Kansas State that sidelined him for that game. That injury slowed him against Texas A&M, but he returned to form, capping his rookie campaign by earning Offensive MVP honors at the Alamo Bowl. He completed 26-of-40 passes (65.0%) for 308 yards and two TDs in leading the Horns to a 26-24 come-from-behind victory.

BIG 12 OFFENSIVE FRESHMAN OF THE YEAR:

Colt McCoy was named the Big 12 Freshman of the Year in 2006. He was the second consecutive Longhorn to earn the award and the sixth UT player to win that honor. All six have come in the Mack Brown era. McCoy joins RB Jamaal Charles (2005), QB Vince Young (2003), RB Cedric Benson (2001), WR Roy Williams (2000) and QB Major Applewhite (1998) as honorees.

FRESHMAN NATIONAL HONORS: Colt McCoy was a semifinalist for the Davey O'Brien Award (nation's top QB) and was named The Sporting News and Touchdown Club of Columbus National Freshman of the Year for his performance in 2006. McCoy was also twice named the Cingular All-America Player of the Week and earned the Walter Camp Player of the Week and Master Coaches Survey Game Ball once.

COMEBACK KID: Over the past few seasons, Texas has developed a never-say-die attitude that has helped pull off comebacks on several occasions. Much like his mentor Vince Young, who engineered six fourth-quarter comebacks and eight second-half comebacks, Colt McCoy has proven that he is capable of leading the Horns when they are behind. He has already posted nine second-half comebacks, including six fourth-quarter comebacks, during his career.

vs. No. 14 Oklahoma (2006): The first comeback of McCoy's career came after Texas trailed 10-7 at halftime, but the Horns stormed back for a 28-10 victory. McCoy opened the second half by going 5-of-5 passing for 66 yards and two TDs, while rushing for 23 yards on two scoring drives that put away the Sooners.

vs. Baylor (2006): Texas fell behind 10-0 after the first quarter before McCoy hit stride. He racked up 268 yards and a UT-record six TD passes on 19-of-26 passing (73.1%) over the final three quarters to lead UT to a 63-31 victory.

at No. 17 Nebraska (2006): McCoy brought the Horns back in his first test on the road. With Nebraska leading 20-19, Texas got the ball back at the Nebraska 44-yard line with 2:17 to play. McCoy methodically moved the Horns to the Nebraska five before UT kicked a field goal with 23 seconds left to take the lead for good, 22-20.

at Texas Tech (2006): Texas Tech jumped out to a 21-0 lead after the first quarter and 31-21 lead at the half, but McCoy led Texas to a 35-31 victory. The 21-point comeback is tied for the second-largest comeback in school history. After getting down 21-0, McCoy went 15-of-23 for 203 yards and four TDs, while rushing for 74 yards over the final three quarters.

vs. Iowa (2006): McCoy notched his fifth comeback of the 2006 season in the Alamo Bowl. Iowa grabbed the lead at 21-20 late in the third quarter, but, on the ensuing possession, McCoy drove Texas 72 yards in 11 plays for the go-ahead and game-winning score as UT would hold on for the 26-24 victory.

No. 19 TCU (2007): The Horns trailed 10-0 at the half, but McCoy led Texas on a seven-play, 60-yard TD drive to open the second half. For the half, McCoy went 12-of-16 (75.0%) for 139 yards and a TD and led Texas on five scoring drives as UT defeated the Horned Frogs, 34-13.

at UCF (2007): McCoy added his third fourth-quarter comeback, leading Texas to 12 straight points (TD, two FGs) on three consecutive drives after the Horns fell behind 24-23. On those three drives, McCoy went 7-of-10 for 82 yards, while adding 12 yards rushing.

Nebraska (2007): After falling behind 17-3 in the third quarter (17-9 entering the fourth quarter), McCoy guided a Texas offense that produced 336 total yards and 25 points in the second half and helped the Horns go on to win, 28-25.

at Oklahoma State (2007): McCoy notched his second-consecutive fourth-quarter comeback in leading Texas from a 35-14 deficit entering the final stanza. While helping Texas score 24-unanswered points to win the game, 38-35, McCoy went 8-of-9, including eight straight completions, for 145 yards and rushed for 38 yards, while leading the Horns to 311 yards of total offense. His 14-yard scramble on the final drive set up Texas' 40-yard game-winning field goal.

vs. No. 1 Oklahoma (2008): McCoy helped Texas erase two 11-point deficits in SPREADING THE WEALTH: Colt McCoy has continued the trend of keeping his entire receiving corps involved in UT's offensive attack by completing passes to 11 different receivers and TD passes to six different receivers in 2008. In addition, McCoy has produced completions of at least 30 yards to five receivers. In 2007, McCoy hit 12 different receivers and completed TD passes to seven pass catchers. For the first time in school history, the Longhorns had three players with 40 or more receptions in the same season. The Horns also had three players with 500 or more receiving yards for just the third time in school history. In addition, McCoy completed passes of at least 50 yards to four different players. In 2006, he completed passes to 12 different players, including six wide receivers, and TD passes to nine different pass catchers, five of which were wide receivers.

WIDE RECEIVERS SQUARED:

Two of McCoy's top receivers in seniors Quan Cosby and Jordan Shipley are leading a young, but effective pass-catching group in 2008. The pair has already combined to catch 91 passes for 1,181 yards (13.0 ypc) and 12 TDs in 2008 after registering 87 receptions for 1,097 yards (12.6 ypc) and 10 TDs last year.

Quan Cosby: A two-time first-team all-state football selection and a 100 and 200-meter state champ as a prepster, Quan Cosby's football career took a four-year detour when he was drafted in the sixth-round by the Anaheim Angels in the spring of 2001. He played four seasons of minor league baseball for the Angels' organization before deciding to rekindle his football career as a true freshman in 2005. Cosby has shown steady improvement and has developed into one of Colt McCoy's favorite targets. A former prep QB, he is currently riding a streak of 38 straight games with a reception (No. 2 on UT's all-time list), which is tied for fourth nationally among active players, and has caught a pass in 41 of his 46 career games. He has caught at least three passes in 22 of his last 25 games. For his career, Cosby has caught 168 passes (No. 4 on UT's all-time list) for 2,087 yards (No. 5 on UT's all-time list) and 12 TDs. Also UT's top kick and punt returner, he has totaled 4,086 career all-purpose yards (2,087 rec./1,627 KR/372 PR) on 269 plays (15.2 ypp).

2008: Cosby leads the team in both receptions (48) and yards (612) and is averaging 12.8 yards per catch. His 87.4 yards per game rank 27th nationally and he has posted at least seven receptions in five of UT's seven games. Cosby has also scored three TDs on the year. After posting three receptions for 34 yards in the season-opener against FAU, Cosby posted a career-high 154 yards and a TD on eight receptions at UTEP. He recorded three catches of at least 30 yards, including two 39-yard grabs. The 154 receiving yards are tied for 23rd on UT's single-game list. Cosby added seven receptions for 90 yards and a TD against Rice, including a 35-yard reception. He came back to tally five receptions for 67 yards and a TD against Arkansas. Cosby posted a team-high nine receptions for 71 yards at Colorado. He added nine more receptions for 122 yards against No. 1 Oklahoma, including a 25-yarder and a 36-yarder. The 122 receiving yards were the eighth-most by anyone in a Red River Rivalry game and the fourth-most by a UT player. Cosby added seven catches for 74 yards against No. 11 Missouri.

2007: Cosby made 60 receptions (No. 6 on UT's single-season list) for 680 yards and five TDs and posted at least five receptions in eight of the 13 games. He set a career high at UCF with 10 receptions before notching a career high in yards with 113, his second career 100-yard game, against Nebraska. Cosby scored TDs against Rice, Kansas State and Iowa State and had his first multi-TD game against Texas Tech.

Over the last five games, he upped his production, making 28 receptions for 344 yards for an average of 5.6 receptions and 68.8 yards per game during that stretch.

2005: Cosby finished his freshman season with 15 catches for 270 yards (18.0 ypc) and two TDs. He also is just the fifth player in UT history to record 2,000 receiving yards and stands fifth on the all-time list.

Special teams/All-purpose yards:

Cosby has also been key in the Longhorns' return game and is considered one of the nation's top return men. ON THE BIG STAGE: Senior Jordan Shipley saved the best game of his career for a Red River Rivalry match-up between two Top Five teams in No. 5 Texas and No. 1 Oklahoma. He earned Walter Camp Football Foundation National Offensive Player of the Week and AT&T ESPN All-America Player of the Week honors to go along with an ESPN Helmet Sticker for his efforts. Shipley tallied 11 receptions for 112 yards (10.2 ypc) and a TD and returned a kickoff 96 yards for a TD. The 11 receptions were a career high and the most for anyone in a Red River Rivalry game. The 112 yards were the second-most in Shipley's career and his TD extended his current streak to six consecutive games with a receiving TD, which is tied for second on UT's all-time list. On top of that, Shipley became the first player in Red River Rivalry history to return a kickoff for a TD. It was the longest return in the storied rivalry and was the third-longest in UT history.

SCORING FAST: Senior Jordan Shipley became the fourth player in the Mack Brown era to score on UT's first offensive play from scrimmage in a game. He opened the Iowa State game last season with a 58-yard TD reception to join Jamaal Charles, who scored on a three-yard run on the first play at Missouri in 2005, Cedric Benson, who notched a 38-yard TD run against North Texas in 2004, and Hodges Mitchell, who scored on an 80-yard run at Oklahoma State in 1999.

FAMILIAR TARGET: Since Colt McCoy took over as the starting QB in 2006, he has developed a chemistry with the reliable Quan Cosby. The duo ranks first all-time on UT's QB-to-WR combo chart, having hooked up 147 times over the last three seasons. They passed both Chris Simms and Roy Williams (131, 2000-02) and Major Applewhite and Kwame Cavil (124, 1998-99) on the list this season. McCoy to Cosby started with 39 connections in 2006. In 2007, McCoy delivered all 60 of Cosby's receptions. So far in 2008, McCoy has found Cosby on all 48 of his receptions.

COSBY'S COMBO: Senior Quan Cosby has been asked to perform various duties since leaving professional baseball and joining the Texas football program. As a receiver, he's posted 2,087 yards (No. 5 on UT's all-time list) and 12 TDs on 168 receptions (No. 4 on UT's all-time list). He also is the Horns' top return man and was named honorable mention All-Big 12 by the league's coaches as a returner in 2007. Considered one of the nation's top return men, Cosby has amassed 1,999 combined return yards (1,627 KR/372 PR) on 100 returns (20.0 ypr) during his career. So far in 2008, Cosby has returned 11 kickoffs for 246 yards (22.4 ypr). He is averaging 128.0 all-purpose yards, which ranks 48th nationally. In 2007, Cosby posted nine kickoff returns of at least 30 yards, including a career-long 91-yard TD, and three punt returns of at least 20 yards with a long of 30. Cosby averaged 144.2 all-purpose yards per game, which ranked 34th nationally. Highlighting Cosby's career are a 91-yard kickoff return TD at Texas A&M (2007), a 74-yard kickoff return against No. 14 Nebraska (2006) to set up a score and a 55-yard punt return for a TD against Sam Houston State (2006). In addition, he completed a 34-yard pass to Limas Sweed against Iowa State in 2006.

MOVING THE CHAINS: Of Quan Cosby's 168 career receptions, 105 of them have gone for first downs (62.5%). Ten of his 15 receptions (66.7%) as a freshman went for first downs, while 30 of his 45 catches (66.7%) as a sophomore moved the sticks. Cosby produced first downs on 33 of his 60 receptions (55.0%) in 2007 and has moved the chains on 32 of his 48 receptions (66.7%) in 2008.

FRESH FACES: Seniors Quan Cosby and Jordan Shipley are joined by a quartet of young receivers, including two pass catchers who saw action in 2007 in sophomores Brandon Collins and James Kirkendoll. After appearing in seven games at wide receiver and on special teams as a true freshman, Collins has posted 15 receptions for 140 yards in 2008. He had the best game of his young career against No. 11 Missouri, posting six catches for 76 yards, including a 38-yarder. Kirkendoll saw action in four games at wide receiver as a true freshman before an injury shortened his season. He has caught seven passes for 84 yards and a TD so far in 2008 and has started in each of the last three games. In addition, redshirt freshman Malcolm Williams, who started the first four games of 2008, has caught seven passes for 65 yards, including a 32-yard TD grab against No. 11 Missouri, while true freshman Dan Buckner posted the first catch and first TD reception of his career at UTEP and has made four catches for 77 yards and two TDs, including a 51-yard TD reception against No. 11 Missouri.

FOUR-BACK ATTACK: With Jamaal Charles now playing in the NFL with the Kansas City Chiefs, four Texas running backs are looking to replace his production in 2008. Charles finished his career as UT's fourth leading rusher with 3,328 yards on 533 carries (6.2 ypc). His 36 TDs are tied for fifth on UT's all-time list. In 2007, Charles rushed for 1,619 yards (No. 5 on UT's single-season list) and 18 TDs (T-No. 5 on UT's single-season list) on 258 carries (6.3 ypc). Senior Chris Ogbonnaya, sophomore Vondrell McGee and redshirt freshmen Cody Johnson and Foswhitt "Fozzy" Whittaker make up the quartet. The group has combined to rush for 834 yards and 14 TDs on 173 carries (4.8 ypc). Ogbonnaya, who transitioned from his role as a third-down specialist to an every-down back, has carried the ball 44 times for 285 yards (6.5 ypc) and three TDs and caught 25 passes (T-No. 9 on UT's single-season receptions by a running back list) for 339 yards (No. 5 on UT's receiving by a running back list) (13.6 ypc) and three TDs, including a 65-yard TD reception at Colorado and a 46-yard TD reception against Rice, in 2008. In 2007, Ogbonnaya carried the ball 26 times for 71 yards and two TDs and caught 21 passes for 204 yards, while serving primarily as UT's third-down back. McGee posted 75 carries for 325 yards (4.0 ypc) and eight TDs as a redshirt freshman in 2007. His eight TDs are tied for sixth all-time on UT's freshman list. In 2008, McGee has carried the ball 57 times for 243 yards (4.3 ypc) and a TD, while making six receptions. McGee opened the season against FAU by posting 63 yards and a TD on 12 carries (5.2 ypc). He added 58 yards on six carries (9.7 ypc) against No. 11 Missouri. Johnson has rushed 58 times for 214 yards and 10 TDs. His 10 TDs are tied for fourth on UT's freshman list. Johnson extended his UT freshman record by rushing for a TD in seven straight games to open a season. The seven straight games is tied for fourth on UT's overall list. As UT's goal-line specialist, Johnson has converted all nine of his carries inside the five into TDs behind the lead block of DT Roy Miller, including three against No. 1 Oklahoma. Whittaker spent the 2007 season gaining valuable experience on the scout team after finishing his prep career ranked sixth on the all-time Texas 5A rushing chart with 5,717 yards. After missing the season-opener against FAU with a knee injury, he saw his first action as a Longhorn at UTEP and rushed for 72 yards on 12 carries (6.0 ypc). He added 20 yards on two carries against No. 11 Missouri.

OVATION FOR OGBONNAYA:

Chris Ogbonnaya had the first of two consecutive career games at Colorado, when he set single-game career highs in receptions (six) and receiving yards (116) and then-single-game career highs in carries (nine) and rushing yards (71). He also posted a career long 65-yard reception, which is the seventh-longest reception by a running back in UT history, and a then-career long run of 51 yards against the Buffaloes. Ogbonnaya became the first running back to record a run and reception of at least 50 yards in the same game since Cedric Benson (2001). The 116 receiving yards are the second-most in a game by a running back in UT history (120, Eric Metcalf, vs. Rice, 1985). In addition, Ogbonnaya's 111 receiving yards in the first half were the most in a half by a running back in UT history. He also had a 23-yard reception against CU. Then, against No. 1 Oklahoma, Ogbonnaya re-established his career highs with 15 carries for 127 yards (8.5 ypc), including 80 yards in the fourth quarter to help Texas seal the victory. Ogbonnaya also posted a career long run of 62 yards in the fourth quarter against OU after ripping off a 51-yard run against Colorado the week before. He continued his hot streak by rushing for 65 yards and two TDs on 13 carries (5.0 ypc), while matching his career high with six receptions for 68 yards, against No. 11 Missouri.

RECENT O-LINE SUCCESS: The Texas offensive line has been one of the nation's steadiest units over the past four seasons, and despite four linemen moving on to the NFL over the previous two seasons, the Horns finished 17th nationally in rushing offense (207.5 ypg) and 13th in total offense (462.9 ypg) in 2007. The pipeline to the NFL over the last three years began with OT Jonathan Scott, who was taken in the fifth round of the 2006 NFL Draft by the Detroit Lions. Then, in the 2007 draft, the Horns had two players, OL Justin Blalock and OG Kasey Studdard, selected. Blalock was selected in the second round by the Atlanta Falcons and Studdard was taken in the sixth round by the Houston Texans. In addition, C Lyle Sendlein signed with the Arizona Cardinals as a free agent and ended up playing in 14 games, starting two. Now, the Horns must deal with the departure of two seniors from 2007 in OT Tony Hills, a first-team All-America selection who was drafted in the fourth round by the Pittsburgh Steelers, and C Dallas Griffin, who won the Draddy Trophy and was an honorable mention All-Big 12 selection.

2008 OFFENSIVE LINE: The 2008 line is led by the lone senior, OG Cedric Dockery, who is a member of the Outland Trophy watch list. Dockery, who was an honorable mention All-Big 12 selection in 2007, has played in 35 career games and made 24 starts. He is joined by a trio of juniors in C Chris Hall, OG Charlie Tanner and OT Adam Ulatoski. Hall is a member

Tanner has seen action in 25 career games (12 starts) and is a two-time Academic All-Big 12 performer. Ulatoski has played in 30 career games (24 starts) and was a second-team All-Big 12 pick in 2007. After playing right tackle during his first two seasons, he moved to left tackle to fill the void caused by Tony Hills' graduation. In addition to the upperclassmen, sophomore OT Kyle Hix (20 games/eight starts) earned a starting spot at right tackle for the 2008 season. He saw action in all 13 games of 2007 and started at right tackle in UT's Holiday Bowl victory over No. 12 Arizona State. Sophomores OT Tray Allen (16 games), C Buck Burnette (17 games/one start), OG Michael Huey (20 games/three starts), OT Britt Mitchell (19 games) and OG Steve Moore (eight games) also have seen action in 2008. Two players, redshirt freshman OT Andre McGaskey and true freshman OG David Snow, saw their first action as Longhorns against FAU and have continued to see action during 2008. After seven games, the line has led Texas to a No. 2 national ranking in scoring offense (48.1 ppg), a No. 10 ranking in total offense (484.0 ypg) and a No. 28 ranking in rushing offense (193.4 ypg). To start the season, Texas produced 503 yards of total offense in its victory over FAU, while not allowing a sack. They blocked for 404 total yards at UTEP, and then cleared the way for 600 yards against Rice, including 259 yards rushing. The group did not allow a sack for the second time this year and helped UT post 421 yards of total offense (213p/208r) against Arkansas. They paved the way for 431 total yards (262p/169r) at Colorado. Then, against an Oklahoma defense that was allowing just 256.2 total yards and 97 rushing yards per game, the Horns rolled up 438 total yards and 161 rushing yards. The line helped UT post 591 yards of total offense against No. 11 Missouri, including 203 yards rushing. It was the fourth time this season that Texas produced at least 200 yards rushing and passing.

THE GO-TO GUY: Junior Chris Hall entered 2007 as the starting right guard, but the right-guard label was quickly changed to offensive lineman as the versatile Hall became the go-to-guy at all five line positions for a Longhorn line that battled injuries. Hall started the second game of 2007 against No. 19 TCU at left guard before moving in as the starter at right tackle for an injured Adam Ulatoski against UCF and Rice. Hall moved back to left guard against Kansas State, but was back filling injured Ulatoski's shoes at right tackle for the Oklahoma game. Hall continued to plug holes along the offensive line by starting at left guard at Iowa State, right guard at Baylor and left guard against Nebraska before not starting against Oklahoma State due to his own injury. But, when Dallas Griffin sustained a season-ending knee injury in Stillwater, Hall slid over and played most of the game at center. He then started for Griffin at center against Texas Tech before moving to left tackle after Tony Hills sustained a season-ending leg injury. Then, Hall started at left tackle against Texas A&M, which meant he started at least one game at every offensive line position in 2007. In comparison, only three recent linemen have even started at the combination of center/guard or guard/tackle during a season. Justin Blalock started at right guard and right tackle (2006), Derrick Dockery started at right guard and right tackle (2002) and Dan Neil started at right guard and center (1993).

PRESSURE AT A PREMIUM:

Since 1999, Texas ranks fourth nationally in sacks at 351 behind TCU (366), USC (364) and Virginia Tech (355). After finishing 2004 with 22 total sacks, the Longhorn defense improved to 34 sacks in '05 and 39.5 sacks in '06 before notching 28 sacks in '07. The Horns have already tallied 24 sacks in 2008 with 22 coming over the last five games. The Horns notched 14 sacks combined against Rice and Arkansas, which was the most in a two-game stretch since 1990. They added three sacks against Oklahoma's Sam Bradford, who had only been sacked three times entering the game, and two sacks against Missouri's Chase Daniel, who also had only been sacked three times entering the game against UT. The defense is led by DE Brian Orakpo, who has already produced eight sacks in 2008. LB Sergio Kindle is second on the team with 4.5, while LB Jared Norton ranks third with 2.5 sacks. Eight other players have recorded at least a half sack. In addition to the sacks, the Texas defense has already produced 57 TFL, 86 pressures and 90 hits on opponents' quarterbacks. Nineteen Longhorns have recorded at least one TFL this season led by Orakpo, who has 12, followed by Kindle with six and five players with four. Orakpo also leads the team in pressures with 19, while DT Roy Miller is second with 14.

THE RAK IS BACK: Senior DE Brian Orakpo, who is a member of the Bednarik Award, Nagurski Trophy and Lott Trophy watch lists, headlines a deep group of edge rushers, who are being counted on to pressure the backfield in 2008. In his three seasons, Orakpo has tallied 117 tackles (81 solo), 18.5 sacks, 31 TFL, 51 pressures, six PBD, five forced fumbles and a fumble recovery in 42 games (17 starts). In 2008, Orakpo has made 27 tackles (19 solo) and leads the team with eight sacks, 12 TFL, 19 pressures and three forced fumbles. Including the 2007 Holiday Bowl, Orakpo has posted at least two sacks in five of UT's last eight games. He opened the season against FAU by notching three tackles, a TFL and three pressures. At UTEP, he tallied five tackles, two sacks and three pressures. Orakpo added five tackles, two sacks, two pressures, two PBD and a forced fumble against Rice. He continued his tear with four tackles, two sacks, three TFL, a pressure and a forced fumble against Arkansas. He added two tackles and five pressures at Colorado. Orakpo posted seven tackles, two sacks, four TFL, two pressures and a forced fumble while matching up against Oklahoma's Phil Loadholt, who earned honorable mention All-America honors last season. He added a tackle and three pressures against No. 11 Missouri, while forcing Chase Daniel into an INT. In 2007, Orakpo, who was sidelined for four games after suffering a knee injury in the Longhorns' season opener, returned to action on a limited basis against Oklahoma and his impact was significant. In just 17 plays, the 6-4, 260-pounder recorded three tackles, two TFL and a sack versus the Sooners. He capped off the year by being named the Holiday Bowl Defensive MVP after a six-tackle, two-sack, three-TFL performance against No. 12 Arizona State. For the season, Orakpo posted 37 tackles, 5.5 sacks, nine TFL and 12 pressures in just nine games (eight starts). In 2006, Orakpo tallied 26 tackles, six TFL and 4.5 sacks, a year after posting 27 tackles, four TFL and a half sack, which resulted in him being named the 2005 National Defensive Freshman of the Year and Big 12 Defensive Freshman of the Year.

PLAYER OF THE WEEK: Texas senior DE Brian Orakpo has been named The Lott Trophy IMPACT Player of the Week twice this season. The first time came when he recorded four tackles, two sacks, three TFL, a pressure and a forced fumble in leading the Longhorns to a 52-10 win over Arkansas. Overall, Orakpo helped the Texas defense hold Arkansas to just 191 yards, the Hogs' lowest offensive output since 2002, while not allowing an offensive touchdown. The second time, Orakpo tallied seven tackles, two sacks, four TFL, two pressures and a forced fumble against No. 1 Oklahoma. In that game, Texas held OU more than 100 total yards and 14 points below its season average.

TURNING UP THE HEAT: Since returning to action from a knee injury in last year's Oklahoma game (15 games), Brian Orakpo has posted 13 sacks, 20 TFL and 31 pressures. Over the last eight games (including the limited duty vs. OU) of 2007, Orakpo registered five sacks, eight TFL and 12 pressures. His numbers from the first seven games of 2008 are even better than that eight-game stretch. Orakpo has tallied eight sacks, 12 TFL and 19 pressures.

WORKOUT WARRIOR: Brian Orakpo was named the nation's top workout warrior. Orakpo, who entered The University of Texas as a 210-pound athlete, has gained 50 lbs. of muscle while maintaining eight percent body fat. The 6-4, 260-pounder is capable of bench pressing 515 lbs., squatting 600 lbs. and power cleaning 380 lbs., while posting bests of 4.6 seconds in the 40 and 42 inches in the vertical leap.

MELTON MAKING A MOVE: In just his second season at defensive end, senior Henry Melton used a tremendous offseason to earn the first defensive start of his career in UT's season opener against FAU and notched two pressures. He added three pressures at UTEP and a half sack against Rice. Melton tallied two tackles, a sack, a pressure and a forced fumble that was converted into a TD against Arkansas. He added a TFL and a PBD at Colorado, two tackles and a pressure versus No. 1 Oklahoma and a TFL and two pressures against No. 11 Missouri. For the season, he has registered seven tackles, 1.5 sacks, four TFL, nine pressures, two PBD and a forced fumble. After spending his first two seasons at running back, Melton switched to defensive end during Alamo Bowl practices at the end of the '06 season. He saw action in 10 games in 2007 and tallied 11 tackles, a TFL, three pressures, a PBD, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery.

YOUNG DEFENSIVE ENDS: Texas has two underclassmen who made an impact last season in sophomores Eddie Jones and Sam Acho. The duo combined to notch 38 tackles, three sacks, five TFL, eight pressures, an INT and four PBD as freshmen. Jones, who redshirted in 2006, appeared in 11 games in 2007 and posted 28 tackles, 1.5 sacks, two TFL, six pressures, an INT and two PBD. He has recorded five tackles, a sack, three TFL, three pressures and a PBD so far in 2008. Acho saw action in 11 games as a true freshman and tallied 10 tackles, 1.5 sacks, three TFL, two pressures and two PBD. He has posted nine tackles, a sack, four pressures, a PBD and a forced fumble in 2008.

MANNING THE MIDDLE: The defensive tackles unit was a major reason why Texas ranked sixth nationally (93.4 ypg) in rush defense in 2007, after giving up just 61.2 yards per game to rank third nationally in '06. The 2008 Longhorns are without the services of two of the stalwarts of those defensive lines. DTs Frank Okam and Derek Lokey combined to play in 83 games, while making 60 starts during their four-year careers. Okam, who was a third-team All-American in 2007 before being drafted in the fifth round by the Houston Texans, finished his career with 160 tackles, 10 sacks, 28 TFL, 12 PBD, one forced fumble and five fumble recoveries. Lokey garnered first-team All-Big 12 honors in 2007 and earned a spot on the Kansas City Chiefs' practice squad. He finished his career with 101 tackles, three sacks, 18 TFL, three PBD and a fumble recovery. Despite the losses, the duo of senior Roy Miller and junior Lamarr Houston have led a UT defense that ranks second nationally and first in the Big 12 against the run (48.1 ypg). Miller has played in 43 career games (13 starts) and is a member of the preseason Bednarik Award watch list, while Houston has played in 30 career games (16 starts) and made the first start of his career at defensive tackle in UT's season-opening win over FAU. The duo has combined to post 41 tackles (23 solo), eight TFL, 20 pressures, five PBD and a fumble recovery in 2008.

MILLER MAKING AN IMPACT: While Lokey and Okam claimed a bulk of the starts at defensive tackle over the last two seasons, Roy Miller was an integral part of the DT rotation throughout both of those years. His ability to hold the point of attack in UT's defensive scheme thanks to a 500 lbs. bench press, 690 lbs. squat and 350 lbs. power clean has the Horns ranked second nationally and first in the Big 12 in rush defense (48.1 ypg) and aided in UT finishing third nationally in rush defense (61.2 ypg) in 2006 and sixth (93.4 ypg) in '07. So far in 2008, Miller has tallied 27 tackles (13 solo), four TFL, 14 pressures, two PBD and a fumble recovery. He opened 2008 against FAU by posting three tackles and three pressures and added five tackles, two TFL and four pressures at UTEP. Miller posted two tackles and three pressures against Rice. He earned Big 12 Defensive Player of the Week honors after notching a season-high eight tackles, including a TFL, three pressures, two PBD and a fumble recovery at Colorado. Miller added three tackles and a pressure versus No. 1 Oklahoma and four tackles, including a TFL, against No. 11 Missouri. After seeing action in 10 games as a true freshman in 2005 and making 10 tackles, Miller appeared in all 13 games in 2006, starting six. He finished the year with 39 tackles, six TFL and 3.5 sacks. Miller increased his production during his six starts, posting 26 tackles, four TFL, two sacks and two pressures. Despite battling an ankle injury for most of 2007, the 6-2, 295-pounder notched 40 tackles, a sack, eight TFL, seven pressures and a forced fumble in 13 games. For his career, Miller has recorded 116 tackles (53 solo), 18 TFL, 4.5 sacks, 30 pressures, four PBD, a fumble recovery and a forced fumble in 43 games (13 starts).

STAT FACT

On 39 attempts, the Horns' defense has only allowed six conversions of third down and 10 or more this season (15.4%). Over the last five games, Texas' opponents have only converted 2-of-25 (8.0%) third and 10 or more.

Asst. Head Coach/DBs Duane Akina has mentored nine current NFL defensive backs, five of which are starting for their team.

HOUSTON SHIFTS INSIDE: Junior Lamarr Houston spent his first two seasons at Texas as a productive defensive end, but he made the switch to defensive tackle during the spring of 2008. So far this year, Houston has registered 14 tackles, four TFL, six pressures and three PBD. In his first start at defensive tackle against FAU, Houston tallied three tackles, including two TFL. He added four tackles, including two TFL, a pressure and a PBD against Rice before posting three pressures against Arkansas. Houston tallied one tackle and a PBD at Colorado and five tackles versus No. 1 Oklahoma. He added a tackle, a PBD and two pressures against No. 11 Missouri. A former prep linebacker and running back, Houston was named honorable mention All-Big 12 by The Associated Press in 2007 after tallying 66 tackles, 12 TFL, 4.5 sacks, 24 pressures, four PBD and a forced fumble. After opening the season as a backup, Houston replaced an injured Brian Orakpo in the week two starting lineup and posted six tackles, a sack, a forced fumble and a PBD against No. 19 TCU. He went on to start 11 of the final 12 games. As a true freshman in 2006, Houston saw action at defensive end and on special teams and notched 14 tackles, two TFL and a sack. In total, Houston has posted 94 tackles, 5.5 sacks, 18 TFL, 32 pressures, seven PBD and a forced fumble in his 30 career games (16 starts).

LEWIS' LAST SEASON: After spending the bulk of his career at defensive end, the Texas coaching staff is taking advantage of Aaron Lewis' versatility, allowing him to see action at both defensive end and defensive tackle in 2008. He opened the year by logging 30 snaps, 16 at DT and 14 at DE, against FAU and notched two pressures. He posted two tackles, which were both behind the line of scrimmage, and a PBD against Rice before adding a pressure against Arkansas. Lewis tallied two tackles, including a half sack, and two pressures at Colorado and added a TFL against No. 11 Missouri. Despite missing two games with an elbow injury in 2007, Lewis posted 26 tackles, eight TFL, two sacks and 10 pressures. After playing in eight games as a true freshman in 2005, Lewis saw his productivity more than double in 2006 with 21 tackles, eight TFL, three sacks, 11 pressures, three fumble recoveries and a forced fumble. For his career, Lewis has recorded 60 tackles (34 solo), 21 TFL, seven sacks, 28 pressures, five PBD, three fumble recoveries and a forced fumble in 39 games (12 starts).

BREAKING IN A NEW SECONDARY, AGAIN: For the second straight season, the Longhorn secondary lost three of its four starters. The Horns are replacing first-team All-Big 12 performer S Marcus Griffin, second-team All-Big 12 honoree CB Brandon Foster and S Erick Jackson, who started 10 of 13 games, from the 2007 secondary. Griffin was a two-year starter, who played in 49 career games (23 starts). Foster, who earned a spot on the Indianapolis Colts' practice squad, appeared in 46 career games and started 12 of 13 games last year. Jackson played in 41 career games, making 10 starts. The year before, Texas needed to replace three players who are currently playing in the NFL in CB Tarell Brown (San Francisco 49ers), S Michael Griffin (Tennessee Titans) and CB Aaron Ross (New York Giants). Brown was a three-year starter, who played in 51 career games. Griffin earned first-team All-America honors from Pro Football Weekly, was a semifinalist for the Lott Trophy (Defensive IMPACT Player of the Year) and finished his career as UT's eighth all-time leading tackler (364 tackles). The Horns also lost Thorpe Award winner and first-team All-American Aaron Ross, who led the team in INTs (six) and PBU (19), while making 80 tackles, as a senior in 2006. In addition, the Horns secondary produced two NFL starters from its 2005 squad in Thorpe Award winner and the seventh pick S Michael Huff and first-team All-Big 12 performer and second round NFL Draft pick CB Cedric Griffin.

PALMER TAKES THE LEAD: With three of the four starters from the 2007 secondary needing to be replaced, senior CB Ryan Palmer, the lone returnee, has taken over as the veteran leader in 2008. Joining Palmer (44 games/20 starts) are junior CB

BOBINO LEADS TALENTED LINEBACKING CORP: Texas' linebacking corps was one of its most experienced position groups in 2007, but the loss of Scott Derry (37 games/23 starts) and Robert Killebrew (49 games/34 starts) required some new faces to step into starting roles. Rashad Bobino has started 41 of his 46 career games and is the senior leader of the linebacking corp. In addition to Bobino, juniors Sergio Kindle (26 games/five starts), Roddrick Muckelroy (23 games/11 starts) and Jared Norton (31 games/five starts) have starting experience.

HALLSVILLE PRIDE:

Longhorn junior WLB Roddrick Muckelroy may be a self-professed small town country kid from the East Texas town of Hallsville (population is about 3,000) but he's making big plays on the field. Including a 14-tackle game in which he returned a fumble 26 yards for a TD at UTEP and a 16-tackle game versus No. 1 Oklahoma, Muckelroy leads the Horns with 67 tackles (43 solo) in 2008. He has been UT's most productive linebacker over the past two seasons, but even more so over the last nine games. During that stretch, Texas' hard-hitting linebacker has posted 80 tackles, eight TFL, three sacks, three PBU, two forced fumbles and a fumble recovery.

TAKING THE KICK: Senior Quan Cosby took over both the kick return and punt return duties in 2007 from Longhorns who are now playing in the NFL, Selvin Young (Denver Broncos) and Aaron Ross (New York Giants), and went on to be named second-team All-Big 12 by The Associated Press. Cosby returned 42 kickoffs (No. 1 on UT's single-season list) for 1,017 yards (No. 1 on UT's single-season list) for a 24.2 ypr average (No. 7 on UT's single-season list). He posted UT's first kickoff return TD since 2003 when he returned a kickoff 91 yards at Texas A&M. It was the first kickoff return TD Texas A&M had allowed since 1990. In addition, Cosby returned 19 punts for 178 yards (9.4 ypr). Cosby's 61 combined returns (42ko/19p) rank first on UT's single-season list, surpassing Mike Adams' 49 returns (23ko/26p) in 1993. His combined 1,195 returns yards (1,017ko/178p) also rank first on UT's single-season list, bettering Adams' 878 yards (622ko/256p) in 1993. Cosby was UT's leading kickoff return man in 2006, bringing back 13 kicks for 334 yards (25.7 ypr), and was Aaron Ross' top backup at punt returner in 2005 and '06. This season, Cosby has returned 11 kickoffs for 246 yards (22.4 ypr) and six punts for 38 yards (6.3 ypr).

COSBY'S CAREER RETURNS:

For his career, Cosby has returned 67 kickoffs (No. 1 on UT's all-time list) for 1,627 yards (No. 1 on UT's all-time list) for a 24.3 ypr average (No. 7 on UT's all-time list), including a 91-yard TD return at Texas A&M last season and a 78-yard return on the opening kickoff at Nebraska in 2006. He also has returned 33 punts for 372 yards (11.3 ypr), including a 55-yard TD return against Sam Houston State in 2006. Cosby has produced 1,999 combined return yards (1,627 KR/372 PR) on 100 returns (20.0 ypr) during his career.

ELITE RETURN GROUP: With a 91-yard kickoff return for a TD and a 55-yard punt return TD, senior Quan Cosby is just the third Longhorn to return a kickoff and a punt for a TD, joining Raymond Clayborn (1973-76) and Selvin Young (2002-06).

LAWRENCE HANDLING PLACE-

KICKING: After serving as UT's kickoff specialist over his first two seasons, junior Hunter Lawrence is handling the place-kicking duties in 2008. Lawrence has been perfect so far this season in scoring 60 points. He is 39-of-39 on PATs and has hit all seven of his field-goal attempts, including 3-of-3 from at least 40 yards. After his performance against No. 1 Oklahoma, Lawrence was named the Lou Groza Star of the Week for posting a career-high 13 points after making all three of his field-goal attempts (26, 28 and 33) and all four PATs.

TUCKER ON KICKOFFS:

True freshman Justin Tucker joined the Texas program in January and is handling the kickoff duties in 2008. After kicking the first attempt of his career out of bounds, Tucker has placed 31 of his next 55 kickoffs into the end zone with 17 resulting in touchbacks. Overall, Tucker has kicked off 56 times for a 64.4 ypk average, recorded 17 touchbacks and is holding opponents to an average starting field position of the 27 yard line.

IMMEDIATE IMPACT:

Nine true freshmen, Emmanuel Acho, Nolan Brewster, Dan Buckner, Blake Gideon, Jeremy Hills, Kheeston Randall, David Snow, Justin Tucker and Aaron Williams, have seen action in 2008. Mack Brown has now played 93 of a possible 255 true freshmen (36.5%) in his 11 seasons at Texas.

NO INTERVIEWS ARE TO BE CONDUCTED ON THE FIELD FOLLOWING THE GAME. After a NCAA required and team-enforced 10-minute cooling off period, players and coaches will be escorted to the interview area. Failure to abide by this rule will result in termination of credential.
