Rowing 101

ROWING DEFINITIONS

8+ and 4+: Eights (8+) and fours (4+) are the most common collegiate competitions and the two events held at the NCAA Championships. The plus indicates a coxswain on board.

Bow: the forward end of the boat which crosses the finish line first; the rower in the seat nearest the forward end of a shell, who typically has a quick catch, stable technique and a shorter arc

Blade: the end of the oar which prys the boat through the water

Bucket rigging: two riggers on the same side next to each other instead of alternated

Catch: the entrance of the oar blade into the water at the beginning of the stroke

Coxswain (cox): person who steers the shell from a seat located in the stern or a lying position in the bow

Ergs: short for ergometer; individual rowing machines that help strength and conditioning

Feathering: turning the oar blade flat during the recovery to lessen wind resistance

Head race: the traditional fall regatta, in which boats cross the starting line at full speed at roughly 15 second intervals. The course usually involves navigating three miles of river, around bends and under bridges

Lightweight: a crew on which each athlete weighs under a specific amount (130 pounds for women)

Novice: a rower in the first year of collegiate competition

Port: the left side of the boat

Power ten (or twenty): a tactical burst of speed of ten or twenty strokes; frequently the stroke rate comes up during a power ten

Recovery: the time between strokes while the oar blade is traveling through the air

Release: the oar blade leaving the water at the finish, or end of the stroke

Regatta: the name of rowing events in which several crews compete

Repechage: a second chance race for those crews which do not automatically advance to the finals of an event through the heat

Rigger: the metal or carbon fiber structure attached to the side of the boat into which the oar fits

Rigging: the relationship between the oar, the rigger, and the position of each rower. Changing the rigging means changing the leverage, just as a bicycle rider changes gears. Most crews have an optimum number of strokes per minute, depending on their size, strength and experience.

Run: the distance the shell moves during one stroke

Sculling: type of rowing where each rower uses two oars

Shell: boat used used in the rowing races; seats nine people for an Eight and five people for a Four, and ranges in length from 45 feet for a Four to 58 feet for an Eight

Sprints: used in collegiate competition, this type of race features a course which is 2,000 meters long, usually with four to six unmarked or buoyed lanes and a floating or staked start

Starboard: the right side of the boat

Stern: the back of the boat; the end the rowers face during competitions

Stroke: a complete cycle of moving the oar through the water; the rower who sits closest to the stern, looks directly at the coxswain in a stern-coxed boat and sets the rhythm for the shell

Stroke rate: the number of strokes per minute

Sweeping: type of rowing where each rower uses one oar

Varsity: the collegiate rower who competes beyond the novice level

TYPES OF RACES

Head Races: Head races usually take place in the fall on rivers; hence, the Head of the Charles, the Head of the Colorado, etc. Rowers, starting the course one after the other about 15 seconds apart, navigate three miles of river. Whoever completes the course in the shortest amount of time wins.

2,000-meter Competition: NCAA, World and Olympic competitions are 2,000 meters or approximately 1-1/4 miles. Most courses are divided into six buoyed lanes, allowing six boats to participate at any one time. If more than six crews are entered in an event, heats and semifinals may be run to determine who races in the finals. This racing utilizes a double-elimination system which means each participant gets at least two opportunities to race. Each race takes between six minutes, 30 seconds and eight minutes depending on boat class as well as wind and water conditions.

WHAT TO WATCH FOR

The crew that's making it look easy is most likely the crew doing the best job, working the hardest and hurting the most. Here's what to watch for:

- Continuous, fluid motion of rowers: All good rowers must have power to move the boat through the water, and must be in top physical condition.
- Synchronization: Watch the bodies of the crew. (Do they move in unison?)
- Clean catches with the blade: Watch to see if all crew members hit the catch together. (Do all oar blades enter the water at the same time?)
- Even bladework: When the blades are brought out of the water, they should all move horizontally at the same height, just above the water.
- Maintaining the speed of the shell: The shells don't move at a consistent speed (slowest at the catch, quickest at the release). A good crew times the catch at the right moment to maintain the speed of the shell.
- Stroke rate: With each stroke, the crew is trying to make excellent run (distance the shell goes in one stroke cycle). During the race, the number of strokes per minute will vary, from 42 to 50 at the start, 34 to 40 in the body, and 38 to 42 at the finish.

Other things to watch for:

In case of a false start, or broken equipment within the first 100 meters, competitors are called back. A boat responsible for two false starts is disqualified. Boats must stay in their lanes, though there is no penalty for crossing the buoys so long as this does not hinder other competitors and the boat crosses the finish line in the judge's view.

The course is followed by an umpire in a motorboat behind the last crew who judges whether the competitors are following the rules. The boat that crosses the finish line first wins the race.

Head Coach Carie Graves

14th season at Texas

Full name _____ Carie Brand Graves
 Hometown _____ Wyoming, Wis.
 High School _____ River Valley HS
 _____ (Wyoming, Wis.)
 College _____ Wisconsin/Harvard '85

In July of 1998, The University of Texas continued its trend of bringing the foremost coaching experts in intercollegiate athletics to the Forty Acres when Carie Graves, a three-time U.S. Olympic rower and Olympic gold medalist in 1984, was hired as Texas women's rowing head coach.

In just 13 seasons, Graves has built UT's rowing program from the ground up. Texas has quickly established itself as a national contender, as it has finished four of the last nine seasons nationally ranked in the US Rowing/CRCA Coaches Poll.

Graves, who is entering her 14th year as the Longhorns' rowing coach, led Texas to the inaugural Big 12 Rowing Championship in 2009 and repeated the feat in 2010 and 2011. The Longhorns also won the 2011 Conference USA Rowing Championship to sweep both conference crowns. Texas' first official title came on the heels of winning seven straight Big 12 Invitational titles.

During 2010-11 the Longhorns posted their best season since 2004 as Graves earned CRCA All-South Region Coach of the Year and Conference USA Coach of the Year lauds. In the fall, Texas recorded three top-five finishes at the Head of the Oklahoma and won five races at the Head of the Colorado. During the spring season the Horns tallied 19 victories at the 2011 Longhorn Invitational and went on to knock off Kansas in a head-to-head battle before claiming wins over UCLA and Clemson at the Virginia Invitational. Texas swept all of its races at the Big 12 Championship and repeated the feat at the Conference USA Championship to complete the title sweep.

Graves coached Jennifer VanderMaarel to Collegiate Rowing Coaches Association (CRCA) All-America Second Team honors in 2011 to mark the third all-america honor in program history. She guided VanderMaarel to CRCA All-South Region First Team accolades in 2009, 2010 and 2011, while Laurel McCaig and Jacqueline Gorcyca landed region honors in 2011. She has coached a student-athlete to CRCA honors in nine of the last 11 years.

In 2009-10, the Longhorns notched two wins at the Boot of the Oklahoma and followed with three victories at the Head of the Colorado. Texas then kicked off the spring with a 1-2-3 finish at the Fighting Nutria and a sweep of its four races at the Heart of Texas. The Horns registered 21 victories in the four-session Longhorn Invitational and then five wins in its dual regatta with Kansas. UT won the Big 12 title by a hefty 11-point margin and went on to finish in 12th place overall and fifth place in the south region at the South/Central Regional.

In 2008-2009, Texas posted six victories at the Head of the Colorado, a 1-2 finish at the Fighting Nutria, five wins at the Heart of Texas regatta, four wins over Kansas and a pair of 1V8 victories over Duke and Central Florida at the Longhorn Invitational. The Horns posted a 13th-place overall finish and placed sixth in the south region at the 2009 South/Central Regional.

In addition to winning the Big 12 Invitational title in 2007-08, the Longhorns first varsity eight also posted a clean sweep at the Longhorn Invitational, including victories over No. 19 Wisconsin and Central Florida. Texas added two more victories over SMU and Kansas, stringing together six straight dual-race victories.

Under her direction, the UT varsity eight boat made NCAA Championship showings in 2003 and 2004. In 2006-2007, Graves guided Texas Rowing to a 14th-place finish in the overall standings and a seventh-place finish in the South Region at the South/Central Regional. Texas added its sixth Big 12 Invitational title in 2007 and shined at the 2007 Longhorn Invitational by posting 18 wins in 24 races at the three-day event.

Graves' squad was 15th overall and seventh among all South Region teams at the 2006 NCAA South/Central Regional event. The Longhorns' first varsity boat claimed first-place in the B finals, giving UT its lone victory at the NCAA's. Earlier in the racing season, Texas kept its string of consecutive Big 12 Invitational wins alive, earning its fifth straight victory.

TEXAS ROWING

In 2003-04, Graves led Texas to its second consecutive appearance at the NCAA Championships. UT's first varsity eight boat qualified after a sixth-place finish in the Varsity 8+ Grand Finals at the South/Central Regional Sprints. For the second time in as many years, the Longhorns earned their highest-ever final ranking by the USRowing/ CRCA Varsity Eights Coaches poll, finishing the season ranked No. 13. Ruth Stiver and Julie Keedy closed their collegiate careers earning 2004 CRCA All-America honors, becoming the first Longhorns in history to receive such recognition from the CRCA. Stiver earned first-team accolades, while Keedy received second-team laurels.

In 2002-03, Graves led Texas to the NCAA Championships for the first time in program history. The Longhorns collected their third-straight All-Points Trophy by winning the unofficial Big 12 Conference Invitational on the Kansas River in Lawrence. Texas boats posted an impressive 39 first-place finishes during the 2002-03 campaign, the second most in school history. The Longhorns celebrated their storybook season with a trip to Britain to compete in the Henley Women's Regatta for the first time in the program's history.

During the 2001-02 season, Graves guided the Longhorns to a record 43 first-place finishes, a mark that still stands as the team's single-season best victory total. She guided UT to its second-straight All-Points Trophy as the Horns won the Big 12 Invitational on its home course in Austin. Texas' first varsity eight squad finished its campaign ranked No. 17 in the USRowing/ CRCA Poll, as the Longhorns narrowly missed their first trip to the NCAA Championships.

Graves led the Longhorns to their first ever Top 20 ranking during the 2000-01 season, when they opened their spring campaign ranked No. 18 by US Rowing/CRCA. Texas finished the year with 32 first-place finishes and also captured its first Big 12 title. The team went on to finish the year ranked No. 20 in the final coaches poll.

Recognized nationally as one of the foremost rowing coaches and clinicians in the nation, Graves spent 10 years as head coach of women's rowing at Northeastern University in Boston, Mass., (1988-98) before arriving in Austin. Before coaching at Northeastern, Graves was head women's crew (rowing) coach at Harvard/Radcliffe from 1977-83.

While at Northeastern, Graves developed one of the top rowing programs in the nation, orchestrating NU's move from club status to varsity status in 1990. The Northeastern varsity eight was one of the top 16 crews to be invited to the first-ever NCAA Championships in 1997, where NU placed 12th. In 1998, Graves led her varsity eight to its second consecutive NCAA Championship appearance and a fourth-place finish. For her outstanding coaching efforts at Northeastern, Graves was recognized as 1997-98 Coach of the Year by the Eastern Association of Women's Rowing Colleges (EAWRC), an organization representing the collegiate rowing programs in the East Coast and Northeast sector of the country.

Prior to NCAA championship competition, Graves' NU squads consistently finished among the top eight varsity crews at the Eastern Sprints, which was then recognized as the strongest rowing league championships in the country.

Graves' extensive rowing experience includes 11 years as an international competitor and selections to three U.S. Olympic rowing teams (in 1976, the boycotted 1980 year, and 1984). During her 11-year competitive rowing tenure, Graves rowed on five U.S. National Teams (1975, 1977, 1979, 1981, 1983) and on the three Olympic teams, competing in the women's eight event. Her gold medal came at the 1984 Olympics. She also captured a bronze medal in that event during the 1976 Olympic Games. The U.S. Olympic Committee honored her as Rowing's Female Athlete of the Year in both 1981 and 1984.

Graves is a two-time inductee into the National Rowing Foundation Hall of Fame. In 1984, she was selected to the Hall as a member of the 1984 Olympic gold medalist crew. Graves was honored by the Hall of Fame in 1991, when she was inducted as a member of the 1980 Olympic Team.

In August of 1998, Graves was a rowing participant at the 1998 Nike World Masters Games in Portland Ore., where 25,000 athletes in 25 sports from 71 different countries competed. She helped generate national publicity for her sport as she competed with three of her sisters at the international meet. The Graves siblings, their training regimen and their Nike Master Games racing were featured on ABC-TV's "Good Morning America" television show and in USA Today.

Graves has also received recognition from her alma mater, the University of Wisconsin, when she was listed No. 16 on its "Top 100 Athletes of the Century" list. Graves also was one of 11 selected as the "Century's Most Notable People" in American Rowing by the 2000-01 American Rower's Almanac.

Graves attended the University of Wisconsin (Madison) as an undergraduate, studying English from 1973-76. She then completed her master's degree at Harvard University in 1985, receiving a Master's of Education in administration, planning and social policy. Graves was the first inductee into UW's Women's Athletic Hall of Fame in 1984.

CAROLINE KING

14th season at Texas

Full name Caroline King
Hometown Winter Park, Fla.
High School Winter Park HS
College Florida '96

Caroline King is in her 13th year as an assistant coach and 14th season overall with the Longhorn program. The 2011-12 season marks her 12th year coaching the novice squad. In 1998-99, King was a volunteer assistant coach.

She was named the South Regional Assistant Coach of the Year by the Collegiate Rowing Coaches Association (CRCA) in 2005-06 and again in 2010-11.

King plays a crucial role in recruiting walk-ons from campus and developing the rowers so they can advance to the varsity squad. She has been responsible for guiding more than 125 novices to the varsity team during her career at Texas.

Her previous collegiate coaching experience was as an assistant coach at Boston College (1997-98), where she worked with both the Eagles' varsity and novice rowing teams.

An experienced and accomplished rower, King participated in the 1996 and 1997 U.S. Rowing Association Lightweight Women's Development Camp. She also won medals at numerous summer regattas, including the U.S. Elite Nationals, American Club Championships and the Royal Canadian Henley.

A cum laude graduate of the University of Florida in 1996 with a B.A. in English composition and a minor in African studies, King rowed for the Gators club team from 1993-96. She captained the team in 1994-95 and earned Most Valuable Rower honors in 1995. King and her husband Jeff reside in Austin.

MELISSA PERRONE

Sixth season at Texas

Full name Melissa Perrone
Hometown Chicago, Ill.
High School St. Ignatius College Preparatory
College Northeastern '99

Melissa Perrone is in her sixth year as an assistant coach with Texas Rowing. In July of 2006, Perrone was named an assistant coach after serving as an interim assistant coach for the 2006 spring season. Prior to that, Perrone served as a volunteer coach with the UT program in 2001 and again in 2003, before rejoining the program as a volunteer in September of 2004.

Perrone assists head coach Carie Graves with the varsity and serves as the program's recruiting coordinator. In 2008, Perrone was named the CRCA South Region Assistant Coach of the Year for her role in bringing in one of the nation's top recruiting classes for the 2008-09 academic year.

Perrone was a member of the highly successful and nationally-ranked Northeastern University varsity rowing team from 1996-1999. Her sophomore year, Perrone was a member of the varsity eight that was one of the top 16 crews to be invited to the first-ever NCAA Championships in 1997. In 1998, Perrone helped guide her team to a third-place finish at the NCAA Eastern Sprints and a fourth-place finish at the NCAA Championship. That year she co-captained her team and led it to its third straight NCAA Championship appearance.

In 2000, she worked at the Boston Latin School as the head of the school's rowing program and directed all aspects of the team, including student recruitment and team development.

Prior to working as UT's interim assistant rowing coach in 2006, Perrone worked as an administrative associate in the UT Austin Division of Pharmacy Practice. She provided administrative and technical support for faculty, students and campus residents.

Perrone and her husband Ray reside in Austin and have one daughter, Ava, who was born in March 2011.
