The Road to Tulsa

• Regionals: Semifinal Round vs. South Carolina State

With a national ITA ranking of 12th entering the tournament, the Tar Heels earned a No. 12 seed and a regional site. As the top seed out of the four teams in the regional (UNC, Arizona State, Duke, South Carolina State), North Carolina drew a first round match against South Carolina State, the lowest seed of the four. From the beginning of doubles, it was evident that the Bulldogs were simply overmatched. Heinrich and Stone raced to an 8-0 victory, followed by an 8-1 win by Hardy and Donato that put the Tar Heels up 1-0. South Carolina State put up a bit of a fight in singles, but after quick wins by Fogleman and Hardy, Donato closed out Gabriel Meana 6-3, 6-4 to ensure that UNC would move on.

• Regionals: Final Round vs. Duke

The final round of the Chapel Hill Regional was full of storylines and drama, beginning with the fact that the match pitted two longtime rivals against each other with a Sweet 16 bid on the line. Anticipation was high from the outset, as fans eager to see the regional final had to wait two hours past the scheduled start time while the NCAA made a decision to play the match indoors due to rainy conditions. Once the match did start, though, the competition was intense, as the Tar Heels sixth-ranked doubles team of Fogleman and Kearney was forced to overcome Duke's 33rd-ranked duo of David Goulet and Christopher Price in a tiebreaker to secure the doubles team point. In singles, the Blue Devils struck back early with two straight wins to gain a 2-1 lead. North Carolina evened the tally with a Donato straight-sets win, and then pulled ahead when Stone won a battle of a second set tiebreaker with Alain Michel. The focus then shifted to Fogleman's match with Alex Stone, as Fogleman had won the first set and led the second 4-1 before Stone evened the score at 6-6 to force a tiebreaker. After nine points had been played, Fogleman held a 6-3 lead, and a wide ground stroke by Stone on the tenth point punched the Tar Heels' ticket to Oklahoma.

Carolina's Men's Tennis Highlights/Notes In 2008

• ACC Honors

North Carolina's stellar ACC regular season campaign (9-1; the only loss to nationally top-ranked Virginia) was led by the outstanding contributions of sophomores Stefan Hardy, Chris Kearney, and Clay Donato. It was fitting, then, that each member of the 2-3-4 heart of the Tar Heels lineup was named to the All-ACC Team. The trio had only six total losses between them in ACC play, weighed against the 24 wins they garnered (Hardy went 7-3, Kearney 9-1, and Donato 8-2). Hardy's highlights included ACC wins over then 58th-ranked Clint Bowles and then ninth-ranked Dominic Inglot, as well as a non-conference win over then fifth-ranked Matthias Wellerman. For Kearney, an eight-ACC match win streak that included a victory over then 78th-ranked David North was the high point of his successful season. Donato scored two wins this season more noteworthy than some of his others; the first a 6-1, 6-2 victory over then 80th-ranked David Galic that kicked off a 4-3 upset over the then 4th-ranked Baylor Bears, and the second a three-set comeback win over Maciek Sykut that clinched a road win over then 7th-ranked Florida State. UNC's three selections tied Virginia and Florida State for the most players picked from a team, the most selections the Tar Heels have had since 2004.

• Success in the Top 75

Against the ITA's top-75 ranked teams this regular season (the ranking reflecting the date the match was played), UNC has posted a 12-4 record, with a dominant 8-1 mark against the ACC's top-75 teams. Among the notable wins the Tar Heels have scored against the ranked competition this year are back-to-back-to-back-to-back wins over No. 4 Baylor, No. 9 Notre Dame, No. 21 VCU, and No. 35 Auburn in the eight-day span of February 16th to February 24th, as well as a 4-3 road win over No. 7 Florida State.

• Finishing Strong

After a shaky 4-3 start to the season, the Tar Heels have roared to the finish, posting a 17-2 mark after February 16th with the only losses to nationally top-ranked Virginia and Miami. During the hot streak, the Tar Heels have defeated 13 ranked opponents, conceded one or less team point ten times and shut out their opponent on seven of those occasions.

• Ranking Notes

Beginning with the ITA's first regular season ranking release on January 8th, and ending with the most recent release on April 28th, the Tar Heels have remained in the top 15 in each ranking. UNC's lowest rank was 15th, in the February 5th release, and the highest was 8th, in the February 20th release.

• Recapping the ITA Indoor Tournament Baylor Upset

Heading into the ITA Indoors, North Carolina was 4-2 and two-thirds of the way through their longest losing streak of the year, following losses to Rice and Ohio State. A loss to Mississippi in the first round of the tournament set the stage for a defining moment in UNC's season: win, and gain some momentum with ACC play in sight, lose, and drop to 4-4 on the season. Unfortunately, the Tar Heels' next opponent would be a tough one, the then fourth-ranked Baylor Bears. Baylor knew what to expect in doubles, as UNC was home to the third-ranked team of Taylor Fogleman and Chris Kearney. However, Coach Paul decided to mix things up, playing David Stone and Lenny Gullan at the top spot, and pairing Fogleman with Hardy at the second spot while Kearney played with Donato at the third. The strategy paid off, as Stone and Gullan's loss was covered by wins at the second and third spots to deliver the team point. The Tar Heels headed into singles with a 1-0 lead, but with two matches left to finish, were trailing 3-2. Behind the efforts of All-ACC selection Kearney and junior Fogleman, however, North Carolina reeled off two victories in a row, Fogleman's win the clincher, to pull out a 4-3 win that laid the foundation for a 15-1 run to finish the season.

• UNC Receives Ninth Straight NCAA Bid in 2008

Carolina played in one of the nation's toughest conferences, finishing 2nd in the league and earning a NCAA regional host site for the third time in the last four years. Carolina has been invited to the team championship portion of the NCAA Tournament for nine straight years and 16 times in the last 17 years. The Tar Heels have been in the team tournament of the NCAA Championship in 14 of the 15 years since Paul became the UNC head coach in 1994. The Tar Heels also went to the tournament as a team in 1992 and 1993 when Paul was Allen Morris' chief assistant coach at Carolina. The only year in the last 16 years the Tar Heels did not make the NCAA Tournament was 1999 when they finished 11-14. Carolina also made the NCAA team tournament in both 1977 and 1978 under legendary coach Don Skakle. Prior to 1977, the NCAA Tournament was a flighted championship with teams earning points as their players advanced through the singles and doubles brackets. The Tar Heels are 11-17 in dual matches in the NCAA Team Tournament since 1977. From 1977-93, teams were selected in brackets of either 16 (1977-1991) or 20 (1992-93) and those teams automatically advanced to the championship site. Regional play began in 1994 with the 16 regional champions meeting at the championship site. Since regional play began, UNC has reached the final round of the regional in 1994, 1996, 1998, 2000, 2004 and 2006. Although regional play began in 1994, it was 1996 that the tournament was fully formatted into 16 four-team regionals. UNC lost the regional final match five successive times before breaking through with a 4-1 win over Clemson in 2006, earning its first Sweet 16 spot since 1993. UNC won a first round match in last year's tournament over Radford before falling to North Carolina State in the round of 32. This year, the Tar Heels defeated South Carolina State and Duke to advance to the "Sweet Sixteen" of men's tennis in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

- UNC in NCAA Singles Tournament

Under Paul's tutelage, UNC's entrants in the NCAA singles tournament have been David Caldwell in 1994, Caldwell and Brint Morrow in 1995, Caldwell in 1996, Tripp Phillips in 1997, 1998 and 2000, Marcio Petrone in 2002, Trystan Meniane and Nick Monroe in 2003, Monroe in 2004, and Raian Luchici in 2005 and 2006. Since Paul became an assistant coach at UNC in the 1990, Carolina has had 18 entrants invited to the NCAA singles championships. Both Caldwell (1994-96) and Phillips (1997-98, 2000) played in the NCAA singles championships three times while being mentored by Paul. Roland Thornqvist made the NCAA Tournament field three times (1991-93) while Paul was an assistant coach for the Tar Heels.

- UNC in NCAA Doubles Tournament

The nationally sixth-ranked pairing of Fogleman and Kearney is the seventh doubles team to participate in the NCAA championships since Paul became the head coach in 1994. Two other teams competed during Paul's four-year tenure as an assistant coach from 1990-93. Other doubles teams in the NCAA Tournament with Paul as the head mentor include Caldwell and Morrow in 1994, 1995 and 1996, Meniane and Monroe in 2003, Monroe and Geoff Boyd in 2004, and Luchici and Brady Pomeroy in 2006.

- The 245th Win

Paul won his 245th match as head coach at North Carolina on February 26, 2008, by the score of 4-0 over Auburn at the Cone-Kenfield Tennis Center. The win moved Paul past Allen Morris to 3rd all-time on UNC's career win list.

- All-Americas and NCAA Participants

In 15 of the past 19 years, Carolina's No. 1 singles player has earned All-America honors and/or participated in the singles phase of the NCAA Championships.

- Versus the ACC Under Coach Paul

Since 1989 when Paul started at Carolina as an assistant coach, UNC has a 150-56 record against opponents from the ACC in matches played in the regular season, ACC Tournament and NCAA Tournament. During that time UNC is 3-0 against Boston College, 19-9 against Clemson, 9-18 against Duke, 19-5 against Florida State, 20-6 against Georgia Tech, 20-1 against Maryland, 2-2 against Miami, 25-1 against NC State, 14-9 against Virginia, 5-0 against Virginia Tech and 15-5 against Wake Forest.

- In the Rankings

UNC has achieved a national ranking in the Top 30 of the nation at some point in the season in 18 of the last 19 years.

- All-Time Record

The Tar Heels are 1443-356-8 in dual matches all-time and 314-81 in ACC regular season dual matches all-time. Carolina has won more dual matches than any school in college men's tennis history.

- Sportsmanship and Leadership Awards

Paul's teams have always been distinguished by their sportsmanship and leadership. In 2006, Raian Luchici was named the ITA National Senior Player of the Year. In 2003, Nick Monroe was named the Arthur Ashe Mideast Region Sportsmanship Award winner and in 2004 he received the ITA

National Jon Van Nostrand Memorial Award. Paul's 2005 team was among the first to receive the inaugural ITA National Team Sportsmanship Award in March 2005.

- Succeeding in the Age of Parity

With the parity present in men's college tennis, Sam Paul's career achievements at North Carolina are significant. He has 256 career victories at UNC and is the ACC's third active winningest coach with a 93-37 regular season record. He has coached six All-Americans and four players who have achieved singles rankings in the top 500 in the world. Paul also served as Don Johnson's traveling coach when he ascended to No. 1 in the ATP Doubles Rankings. Four of Paul's recent All-Americans—Nick Monroe, Tripp Phillips, Brad Pomeroy and Raian Luchici—continue to play on the ATP Tour.

- Tar Heel Player Notes

The sophomore trio of Stefan Hardy, Chris Kearney, and Clay Donato has been a huge factor in UNC's success this year. All three are all-ACC selections, combining for a 44-12 regular season record this year with a 24-6 record in ACC play.

Junior Taylor Fogleman has been a presence for the Tar Heels in both doubles and singles this season. The lefty has compiled a 21-5 record over the course of the 2007-08 season in singles, with nine of those wins coming against ACC opponents. His mark in doubles is 23-9, reflective of both matches played with Stefan Hardy and his partner with whom he is ranked sixth in the nation, Chris Kearney.

Following the Eve Carson tragedy at North Carolina, many players were affected, but none more than senior, and close friend to Eve, Tristan Heinrich. In the two weeks following her passing, Heinrich spent time practicing and with teammates to keep his mind off of the tragedy, but when ACC play began on March 19th, Heinrich honored her legacy by stepping onto the court for the first time in over a month and a half to win a doubles match with partner David Stone over Wake Forest. Heinrich and Stone didn't stop there, either, as the two played the third doubles spot nearly flawless en route to a 6-2 mark in ACC regular season play.
