Two Olympic final losses to Brazil have the U.S. Women motivated at home.

2016 Olympic host Brazil is shooting for its third straight gold medal.

When juggernauts collide in your own back yard, it's not something you want to miss. Brazil has stolen gold out from under our noses in two straight Olympics. If that doesn't define an intense rivalry, then what does? Bottom line, it's global #1 vs. #2. Beating them on our own turf will be the first step to beating them on theirs in 2016 in Rio.
