Kevin Stallings, Head Coach

Vanderbilt head coach Kevin Stallings has taken the Commodore basketball program to unparalleled heights in his 14 years at the helm, with success coming on the floor and in the classroom during his tenure. His teams have advanced to six NCAA Tournaments - including five in the last seven years and three consecutive tournaments (2010, 2011, 2012) for the first time in program history. He became the first coach to take two Vanderbilt teams to the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament since the 64-65 team format (2004 and 2007). He has coached three SEC Players of the Year (Dan Langhi, Derrick Byars, Shan Foster), and 26 All-SEC performers. His 2012 team captured the SEC Tournament Championship, the first time a Commodore team has won the tournament in 60 years. He has coached seven 20-win campaigns with the Commodores, the most in school history, and stands only one away from becoming the school's all-time victories leader entering the 2013-14 campaign. Additionally, he has mentored 42 members of the SEC Academic Honor Roll in his tenure, and currently has three former players playing on an NBA roster.

This kind of success comes as no surprise to the players who put on the Vanderbilt jersey when adjectives like competitive, personable, passionate, intense, honest, hard-working, knowledgeable and prepared describe their coach and the program they represent.

The list of accomplishments for the current Vanderbilt coach continues to grow:

- Stallings has seven 20-win seasons, all in the last 10 years, and is the all-time leader in 20-win seasons, surpassing the legendary Roy Skinner, who had six.
- He was named SEC Coach of the Year by SEC Coaches in 2007 and 2010, only the third coach in Vanderbilt history to win two of the prestigious awards.
- Stallings notched his 400th career win in the quarterfinals of the 2013 SEC

Tournament against Kentucky, and has 277 wins in his 14-year tenure as Vanderbilt's head coach.

- He has coached three SEC Players of the Year (coaches) - Dan Langhi in 1999-2000, Derrick Byars in 2006-07, and Shan Foster in 2007-08 (AP and Coaches).

In fact, in his 36 years as a player or coach, success has followed Stallings throughout his basketball career as a player at Purdue, an assistant at both Purdue and Kansas and his previous head coaching position at Illinois State. During the time span, Stallings has been a part of 24 seasons with 20-or-more victories and a basketball season that concluded during postseason play 28 times.

Stallings has guided the Commodores to postseason play in seven out of the last nine seasons and in 10 out of his 14 years at Vanderbilt. Included in those appearances are two Sweet 16 berths and back-to-back NCAA appearances in 2007 and 2008 and three consecutive berths from 2010-2012, a program first.

In 2011-12, his Commodore team won 25 games for the second time in his tenure while also tying a program-best for wins, and captured the SEC Tournament Championship for the first time in 60 years, knocking off eventual national champion Kentucky in the finals. Vanderbilt advanced to its third consecutive NCAA Tournament, and in June of 2012, had three players in the first 31 picks of the NBA Draft (John Jenkins, 23rd, Hawks; Festus Ezeli, 30th, Golden State; Jeffery Taylor, 31st, Charlotte), another program first.

The 2010-11 team knocked off five teams that advanced to the NCAA Tournament, including Kentucky, who eventually advanced to the Final Four. John Jenkins emerged as one of the nation's top shooters and led the SEC in scoring and three-pointers made. Under Stallings' tutelage, Festus Ezeli blossomed into an all-SEC center, and Jeffery Taylor continued to be one of the premiere perimeter players in the nation.

The 2009-10 Commodores finished the season with a 24-9 record, and a 12-4 mark in SEC play, Vanderbilt's best finish in league competition since 1993. The Commodores also were a handful on the road, winning six league games and sporting a 7-3 mark in true road contests. Vanderbilt swept Tennessee and Florida for the first time since 1966, and had four players named to an All-SEC postseason team.

The 2007-08 edition of the Commodores was one of the most successful teams of the Stallings era. Vanderbilt reeled off 16 consecutive wins to start the season, tied for the most wins in regular season history (25), advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the second consecutive year, the first time since 1988-89 that has occurred, won 10 games in the SEC for the second consecutive season, and saw one of his four-year seniors, Shan Foster, capture SEC Player of the Year honors, the Lowe's Senior CLASS Award, and become the school's all-time leading scorer. The Commodores tallied 25 regular season wins that year, which tied the 1992-93 team for the most in school history, and knocked off the No. 1 team in the nation for the second consecutive season.

The 2003-04 campaign saw the Commodores advance to their first NCAA Tournament since 1993, reaching the Phoenix Regional Semifinals before bowing out to Connecticut, the eventual national champion; and in 2006-07, the Commodores knocked off George Washington and Washington State before dropping a 66-65 decision to Georgetown in the East Regional Semifinals.

In 2003-04, Vanderbilt set a then-school record with a 12-0 start, knocked off five nationally ranked opponents and advanced to the semifinals of the SEC Tournament -- all of this before reaching the "Big Dance" and concluding its run with a 23-10 overall mark. In 2006-07, Vanderbilt had the SEC Player of the Year in Derrick Byars and knocked off seven ranked opponents during the year.

In all, Stallings has coached in 10 postseason tournaments during his time at Vanderbilt, six NCAA tournaments and four NIT's. The Commodores reached the NIT in 2000, 2002, 2005 and 2006; and in 2005, the Commodores made the quarterfinals of the NIT, winning at Indiana and outlasting Wichita State at the buzzer before falling at Memphis, one step short of reaching the semifinal round in New York City.

Qualities of a Caring Coach

Throughout his tenure at Vanderbilt, Stallings has proven himself as a coach whose intensity from the bench and drive to compete matches his reputation as a talented tactician and his genuine concern for players. Since coming to Nashville, Stallings has embraced the Commodore basketball tradition while building a program based on quality players and dedicated students.

He has molded Commodore players into some of the finest in the SEC. Former Commodores Dan Langhi and Matt Freije blossomed under the direction of Stallings. Langhi earned the 2000 SEC Player of the Year award, while Freije became Vanderbilt's then-all-time leading scorer. Derrick Byars became Stallings' second player of the year in 2007, and wing Shan Foster became his third in 2008 and the program's first player to the 2,000-point barrier. Both Byars and Foster were second-round selections in the 2007 and 2008 NBA Draft, respectively.

At the same time, Stallings makes sure his players perform in the classroom. At Vanderbilt, all 42 of his seniors either have earned or are currently working toward their college degree. While at Illinois State, five Redbirds achieved Academic All-America status, and all but two seniors earned their degree.

Since Stallings became head coach a Vanderbilt player has been named:

- All-SEC either by the Associated Press or the league's coaches 24 times.
- SEC Player of the Week 30 times.
- Academic All-SEC 42 times.

Coaching Tree Grows

As Stallings' career at Vanderbilt has blossomed, so has his coaching tree. In the last three years alone, two of his assistants have been elevated to head coaches, and since his arrival in Nashville prior to the 1999-2000 season, four of his assistant coaches have been head coaches or are currently at the helm of their own program. In 2012, longtime assistant Dan Muller assumed the reigns of his alma mater, Illinois State, and in 2011, King Rice was named the head coach at Monmouth. Other former assistants that have moved on include Tim Jankovich, who is now the coach-in-waiting at SMU. Additionally, Tom Richardson, who succeeded Stallings at Illinois State, came to Vanderbilt in 2004 and provides his head coaching experience to the current staff.

Track Record for Success

Prior to coming to Vanderbilt, Stallings coached six seasons at Illinois State (1994-99) in his first head coaching opportunity. Following the most successful coach in school history, Stallings raised the program to higher standards, taking four teams to postseason tournaments, including two trips to the NCAA Tournament. He became the first men's basketball coach in the history of the Missouri Valley Conference to win back-to-back regular season and conference tournament titles in 1997 and 1998. As the Redbirds head coach, Stallings averaged 21 wins a season, compiling a 123-63 record.

As an assistant coach, Stallings worked with two of the nation's most well-known and respected mentors - Gene Keady, his college coach at Purdue, and Roy Williams at Kansas.

COACHES AND SUPPORT STAFF

Kevin Stallings, Head Coach

After helping lead the Boilermakers as a player (1980-82) to three postseason tournament appearances, including a NCAA Final Four appearance in 1980, Stallings served as an assistant coach under Keady from 1983-88. On Keady's staff, Stallings helped direct Purdue to six NCAA Tournament appearances and three Big Ten championships while tallying a 140-44 overall record.

"More than anything, I think what Gene Keady taught me was that good teams have good players and great teams have great teammates," Stallings said. "I think his greatest strength was his ability to get a team to achieve as close to its potential as possible on a very consistent basis. That's because of his ability to motivate people to be a willing part of what he called 'being a company man.' I believe in that and I believe in him. It's obvious that he was brilliant in that way."

Stallings left Purdue to join Williams' coaching staff at Kansas in 1989. Over the next five seasons, the Jayhawks made four NCAA Tournament appearances, enjoyed two trips to the Final Four, finished as the 1991 national runner-up and accumulated a 132-38 mark during Stallings' stay.

"The thorough nature in which Roy Williams approaches his job was the biggest aspect I took from my time at Kansas. Roy is very detailed, very organized and very meticulous. Not only is he a great coach and great recruiter, but he runs his program with precision and with great organization."

A 1978 graduate of Collinsville High School outside of St. Louis, Stallings played under the legendary Vergil Fletcher, who was inducted into the National High School Athletic Coaches Association Hall of Fame during the summer of 2004.

Stallings earned his undergraduate degree in business management and marketing at Purdue in 1982 before receiving a Master's degree in Counseling from Purdue in 1985.

Stallings and his wife Lisa have three children: Jacob (23), Alexa (19) and Jordyn (13).

David Cason joined the Vanderbilt staff in April of 2011 and was an integral part to the Commodores claiming their first SEC Tournament Championship in 60 years. Cason's primary duties with Vanderbilt include scouting and recruiting.

Vanderbilt head coach Kevin Stallings and Cason are very familiar with each other - Cason was a guard on Stallings' Illinois State teams from 1993-95, where he led the Missouri Valley Conference in assists both seasons and also guided his team to a 20-13 record and an NIT appearance as a senior. In his senior season, Cason was named the Team MVP and the Redbirds' Athlete of the Year, and also established the school's single-game assists record with 16 in his senior campaign. He is still the Redbirds' all-time leader in career assists per game with 6.0.

Prior to his arrival in Nashville, Cason spent six seasons at the University of Tulsa on head coach Doug Wojcik's staff, including the last three as the associate head coach. In his six years at Tulsa, the Golden Hurricane posted an overall 123-78 record, advanced to the Conference USA Championship Game twice, won the inaugural post-season College Basketball Invitational (CBI) Championship in 2008 and made appearances in the 2009 and 2010 NIT post-season tournaments. During his tenure, the Hurricane posted four straight 20-win seasons (2007-10), won 25 games in 2008 and 2009, and in 2010, Cason was recognized in a Foxsports.com survey of Conference USA head coaches as the league's top assistant coach.

Prior to his arrival at Tulsa, he spent two seasons on the TCU coaching staff, and helped the Horned Frogs reach the postseason (NIT) in the 2004-05 campaign.

From 2001-03, Cason served as the Director of Basketball Operations at the University of North Carolina. Prior to his time at North Carolina, he spent one season at Notre Dame and helped the Fighting Irish post a 22-15 record and earn a berth in the NIT Championship game.

Cason earned his bachelor's degree in recreation management from Illinois State. He and his wife, Tamara, have three children: daughters Da-Via and Taylor, and one son, DJ.

Yanni Hufnagel joined the Vanderbilt coaching staff in May of 2013 after spending four seasons at Harvard before his arrival in Nashville.

Hufnagel served as the recruiting coordinator for the Crimson, was responsible for perimeter player development and was directly involved in opponent scouting. He helped lead the Crimson to four 20-win seasons and won the Ivy League title in each of the last three years with NCAA Tournament appearances in both 2011-12 and 2012-13.

In his first season at Harvard, Hufnagel helped the Crimson to a 21-8 overall record, establishing a program record for victories. Harvard went 10-4 in the Ivy League and earned a postseason berth in the CollegeInsider.com Tournament. Jeremy Lin, now a member of The Houston Rockets, was named a unanimous first team All-Ivy selection.

In his second season with the program, Harvard eclipsed its previous win record by going 23-7 in 2010-11. The Crimson went 12-2 in Ivy games, earning a share of the program's first Ancient Eight title. Following the regular season, Harvard participated in the NIT, facing Oklahoma State in the first round. Four Crimson players earned All-Ivy selections, including Ivy League Player of the Year, Keith Wright.

Hufnagel and the Crimson continued its ascent nationally in 2011-12, as Harvard won the Ivy League title for the second straight season, culminating in the team's first NCAA tournament berth since 1946. Harvard went 26-5 overall and 12-2 in conference play, while winning the Battle 4 Atlantis tournament in November. The Crimson also garnered its first-ever national ranking in program history, reaching as high as No. 21 in the ESPN/USA Today Coaches poll and No. 22 in the AP poll. Three Crimson players earned All-Ivy selections and Brandyn Curry was named to the Academic All-Ivy team for the second consecutive season.

Harvard posted its fourth straight 20-win season in 2012-13, going 20-10 overall. The Crimson claimed its third consecutive Ivy League crown, going 11-3 in conference play. Harvard reached the NCAA tournament for the second straight season and made history by upsetting third-seeded New Mexico in the second round, the program's first-ever postseason victory. Siyani Chambers was honored as the Ivy League Rookie of the Year and joined Wesley Saunders (unanimous selection) on the all-conference first team. In Hufnagel's four years with the Crimson, Harvard went a combined 90-30.

Harvard's 2011, 2012, and 2013 recruiting classes garnered national attention from the likes of CBS Sports, ESPN, Rivals, and Scout.com. In each of Hufnagel's last three years, Harvard inked a commitment from a prospect in the Rivals Top 150. CBS Sports ranked Harvard's 2012 group among the Top 10 non-BCS recruiting classes in the country after ESPN, Rivals, and Scout.com all did so in 2011. CBS Sports recognized Hufnagel as "one of the most relentless and energetic recruiters in the game," in their 2012-13 College Basketball Preview, while naming him one of their nine "Dream Team" assistant coaches in college basketball.

Hufnagel came to Harvard from the University of Oklahoma where he served as a graduate assistant for the men's basketball team. As a graduate assistant, Hufnagel organized the program's recruiting database, helped conduct individual workouts, and assisted the coaching staff during practice. In his two years at Oklahoma, the Sooners won 53 games, and advanced to the Elite Eight of the NCAA Tournament in 2008-09 after reaching the second round in 2007-08.

With the Sooners, Hufnagel assisted in the development of Blake Griffin, the first overall selection in the 2009 NBA Draft by the Los Angeles Clippers. Blake was named the 2010-11 T-Mobile NBA Rookie of the Year and appeared in his third consecutive All-Star game in 2012-13.

A 2006 graduate of Cornell with a Bachelor of Science degree in Industrial and Labor Relations, Hufnagel earned his Master's of Education with an emphasis in Intercollegiate Athletic Administration at Oklahoma in 2010. While at Cornell, Hufnagel served as a student manager with the Big Red for current Boston College Head Coach Steve Donahue.

Prior to his time at Oklahoma, Hufnagel spent a summer as a basketball operations intern with the New Jersey Nets, where he assisted the front office in preparation for the NBA draft and with other administrative functions. Hufnagel also served as a special assistant to then head coach Lawrence Frank.

In addition to his work with the Crimson basketball program, Hufnagel was actively involved with Boston-based Partners for Youth with Disabilities, serving as a mentor in their Mentor Match program.

Tom Richardson enters his 11th season at Vanderbilt after joining the men's basketball program prior to the 2003-04 season.

Richardson, one of the top minds in the game of college basketball, is in charge of player development and offseason workouts, scheduling, and assists Coach Stallings in recruiting.

A trusted friend and talented instructor, Richardson came to Vanderbilt after serving four years as head coach at Illinois State.

He succeeded Stallings as the Redbird head coach after the two had combined to lead Illinois State to a 123-63 record in six years.

During that tenure, regarded by many as the most successful in school history, the Redbirds won two Missouri Conference championships, made two trips to the NCAA Tournament and had two berths in the NIT.

In his four years as head coach, Richardson directed Illinois State to a 56-64 record with two second-place finishes in the Missouri Valley and one trip to the NIT.

Richardson gained a reputation as an excellent shooting instructor and the Illinois State field goal and free throw percentages during his tenure are proof of that ability. He was responsible for three of the top four free throw percentage seasons and three of the top five field goal percentage seasons in Illinois State history. His 2002-03 squad led the nation, shooting 44 percent from behind the 3-point line.

Prior to going to Illinois State, Richardson compiled a 193-146 record at Nazareth Academy High School in LaGrange, Ill., a Chicago suburb. He began the boys basketball program there and in his last 10 years had a 182-84 mark with three conference championships.

Richardson graduated from St. Xavier (Ill.) in 1977 and was a two-time basketball team captain. He was inducted into the school's athletics hall of fame in 1991. He received his master's from Chicago State in 1986.

He and his wife, Nancy, have three children; Mary Beth, Katie, and Matthew.

NEAL CLARK ACADEMIC COUNSELOR

*7th Season
Kentucky, 1992*

After arriving at Vanderbilt in February 2005, Neal Clark now serves as a Senior Academic Counselor for Student Athletics. Neal is entering his seventh full season as the academic counselor for the Commodore men's basketball team. In addition to basketball, he also works with the women's bowling team.

Clark returned to Vanderbilt after spending one season at the University of Minnesota in 2009 working with their men's and women's basketball team.

Prior to joining Vanderbilt, Clark had worked in a similar role with the football squad at the University of Kentucky, assisting as a liaison between the university's central advising service and the athletic department. Clark also served as the Assistant Director of Student-Athlete Services for football at James Madison University from June 2002 to July 2003.

Clark earned both his bachelor's degree (1992) and master's degree (2002) in Social Work from Kentucky. He worked two years with the athletic department's Community Outreach Program from 1999-2000 before serving as an Academic Graduate Assistant from 2000-2002. Clark has been accepted into the Education Leadership and Professional Practice Doctorate Program at Travecca University and will begin to take classes in the summer of 2012. Clark is a proud father of Corrine Renee Clark who was born June 10, 2011.

GARRY CHRISTOPHER STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

1st Season
Baylor, 2008

Garry Christopher joined the Commodores as men's basketball's new Strength and Conditioning coach in the summer of 2013.

Christopher joined the Vanderbilt staff after spending one season at Purdue.

Christopher worked with the Purdue athletic department as a sports performance assistant before his arrival in Nashville. He oversaw the sports performance program for softball and women's tennis, while assisting with the men's basketball program.

Christopher previously served as a volunteer graduate assistant in the strength and conditioning department at San Diego State. He was also a strength and conditioning intern at the Rehab United Sports Performance and Physical Therapy Center in San Diego, while simultaneously serving as head strength and conditioning coach at Lincoln High School.

Christopher received a bachelor's degree in health and human performance from Baylor in 2008 and a Master's in kinesiology from San Diego State in 2011. While working toward his Master's, Christopher served as an instructor of musculoskeletal fitness and an instructor for beginning and advanced students in weight training. He played basketball at LeTourneau University during the 2003-04 season.

Christopher is a USAW sports performance coach.

SHANNON GORDON ATHLETIC TRAINER
