“Wake forest is an amazing school in both academics and in sports. From the beginning, when I first knew I wanted to play in college, the school I saw myself coming to and fitting in was Wake Forest. Prior to coming back to Wake Forest, Hoover guided High Point to a 20-13 record in the 2014-15 season for the first time since her freshman campaign in 1988. Hoover was inducted to the school’s Athletic Hall of Fame in 2007.

Under Hoover’s guidance, the Demon Deacons have continued their successful run in ACC Tournament play. In 2015-16, Wake Forest won an ACC Tournament game for the eighth-straight year, the longest such streak currently in the ACC. The Deacs won one game in 2016 and earned two victories as the No. 13 seed in the 2015 ACC Tournament, marking just the second time in program history Wake Forest had two wins in the league championship.

In 2015-16, Hoover helped guide the Demon Deacons to new heights as they won 17 games overall and six ACC regular-season contests. Both totals are highest since Hoover took over as head coach in 2012 and the six ACC victories tied for the third-most in a single season in program history. Wake Forest finished tied for ninth in the ACC after being picked 14th in the preseason polls by both the Blue Ribbon Panel and the ACC’s Head Coaches and beat Duke, North Carolina and NC State in the same season for the first time since her freshman campaign in 1988.

At season’s end, Wake Forest earned its first postseason tournament berth since the 2011-12 campaign in earning an at-large bid to the WNIT. The Demon Deacons went on the road to top Charlotte in the first round before being eliminated by Florida Gulf Coast in the second round.

Hoover had the rare opportunity to coach a player that broke her own program records. In 2014-15, Dearica Hamby broke her coach’s records for career points and rebounds. Hamby went on to become the first Demon Deacon to ever be selected in the WNBA Draft when she was taken sixth overall by the San Antonio Stars.

In Hoover’s first two seasons leading the program, Wake Forest went 13-19 in year No. 1 in 2012-13, but she did guide the Deacs to an upset road victory over No. 18 Florida State. The win marked the school’s first victory on the road over a ranked team since 1996. In 2013-14, the Deacs finished with an overall record of 15-16 with five ACC wins, including another victory over a ranked FSU team as the Deacs knocked off No. 23 FSU in Winston-Salem in convincing fashion, beating the Seminoles 78-54.

Prior to coming back to Wake Forest, Hoover guided High Point to a 20-13 record in her one season with the Panthers and led the team to a WNIT appearance. The 20 wins tied for the most in a single season since High Point moved to Division I in 1999. Hoover was named the 2012 Spalding Maggie Dixon Division I Rookie Coach of the Year after the season.

Hoover’s assistant coaching career began in 1994 and included stints at California, Virginia, Memphis, James Madison, East Carolina, VCU and Missouri-Kansas City.

In three seasons as an assistant at California, from 2008-11, she helped the Golden Bears to a cumulative 69-36 record while Cal went to the program’s first-ever Sweet 16 in 2009 and won the 2010 WNIT Championship. A post player herself during her playing days, Hoover has an impressive reputation for developing forwards at the highest level. Hoover was named one of the ACC’s top-50 all-time players and is still one of only two Demon Deacons to surpass 1,000 career points and 1,000 career rebounds. Among the post players Hoover coached at Cal were all-Americans Ashley Walker and Devanei Hampton as well as all-Freshman selections DeNesha Stallworth and Gennifer Brandon. At Cal, Hoover worked with all aspects of the program, including on-court coaching, recruiting and scouting and helped the Golden Bears to postseason appearances in all three of her seasons. She helped bring in back-to-back top 10 recruiting classes, including the No. 1 class in 2009.

Hoover went to Berkeley after spending the 2007-08 season as the associate head coach at Memphis and helped the Tigers make significant improvements in her one season. After her first stint as an assistant coach at Memphis in 2002-03, Hoover spent four seasons at the University of Virginia and became the Cavaliers’ recruiting coordinator for her final two years. She helped sign top-15 recruiting classes in 2005 and 2006 and helped the team to a cumulative 69-36 record while Cal went to the program’s first-ever Sweet 16 in 2009 and won the 2010 WNIT Championship. A post player herself during her playing days, Hoover has an impressive reputation for developing forwards at the highest level. Hoover was named one of the ACC’s top-50 all-time players and is still one of only two Demon Deacons to surpass 1,000 career points and 1,000 career rebounds. She helped Virginia ink junior college All-American center Aisha Mohammed and the 2006-07 ACC Rookie of the Year, Monica Wright. Wright also was a McDonald’s All-American. While at Virginia, Hoover coached under Hall of Famer Debbie Ryan.

Hoover started her coaching career at the University of Missouri-Kansas City from 1994-96, then became an assistant at Virginia Commonwealth for two seasons (1998-99). She then spent two seasons at East Carolina (1998-00) before moving on to James Madison (2000-02), where she helped the Dukes to the WNIT Final Four. Hoover then made her first stop at Memphis in 2002-03, where she recruited and coached the Lady Tigers’ post players. She also oversaw academics and the mentor program until she left in August of 2003 to join Ryan’s staff at Virginia.

As a player, Hoover played professionally overseas following her Wake Forest career for Solna IF Basketball Team in Stockholm, Sweden, from 1991-92. She played the 1993 season with Athletes in Action in the USA Fall Exhibition Tour and the Australian spring tour before starting her coaching career.

Hoover married her husband, John, in 2001 and the two have one daughter, Maggie.

Mike Terry is in his fifth season with the Demon Deacons in 2016-17. He joined Jen Hoover’s staff as an assistant coach in May 2012 after Hoover was hired to lead the program. Terry came to Wake Forest after spending two seasons as the associate head coach at Vermont.

The Demon Deacons have posted 58 victories with Terry on staff, including at least one win each season in the ACC Tournament.

Terry arrived at Vermont after spending four years as an assistant coach at Kent State University. During his tenure with the Golden Flashes, Kent State won 63 games and posted a 20-win season in 2009-10, earning a trip to the Postseason WNIT Tournament.

Before joining Kent State’s staff, Terry served as an assistant coach at the University of New Mexico from 2003-06. With the Lobos, New Mexico won consecutive Mountain West Conference regular-season and tournament championships, made three-straight trips to the NCAA Tournament and spent the 2005-06 season in the USA TODAY/ESPN Coaches Poll and finished the season ranked No. 21 in the nation.

Prior to landing at New Mexico, Terry was the head varsity girls’ basketball coach at The Benjamin School in North Palm Beach, Florida, from 1998-2003. Terry led The Benjamin School to six consecutive district championships, six regional championships and six final four appearances. His teams won state titles in 1999, 2001 and 2003 and he finished with a career record of 159-32 at the school.

A graduate of Western University in London, Ontario, Terry was recognized for his prep coaching excellence by being awarded the Palm Beach High School Coach of the Year, the Sun Sentinel Small Schools Coach of the Year and the F.A.C.A. Regional Coach of the Year in 2001 and 2003.
Gayle Coats Fulks
Assistant Coach
5th Year
Fairleigh Dickinson • 2007

Gayle Coats Fulks is in her fifth season with the Wake Forest women’s basketball program in 2016-17 after joining the Demon Deacons as an assistant coach before the 2012-13 seasons. Coats Fulks primarily works with the guards and wing players and is the program’s recruiting coordinator.

Following her fourth season with the program in 2015-16, Coats Fulks was recognized as one of WBCA’s Thirty Under 30 honorees. The award is given to up-and-coming women’s basketball coaches younger than 30 years old and is designed to recognize a recipient’s involvement in community service, mentorship and impact on others’ professional manner and attitude and professional association involvement.

During the 2015-16 season, Coats Fulks helped the profession of Wake Forest’s leading scorers, Amber Campbell and Ariel Stephenson. Campbell averaged 13.0 points per game and shot 42.1 percent from the floor to go with a 74.1 percentage from the free throw line. Stephenson finished second on the team with 12.7 points per game and was named to the ACC All-Freshman Team by the Head Coaches and Blue Ribbon Panel. The honors marked Wake Forest’s first ACC All-Freshman honoree since Sandra Garcia in 2010. The freshman led Wake Forest with 24 double-figure games. At the end of the 2015-16 season, Wake Forest found itself in postseason play for the first time since 2012 when it earned a berth to the WNI. The Demon Deacons topped Charlotte in the first round before falling to Florida Gulf Coast in the second round.

In her first season with the Deacs, Coats Fulks helped guide one of the top scoring back courts in the ACC. Point guard Chelsea Douglas led the team in scoring at 14.6 points per game and Lakevia Boykin was right behind her at 14.4 points per contest. The two combined to make 134 three-pointers on the season. Douglas’ 72 three-pointers were the third-most for a single-season in school history.

She has also been integral in recruiting, helping the Demon Deacons put together ranked recruiting classes in each year on the staff, including the most recent class joining the program for 2016-17.

Coats Fulks came to Wake Forest after one season as an assistant coach at UNCG in 2011-12. With the Spartans, Coats Fulks assisted with recruiting, scouting, game preparation, practice planning and player development along with serving as the team’s academic liaison.

Prior to her time in Greensboro, North Carolina, Coats Fulks started in the collegiate coaching ranks at Longwood University for four seasons from 2007-11. In her first season with the Lancers, the program went 16-13 to notch the program’s best win total in its Division I era.

She also served as the Assistant Video Coordinator during the 2007 season for the WNBA’s New York Liberty. With the Liberty, Coats Fulks assisted with the scouting reports of the opponents and with film exchange. She also served as an AAU coach for three teams from 2002-2007 and was the basketball trainer/assistant strength coach for the U-Turn Sports Performance Academy.

A four-year letterwinner at Fairleigh Dickinson, Coats Fulks helped the Knights to NEC Tournament berths in her freshman and senior campaigns. Coats Fulks appeared in 92 games with 38 starts, scored 219 points with 127 rebounds, 148 assists and 87 steals in her career. She averaged 5.5 points and 2.1 rebounds per game while ranking second on the team in assists (71) and steals (39) in her senior campaign. A co-captain and a member of the NEC Academic Honor during her run in Teaneck, Coats Fulks graduated from Fairleigh Dickinson in 2007 with a 3.5 grade point average.
Dane Sparrow enters his fourth season with the Wake Forest women's basketball program in 2016-17, but the campaign will mark his first as an assistant coach after being promoted from director of basketball operations in April 2016.

Sparrow came to Wake Forest in 2013 as the team’s video coordinator. He served in the position for one season before being promoted to director of basketball operations for two seasons. Prior to his time with the Demon Deacons, Sparrow was the video coordinator for UNCG in 2011-12.

Sparrow played collegiate basketball at Lander University, a Division II program in Greenwood, South Carolina. A four-year starter, Sparrow played in 111 games for the Bearcats and finished with the fourth-most three-pointers made in school history with 197. He was named the team MVP in 2009-10 after averaging 10.9 points per game, as he shot better than 41 percent from beyond the arc.

After his career at Lander, Sparrow transferred to UNCG to finish his degree, graduating in 2012 with a Bachelor’s degree in Business Administration. Sparrow currently resides in Winston-Salem.

Formerly a football student-athlete and a women’s basketball scout team player, Ryan Bauder has been named the Director of Basketball Operations for Wake Forest women’s basketball heading into the 2016-17 season.

“We are very happy to have another Wake Forest alum join our women’s basketball family in Ryan,” said Wake Forest head coach Jen Hoover. “Ryan has been working closely with our program for the past two years as both a volunteer and a scout team member after finishing his football career as a Deacon. He is a tireless worker who is passionate about Wake Forest and our program and his experience as a student-athlete as a Demon Deacon will be invaluable to each of our players as we continue to move closer to the upcoming season.”

Bauder is a 2015 graduate of Wake Forest and played football for the Demon Deacons from 2011-14 before joining the women’s basketball scout team in 2014. During his time with the program, Bauder assisted in opponent scouting and recorded offensive statistics during games. He was also a member of the coaching staff that helped run Jen Hoover Basketball Camps.

After graduation, Bauder spent time with Wake Forest’s Student-Athlete Services department, where he assisted academic counselors with tutoring, special events, student orientation and more while continuing to work with the women’s basketball program.

A member of the ACC Honor Roll from 2012 to 2014, Bauder was also a Dean’s List honoree during his time at Wake Forest. He graduated with degrees in both History and Politics and International Affairs while minoring in Religion.

“It’s a privilege to be a part of the women’s basketball program here at Wake Forest and I am very grateful for the opportunity from Coach Hoover and the rest of the staff,” Bauder said. “I was blessed to be a part of Wake Forest’s athletic department as a student-athlete and I am excited to continue the journey at this amazing University.”

Originally from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Bauder currently resides in Winston-Salem.

Former Wake Forest women’s basketball standout Lakevia Boykin has been named the program’s video coordinator for the 2016-17 season, Demon Deacons’ head coach Jen Hoover announced in September. Boykin returns to Wake Forest after spending four seasons with the program from 2009-10 to 2012-13.

“We are thrilled to welcome Lakevia Boykin back to Wake Forest and our women’s basketball family,” Hoover said. “She is very familiar with our program, our style of play and my coaching style and she knows what it takes to be successful on and off the court as a Demon Deacon. Her competitive drive and passion for Wake Forest, along with her experience in the ACC and at the international level will have an immediate impact on our program inspiring not only current players, but future Deacons to come.”

Over the course of her career, Boykin played in each of the 130 games the Demon Deacons played during her four years with the program to set the school record in the process. She finished one game ahead of former teammates Dearica Hamby and Brooke Thomas. As a freshman, Boykin started five games before starting 97 of 98 games during her final three seasons with the program.

As a senior, Boykin finished second on the team in scoring with 14.4 points per game while totaling 1,309 points in her career, which puts her 11th in program history. She is one of 23 players in Wake Forest history to have surpassed the 1,000 point mark. Along the way, she also racked up 167 made three-pointers and 102 starts, which sit fifth and seventh in program history, respectively.

“It’s an honor and privilege to be back at such a wonderful University,” Boykin said. “I really enjoyed my time here as a student-athlete and look forward to my new role as a member of the women’s basketball staff at Wake Forest.”

After school, Boykin played professionally overseas. Most recently, Boykin played for Wolfenbuettel in Germany before taking the job as video coordinator for the Deacons.

Dr. Nathan O. Hatch

University President

12th Year

Wheaton College • 1968

Dr. Nathan O. Hatch became Wake Forest’s 13th president on July 1, 2005.

The decade under his leadership has been characterized by achievements on five fronts: 1) clarifying Wake Forest’s mission and strategic plan; 2) assembling a remarkable team of leaders; 3) making significant realignments in business and medicine to better position the University; 4) undertaking bold initiatives, such as making standardized tests optional for applicants, developing new programs to educate the whole person, reinventing the 21st century liberal arts education with personal and career preparedness as a key focus, and building greater community through a three-year residency requirement; and 5) leading Wake Will: The Campaign for Wake Forest, the largest fundraising effort in the University’s history.

The strategic plan, approved by the Board of Trustees and embraced by the college community, strengthens Wake Forest’s position as the nation’s premier “collegiate university.” This approach to education integrates an undergraduate liberal arts tradition with the vitality of a research university.

Adding to Hatch’s leadership, Wake Forest has also completed a master planning process to ensure the physical development of the campus is aligned with the University’s strategic goals. That plan also takes on important challenges in making the campus more sustainable. Wake Forest University currently is in the midst of a 10-year, $625 million construction effort that reflects the institution’s commitment to offer the best residential college experience in the country. In the last year, Wake Forest celebrated the grand openings of the Sutton Center, McCreary Field House and a new building for the health and exercise science department; began the comprehensive transformation of Reynolds Gym; broke ground on a next-generation South Campus residence hall; and extensively renovated several of the 1960s residence halls surrounding Hearn Plaza.

Under Dr. Hatch’s leadership, Wake Forest has also completed two major integration projects. Wake Forest’s separate undergraduate business programs have been combined into one School of Business housed in Farrell Hall. He also was instrumental in merging Wake Forest University Health Sciences and North Carolina Baptist Hospital – each with revenue of some one billion dollars – into a single entity with common management under Dr. John McConnell.

Beginning in 2017, new academic programs in Biomedical Sciences and Engineering will anchor Wake Forest University’s undergraduate presence, referred to as Wake Downtown, in Wake Forest Innovation Quarter. The decision, under Dr. Hatch’s leadership, to literally and figuratively bring medical and liberal arts education together under one roof represents one of the most audacious efforts to reimagine undergraduate science education as we know it.

With the idea that leadership starts at home, Dr. Hatch has assembled a remarkable team of academic and administrative leaders. Throughout his academic career, he has been drawn to challenges that involve people and building organizations. “A university is a very complicated organization in modern society,” he notes, “and it is critical to have outstanding leaders in all spheres, from academic programs to athletics, from investments to student development.”

Regarded as a national leader in rethinking the college to career experience, Wake Forest has been at the forefront of transforming the traditional, outdated concept of “career services” into a holistic, four-year approach to personal and career development.

In a world that is increasingly linked via technology, Dr. Hatch emphasizes the art of face-to-face connection. In implementing a three-year residency requirement, he is building greater community by ensuring there are opportunities to collaborate, engage in conversation and solve problems together.

In one of Dr. Hatch’s boldest moves to date, three years ago, he publicly launched Wake Will: The Campaign for Wake Forest, the largest fundraising effort in the University’s history which provides student, faculty and facility support. As of July 2016, gifts from more than 46,000 generous donors helped Wake Forest close in on its $600 million Reynolda Campus fundraising goal two years ahead of schedule.

Dr. Hatch is an active leader in American higher education and in local and community affairs. He served on the board of the American Council on Education, and chair of the Division I Board of Directors of the NCAA when the organization restructured its governance in 2014. He is a past chair of the board of directors of the National Association of Independent Colleges and Universities. In 2014, the American Academy of Arts and Sciences elected Dr. Hatch among its newest members. He has also been very active in community development in Winston-Salem. A board member of the United Way of Forsyth County, he also served as Chairman of the 2010 United Way Campaign.

Often described as affable, approachable and a lively conversationalist, Dr. Hatch has established a strong rapport with students; he can occasionally be found taking a coffee break with them at Starbucks in the Z. Smith Reynolds library or having lunch in the Pit. He made an early positive impression when he arrived at his student-sponsored Inaugural Ball on the back of a motorcycle driven by the Demon Deacon.

He and his wife, Julie, a former public school teacher, have three children: Greg, a 1997 graduate of Notre Dame, is a hospital administrator in Seattle, WA; David, a 2000 Notre Dame graduate, received an MBA degree from Duke University in 2007 and works in finance in Charlotte, NC, and Beth, a 2007 graduate of Notre Dame, who recently earned her Master of Divinity at Duke Divinity School in Durham, N.C. in 2015. The Hatches also have seven grandchildren.

Dr. Hatch grew up in Columbia, S.C., where his father was a Presbyterian minister. A graduate of Wheaton College in Illinois, he received his master’s and doctoral degrees from Washington University in St. Louis and held post-doctoral fellowships at Harvard and Johns Hopkins universities. He joined the faculty at Notre Dame in 1975. He was named provost, the university’s second highest-ranking position, in 1986; a Presbyterian, he was the first Protestant to ever serve in that position at Notre Dame.

He is regularly cited as one of the most influential scholars in the study of the history of religion in America. He received national acclaim for his 1989 book, The Democratization of American Christianity, in which he examines how the rise of religious groups in the early 19th century helped shape American culture and foster democracy. The book was chosen in a survey of 2,000 historians and sociologists as one of the two most important books in the study of American religion. He is also the author or editor of seven other books on American history.

Ron WELLMAN

Athletic Director

25th Year
Bowling Green • 1970

During Ron Wellman’s 24-year tenure as athletics director at Wake Forest University, the school’s athletic facilities and fortunes have moved in a positive direction, both on and off the playing field.

Wellman, the dean of athletics directors in the Atlantic Coast Conference and one of the longest tenured in Division I, has elevated the Wake Forest University athletics program to its greatest level in school history. Since being named to the position in October, 1992, he has helped lead Wake’s teams to unprecedented success both on the field and off.

Under Wellman’s leadership, Wake Forest has won four national championships and 19 Atlantic Coast Conference championships and finished 23rd in the 2007 NCAA Director’s Cup standings, its highest finish ever.

Wellman is only the fifth person to assume the top position in the athletic department at Wake Forest during the modern era of intercollegiate sports, following Pat Preston, Jim Weaver, Bill Gibson and Dr. Gene Hooks, Wake Forest’s athletic director from 1950 through 1990.

Entering his 25th year in 2016-17, Wellman has played a large role in the shaping of intercollegiate athletics on a regional and national level. The chairman of the NCAA Division I Men’s Basketball Championship committee in 2013-14, he has previously chaired both the NCAA Division I Management Council and the NCAA Baseball Committee. Wellman is a former president of the Division I-A Athletic Directors’ Association and has served on the NCAA Diversity Leadership Strategic Planning Committee and chaired the NCAA Baseball Academic Enhancement Committee.

Wake Forest athletics has been prominent on the national scene in recent years. The football program has made four bowl appearances in the past 10 seasons, while the men’s basketball program has earned a postseason invitation in 18 of the last 26 seasons.

The men’s soccer program has been to four of the past 10 College Cups, while field hockey has appeared in nine Final Fours in the last 16 years. The men’s and women’s golf programs are perennial postseason contenders, with the women winning back-to-back ACC titles in 2009 and 2010.

Wellman’s efforts in leading Wake Forest’s rise to prominence have not gone unnoticed. In 2007-08, he was honored by two organizations. Street & Smith’s Sports Business Journal named him College Athletic Director of the Year. The National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) selected Wellman as its AstroTurf AD of the Year for the Southeast Region—the second time in his career he has received that honor.

Off the playing fields, Wellman has helped to enhance the overall development of the student-athlete. He asks his coaches to stress academics, and he has instituted programs to assist and develop student-athletes away from competition such as the CHAMPS-Life Skills Program which helps prepare student-athletes for life after college.

Another obvious sign of the progress Wake Forest has made — and continues to make — under Wellman’s leadership is the ambitious facility improvement program that the athletic department has undertaken.

Under Wellman’s direction, Wake Forest opened McCreary Field House in January, 2016. The state-of-the-art indoor practice facility will serve all Wake Forest teams with a 120-yard FieldTurf indoor practice field. New practice facilities at the Doc Martin Football Practice Complex were installed prior to the start of preseason camp in 2016 and Kentner Stadium received a new Astroturf surface for field hockey and an upgrade in the running surface for the track team.

BB&T Field, continues to receive multiple phases of cosmetic and structural changes. Recent upgrades to the facility have included the construction of Deacon Tower, the installation of a new FieldTurf surface and most recently the construction of a state-of-the-art video board on the south side of the stadium. Deacon Tower, which opened to rave reviews in August of 2008, was the result of an aggressive fund-raising campaign, coupled with generous donations of supporters.

The University acquired David F. Couch Baseball Park in 2008 and has made numerous improvements including the construction of an indoor batting center and installation of an FieldTurf playing surface that allows year-round play. A new video board was erected prior to the 2012 season. “The Couch” is currently under construction with a $14 million Player Development Center, which will include a team locker room, team lounge, training room, equipment room, video conference room, team meeting room, a full kitchen, coaches offices, professional players locker space, a Wake Forest baseball heritage area and an indoor batting facility.

Wellman also led the efforts in the construction of a new outdoor tennis center, which serves as the home to both the Wake Forest tennis programs as well as the WPI’s Winston-Salem Open. The Arnold Palmer Golf Complex allows Wake Forest’s golfers to practice at the premier on-campus facility in the nation.

The Haddock House, named for Hall of Fame golf coach Jesse Haddock, provides coaches offices and locker room space for Wake Forest’s men’s and women’s golf teams. A recent renovation to the playing surface at Spray Stadium will enhance the home of Wake Forest’s nationally-ranked men’s and women’s soccer teams.

Born in Celina, Ohio, Wellman earned his undergraduate degree from Bowling Green State University, where he was a pitcher on the baseball team. After receiving a master’s from Bowling Green, he joined the faculty and coaching staff at Elmhurst (IL) College in 1971, serving as head baseball coach, assistant basketball and football coach and associate professor of health and physical education. Wellman was the director of athletics his last five years at Elmhurst.

He compiled a 210-136 record in baseball before leaving to become the head baseball coach at Northwestern University. In five seasons with the Wildcats, Wellman’s teams posted a 180-97 record and 15 players signed professional contracts. Among those moving to the Major Leagues was Joe Girardi, an Academic All-America catcher who became the manager of the New York Yankees in 2007.

Wellman and his wife Linda have three daughters — Angie, who works with the Executive Partners Mentorship Program in the WFU Schools of Business and is married to Tim Lynde, a Wake Forest alumnus and former basketball manager who is an associate commissioner of the Atlantic Coast Conference; Nicole, a pediatrician, and her husband, Kevin Rice, a Greensboro firefighter and former captain of WFU’s men’s soccer team, who live in Winston-Salem; and Melissa, founder, and director of GetCHARGE, and the husband, Ben Norman, an attorney, who live in Greensboro.

The Wellmans have 10 grandchildren including Connor, 8, Riley, 6, and McKay, 5 (Angie & Tim); Cole, 9, Sam, 7, Anna Kate (2), and Molly (1) (Nicole & Kevin); and Miller, 6, and Emme, 3 and Hank (1) (Melissa & Ben).
Peter Brubaker, professor of Health and Exercise Science, was named Faculty Athletics Representative of Wake Forest University in August, 2016. He was appointed to a three-year term to provide a faculty viewpoint in the administration of intercollegiate athletic programs.

As the Faculty Athletics Representative (FAR), Brubaker acts on behalf of the president and reports to him, representing athletics to faculty and faculty to athletics to ensure the appropriate balance between academics and intercollegiate athletics. Major areas of responsibility include academic oversight, student-athlete welfare, compliance and representing Wake Forest at meetings of the NCAA and ACC which mandate the position.

Brubaker, who is in his 25th year on the Wake Forest faculty, also serves as the HES department’s graduate program director. He is well-regarded for his research and clinical experience in the area of exercise physiology and cardiovascular disease prevention/rehabilitation.

Brubaker is a 1984 graduate of East Stroudsburg and received his masters from Wake Forest in 1986 and his PhD from Temple in 1991.

As a member of the ACC and NCAA, Wake Forest University is committed and obligated to the principle of institutional control and will maintain all aspects of its intercollegiate athletics program in full accordance with all University, ACC and NCAA rules.

The Wake Forest University Athletics Compliance Office is the entity within the Athletics Department responsible to coordinate, administer, monitor and verify the accurate and timely completion of NCAA-required procedures and to assist in maintaining institutional compliance with all NCAA, ACC and University rules, as well as to investigate any potential, and report all, violations of those rules.

In addition, the Athletics Compliance Office provides educational programming and interpretive support to ensure that all individuals involved with the athletics program fully understand the University’s compliance expectations. All facets of the Athletics Compliance Office are overseen and directed by the Associate Athletic Director for Compliance, Todd Hairston. All questions regarding NCAA rules should be directed to Hairston.
