

2008 DIANNE DAILEY LADIES GOLF CAMP
AT WAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY

The Dianne Dailey Ladies Golf Camp is unique because classes are small and the instruction is geared toward women and their swings.

PROGRAM

Sessions are limited to 18 participants, which allows top-line instructors to spend more time with each player on a one-on-one basis. The camp employs up-to-date techniques, which include daily videotaping of all swings, teaching aids, and hitting bays for inclement weather. The session is highlighted by a 9-hole playing lesson at Tanglewood Golf Club or Salem Glen Country Club.

Topics covered in the camp include:

- ❖ Swing Analysis
- ❖ Chipping
- ❖ Sand Game
- ❖ Putting
- ❖ Course Management
- ❖ Rules of Golf

COSTS

The five day camp costs $395 and includes the following:

- ❖ Individual and group instruction
- ❖ Videotaping
- ❖ Green fees and carts for playing lesson
- ❖ Range balls
- ❖ Refreshments
- ❖ Use of the Haddock Golf Center

Special weekend sessions, which include group and individual instruction and videotaping will be held for advanced players and will cost $160.

The four-day evening session for beginner and intermediate players is $250.

REGISTRATION

To reserve a spot in camp, your registration form and check must be received by our office. No reservations will be taken over the phone. A $50 cancellation fee will be charged if notified less than 2 weeks before the start of camp.

FACILITIES

All instruction will take place at the Jesse Haddock Golf Center on the Wake Forest campus. Participants will need to provide their own clubs, appropriate shoes and transportation to the golf course.

STAFF

Dianne Dailey, Women's Golf Coach at Wake Forest University and former LPGA Tour Player will direct the camp. She will be joined by Kathy Choi-Rogers, Assistant Golf Coach at Wake Forest and other LPGA Teaching Professionals.
