WCC Men's Soccer All-Conference Teams Announced San Diego wins Player of the Year for third consecutive time

SAN BRUNO, Calif. – Heading into the final week of the 2011 season, five West Coast Conference men's soccer teams remained in contention for the WCC title. Saint Mary's won on the final day to claim its first ever WCC championship, and head coach Adam Cooper was recognized as WCC Coach of the Year. San Diego junior Dan Delgado is the WCC Player of the Year. Portland sophomore Ryan Kawulok is the WCC Defensive Player of the Year. San Francisco junior Brendan Roslund is the inaugural Goalkeeper of the Year and Clark Phillips from Gonzaga is the Freshman of the Year.

Delgado is the third consecutive Player of the Year for the Toreros. Ryan Peterman won the honor in 2009 and Patrick Wallen was last year's WCC Player of the Year. Delgado, a midfielder, was second in the WCC with .42 assists per game in conference play. He was also fifth in the conference with .75 points per game in twelve WCC matches.

Kawulok, the WCC Defensive Player of the Year, anchored a Pilots defense that saw the team run off a six-match winning streak during conference play.

San Francisco junior Brendan Roslund is the WCC Goalkeeper of the Year in the first instance that this award has been handed out. In WCC contests, Roslund led the conference in save percentage (.862), saves (75 total) and saves per match (6.25 per match). Overall, Roslund ranked fifth in the NCAA with 101 total saves.

Clark Phillips from Gonzaga is the WCC Freshman of the Year. Phillips also received All-WCC Honorable Mention. In Phillips' inaugural campaign, the freshman finished tied for first in the WCC with four goals and was second in the conference with .92 points per game during WCC play.

After leading Saint Mary's to its first ever WCC title and second overall NCAA tournament berth, Adam Cooper was named the WCC Coach of the Year. The Gaels finished 7-3-2 in the WCC and earned the conference's automatic berth to the NCAA tournament on the final day of the season. The Gaels defeated San Diego 1-0 on Sunday, November 13 to claim the title outright.

The Gaels will travel to Cal State Bakersfield on Thursday, November 17 for a first-round NCAA Tournament matchup against the Roadrunners. Kick-off is set for 7 p.m. PT.
